THE CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE.

The Lecture by Rev. Benj. D. Peck of Portland, at the Temple on Monday evening last, was of so much importance to all interested in promoting temperance, that we shall attempt an abstract of it.

After appropriate singing by a good choir, and prayer by the Chaplin of Eureka Club No. 16, Temperance Watchmen, (under whose auspices the meeting was held,) the Worthy Senior Observer of the Club, in a very neat manner introduced the lecturer.

Rev. Mr. Peck commenced by giving a succinct sketch of the temperance movement, from its commencement to the present time—from the first idea of doing without rum, gin, brandy, &c., through the temperance and total abstinence movements, (the "Old Temperance" and Washington Total Abstinence Societies, the Rechabites and Sons of Temperance—the latter of which had been ultimately injured by a class of persons attracted by the beneficiary features of the institution, and by the rashness of some who, perhaps skeptical in their views, claimed the right to occupy the pulpit, &c.,) down to these days of the Maine Law and the Temperance Watchmen. Each of these steps had been in advance—the world is always advancing; but each idea and Society had its day and passed away, all having benefitted the cause of humanity.

And as the last, and yet perhaps not to be the last, temperance organization, we have the Clubs of Temperance Watchmen—which Order was not forced into existence, but was 'a logical sequence of the past"—a necessity of the present. The Order was founded at Durham, Me., about four years ago—Rev. Mr. Peck being one of the small band who originated the idea of such an organization. He traced the rapid progress of the Clubs, spreading throughout Maine, till No. 41 was formed in Portland—now numbering 800 members. There are now about three hundred of these Clubs in the State, comprising about 12,000 legal voters—a resistless army, most of whom are subject to the influence of the officers of the Order. The business of these Clubs is managed by a State Central Committee, of which Mr. Peck has been Chairman for the last two years—in which position he has wielded a mighty influence for good—for "Temperance, humanity and progress."

Prior to this, Neal Dow had presented his Maine Law bill to the Legislature; but it was rejected. But by the influence of the three or four hundred young whig voters connected with the Portland Club of Watchmen, Mr. Dow was nominated and elected Mayor of the city; and, as Hon. Neal Dow, backed-up by his position as chief magistrate of the chief city in the State, and by a petition from a large body of influential men, was received with more consideration, and the bill finally passed. And in this way is the world indebted to the Order of Temperance Watchmen, for the wonder-working Maine Liquor Law.

The lecturer took up and demolished the objections raised against the institution of the Order of Watchmen. From the first temperance movement to the present, the workers in the cause have been steadily opposed in all imaginable ways, by the pretended friends of temperance. These pretenders are always afraid of "injury to the cause." And as they fought the Temperance, Washingtonian and Rechabite Societies, &c., so they are bound to oppose and decry as fanatical, the Watchmen Clubs.

The chief objection raised against them is that they are "political machines"—an assertion which facts nowhere bear out. There is nothing in the literal requirements of the Order, which directly influences or endeavors to control the ballot-box—nothing which at all conflicts with the right of unrestricted suffrage. Of course counsel is had respecting the bearing upon the cause of the election of certain men to office—and advice given accordingly; but further than this nothing is attempted. No pledge is exacted save that of total abstinence—and if after earnest advice and expostulation, any member is so "bound to his idol" of party as to vote to the injury of the cause of temperance for the sake of promoting some minor object, he is "let alone." The charge that the Watchmen Clubs endeavor to wield a political influence for aught save the promotion of Temperance, is wholly unfounded—as is also that the political rights of the members are at all interfered with.

Another objection is that it is a secret society. This objection is raised mainly by the opponents of temperance in any shape, though some of its friends are not favorable to the secret organization. The Constitution and By Laws of the Order are public—there being as little mystery about the matter as possible. There may be as much good attained under protection of a secret organization in this direction, as in any other. The holy horror evinced by the opposition, toward the unclerical course of Mr. Peck, who is a minister of the Baptist denomination, in associating, in close fellowship with men of all faiths and no faith in the Club, affected him not at all. The Watchman may or may not be a believer in any religion; christian or heathen may freely come in—though the latter don't apply for admission.

The speaker said he was ready to go hand in hand with anybody to do good—that he should not wait to have help for suffering humanity from those alone with whom he agreed in every respect, but whenever an opportunity offered to benefit mankind, he deemed it the duty of all to improve it.

He concluded by saying that though the liquor interest temporarily triumphed in defeating Mr. Dow's re-election to be mayor; yet they had benefitted the cause more in leaving him free to go out into the world and explain his law to the people—as he had so successfully done in several States. He said that in Maine the organization of the Watchmen was followed by the passage and execution of the Maine Law—that the same result followed the institution of the Order in Massachusetts, and Vermont, and would ever continue so to do. He predicted the passage of the Law in New York and Ohio this Winter, and in Pennsylvania next year.

The lecture was replete with interest, and though long, was listened to with close attention by a large and intelligent audience. It is to be hoped that it may achieve the object for which the speaker delivered it—to draw attention and support to the Club in this city.

The general establishment and efficient support of these Clubs throughout the Old Granite State, would be the sure means of securing the passage and execution of the Maine Law, so much needed here. And as the best manner of awakening an interest in this matter, we would recommend the friends of temperance to secure the valuable services of Bro. Peck as a lecturer on the subject in the various towns in New Hampshire.

THURSDAY, DEC. 22, 1853.

THE GOOD TIME.

It might spoil the Song if we should prove that the Good Time has come: so we will not assert it; but something very like it has happened in Boston. The Boston Courier of last Monday says:

Rev. Theodore Parker preached a sermon yesterday on the subject of crime in Massachusetts. He proved that in this city, notwithstanding the increase of the population and great admixture of the foreign element in it, there had, according to the records of the criminal courts, been a constant annual decrease of crime. This improved state of things was attributed in part to the efforts made by benevolent societies and individuals to ameliorate the condition of the needy and those in an exposed condition. It was not disguised that there was still a great deal of crime and intemperance in the community; but it was shown, nevertheless, that Boston had not retrograded, and that, in contrast with other cities, she occupied a high position in the scale of morality and sobriety. Mr. Parker quoted largely from the public records, and gave facts obtained from private sources. The sermon will have a tendency to counteract the bad effects of ill-considered statements which are often circulated by certain persons for the purpose of visiting censure on public functionaries in time of political excitement.

When the City Records, the Boston Courier, and Mr. Parker, all agree in a statement of facts, no doubt it may be relied upon.

The above statement, therefore, is worthy of attention by all those persons who have deceived themselves or others, by mistaking the increased promptness in publishing statements of crimes, and the wider spread circulation of its details, for an increase of criminal acts.

It is also worthy of attention by all who aim at a true reformation in morals, and a pure faith in religion, as well as encouraging to their hopes. Among the good agencies which have helped on the reform, ought in our view, to be reckoned the press, and even that portion of it which has often been deemed a promoter of crime. Many a scoundrel, who has but little regard to law or gospel, is yet terribly afraid of exposure to the gaze of the public and the execration of the world.

PETITIONS TO CONGRESS.—The House of Representatives has made a change in the rules, by which the Speaker will not hereafter call the States for memorials, and they can only be presented in order by sending them quietly to the chair, under the rule, and they must be endorsed by the member presenting them with a brief statement of their contents. This is intended to choke off all debate on abolition, temperance, and other petitions of a like character. The vote by which the rule was changed, was provoked by the presentation of a petition, through Gerritt Smith, from the New York City Temperance Alliance, calling upon Congress to enact a "Maine Law" for the people of the District of Columbia.

This is exactly in character, in courtesy, wisdom, and regard to the right of petition. In due time it will come back, as did the exploded "Gag," to plague its inventors; and they will strive to forget it, and never mention it, any more than they now do the Gag itself.

MASSACHUSETTS CONVENTION.—The Counting Committee, whose doings are reported at some length in the Boston Advertiser, have ascertained that all the propositions are rejected. The first, or main proposition, which included the most important changes, is rejected by 5056 majority.

The greatest majority was 6801, thrown against the third proposition, which provided that jurors should be judges of the law in criminal cases.

The least majority was 531, thrown against the sixth proposition, which prohibited appropriations for exclusively sectarian schools.

EXECUTION—A MURDERER TO BE EXECUTED.—It is understood that Clough, convicted of a murder at Fall River, about a year ago, will be executed under the law of this state, having remained in the prison one year after conviction. The year will expire in a few days, and probably the Executive will soon after appoint a day for his execution.

This is the first case under the law of 1852, which was altered by the last legislature.—Clough is in the State Prison in this city; but by the present law we believe, such criminals are to remain in the county jail or house of correction for one year before execution.—Bunker Hill Aurora.

We do not know exactly who made the Bunker Hill Aurora the depository of the Governor's determinations, though its statements and guesses may be right. Under a similar law in Maine, no man has yet been executed.

THE WHEELING BRIDGE CASE.—The reader will have noted that, in the U. S. Supreme Court, on Tuesday, the case of the complainants against the bridge over the Ohio River at Wheeling was dismissed—there appearing no counsel for the complainants, (nominally the State of Pennsylvania.) This is understood to be an abandonment of the case by the parties opposed to the bridge, there being no ground for complaint left them, as the act of Congress, at its last session, declaring the bridge to be a post route, removed all legal objections to it.—Baltimore Patriot.

This, we suppose, is the end of the old fashioned notion that a steamboat or a ship is more legal or of more consequence than a bridge.

NEW JUVENILE BOOK.—We have received from J. H. Foster, Bookseller, of this city, a beautiful illustrated duodecimo of 184 pages, entitled Popular Legends of Brittany. An English Version of Sonvestre's "Foyer Breton," from a German Translation by Heinrich Bode. By a Lady. The publishers are Crosby, Nichols & Co., Boston.

The Legends are fanciful tales, with extravagant incidents which will amuse imaginative youth without deceiving them, and with a moral always obvious, and generally pleasant.

Those who cannot approve of works of fiction must not read it; for obvious fiction stands on every page,—but lovers of the wild and wonderful may read and profit by it.

FATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY.—Shortly after 12 o'clock, on Saturday night, a young man named Michael Conroy, was shot by the keeper of a groggery in Fourteenth street, and died from his wounds about an hour afterwards. He had gone with a couple of friends into the groggery for liquor, but the keeper finding he could not then pay for it, refused to supply him and ordered him out of the store. They then went into the street and fired several bricks against the building, when the landlord and some of his friends came to the door and the former shot him; he was aided in the deed by his brother and the barkeeper. All were arrested.—New York Sun.

We protest against the liquid fire which the victims sought; against the shopkeeper's firing his gun or pistol at his customer;—and lastly against the ignorant and barbarous use of the word fired, when the Sun says, they "fired several bricks." There was no fire about the bricks. The men merely threw them.

A few evenings since, a considerable company assembled at the house of a worthy old resident of the First Ward, to witness the marriage of his daughter to a buck around town. Rev. Mr. Evans, the clergyman officiating, commenced the ceremony and proceeded to the part where he calls on any one present to speak out if knowing any impediment to the consummation of the ceremony. Whereupon a fair one, who up to that time stood timidly back in the crowd, rushed forward and seizing the affrighted bridegroom by the throat, dragged him immediately from the room and house, ere the intended bride could come to the rescue. Since then, the disconsolate half-married young person has not heard from her spirited away half husband. These facts are positively true.—Washington Star.

EDIBLE BIRDS' NESTS.—At a late scientific meeting in New York, a gentleman who had been at Java and Sumatra, Captain Gibson, said he had partaken of "bird's nest soup" on several occasions. The nests were principally obtained on the western coast, and formed a very important article of commerce, yielding British speculators about $240,000 per year. The best quality was worth nearly two dollars an ounce, and the most inferior quality eight dollars per pound, but those nests nearly fresh, and white as wax, command very high prices. The Chinese attached importance to them on account of their stimulating tendency, but the taste is insipid without seasoning. The poorest Chinese in Java can afford to invest money in the purchase of these delicacies. In the interior of Sumatra he was much interested by a frequent demand for the Bible by various Sumatran chiefs.

OUTRAGE IN BRADFORD.—As Mrs. Mary Ames was returning from a sewing circle, Thursday evening, in Bradford, while passing across a field from the depot, and not far from her house, a man suddenly stepped up behind her, and seized her by the hair, and threatened her life if she made the least noise. She seized him by the under jaw, thrusting her fingers into his mouth, and holding his mouth open so that he could not bite. Her little girl at home, hearing a screaming in the field, went to the shop and told her father. He started down the back way, unobserved by his wife. But the villain probably saw him, as he begged to be released, and on getting free, made his escape as fast as possible.

A statement has recently been very extensively circulated, that chloroform had been found, by a Mr. Smith, of Edinburg, to be a most admirable means of putting bees to sleep for a short time, during which as much honey could be removed as was desired. A writer in the Boston Cultivator has tried chloroform according to Mr. Smith's plan, and found not only that the bees were put to sleep, but that they have slept soundly ever since.

A house in Woodstock, Conn., took fire night of the 3d inst. The family, consisting of six persons, were asleep, and before the fire was discovered, the devouring element had advanced so far that only the husband and wife could escape from the burning building. The remaining portion of the family, consisting of the mother, two children and a servant girl, perished in the flames.

REFORM.—Gov. Collier of Alabama, takes ground in his inaugural address for the sale of slaves by families whenever possible, and against the splitting up of families, which is now so disgracefully practiced all over the south. A law, like one of Nicholas' of Russia, rendering the slave legally inseparable from the soil, would be a still greater step in the path of progress and reform.

FOR LIBERIA.—The brig Gen. Franklin Pierce, from Baltimore, reached Savannah on Tuesday, where she takes on board eighty negroes from Tennessee, and will sail in a few days for Liberia. These negroes are emancipated slaves, and are equipped with tools and clothing sufficient for four years.

SUDDEN DEATH.—While in attendance at the Universalist Church at South Boston, Sunday afternoon, Mr. Brewster Raynolds was seized with an apoplectic fit, and died before medical aid could be obtained.

Bishop Burgess, of Maine, is "out" in the newspapers in favor of the Maine Law.

LOCAL.

TEMPERANCE.

On our first page we give a synopsis of Rev. Mr. Peck's remarks on Monday evening. The lecture contained much valuable matter. Among other things, the lecturer stated that full three-fourths of the liquor traffic of the State of Maine had been stopped; and that while before the passage of the Liquor Law there were seven large distilleries in the city of Portland, now there are none. He also guaranteed, in reference to the frequent statements made, that liquor is sold openly in Portland and throughout Maine—that if any person would inform him where any liquor was sold in Portland, he would have the liquor seized and the seller also in ten minutes thereafter.

We are informed that Mr. Peck is engaged to lecture in this city again, in the course of a few weeks, on the Maine Law—a subject which concerns and will interest everybody, whether opposed or favorable to its passage in this State.

We also learn that Rev. Mr. Miner of Boston, is to deliver a lecture in this city on Temperance, during the week in which he is engaged to speak before the Mechanics' Lyceum—about the middle of January.

☞ The Watchman Club will perceive by the notice, that the evening of their meeting has been changed to Thursday.

☞ The Fair by the Ladies of the Universalist Society, last evening, at Jefferson Hall, was most successful in every respect—the Hall being crowded to its utmost capacity. The tables were loaded with beautiful articles and refreshments, which were served to the admiring purchasers from the hands of the fair daughters of our city. The Tableaux Vivans gave perfect satisfaction, it being the unanimous opinion of the multitude of witnesses that they have never been excelled; the gorgeous magnificence of the "Coronation" was beyond description.

The Fair will be open again this afternoon and evening. In the evening the programme of Tableaux will be new, with the exception of the "Coronation," which is to be presented each evening. Among others will be represented "Joseph interpreting Pharaoh's Dream."

☞ Rev. Dr. Peabody of this city, delivers the lecture at the City Lyceum, this evening, in the Cameneum. Mr. Peabody has in years past, given some of the most instructive lectures we have had. His last, delivered at the Temple two years ago, on "Civilization," was of peculiar interest to all students of political economy in any form. It has not been usual this season, to announce the subjects to be treated of at either Lyceum,—and it is unknown in this instance.

Evening Tickets 12 1-2 cents.

METHODIST FAIR.—We stated yesterday that the object of the Social Festival to be holden by the Ladies of the Methodist Society, at Jefferson Hall on Monday evening next, was to aid in paying for the repairs and improvements of their church. We now learn that it is for the especial purpose of procuring an organ for the Church. Well we were not far out of the way, for this will certainly be the greatest improvement they could make—and we hope they may have one of Barton & Cobb's best.

We learn that the mother of the girl Bradley, alias Burnham, who was found dead on Saturday morning, arrived here on Monday night from Great Falls, where the girl was born in 1833. She was from a highly respectable family, of abundant pecuniary ability. Burnham was her true name, and she called herself Bradley, claiming to have been married or promised marriage with some person of this name. She was a girl of good moral training and reputable character, until she fell into evil hands.

It is stated that an analysis of the contents of the stomachs cannot be had until the close of the week, if so soon.—Newburyport Herald.

THE EYES OF NIGHT.

A thousand million faceless orbs
Are stuck, like pins, in yonder clouds;
I love them much! they are my friends,
And when some brooding sorrow shrouds
My soul's ambition like a cloak,
I turn me with a sad delight
And tell my woes to all the stars;
They mock me not, the Eyes of Night.
My brain's enameled with its thoughts,
As dewy banks with tulips are.
When June, the wanton, harnesses
The mouthing zephyrs to her car;
My pulses throb with all those hearts,
My eyes grow drunk with silver light,
My soul's a flame! my heart a god
While gazing in the Eyes of Night.

NEW YORK, Dec., 1853. T. B. A.

☞ A great dinner came off in Portland, on Tuesday, in honor of the arrival of the Sarah Sands. The only speaker from this city was Capt. Goodwin. The whole occasion passed off very pleasantly.

☞ Rev. Thomas F. Norris, editor of the Boston Olive Branch, died at Somerville, Mass. on Wednesday.

THE EAGLE WING.—The very beautiful clipper ship of 1174 tons, called the "Eagle Wing," was cleared for San Francisco, on Saturday, by Messrs. Glidden and Williams. Her owners are Messrs. Theodore Chase, of Boston, and C. S. Toppan of Portsmouth, N. H. She was built by Mr. James O. Curtis, of Medford, in the strongest manner, and has all the recent improvements, which make the modern American clipper a floating palace—Capt. Eben H. Linnell, of Orleans, well-known in the East India trade, commands her.—Boston Adv.

A young lady, Miss Persis Peck, aged 16, was drowned in Spy Pond, West Cambridge, Mass. on Tuesday evening, by the breaking of the ice. Other Gentlemen and ladies fell in, and were rescued.

Twelve thousand barrels of apples have been sent forward from Canandaigua this season by railroad to eastern markets.

Mr. Seward presented a remonstrance against an International Copyright Law. Also petitions from New York in favor of the recognition of the Independence of Liberia; and in favor of the construction of a Niagara Ship Canal.

Mr. Hamlin introduced a bill for satifying the French Spoliation claims. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. Seward offered a resolution that all the sessions and proceedings of the Senate be public.

Mr. Fish presented the Memorial of the Chamber of Commerce of New York, complaining of the duties imposed on the commerce of United States in the Baltic Sea, and asking for the adoption of measures for abating the imposition. Reffered to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. Sumner offered a resolution of inquiry as to the expediency of reducing the rates of ocean postage.

Mr. Seward offered a resolution calling for the correspondence with the Government of the Sandwich Islands. Agreed.

HOUSE.—Mr. Bocock, from the Naval Committee, reported a bill for the construction of six steam frigates.

The resolution for the purchase of Mount Vernon was tabled.

Mr. Benton announced that he had declined the Chairmanship of the Library Committee, and Mr. Chandler was appointed in his place.

Mr. Walker submitted a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the President to communicate to the House the state of the negotiations with Denmark, relative to the Sound dues imposed upon our commerce in the Baltic.

Mr. Clingman brought forward a bill giving a credit to the importers of Rail Road Iron.

Mr. Jones, of Tennessee, moved to lay the bill on the table. Lost. Yeas 86. Nays 95.

The bill was then refered to the Committee of the whole on the State of the Union, into which the House formed itself, Mr. Orr in the Chair.

Mr. Houston submitted resolutions referring the various branches of the President's Message to the appropriate Committees.

Mr. Gerrit Smith then made his debut in the House in a strong abolition speech. He contrasted the kidnapping of Martin Koszta by Austria with the kidnapping of slaves in our own land, and while endorsing to a certain extent the conduct of Capt. Ingraham and the admistration, declared that they had not gone far enough; he would have had the unconditional release of Koszta at all and every hazard. Mr. Smith's speech elicited marked attention, and was replied to eloquently by Mr. Preston, when

Mr. Dean obtained the floor, the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

RIOT ON THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD.—A despatch from Chicago states that a bloody riot occurred on Illinois Central Railroad on Thursday, at Lasalle, growing out of reduction of wages. About two o'clock an altercation arose between Albert Story, a contractor, and a party of Irishmen, during which one of the latter was shot dead. Shortly afterwards Story's office was attacked and pillaged, and Story who had concealed himself in a barn, was found brutally murdered, his head and body being horribly mangled. Mrs. Story was also fired at, but escaped. The Sheriff of Lasalle county was speedily on the spot, and after some resistance, during which one Irishman was shot dead, and two wounded, thirty of the rioters were taken.

CONTINUANCE OF RAILROAD TROUBLES AT ERIE.—Erie, Pa. Dec. 21.—The bridge over Harbor Creek was repaired yesterday, but immediately afterwards was attacked, and burned down by the mob. The Marshal is here serving process on the rioters. A meeting of the railroad men will be held here today. The mob threaten to tear up the tracks of the Erie and Cleveland Railroad if the company repairs the bridges on the Erie and Buffalo line.

SUICIDE.—Burlington, Vt. Dec. 21.—A. T. French, stage proprietor, committed suicide this morning at 7 o'clock, by hanging himself in the barn at the American Hotel. Cause not known. He leaves no family.

Cincinnati, Dec. 20.—Three of the defendants in the Martha Washington conspiracy case, have brought suits against the proprietors of the Gazette and Commercial for libel. Damages are laid in each case at $60,000.

Detroit, Dec. 20.—The ice is forming on the lake above the rapids, and navigation will soon close. Boats continue running to Cleveland and Toledo. The weather is very cold here.

A section of the Canada Railroad, between Windsor and Chatham, was opened on Saturday last, leaving only 18 miles to be completed.

Cleveland, Dec. 20.—The weather is very cold, and the canal and river are freezing, up but few boats are moving on the lake.

THE FILLIBUSTERS.—New York, Dec. 21.—Orders for the naval expedition to the Gulf of California, in search of the fillibusters, went out in the Aspinwal steamer yesterday.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 19.—The body of Capt. Rudolph, late of the revenue cutter Hamilton, was found this morning six miles south of the wreck, and has been brought to this city for interment.

Judge Leigh, of Virginia, has decided that stage and railroad companies are responsible for the baggage of the passengers, notwithstanding notice is given "all baggage at the risk of the owners."

DIVORCED.—Mr. Herman Kimball of Haverhill, Mass., has been divorced from his wife Harriet, the lady who last winter was arrested by the Boston police on a charge of adultery with a clergyman, named Merritt.

In Syracuse, N. Y., a shoemaker named Carson, formerly of Brooklyn, had a quarrel with his wife on Saturday morning, through jealousy, and stabbed her to the heart, killing her instantly. He then gave himself up to the authorities.

A Change.

JOHN GREGORY, JR., respectfully gives notice to the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has taken the Establishment No. 28 Market street, formerly owned by PHILIP WENTZEL, and will continue the business of BOOK-BINDING, BAND & FANCY BOX MAKING, and PICTURE FRAME MAKING, in various styles, and solicits a continuance of the liberal patronage hitherto bestowed.

J. G. has just received from New York, a choice selection of ENGRAVINGS, by Lafosse, Julien and others. n5

Selling off at Reduced Prices.

THE Subscriber has determined to close off at a great discount from his former prices, his entire stock of WINTER GOODS.

In order to secure a complete sale of every article, he will sell all of ninepence prints, consisting of

2000 " Mechanic & Accoakeag Sheeting at	8½c.

d16 15 Market st.

"It Shines for All."

"MARSH'S PATENT OIL" was introduced to the citizens of Portsmouth, by the subscriber, in the winter of 1850, since which time the sale of the article has been steadily increasing. The following extract from a letter (received last week from the manufacturers) we deem it our duty to lay before the public.

"We are the only ones in the world who know how, or can make Marsh's Oil; the article which has gained such a reputation for being the safest, best, and cheapest known Fluid—it never explodes—but always gives satisfaction; and will be a benefit to whoever retails it in the various towns.

Owing to the high reputation our oil has gained, some have been so unprincipled as to color Fluid and represent it as being the same as our oil (which is not the case,) and charge some 2, 3, or 5 cents per gallon more, just as they can dupe their customers. These fluids do no real harm to us; but in some cases they have caused sad accidents; and even loss of life and a general complaint by the consumers that it is not so good a Burning Fluid—which is a fact—for it is impossible to color Fluid without injuring it—still there are those who will do this for the sake of 2 or 3 cents per gallon."

The subscriber will be constantly supplied with the genuine article, and with suitable Lamps and Wicks for burning it. G. N. CARLETON, d19 15 Daniel street.

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary way" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of all parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that a resident of Portsmouth, residing at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

☞ All Postmasters will act as Agents, and any person sending five subscribers, with pay for a year, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'

IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.

The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this

in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

Extravagance has struck in. It appears that some one returned from Europe with the information, that ladies of high rank there frequently spend more money upon that of their wardrobe which is unseen, than on that which is seen. Hence, the ruling ambition of the season, among the newly enriched, is to possess the costliest articles of invisible attire; to exhibit at home, to particular friends, and at street crossings and puddles (real and imaginary) to the public at large, skirts of most elaborate construction; to wear yards and yards of lace, embroidery and stitching, where the human eye cannot penetrate; to carry about all day a small fortune concealed among the strata of their apparel, and at night to sink into a mount of down, enveloped in robes which cost more money than the poor girl who ruined her eyes by making them, can save in years. Not to put too fine a point upon it, we may as well mention that for the robes just referred to—thirty, forty, forty-five and fifty dollars are not very uncommon prices.—N. Y. Mirror.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1836) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty as paid back by others), will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE,
"R. H. Eddy, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States reported they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. 3&wm je29

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S RIGHT HAND for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers even in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to eleven physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sore Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 50,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fall disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1853. VOLUME 3. NO. 124

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.
TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

JOHN VAN BUREN'S NEW CREED.

From the National Democrat.

"I regard this platform as in substance, a declaration that the compromise measures, including the Fugitive Slave Law, are to remain undisturbed during the administration of General Pierce."

"This involves no approbation of those measures."

"If my ignorance may be excused, where is Nebraska? My business is to practice law, to support myself and child."

"Charles Sumner says, we must teach our children hostility to slavery. With the aid of Misses Cassidy's excellent school, I can teach my children without a public meeting! Mr. Sumner speaks of what we should do in our families. He is a bachelor, it is quite plain, or he would never have got the primitive notion of having a grand national organization and a public meeting in a tent, to help each other do family duty. If Free Democracy has come to this, I prefer the old kind."—John Van Buren, at Tammany Hall.

"My business is,"—says John, says he—
"To feed myself and baby;
Nebraska I know nought about
No more than 'bout Araby;
But this I know—that self and child
Must live, whate'er arises—
And so, for one, I acquiesce
In these great 'compromises.'

I want my 'soft' and 'free soil' friends
To be with 'spoils' provided;
And after that, their 'principles'
Can be full well decided.
While that 'old woman' M. remains
The chief, I need not ask her
To feed myself and babe—and so,
What care I for Nebraska?

There's Sumner is a bachelor,
He raves of truth and beauty,
And thinks 'the public are required'
To help in 'fam'ly duty!'
If 'Free Democracy' has come
To such a new and bold way,
For my part clearly I prefer
To follow up the old way.

If I and all my followers
Can have the 'spoils,' then seeing
The case is so, I'll stick to M.,
That is, for the 'time being.'
This approbation does not stretch
Across the 'obnoxious measure,'
But while the spoils are left to me,
Let things go at their pleasure.

With Misses Cassidy to aid,
My child shall learn freesoilism:
While I pursue the novel trade
That hunkers call free-spoilism.
There's Horace Greeley, he may rave,
And call me insincere, sir;
I hear not now 'the groaning slave.'
The spoils have stopped mine ear, sir.

Just for the present, I regard
The compromise as right, sir;
When baby and myself are fed,
Perhaps I'll get 'new light,' sir,
But until then—even Mrs. Stowe,
I would not fear to ask her,
'What is Nebraska unto me?
What am I to Nebraska?'

My business, I again repeat,
Is but to practice law, sir—
Let Greeley, should he think it meet,
His own conclusion draw, sir!
To feed myself and child, if I
Were 'hard' pressed, I would ask a Slave-drivership—'just for the time,'—
Away off in Nebraska;

But spite of all—except the 'spoils'—
(I dare not growl at THAT form,)
I 'spit upon,' 'detest,' 'abhor,'
The 'Baltimorean platform.'
As many a hundred streams must swell
The splendor of Lake Huron,
So many a stream of 'spoils' must feed
Prince John and Miss Van Buren."

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.—It would appear, by the following extract of a letter from a friend in one of the Southern States, that some of the characters in "Uncle Tom" are not such overdrawn caricatures as has been suggested by writers down South. Our friend speaks of the remarkable coincidence, not only in fact, but also in name with one of the characters Mrs. Stowe has drawn:

"This country wants much of being New England, I assure you. I see in one of the local papers mention of a novel criminal case, in which a father, mother and son, were indicted for murder—whipping a negro woman to death. It was a fit subject for Mrs. Stowe, and the similarity of names has brought strongly to mind her character. The names of the persons were Legay. The father, it seems, was a Frenchman, and the wife and mother a New York Yankee, for, by the way, a Southern born man seldom is cruel to his slaves, and hence I admire Mrs. Stowe's choice of a character in selecting Legare."

TELEGRAPH WONDERS.—It may not be generally known that operators in magnetic telegraph offices become so familiar with the sound of the instrument through which they receive communications, as to know what it says; that is, they learn to understand the raps and pauses as a language, and without the necessity of having the marks and dots taken upon a moving slip of paper, can, from the sound alone, write out communications. And perhaps everybody does not understand that an operator at one office may have connection with an hundred offices, and write in them all at the same time. At the telegraph office in this city, when communications are passing from New Orleans to New York, every word going both ways may be understood. The operator is heard to call, New York, from New Orleans, and in an instant the reply passes on its return. In this manner items of intelligence, business notices, messages and jokes, between the operators are daily exchanged over the enormous circuit of two thousand miles, and the most wonderful fact of all is, that a person familiar with the business, can stand on the sidewalk in front of the office in this city, when the communications are complete, and by the ticking of the instrument, can understand the messages as they ply at inconceivable speed—can hear the operators at New Orleans call, "hallo New York," and catch the response from the Empire city, of "aye, sir," while drawing a single breath.—Cincinnati Commercial.

Mr. Berry of the Bain Telegraph office in Portland, Me., has attained a proficiency, in his business, of transmitting and receiving. Telegraphic messages almost incredible, except to those who know to what a remarkable degree of accuracy the senses of touch and hearing may be refined by practice. Mr. Berry has for several years, discarded the instrument in general use for carrying strips of paper under the magnetic pencil, and has written off communications from hearing the click of the point on the metal. All telegraph operators can distinguish the call of their respective offices from all other sounds made by the machines, but we have not heard of any other than Mr. B. who has trained his ear to the nicety requisite to the performance of the feat of which we speak. This however is not the "something new." We are assured by a gentleman, a personal acquaintance of Mr. Berry, that what we shall relate is strictly true. When any interruption occurs on the line, Mr. B. is in the habit of going out alone, with no tools or instruments, but a coil of rope and pliers, and of discovering the 'break' of communication with the office in the following manner:

He takes the end of the broken wire, and standing where he can place one hand in a pool of water, he completely destroys the magnetic circuit, by placing his tongue against, and removing it from, the end of the broken wire, and by these means produces the same movements of the instrument in the office, that he would had he an instrument himself. In this way he sends messages for whatever he may require for the repair of the line. In receiving answers from the office he again applies his tongue to the wire, and that sensitive member indicates, from the successive shocks, caused by the completing and breaking the circuit in the office, the answer of his assistant. This may be done at a distance of from two and a half to three and a half miles—at a less distance than half a mile from the battery, the shocks are so powerful that they burn the tongue to an uncomfortable degree. This method of making a person's body do the duty of the complicated instruments used in Telegraph Offices, is entirely original with Mr. Berry. However incredible it may seem at first sight, we are assured that this curious feat is practised frequently, and with perfect success by the discoverer of its efficiency.—Middletown News.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, DEC. 23. 1853.

RAILROAD WAR CONTINUED.

Erie, Pa., Dec. 21.—The Railroad Rioters are out in full force, nearly three hundred being now engaged in tearing up the track of the Western line. The rowdies intend to stop the travel from this city to the Ohio State Line. The bells have been ringing and cannon firing for two hours. A mob of ruffians have gone to Fairview to incite the people there to riot.

Another despatch says—"A large body of men, headed by the Mayor and High Constable, are now engaged in removing the track of the Western line, at the street crossings. No injunction has been served so far as the Western line is concerned. The citizens of Fairview are about to take up the track in that village."

All this damage must be paid for by somebody, with interest and cost. If there is not law enough in Pennsylvania to put down this series of riots, it may become necessary for the United States to call out the Militia of New York, Ohio and New England, to quell this insurrection of men who appear to have gone crazy, and who seem to be following in the footsteps of the old Whiskey Insurrectionists.

CAUSE OF RIOTS.—We have already published a little item stating that there was a riot among the Irish laborers on the Illinois Central Railroad, Jan. 16. The accounts vary, but it appears that ten or twelve men lost their lives.

On this statement, the New York Herald remarks:

It is a fact equally melancholy and indisputable, that the Irish in this country, particularly of the working class, are always getting into rows and riots. What is the cause? Why is it that so many of a particular race are found taking part in these scenes of violence and bloodshed? The Irish are the most generous, liberal-hearted, industrious and energetic race of modern Europe. They are the most quick-witted, and they are the most enlightened, wherever they have the same opportunities as other nationalities. They are naturally endowed with the finest qualities of the human race. What, then, is the cause of their coming into constant collision with the laws, both in their own country and in this? We suspect that it springs from the deleterious influence of the Catholic clergy and hierarchy. This, we apprehend, is the fountain head to which the evil must be traced. The Irish Catholics are taught to believe that their allegiance is due rather to their ecclesiastical rulers than to the laws of the country in which they live. Their bishops and priests inculcate a blind obedience to their will, instead of a hearty and cheerful submission to the authority of the civil code. They are exhorted to reverence and obey a Church whose seat of power is in a foreign land, rather than the institutions of the country of their adoption.

* * * * The innovation attempted upon the broad principles of civil and religious liberty established by the constitution is of recent date. When Bishop Dubois had charge of the diocess there was no disturbance between the Catholic population and other citizens. The evil commenced under the auspices of Bishop Hughes, and it has continued under his influence to the present hour. It is an effort to naturalize the imported notions of Italy, and by means of these exotics to supplant that freedom which is the growth of American soil, and is found nowhere else on the face of the globe.

NEW YORK.

Whatever differences of opinion may exist on the abstract policy of such laws as the one for which they are contending, there can be no question of the disinterestedness of its advocates. Moreover, to any one who witnesses the awful progress of intemperance in our midst, and recognizes the absolute necessity of checking the pestilence by some remedy or other, the dangers directly arising from a preservation of our present laws cannot but seem more formidable than those which may be apprehended from an arbitrary curtailment of our natural liberties in respect of eating and drinking. On the one side we have a principle violated, involving but a slight personal inconvenience; on the other, we have thousands of our fellow countrymen plunged daily into vice, homes desolated, wives brutalized, children reared in crime, and the jail calendar swelled to a degree that no other city has ever witnessed. In presence of such a dilemma, we, for one—and we are speaking the sentiments of the bulk of the people of New York—resolve to silence scruples, and to interpose no obstacle to a fair trial of the Maine Liquor law. How it will work in this State—whether it will really check crime, and promote domestic happiness—remains to be seen; but if it only effects half what it promises by its adherents, the boon will be signal, and will entitle them to lasting gratitude.

NO GIFT CONCERT.—At a late meeting of the Mayor and Aldermen of Boston, the committee on licenses reported leave to withdraw on the petition of A. B. Davis, for a license for his "gift concert." The authorities, we presume, regard this concert as in the nature of a lottery, and seem to think that it is quite legal and constitutional to say that a man shall not sell such tickets,—although it is neither legal nor constitutional, to prevent other men from selling drams.

☞ On Tuesday morning, Dr. Josiah E. Flagg, a well known dentist, in Boston, who had been laboring under severe indisposition for some time past, during a fit of temporary insanity leaped from a front upper story window of his house, injuring himself so seriously that he survived but a short time.

HOLIDAYS.

CHRISTMAS has of late years come to be pretty well observed throughout New England—much in the same manner as Thanksgiving. This year it comes on Sunday (next); and while the religious ceremonies appropriate to the occasion will perhaps be more generally observed on this account, the people are not willing to lose one of the few holidays they enjoy. The banks in New York announce they will be closed on Monday; the Mayor of Boston has granted the Monday following Christmas and New Year's Day to the public schools; and we presume there will be as general a cessation of business on the day following, as is general on Christmas.

There are but four days in the year, besides Sundays, in which the mass of the people are by custom freed from their usual avocations—Fourth of July, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Fast Day. At the South the first day of the New Year is the day of all, and this observance is gradually creeping Northward. Our holidays are none too many, if properly spent, and there is a growing disposition to have more rather than less.

NEW YORK CARNIVAL.—By this title the New York Herald speaks of the next two weeks, viz: Christmas and New Year's weeks.

Christmas and New Year's day occur on the next two Sundays; we perceive that the New York Banks are to be closed on Monday, December 26,—and we suppose the Daily Papers of that city will omit their labors on the same day, the workmen joining in the general frolic, and letting the people read old papers on Tuesday, or go without.

CLEAN LINEN A PROMOTER OF MATRIMONY.—The N. Y. Dutchman says:—A soiled shirt collar has ruined many a clever fellow; and a careless dropping of saliva upon his bosom cut off his brightest prospects. A friend of ours recently obtained an angel, with an income of $10,000 a year, simply by the aid of a two dollar frill; and another is about to lead to the altar a $50,000 piece of delaine, by studiously sporting four and six penny wristbands. Happiness, clean linen and spermaceti have a close connection."

Query, whether the angel, or the delaine, knows how to wash and "do up" a shirt, or to make one?

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, in Boston, on Wednesday, George Phillips, mate of the bark Josiah Quincy, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5, for beating Thomas French, one of his crew, and $12 damages and $12 costs, for another offence against the same person.

THE RUN UPON THE BALTIMORE SAVINGS BANK.—The recent heavy run upon this institution was caused by certain false reports which had been spread relative to the insolvency of the bank. Such unfounded reports, we regret to say, are frequently started in crowded communities, and in almost every case originate with some malicious or thoughtless individual. They are often productive of much evil to society, and every person should be very careful how he gives credence or publicity to rumors of this character, of the truth of which he cannot be assured. During the panic on Saturday, in Baltimore, a large number of the poorer depositors in the bank drew their money, thus not only losing their accruing interest, but forfeiting all claims to the extra dividend to be declared in April next. Many of them, in their excitement, sold their hard earned deposits to sharpers, who were prowling about, for from fifty to seventy-five cents on the dollar. One poor man, says the Baltimore Patriot, who had accumulated $300, drew it out, and under the excitement of the occasion took to drink, entirely squandering in three weeks the savings of as many years. A number of the wealthy and prominent citizens of Baltimore mingled in the throng of depositors, endeavoring to allay their fears, and to save them from fraud by offering to buy their books at the full amounts. One depositor offered his book, with deposits to the amount of $310, for $125. A responsible merchant immediately paid him the desired amount, at the same time handing him his business card, and telling him that when he wanted to redeem his book he could do so by refunding the money advanced thereon.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A railroad accident of a peculiarly painful nature happened at Whitehall on the 3d inst. As the train was crossing the bridge near that village, the engine and tender were thrown off the track, from some cause, and the legs of the engineer caught between the two in such a way that he could not be extricated. The fire from the engine was scattered over him, and in his agony he begged for some one to kill him. No one being willing to relieve him in that way, and every other attempt to release him having failed, he took a knife and cut off his own leg at the knee joint. The terrible operation was too severe to be endured, and he died in about ten minutes.—Brattleboro' (Vt.) Eagle.

Martin Koszta declares the statement which has been passing through the papers, purporting to be his narrative, to be a hoax. The New York Express says of the contradiction: "If the veritable Martin Koszta will call upon us, we will give him such evidence that the narrative was his own, that will make him ashamed of his card, if he composed it, and if not, of the parties who put him up to signing it, and probably without any knowledge of its contents, as he can neither read nor write English. The copy we published was from his own mouth, as translated by his friend at Brown's Hotel, in Washington, after his interview with the President."

☞ The National Era, the central organ of anti-slavery in Washington, it is said, will commence daily issues after the 2d of January next.

City Council—Thursday, Dec. 22.

In Board of Aldermen—His Honor Mayor Walker in the Chair.—Jefferson Hall was granted to the Ladies of the Methodist Episcopal Society on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week.

No business of importance coming before the Board, after passing sundry bills—adjourned.

☞ Rev. Dr. Peabody's Lecture before the City Lyceum, on Thursday evening, at the Cameneum, was on the Progress of Society, which he traced through different stages and successive periods, in which men had admired greatness; first in brute force, of which Nimrod, Sampson and Hercules were types; then in military skill and prowess, typyfied in a long line of great commanders; next in hereditary distinction, where the son shone with the light inherited from the father; then in the pursuit of wealth, which has characterized England, and now characterizes us; in intellectual culture, which has grown and is growing out of our wealth and physical advancement; and lastly in moral excellence, of which we have seen the germs and now rejoice at beholding some buds of promise,—from which the speaker looks forward with strong hope of fragrant flowers and rich fruits to be enjoyed by our posterity.

This brief outline was elaborated into a well finished lecture of an hour and a half, which, though not new to all, was heard with attention and interest, and contained much valuable matter.

The Lecture on next Thursday evening, is to be by Rev. A. L. Stone, of Park street Church, Boston.

THE MONUMENT.
ANOTHER SIDE.

We have given Mr. Wiggins's view—now let us give the reverse. The Messenger of Wednesday says:

We regret to see that John H. Wiggins, Esq., of Dover, one of the committee, after the whole thing is completed, comes out with a statement that there are a number of important errors in the inscription. Had he made those corrections in the manuscript copied by Mr. Treat, he would have better performed the duty assigned him, although he might not have made such a public display of his knowledge.

Since we published Mr. W.'s statement, we have compared the Committee's Manuscript, from which Mr. Treat copied the engraving, and find it agrees verbatim et literatim with the inscription as published in the Chronicle.—This clears the printer and the stone-cutter. Mr. Treat has made an elegant monument, and engraved thereon the inscriptions furnished by the committee who ordered the work.

In addition we are informed by the elder Mr. Treat, one of the workmen on the Monument, that Mr. Wiggins himself, being in this city while the engraved marble blocks lay on a freight car, visited the depot with him and with another gentleman, and on examining the work, mentioned one error, which should be corrected, viz: that his own name was spelt Wiggin, whereas it should be Wiggins. This alteration, Mr. T. states, was made, but no other was then suggested by Mr. Wiggins, nor was mention made of any other error, real or supposed.

Mr. T. further informs us, that when at Hampton Falls, he examined the original grave stone of Pres. Weare, and found the dates and statements to agree with those on the new monument.

We will thank our Hampton Falls correspondent to copy the inscription from that stone, exactly, and send it in to us for publication.

THE POTATO ROT.—Eli Demeritt of Strafford, and Aaron Bridge of Nottingham, write us that they have discovered the rot in potatoes to be caused by an insect or maggot which eats into the potato, near the root or stem, and poisons it. They made this discovery last fall, while digging their potatoes, and have since frequently found the maggot in those which were diseased. They recommended as an effectual remedy the application of a spoonful of sulphur to the vines of each hill when the potatoes are hoed. Our correspondents are good practical farmers and may be right, but the experience of more than one season will be necessary to establish the fact. —Dover Inquirer.

Cincinnati, Dec. 21.—The steamboat Zachary Taylor, from Lawrenceburgh for this city, exploded her boiler this morning near Taylorsville, killing three persons and wounding ten others.

At Trenton, N. J., a few days since, a drunken father sat his son on the stove for punishment, and kept him there till he was severely burnt.

MUSICAL.—Madame Jenny Lind Goldschmidt appeared in a concert at Dresden on the 26th ult., for the first time since many months. One of her pieces, the Cradle Song of Tauber, was encored. The critic of the National Zeitung says that "her voice has lost much, especially in the middle notes, and is no longer what it once was."

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 21.

SENATE.—Mr. Hamlin gave notice of a bill to construct a line of telegraph from the Mississippi river to the Pacific Ocean.

Mr. Gwin, from the Naval Committee, made a report in favor of the building of six steam frigates, as recommended by the House bill.

Mr. Hunter, from the Finance Committee, reported back the warehouse extension bill.

Mr. Shields introduced his joint resolution for conferring by brevet the rank of Lieutenant-General for eminent services. Laid over.

Mr. Seward offered a resolution, directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire whether any provisions can be made for referring common law cases to referees. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Phillips offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Commerce to inquire into the propriety of completing the river and harbor improvements already commenced.

Mr. McDonald of Maine, moved to lay it on the table. Negatived—yeas 55, nays 112.

Mr. Dunham of Indiana, moved a reconsideration of the vote on Mr. Phillips' resolution, contending that the resolution ought to go to the Committee on Roads and Canals. Laid on the table.

The House then went into Committee of the whole on the State of the Union, when Mr. Dean of New York, spoke to the resolution proposing a sword and vote of thanks to Capt. Ingraham.

Mr. Giddings of Ohio, replied to Mr. Dean in an anti-slavery speech, and against the payment of the indemnity in the Amistad case.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22d.

Seven Days Later from Europe.—The steamship America, from Liverpool Dec. 10th, arrived at Halifax about 9 o'clock this morning.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP AN IRISH GIRL SUSPECTED OF PROTESTANTISM.—On Monday forenoon, the house of Richard Huntington, No. 15 Second street, Chelsea, was visited by two Irish women, with the avowed purpose of getting possession, dead or alive, of the person of a young Irish girl, an orphan, who was living with Mrs. Huntington. Mrs. H. asked them if they had any legal authority for taking the girl away; they said no; but one was a sister and the other a cousin of the girl, and they thought they had a right to her.

In reply to her inquiries, what they intended to do with her? their only answer was, to place her under Catholic influence. They were then told that the girl was at liberty to go with them if she chose; but that she should not be forced away contrary to her will. The girl declined going with her relations; whereupon one of them sprang upon her, and seizing her by the hair of her head, dragged her upon the floor, endeavoring to get her out of the house. Mrs. H. interfered to rescue the girl, and to save her little child which was in the girl's arms. Upon this, the infuriated women attacked Mrs. Huntington with great violence, leaving upon her neck and throat the marks of their assault.

She succeeded at length in breaking away from them and reaching the door, when she called for help, whereupon the women abandoned their assault and fled from the house, protesting to those who were coming to Mrs. Huntington's rescue that there was no trouble—no cause for alarm. Nevertheless, an officer was obtained, and one of the parties was arrested and bound over for trial; the other had not been found at last accounts.

The Traveller, from which we copy the above, adds that the girl went to Mr. Huntington's house to reside some six months since, and soon displayed an indifference towards the Romish worship and religion, and became a diligent reader of the Bible. She neglected to attend the Catholic Church, and declined, though repeatedly urged and almost dragged to the Priest's house, to go to confession; and finally, about a month since, attended, at her own desire, the worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Her grandmother was once a Protestant. The girl has no other near relatives in this country than the sister and cousin who perpetrated the assault.—Boston Journal.

For the Morning Chronicle.

A NEW BOOK.

Who wants to make a beautiful and useful Christmas or New Year's present to a friend? Now don't all speak at once!—"I do," says one; "I do," says another; and everybody seems to say—"I want to buy something beautiful and useful to present to somebody I love." And let me tell you one of the most beautiful and most useful things you can buy. Here is a bran new book published, that is just the very thing—"what is it? tell us what it is?" Well, wait a minute, and I'll tell you. The book is entitled, "Lady Huntingdon and her Friends"—a very handsome volume of 292 pages, and containing three fine engravings—one of Lady Huntingdon, another of John Wesley, and the third of Whitfield. This book is a stirring history of thrilling times and incidents connected with the church, and the story is told with an auction and force, which will make it interesting to all readers. For parents and children, it is one of the few books that will last and do good. It was written by our townswoman, Mrs. Helen C. Knight; and it is one of her best productions, which is saying much, when it is considered what valuable books she has written. "Do tell us where we shall get it?" Well, just have patience a minute, and I will. But mind and don't go all at one time, for if you do, you will have to stand in a row, as the men go on election day, and wait your turn, and then you might catch cold, these winter days. Just go to Mr. Abbott, the City Missionary, and ask him for a copy of "Lady Huntingdon and Her Friends," and when he gives it to you, you hand him back fifty cents. Then make haste home with a good conscience, assured that you have done one of the good things of your life. You'll never repent of it. M.

Well, send along the book;—we would like to see it for ourselves.

PULVERMACHER'S
Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains
PRESENT themselves without being invited, as the only Scientific mode of instantly relieving and permanently curing
NERVOUS DISEASES.
If the intelligent people of Portsmouth are disposed to be pleased with a long screaming advertisement, we are disposed to displease them, by a very brief notice, and simply announce that
1,000 DOLLARS
Will be given to any person, who is in need of money, who will produce so many well authenticated certificates from intelligent patients and scientific Physicians, of permanent cure of Nervous Diseases, a list of which may be found in a pamphlet of 34 pages, to be had (gratis) of the only Agent in Portsmouth, DAVID KIMBALL. Do not fail to obtain a pamphlet.
The Electric Chains are particularly recommended for the usual diseases of Females. Ladies who are enceinte are requested not to wear them.

d16 15 Market st.

"It Shines for All."
"MARSH'S PATENT OIL" was introduced to the citizens of Portsmouth, by the subscriber, in the winter of 1850, since which time the sale of the article has been steadily increasing. The following extract from a letter (received last week from the manufacturers) we deem it our duty to lay before the public.
"We are the only ones in the world who know how, or can make Marsh's Oil; the article which has gained such a wide reputation for being the safest, best, and cheapest known Fluid—it never explodes—but always gives satisfaction; and will be a benefit to whoever retails it in the various towns
Owing to the high reputation our oil has gained, some have been so unprincipled as to color Fluid and represent it as being the same as our oil (which is not the case), and charge some 2, 3, or 5 cents per gallon more, just as they can dupe their customers. These imitations do no real harm to us; but in some cases they have caused sad accidents; and even loss of life and a general complaint by the consumers that it is not so good as Burning Fluid—which is a fact—for it is impossible to color Fluid without injuring it—still there are those who will do this for the sake of 2 or 3 cents per gallon."
The subscriber will be constantly supplied with the genuine article, and with suitable Lamps and Wicks for burning it. G. N. CARLETON, d19 15 Daniel street.

J. E. HAM,
TAILOR & DRAPER.
HAS just received another lot of fashionable Pantaloon Velvet Vestings, &c. &c., which will be made to order as low as can be had at any other establishment in this city.
Particular attention is giving to cutting Pantaloons, which is indeed one of the most difficult garments in the department of dress, and has heretofore received too little attention. The success we have had in this branch of our business enables us to ENSURE ALL with an easy and becoming fit.
Gentlemen in want of any kind of Garment can be furnished at very short notice.
In the Coat Department, our customers have practical proof that we CANNOT BE BEAT.
Customers furnishing their own cloth will be attended to in the best possible manner.
☞ Wanted immediately 2 COAT MAKERS, to whom the highest prices will be paid.
Apply at No. 22 Market Street, up stairs.

The Cheapest and Best.
THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the
WEEKLY CHRONICLE,
AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,
At $1 per Annum, in advance.
Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.
The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.
LOCAL MATTERS
Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.
The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.
☞ All Postmasters will act as Agents, and any person sending five subscribers, with pay for a year, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.
MILLERS & GRAY.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Profess'or Mott's reviving Pills,
Is just the care for such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. T. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. T. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2awly

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It pleased like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous illnesses arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

An Unexpectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV, late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United states, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle. In case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this merely sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"$00.05]. On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

NOBLE CONDUCT OF AN AMERICAN CAPTAIN.—The Mauritus (Isle of France) Mercantile Gazette contains an account of the wreck of the British bark Meridian, from London for Sydney, on the island of Amsterdam, lat 39 S., lon 78 E. She struck on a rock on the southern end of the Island, on the 24th of August. Her bottom fell out, and she keeled over to an angle of 45 deg. Fortunately it was high water, and the parts held together until the crew and passengers, 105 in number, got upon the cliff. Among the passengers were 17 women and 16 children, all of whom passed six days on the barren rocks, sheltered only by a piece of canvass. The shipwrecked parties were beginning to experience sufferings of famine, when they were discovered by the American whaleship Monmouth, of Cold Spring, Long Island, commanded by Captain Isaac Ludlow.

Captain Ludlow, finding it impossible to approach the spot where the unfortunates were gathered, made signals to them to cross to the other side of the island. This was a work of such extreme difficulty and danger as to require a journey of three days for accomplishment. They felt that their labors were rewarded, however, on the fourth day, when they found themselves treading the planks of a stout ship, surrounded by a circle of humane and generous Yankee sailors, and their wants ministered to. Capt. Ludlow immediately sailed for Mauritus, where he arrived after a 17 days' passage. After landing, the persons saved held a meeting and passed resolutions expressing their grateful sense of his noble conduct. The Chamber of Commerce met, and voted that £130 be remitted to London for the purpose of procuring a piece of plate with a suitable inscription, to be forwarded to the family of Capt. Ludlow.

By this act of humanity, Capt. Ludlow lost a season for whaling around a coast where he would probably have taken 500 or 600 barrels of oil; but he saved the lives of 105 human beings. Such an instance of genuine self sacrificing humanity on the part of its sons, contributes more to the honor and glory of a country, than would a successful battle in a war of conquest.

THE MAY FLOWER.—The following interesting facts respecting the history of this renowned vessel, are obtained from one of the private Historical and Antiquarian tracts of our esteemed fellow citizens, Dr. Nathaniel B. Shurtleff:

The May Flower was a vessel of 180 tons burden, commanded by Captain Jones. She was hired in London by Mr. Robert Cushman, in June, 1620. In addition to her memorable passage to Plymouth with the Leyden Pilgrims, in 1620, she was one of the five vessels that in 1629 transported Mr. Higginson and his company to Salem; and in 1630 was one of the fleet which conveyed to New England Mr. Winthrop and the early settlers of the Massachusetts colony.

A vessel bearing this name was owned in England about fifteen years or more before the voyage of the Plymouth Pilgrims; but it would be impossible to prove or disprove its identity with the renowned May Flower, however great such a probability might be. It is known, nevertheless, that this identical famous vessel afterwards hailed from several English ports, and it was much used in transporting emigrants to this country. What eventually became of it, and what was the end of its career, are equally unknown to history.

YOUTHFUL HEROISM REWARDED.—Last week a little boy about eight years old, who had fallen into the water at West Cambridge, was rescued from drowning by another lad about ten years old, who jumped in after him. The rescuer was rewarded by a gift of a new suit of clothes from the parents of the lad whom he had saved. The name of the recipient of the new suit of clothes is Patrick Leonard. When cautioned about the danger which environed him in his attempt to rescue his playmate, he is reported to have said—"I'll try to save him, if I get drowned in the attempt."

REVOLUTIONARY FUNDS ACCOUNTED FOR.—The large fund raised in New York and other places to help on a revolution in Ireland in 1848, has been, to a considerable extent, disposed of in contriving for the escape of Messrs. Meagher, Mitchel, and others from Van Dieman's Land, and the remainder has been reserved for "future operations," in the custody of the New York Directory. This fact was disclosed at the Mitchel Banquet on Monday night, by Judge Emmet, who made a speech on the occasion.

We learn that the believers in the possibility of Spiritual intercourse with the souls of the departed, are still numerically increasing in this city and the adjacent towns. More than twenty "circles" are held regularly each week in different wards, while on Sunday a congress of all the prominent adherents has, for two years, been held at the residence of a wealthy citizen, residing a short distance in the country.—Cincinnati Commercial.

SLAVE MOTHERS AND THEIR OFFSPRING.—A bill in relation to the sale of slave mothers and their children is now before the Legislature of Georgia. It provides that no slave children under five years of age shall be separated from their mother, by any kind of sale whatever, legal or otherwise, unless, in legally dividing an estate, it shall be found impossible to effect a division without such a separation.

The venerable Dr. Lyman Beecher, in a recent Lyceum Lecture, accounted for the fact that there was more waspishness at the South than at the North, on the ground that the children at the North are "judiciously whipped," while at the South they are not whipped at all!

A pine tree which was cut last week on the farm of Mr. Samuel Emerson, at Black River, N. H., measured 14 feet in circumference at the butt, and 78 feet in length. Two or three cords of wood were cut out of the top, leaving a log of 40 feet for the mill. It was probably over two hundred years old.

THE LATHAM PRIZE.—The committee appointed to examine the one hundred and one poems offered for the Latham prize, have decided that none of them are sufficiently good, and have declined to award it to any of them.

DEATH OF A NOTED SLAVE CATCHER.—The Baltimore papers announce the death of A. G. Ridgeley the notorious slave-catching policeman of that city, formerly of the firm of Cook, Zell & Ridgely.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.
IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.
Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"PATENT OFFICE, ———.
"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.
"SIR.—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

SATURAY, DEC. 24. 1853.

COALITIONS.

The "coalition" between the whigs and free soilers in the U. S. Senate—Messrs. Everett, Sumner, &c.,—to elect Beverly Tucker printer, does not appear to have alarmed at all those gentlemen who were so excited about a "coalition" in this state. They are preparing their necks for the Seward yoke, and those democratic senators whose trick has been trumped by Seward, first hand round, had better content themselves with one rubber, and then withdraw from the table, lest they lose their democracy by continuing to associate with such skilful players.—Boston Post.

There is some wit in the above extract: but we cannot see how any party can get along in this country now, or how any business can be done, without coalitions and compromises.—We have half a dozen political parties, and moral and economical questions are constantly increasing their number. No measure can be carried, and scarcely an officer elected without the union of two or more of them. It is, to be sure, somewhat ludicrous to see the anti-coalition hards of the Senate carrying their candidate by the help of Seward and Sumner,—and quite amusing to see the Post remind them of their inconsistency.

But there will be more coalitions before Congress rises.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.—A letter from Washington states that nearly a hundred New York "Hards" arrived on Monday, and took possession of the hotels and Capitol, as they are expected to do with the White House. Their immediate object is to prevent the nomination of Mr. Redfield as Collector, Mr. Belmont—though their nominations have not been sent in.

A huge file of Executive confidential papers went into the Senate on Saturday, and were considered in secret session. Another effort is to be made to have the Executive sessions public.

The Washington correspondence of the Journal of Commerce writes:—Letters from Jackson Democratic Union men of the South, daily received here, urge the importance of a central national democratic organization in this city, that is, in Congress. The people of the South, it is urged, would take up the question and redeem the Southern States from the hands of the Secessionists, into which they are alleged to have fallen. Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Florida, all Democratic Union States, have yet elected Secession Governors. The Pacific Railroad question is so prominent that it engrosses the Washington newspapers, and also the attention of Congress. Senator Gwin will have his bill before the Senate. But he does not intend to commence the discussion till after Christmas.—Gen. Cass will be ready soon to make a great speech on Central American affairs."

The Washington Star learns that the assignees of three patent rights, which, together, yield perhaps a million per annum in tariffs, have combined to induce Congress to extend them, this winter, for seven years longer.—They are said to have raised a fund of $100,000 to be disbursed at this point to carry through their object. The champagne is already flowing in Washington like water, and their canvass backs are also "a roasting" right merrily.—Boston Chronicle.

THE ILL-FATED STEAMER AJAX.—This steamer, on her way from New York to Boston, says the Advertiser, it will be remembered, foundered in or near Massachusetts Bay, during the gale of October 24th, and all on board perished. The place where she foundered, however, was not definitely known until a few days since. Some Provincetown fishermen recently undertook to "shoot" a mackerel net, off Woodend, Provincetown, and were astonished to find their endeavors were frustrated by some obstruction. The weather being calm, and the water uncommonly clear, they could discern far beneath the surface, the hull of a sunken vessel, which they ascertained to be a steamer, by the wheel houses, &c., the upper part of which had been torn away by the action of the sea. This was undoubtedly the wreck of the Ajax. It is probable that the depth of water, and the weight of the steamer's machinery, will render it impossible to raise her.

VERDICT IN A RAILROAD CASE.—In the supreme court yesterday morning, in the case of James Mitchell vs. the Boston and Worcester Railroad, the jury after being out all night returned a verdict for defendants.—This was a suit brought by plaintiff, a brakeman in the employ of defendants, for $5000 damages for the loss of one leg at the knee, by falling from a freight train while in motion, which accident he alleged was in consequence of the negligence of the defendants in not providing suitable ladders for him to pass over the tops of the cars. The case has been tried once before, and resulted in a disagreement of the jury.

COLD WEATHER IN ALBANY.—Albany, Dec. 21.—Winter is now fairly set in. A snow storm is now raging which promises an abundant supply of the article. Navigation on the river is suspended, as the ice has laid an embargo on mercantile operations. The propeller Putnam, after having loaded, was compelled to lay up in the basin in winter quarters. The ferry boat belonging to the railroad was running to-day, but will not be able to do so twenty-four hours longer if the cold continues.

Advices from St. Domingo state that a French war steamer had compelled the Dominican government to pay three thousand dollars for having expelled two French Hayziens from the country; and that the French had demanded from General Santana the dismissal of his cabinet and the appointment of another more in accordance with the French interests. It was thought at St. Domingo that Santana would be deposed through French influence, and the ex-president reinstated as dictator. Great excitement existed there.

MONTGOMERY'S PICTORIAL TIMES.

On Saturday, December 31st, will be published, Price 3 cents, a Weekly Illustrated Newspaper, entitled "Montgomery's Pictorial Times." It is the intention of the Proprietor to present a combination of literary and artistic elements, such as has never before been offered to the Public in Newspaper Literature.

No pains will be spared to render the mechanical execution of this periodical superior to all past and existing American or European publications of a similar character. It will be illustrated by Darley, Dopler, Bellew, Kensett, and other eminent American artists while arrangements have been entered into with Gilbert, Gavarni, and other European artists of distinction, to supply the department devoted to foreign objects and events of such current interest as shall be deemed important enough to deserve the attention of the American people.

Besides ordinary illustrations there will be given, every week, social, humorous, and satirical designs, on topics eminently national and characteristic.

The publishers are Alexander Montgomery, 17 Spruce Street, New York; and F. Parker, 35 Washington Street, Boston.—$1,50 per annum; 4 copies, $5; club of 20, $1 each, and one copy to getter up. Postage 6 1-4 cents per quarter.

NEW AND ELEGANT BOOKS.—Mr. Harvey has laid on our table some specimens of his large and splendid catalogue of Christmas and New Year Books, viz:

The Hyacinth, or Affection's Gift:

The Lady's Book of Flowers and Poetry; and

The Men of the Time, or Sketches of Living Notables.

The former are beautiful Annuals for 1854,—and the latter is a brief biographical dictionary of hundreds of living characters, which will be found a very useful manual for daily reference.

His assortment of such books is very extensive, embracing a great variety.

FIVE BRITISH MAGAZINES.—If the reader will consult the advertisement of Leonard Scott & Co., he will see how cheaply and promptly he can furnish himself with the four leading British Reviews, and Blackwood's celebrated Magazine. The library of no literary society, or truly literary man, can be considered complete without the Edinburg, Quarterly, North British, and Westminster Reviews. And the enterprising publishers are doing a great service in placing works so valuable within the reach of the American public.

☞ The Great Steamboat and Railway Dinner, at Portland, where the tickets were $5 each, it is said, was eaten without strong drink. Toasts, eloquence and good cheer were there, but the bottle was absent; to the honor of Portland and Maine.

Orlando B. Losey, who escaped from the Massachusetts State prison several weeks since, was arrested at Prattsburg, New York, on Monday, where he was on a visit to his father and sister. After breaking out of prison he committed several burglaries. He told the sheriff that he should have shot him at the time he arrested him if he had been in the open air, with a chance of escape; and that he would shoot him or kill him in a moment for the sake of getting a chance to be free. He declares that if free he would steal anything he might want, and says "he cannot help it."—Boston Post.

Perhaps the State cannot very well "help" shutting him up again in prison.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.

SENATE.—Mr. Mason offered a resolution directing the appointment of a select Committee to report a new plan for the appointment and organization of the Senate officers.

Mr. Hamlin introduced his bill for building a telegraph line from the Mississippi to the Pacific.

The joint resolution for conferring the brevet title of Lieutenant General then came under consideration.

Messrs. Adams, Douglass, Walker and Petit opposed the bill, and Messrs. Cass, Mason, Badger, Shields and Sumner advocated it. It was ordered to be engrossed. Yeas 50—nays 12. Nothing further of importance was done. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Henley presented the credentials of Hadley S. Johnson, delegate from Nebraska. Referred to Committee on Elections.

Mr. Disney introduced the French Spoliation Bill. Referred to Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Wentworth introduced a resolution to admit all claims agents within the bar of the House, or else to exclude all. Supposed to apply to ex-Members of Congress. Passed.

Mr. Miller of Missouri, introduced a bill for organizing the territory of Nebraska. Referred.

The House then went into Committee on the President's Message, when Mr. Wright of Penn. replied to Mr. Gerritt Smith.

Mr. Bayley of Va., defended his position that the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury should be confirmed by the Senate, and continued his remarks by ridiculing the idea that a member could not vote as his sense dictated, without being charged with opposing the Administration.

☞ Mrs. Barrett, a celebrated actress, died in Boston on Thursday, aged 54.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—To each person not now on our list, who shall subscribe for the Daily or Weekly Chronicle for the year 1854, and pay for the same in advance, we will supply the paper to Jan. 1, gratis. Terms for the Daily $3—Weekly $1.

☞ The Second New Hampshire Festival, is a beautiful book, containing an account of the celebration at Boston, Nov. 2, 1853, and embellished by portraits of Marshall P. Wilder and Samuel Appleton. It has just been laid on our table, with a notice that an agent for the work will be in this city to-day and Monday, and may be found at No. 17 Pleasant street.

The history of the events of the day, and the proceedings connected with the celebration,—the speeches, toasts, songs, and letters, which were volunteered or called out by distinguished and favorite New Hampshire men, are all enwrapped in the Book. The list of New Hampshire residents who have subscribed their names to the registry, counts 2135, and it forms something of a directory. Rockingham leads the list with 450 names; Hillsboro' is second, having 335, and Merrimack has 318—these three counties formerly constituted only Rockingham and Hillsboro'. "Old Strafford" has 394 names, divided thus—Strafford 133; Belknap 143; Carroll 118; Cheshire has 253, and its daughter, Sullivan, has 115. Grafton puts down 229 names, and Coos records 32, being a dozen more than were reported at the gathering of 1849.

SHALL WE KEEP CHRISTMAS?

The question of its religious observance this year, is settled by the fact that it comes on Sunday, thus uniting the general commemoration of the Resurrection with the special celebration of the Advent.

But the other question, of taking Monday as a day of sportive leisure, is discussed in the Boston papers. We can hardly say it is debated; for as yet no one speaks against the holiday. The Advertiser says:

Christmas falls this year on Sunday, and will therefore be lost as an occasion of enjoyment unless Monday be generally celebrated as a holiday. In New York the offices of the banks and of several of the leading insurance companies, will not be open on either Dec. 26 or Jan. 2, and the Custom House will only be open for an hour. It has been suggested that this example should be followed in this city, so far as Monday next is concerned. If the busy New Yorkers can spare two days for recreation, surely our citizens can spare one.—The suggestion is worth consideration.

☞ In this city, we hear some talk of endeavoring to get the store keepers to suspend business on Monday—which we hope they will do. Out of consideration for the day, for our workmen and ourselves, we shall keep Monday as a holiday, and therefore issue no paper on Tuesday.

☞ By our advertising columns, it will be seen that the Oyster dealers are well supplied with delicious bivalves for Christmas. Take heed and be wise.

☞ George W. Brasbridge, Esq., of Great Falls, has been appointed Mail Agent on the Boston & Maine Railroad, in place of Horace P. Watson.

☞ The Great Falls Journal says the paragraph published respecting the stabbing case in that town, is in almost every particular incorrect. The affray happened at Salmon Falls. Mr. Locke, the keeper of the stable, got into a dispute with Place, in the bar-room of the hotel, of which Locke is landlord.—Place threatened Locke, who immediately left the bar-room to go up stairs. Place followed and caught him near the head of the stairs, and Locke, in self defence, stabbed him. The wound is not considered a dangerous one.

☞ The North American Review is said to have changed hands,—so that after the January number, Crosby & Nichols of Boston are to be the publishers, and Rev. Andrew P. Peabody of this city, the editor. This will be a popular change.

James Hughes, an Irishman, was struck by an engine while travelling on the track of the Boston & Maine Railroad, in Rollinsford, about one-half mile from the Salmon Falls depot. He died on Wednesday morning, leaving a family of four children.

ENGLISH AND AMERICAN CLIPPERS.—The English clipper Challenger did not beat the Nightingale after all. It was at best but an even match. The Challenger had seventeen hours the start in the race. She arrived in the river Thames Oct. 27. The Nightingale anchored off the mouth the morning of the 28th. This is close sailing for an eighty days' match.—Boston Journal.

Tiger Engine Company No. 2, of Dover, will give a grand Levee and Ball at the Town Hall, Dover, on the evening of January 2, 1854. They have secured the services of the Germania Serenade Band, of Boston.

Died, in Matamoros, on the night of the 29th inst., after five days' illness of yellow fever, Felip de Iturbide, aged thirty years. The deceased was a son of Agustin de Iturbide, Emperor of Mexico in 1821. He was educated at St. Mary's College, Baltimore, Md., and until about 1848 had been a resident of Philadelphia, where his family still reside. His brothers are in the military and revenue service of Mexico. The deceased had been employed in the Mexican boundary commission since his return to that country, and was acting as interpreter at the time of his death.

The British Quarterlies

AND

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

FOREIGN NEWS.

The America, from Liverpool 10th inst. 1 P. M. brings the usual budget of European news.

The Turkish war news does not seem to be more distinct or satisfactory, than by former arrivals. Many Turkish successes are reported, but they must be received with caution; for if they were decisive the Russians must retreat. We have not forgotten Benaparte's old Bulletins, in which he kept defeating the Russians till they had swallowed up most of his grand army.

Cotton unchanged, flour 1s 6d higher, India n corn 1s lower, apples scarce and dear, Newtown pippins had reached $7 to $12 per bbl, provisions rather dull.

The steamer Hermann sailed from Southampton on the afternoon of the 7th; has a full cargo and 150 passengers. When she left Bremerhaven the ice was closing the river.

The ship "E Z" had put back to Liverpool. All her passengers and four of her crew had been drowned.

[Rather a strange story. We hope it is not true.]

TURKISH WAR.—The four mediating powers have resumed their joint action in favor of peace; and have recognized by a formal protocol the importance of preserving the present territorial arrangement of Europe on this basis. Measures have been taken to hold a joint conference of representatives of Turkey and Russia, thus making the conference consirtof six Commissioners. As yet nothing further has transpired. The proposal is eagerly grasped at by Russian partizans, but unfavorably viewed by the Liberal press and party, who think that Turkey has a right to claim something more than the mere statu quo anti bellum. They insist that the present opportunity should be seized to obtain the free navigation of the Danube and the Black Sea, and the abandonment of all Russian claims against Turkey. In the absence of any symptoms that the Czar will abate his pretensions, or that the Sultan will recede, not much prospect appears of settlement at present.

Constantinople papers of the 24th ult. state that the Turkish government refuses to submit to a three months' armistice demanded by England. On refusal the English Minister, Lord Stratford de Redcliffe, had five hours' audience of the Sultan, and an extraordinary meeting of the Divan was forthwith summoned.

At an entertainment to English and French admirals given on board the Turkish flag ship "Mahmoudie," the officers were presented to the Sultan.

Lord Stratford made a speech in which the promised aid of England was coupled with a strong recommendation to conclude an honorable peace. The Sultan replied that he desired peace if the Turkish honor and his sovereign rights were respected, but not otherwise. Meanwhile we have news of more Turkish victories in Asia.

The Turks are brim full of enthusiasm.—The spirit of the people and the army are alike elated to the highest pitch. The Turkish army continue plentifully supplied with provisions, with unopened magazine at Varna; are paid regularly and have clothing and shoes.

Some Americans, not named, have joined the Turkish camp.

A Russian manifesto permits neutral vessels still to load grain at Brahilow and Golatz, provided they hold no communication with the Turkish side of the river.

The Patriarch of Constantinople has requested permission to accompany the Sultan to the army to prove that the Greek Church prefer Turkish to Russian protection.

The Morning Post believes that Austria and Prussia have so far committed themselves to the views of the Western powers, that in the event of a collision with Russia the German powers will at least remain completely neutral. The Post expresses with regret its opinion that a war between the Western powers and Russia, confined in all probability to the Black Sea and the Turkish Territory, seems inevitable.

ITALY.—The Piedmont, Genoa, and Turkey Railway opened on the 6th.

ROME.—Twenty young men have been arrested on charge of belonging to a London Secret Society. Among them are the names of Ciglie, Picivilla, Leparti, and Trucelie.

An Æronaut was frozen to death in a balloon.

ARRIVAL OF THE HERMANN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The steamship Hermann, from Southampton and Bremen, arrived at an early hour this morning, bringing London dates of the 7th inst. We find a few items of interest not received via Halifax.

Louis Napoleon charges the King of Belgium with being concerned in the schemes which led to the fusion of the Bourbons, and threatens to march an army into Belgium upon the first political movement of the coalesced Bourbons. The recent rapid and unexpected movements of the Duke de Brabant are supposed to refer to this event. The Cabinet is in a great fright.

The Ottoman Government has officially declared that it will not sanction privateering nor grant letters of marque.

The steamship Golden Age left Southampton for the West Indies with over $2,000,000 in specie.

The steamship Marshall, from Hamburgh for Hull, had been wrecked, with the loss of 170 lives.

The packet ship "E Z," which left Liverpool for New York Nov. 13, had put back, having encountered a gale on the 29th, which swept decks, and washed overboard thirteen passengers, and five of the crew.

The Cheapest and Best.
THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the
WEEKLY CHRONICLE,
AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,
At $1 per Annum, in advance.
Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.
The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.
LOCAL MATTERS
Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.
The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner,'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this

KEEP THE HAIR ON YOUR HEAD, by using Hutchings' Hair Tonic, manufactured by [d8] B. HUTCHINGS.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Is just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of this above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N.B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed to CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2awly

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the skin, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself. The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind. The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that their lives would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

PETTENGILL'S COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGE
THE WONDER OF THE WORLD

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

THE RAILROAD GAUGE WAR.—Readers have seen so much in the telegraphic reports for a week past of the mob at the city of Erie, Pennsylvania, and the tearing up of the railway tracks, that they may be a little curious to know the origin of the trouble. This arises from that jealous spirit which is too often fostered by rival States and cities as well as by individuals and companies, of drawing away business from each other. The cause of this trouble is found in the business jealousy between Pennsylvania and New York. It may be recollected that for a considerable time Pennsylvania obstinately refused the right of way through that State, for railroads running from New York to the West, fearing they would carry Western trade to New York, instead of Philadelphia. Finally, on condition that a break in the gauge of the track should be made at Erie, and all merchandize unladen and reloaded there, so that it might just as well go to the Philadelphia market, as to New York or elsewhere, the right of way was conceded. The riots as they have been termed by the telegraph, are movements countenanced by the city authorities of Erie, and performed under their direction, as they contend the railroad company have no right to alter the gauge so as to pass through there without unlading.

The Railroad routes connecting New York with Ohio, must necessarily pass through the State of Pennsylvania, and are rival routes to works upon which Pennsylvania has spent much money. This accounts for the letter of sympathy addressed by the Governor of Pennsylvania to the people of Erie.

The New-York roads, the Erie with 6 feet, and the Buffalo with 4 feet 8 1-2 inch gauges, reach Buffalo and Dunkirk on one side, and the Ohio roads with 4 feet 10 inch gauges, extend to Cleaveland on the other. To connect these two points it was necessary to build the Lake Shore Railroad. From a difference of the gauges, a break must occur in some place, and the question was, where should it be? Cleaveland wanted it and so did Dunkirk and Buffalo; but it was finally found necessary to make it at Erie in order to obtain the right of way through Pennsylvania. The Legislature of Pennsylvania, therefore, passed a law that all roads built from Erie, east, should be either with 4 feet 8 1-2 inches or the 6 feet gauge, these being the gauges used in New York; and all roads built west of that point should be of the Ohio gauge, 4 feet 10 inches. This permitted the people of New York to bring either or both of their gauges to that point, and the people of Ohio to reach the same point with their gauge.

The difficulties which have since sprung up have arisen from the attempt of the railroad companies to shake off these restrictions.—The Erie and North East Railroad, extending from Erie to the eastern line of Erie country, was built with two tracks, one of 6 feet, to accommodate the Erie Railroad, and one of 4 feet 8 1-2 inches to accommodate the New York Central Railroad, which extends to Buffalo from New York.

Recently the Erie Railroad company, have agreed with the Buffalo and State line Railroad, which has heretofore been connected with the Central Road and its 4 feet 8 1-2 inch gauge, to introduce the 4 feet 10 inch gauge, and at the same time a new company is building a line of the same gauge, from Erie to the Ohio State line, but the Pennsylvanians assert that this last company is building under a fraudulent charter, obtained for another purpose. When these lines were finished, there were three breaks in the gauge—one at Buffalo and at Dunkirk, one at North-East, and one at Erie. To cure these evils it was only necessary to change the gauge of the Erie and North East road to the 4 feet 10 inch track, by which the line would be uniform from Buffalo to Cleveland and Cincinnati.

That is what the people of Erie have risen to resist by force, and though the matter has gone into the U. States Court; the removal of the rails, and destruction of the property is still going on, probably now by a mob, although the first attacks were made by the Mayor and a Police force.

Injunctions against the authorities of Erie have been applied for to the U. States District Court at Pittsburg, and the decisions were given on Saturday last. The Court granted the preliminary injunction, reserving a final decision on the merits of the case when it comes up for a final hearing.

It is now stated that the Legislature of Pennsylvania will impose a tax upon all persons who pass on the Lake Shore Railroad through Pennsylvania, to and from the West. The travel on this line is large, now exceeding 1000 passengers a day, and rapidly increasing.

It was a great mistake, arising from a sectional jealousy, which made the railroads in different States of various widths. It adds so much to the cost of transportation, that ultimately it will be found necessary to remedy the evil by changing the tracks or by some invention by which loaded cars may be moved from one set of wheels to another.—Newburyport Herald.

LISZT'S NEW MUSICAL INSTRUMENT.—The Paris correspondent of the National Intelligencer gives the following description of the wonderful combination or orchestral piano, which has before been mentioned as recently constructed for Liszt, the celebrated musician:

The orgue melodium is attatched to the body of Erard's grand piano, filling up the space between the body and the floor, but so adapted to the form as not to increase at all the space which that instrument alone would occupy. The instrument, however, which realizes this new and powerful combination, would seem to be destined for the use of robust men only. Performance upon it will require an amount and kind of physical exertion inconsistent with lady-like grace and dignity of deportment, if not actually beyond female muscular capacity. Feet, knees, hands and voice of the performer are all employed to produce separately or simultaneously the effects of vocal music, of the piano and of the full orchestra.

The bellows attached to this apparatus are so easily and perfectly managed as to produce the force, decision, and instantaneous distinctness of expression hitherto capable of being rendered only by first-rate artists with the bow on stringed instruments. With those advantages, the new instrument combines the perfect sostenuto of the organ, with the subdued effect of a number of muted violins, oboes, (hautboys,) &c., composing a full orchestra. Mde. Decyfres will, it is said, dare to play in public on this formidable instrument, which at present promises to open a new, large and attractive field, both to musical composition and performance.

THE WEAKNESS OF SLAVERY AS AN INSTITUTION.—Percy Walker, of Alabama, is urging the passage of a law in that State, exempting a certain number of slaves from forced sale under execution. The measure is advocated as a means of strengthening the institution of slavery, by inducing more persons to become slave owners It having been objected that to pass such a law for such a purpose, would be an admission of weakness. Mr. Walker replies that there is no disguising that the institution of slavery is weak. "The moral power of the world," he says, "is arrayed against us on this subject. Men of all ranks and classes beyond the ocean unite in protesting against the institution. In this country, parties, sects and states have warred against it in every form, except by a resort to arms.

Our very sensitiveness under these assaults argues our fears of the strength of the institution. To think, then, of concealing a weakness which is so potent, is absurd; and to caution us against acknowledging it, is to make cowards of us. Let us not deceive ourselves. We stand alone, with nothing to break or turn aside the force of opinion, which surges and roars around us as an angry flood. Nowhere but in the slave states are the defenders of slavery to be found. There, and there only, is to be found whatever strength it has. The strength needed depends upon ourselves, and must be supplied at home."

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, DEC. 26. 1853.

THE RAILROAD.

On the first page of this day's Chronicle will be seen a clearer view of the matter than has been given before, and as we think, rather more favorable to the people of Erie, though they are yet apparently in the wrong in part, if not in the whole. There was a plan for a conference at New York of the parties interested, to endeavor to effect an amicable and satisfactory arrangement for the running of the railroad through Erie. The Council of Erie at first agreed to send delegates, but afterward rescinded the vote.

A despatch dated at Cleveland, on Thursday, says :—

Ten of the hands engaged in repairing the Northeast railroad track, at Erie, have been tried by an Erie justice, and fined $90 each.—The justice decided that the injunction from the United States Court, to restrain the people of Erie from interfering with the road, is null and void.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—The application of the Franklin Canal Company for an injunction in the Supreme Court to restrain the city of Erie from tearing up the railroad track and destroying the bridges, was heard to-day, and after an argument, the Court stated that its decision would be given to-morrow.

BUFFALO, Dec. 23.—A public meeting largely attended was held last night, at which resolutions were passed expressive of the indignation of our citizens at the proceedings of the people of Erie.

WHO DID IT?

The N. H. Patriot has a short article, explanatory of some circumstances about the advance copy of the President's Message. The most important part of it is here copied. The italics are ours.

As to the means by which we obtained an advance copy, we have only to say that the public have no right or interest to inquire, so long as there is no pretence that we used improper means to get it. The Government at Washington gave no intimation that copies would be sent here in advance, and copies of no message heretofore have been received here in advance, excepting the Inaugural of Gen. Pierce. Others had the same means that we had of knowing that no copies were to be received here, and probably knew it as soon as we did; and the fact that we were so fortunate as to secure one, affords no just ground of complaint on the part of others.

We have never blamed either the N. H. Patriot or the Boston Post, for having or issuing an early copy of the Message—but the public have both a right and an interest to ask, Who furnished these early copies? and Why it was done in a clandestine manner?

Either President Pierce himself furnished those two papers with his message, or else he has about him some men who cannot be trusted, who did it.

If he were the President of a Party, and chose to send, or let some secretary send, advance copies to two, or two hundred papers, exclusively hard or soft, we should all know what to do.

But he is the President of the United States; and somebody sent out just such a Mail Agent as was sent by President Fillmore last year, holding out the same idea, viz.: that the Message would be delivered from the Post Offices simultaneously—but at the same time, somebody, we don't yet know who, forwarded copies in advance, to two favorite papers, thus making the mail agent's mission worse than useless.

Somebody, in this way, has played a low trick on the public,—and the public ought to know who it is. The Post says, Not I—the Patriot says, Not I. We believe them. But they know who sent the Message to them.—They are not obliged to tell. But until they do tell, the public has a right to make its own guesses, and different minds will guess all the way from the printing office to the president.

It may be sport to the thoughtless, but it is death to public confidence in the machinery of our government, if there is no honor among those who keep and distribute the public documents.

THE LEMMON CASE.

The Virginia Senate has passed a bill requiring the Attorney General to represent the interests of Virginia before the Supreme Court of New York, on an appeal taken from the decision by which Jonathan Lemmon was deprived of his slaves; and, if necessary, prosecute the appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

We thought this Lemmon case was squeezed pretty dry long ago; but it seems we were mistaken. The mention of the Amistad pirates' claim in the President's message, appears to be a signal for the reviving of illegal claims generally. Neither of these named, however, is likely to be paid very soon, unless by some smuggling process. In open daylight they cannot be passed, either through a court, or through Congress.

THE SCHOOLMATE, a Monthly Reader for School and Home Instruction of Youth,—edited by A. R. Phippen, assisted by eminent practical teachers. Published by Morris Cotton, 121 Washington st., Boston. $1 a year. A very nice little Magazine.

THE WEARE MONUMENT AGAIN.

DOVER, Dec. 24, 1853.

To Messrs. Millers & Gray.—

Gentlemen :—Your article of the 23d inst., in relation to the Weare Monument, contains statements which compel me to refer to that subject again. I can not understand what "other side" there is about anything I have written, so far as the errors in the inscriptions which have been pointed out, are concerned, for they are fully sustained by historical proof and entries in records, where accuracy and authenticity can not be questioned. And [I am] not yet sure I [have] seen any contradiction of the statement, which was made in reference to them in any of the articles you have published, either from yourselves or your correspondents. Then, in the language and construction of my communications I was careful to observe the strictest rules of courtesy and kindness—writing nothing which need offend anybody. Now in what way I have partially or unjustly presented one side of this matter so as to open the door for a newspaper controversy does not occur to me. And it seems to me, with deference to your neighbor the "Messenger," taking into consideration what is hereinafter said in relation to my connection with this matter, that no reasonable man can censure me for endeavoring to relieve the "committee" and the State from the imputation of either ignorance or carelessness in a matter of so much consequence. If no account of the inscriptions had been published, the errors would have been quietly corrected, but being published and cast abroad for the inspection of the people of the State, an ordinary degree of respect for their general information and knowledge about themselves and their own history, and their right to have the historical and biographical inscriptions upon a public monument of this character accurate, would seem to entitle them to the earliest assurance that the errors could be and would be corrected. And I trust this may be done without subjecting myself to the charge of a desire to "make a public display of" my "knowledge."

I do not know what "dates and statements" Mr. T. has found upon the "grave stone of Pres. Weare"—the inscriptions are erroneous in the particulars mentioned, and there does not seem to be much occasion on his part to show that he has not been in fault when no fault whatever has been imputed to him. Neither "printer" nor "stone-cutter" have been charged with any blame or delinquency—the latter engraved accurately what was furnished to him. The errors then were in the manuscript and no matter from what causes they happened to be there, the consequence is equally unfortunate.

The courteous address of the article which you copied from the "Messenger" will be more distinctly marked when it is informed that I never gave Mr. T. any directions about the monument, had nothing to do with the contract with him, never furnished or aided in furnishing him or anybody else with inscriptions to put on it, and never saw in manuscript or heard from word of mouth a single word, letter, or device of what was intended to be inscribed on it, and first knew what the inscriptions and devices were from the publication in the Portsmouth Chronicle. Now under these circumstances I could not very well have made "corrections in the manuscript," and the Messenger will see at once that he has been unjust, to say the least, in his statement in regard to me.

Again Mr. T's statement to you in regard to what took place at the Depot in your city is calculated to convey much more than the truth will warrent. I went with a gentleman of your city (Mr. T. was not with us) to the Depot. We met Mr. T. there—the different parts of the monument were on some platform cars. The block, or blocks, upon which the inscriptions were made were so encased or boxed up that no examination could be made and none was attempted. The gentleman with me called my attention to the manner of spelling my name and aside from that single and trivial error, I did not then know what was inscribed upon the monument, for I did not see the Chronicle in which an account was girvn of them, till the afternoon of the same day.

Hoping there will be no occasion for any farther correspondence upon this subject, I remain Yours respectfully,

JOHN H. WIGGINS.

We give Mr. Wiggins, as above, a full and early hearing. We certainly thought, when we read his first article, in the Dover Gazette, that it found fault with somebody—and we did not know but we had copied some date erroneously. He says now, that no blame is attached to printer or stone catter. So all that is settled.

But then, for the errors, if errors they are, somebody is to blame; and we would respectfully enquire, whether Mr. Wiggins has not by his own showing, charged himself with great neglect of duty as a committee-man, in knowing nothing about the whole matter and doing nothing about it, until the work was all but completed; and indeed as he now says, never reading the inscriptions any where except in a paper, till the structure was erected.

We will only add here, that we do not regard any thing he has pointed out as an error at all, except the title Governor, which should undoubtedly be President.

ODD COMPARISON.—A letter from Louisville, Ky., to the Portland "State of Maine" newspaper, says :

I was in to one of the medical lectures two or three days since. They had over 250 students. The lecture room is shaped just like a tunnel, and the sides about as steep. Down in the neck of it stands the lecturer, who, when I saw him, was flying round as if he expected to go through shortly, or was under obligation to do so.

The wife of Mr. Samuel Carpenter, of Pawtucket, left her home at 6 o'clock on the evening of the 20th, in a state of partial derangement. The people turned out en masse to search for her yesterday morning, and found her two or three miles from the village. She was much exhausted and quite insensible, and it is feared that she will not recover.

LOCAL.

☞ We shall observe Monday as Christmas—and consequently no Chronicle will be printed on Tuesday.

CHRISTMAS.—We understand all the Dry Goods dealers have agreed to close to-day.

☞ We are requested to state that there will be no free school this evening.

SOCIAL FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the Methodist Society will open the doors of Jefferson Hall this evening, and spread their tables with substantials and fancies, to tempt the eye and allure the taste; and thereby to raise the needful, wherewith to construct an organ. The object is popular and praiseworthy; and the opportunity to help it along, with the chance to have a good time, will fill the Hall to overflowing. The public—certainly all those who have any musical taste, are interested in the matter; for the more good instruments we have among us, the more will music be disseminated, appreciated and enjoyed.

SINGING SCHOOL.—Mr. Clark organized his singing school at Academy Hall, on Wednesday evening last, and has selected the "Shawm," just published in New York, as the book to be used. He will commence his course of 24 lessons this evening at half-past 7 o'clock. Terms—$1.50 for gentlemen, $1 for ladies. He has got quite a long list now, and will increase it this evening. The school will meet on Monday and Wednesday evenings.

LAUGHING GAS.—The pleasure loving folks in this vicinity, have the finest opportunity to gratify their taste on Wednesday Evening that has been offered to the public for some time. The Entertainment at the Cameneum, consisting of the laughing and other Gases, the Balloon to be sent up, as well as the fire king and necromancy, presents unusual attractions to the lovers of such sports. See the advertisement.

☞ Readers will see—they can't help seeing, Mr. Harvey's huge advertisement on our fourth page this morning. Therein is enumerated a part of the Books and other articles suitable for presents, which compose his stock. The Chroniclers are indebted to him for a handsome token of remembrance, at this time when everybody is making presents to everybody.

Advertisements of the other dealers will also be found in our columns to-day—a sufficient quantity and variety to suit all. The practice of bestowing gifts of all descriptions upon relatives and friends, during the holidays, is becoming more and more general—and when employed judiciously is very pleasant, and often promotive of good.

THE UNIVERSALIST FAIR closed on Friday night, having been conducted throughout to the gratification of everybody—for everybody was there. The tableaux were a new feature here, were very pleasing, and are said by those familiar with such exhibitions, to have been uncommonly fine. Much credit is due to those whose exertions gave the public the benefit of so artistic a display. We have heard many express a wish that a more public exhibition of these living pictures might be had—say at the Temple, where they could be better viewed. They would draw a full house.

In a pecuniary way the Fair was eminently successful—the receipts being near $550, of which about $450 are net, and go to aid in repairing the Church.

CONCERT BY THE BARDS.—The Concert by Ossian's Bards on Saturday evening, was one of the richest musical treats we have enjoyed for a long time. The choruses were given with good effect; and some of the songs, especially that of the "Dying Boy," were beautifully rendered by Mr. E. F. Whitehouse, the Tenor, who has a very sweet, grateful voice, and sings with uncommon feeling and expression. He is one of the best performers we have heard for a long time.

Miss Tanner's alto is excellent—full and pure, without any of that guttural, choked sounding of words which spoils many altos. Laura's voice fills up the chorus as nicely as she does the group.

One marked feature of this whole performance, whether in song or chorus, was the perfect enunciation of words—so important a requisite in singing, and so much to be preferred above anything in an unknown tongue or murdered English. In the duet, "No, ne'er can thy home be mine," by Mr. Whitehouse and Miss Tanner, the different words sung at once could be distinctly understood throughout.

Dodge was himself, and he brought down the house with his inimitable comicalities.—Whatever he don't know, he does understand how to conduct an entertainment; and we would advise all to go and hear his Bards.

Rev. Mr. Mole has been convicted of horse stealing at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., notwithstanding the plea of insanity. He had stolen half a dozen horses, wagons and harnesses.—His wife, an excellent woman, and eight children were in court.

It is stated that an attempt will be made to raise the wreck of steamer Ajax, sunk near Woodend, off Provincetown. She is reported to be in fourteen fathoms water. The season of the year is unfavorable, and the depth of water great; but some of the Provincetown people think it can be done without great expense, and the job could not be in better hands.

BALDNESS CURED!

Emerson's American Hair Restorative.

FOR Restoring the Hair on Heads HOPELESSLY BALD, and to prevent the Hair from falling, is winning golden opinions of perions who are using it. This is a new article, recently introduced, is a sure thing for Baldness, and will stand the test of a discerning public. The Proprietors have such confidence in it that they authorize their Agents to take Bald cases on GUARANTEE. Price to be agreed upon between the parties.

The British Quarterlies

AND

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz.:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE. No money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.

SENATE.—Mr. Jones, of Tennessee, gave notice of a Bill to distribute the proceeds of the public Lands among the several States. Nothing else was done of general importance. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House went into committee on the President's Message, when

Mr. Phillips, of Ala., made a speech on the slave question, and defended Secretary Marcy from the attacks made upon him, and spoke against the Senate bill as to the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Bayly replied, when the committee rose.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from Theo. Sedgwick, inviting the members of Congress to visit the Crystal Palace, and sending tickets for all of them. Adjourned until Tuesday.

15 DAYS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 53.—The steamship Pampero, from San Juan, Nicargua, in five and a half days, has arrived at the Balize, and will reach this city about midnight. She brings 172 passengers, a large quantity of gold, and California dates of the 1st of December.

The Northern light sailed from San Juan on the 16th for New York, with 500 passengers and $1,600,000 in gold on freight.

MORE GAMESOME THAN GALLANT.—Saxe is reported to have said in a recent lecture, while discoursing of the artistic imperfections of most female poets, notwithstanding their wealth of fancy and sentiment, that it seems impossible for Pegasus to trot handsomely under a side-saddle!"

HAVANA.—The Ex Captain General Canedo sailed for Spain on the 13th. It was reported that during his administration of one year and a half, he had amassed over a million of dollars.

FIRE.—Mount Vernon, Ohio, Dec. 23.—The large four story brick Woolen Manufactory of Messrs. Potwin & Curtis was completely destroyed by fire this afternoon, together with all the machinery and a large portion of the stock, manufactured cloths, &c. The loss is estimated at $50,000 to $60,000; partially covered by insurance. The establishment had only recently been purchased by Potwin & Curtis. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Two frame dwellings adjoining were also destroyed.

SANTA FE.—Advices from Chihuahua of 2d November, state business to be extremely dull, and it was thought all the foreign merchants would leave soon for California, leaving the trade all in the hands of the Mexicans. American merchants were awaiting at El Passo, not being able to pass their goods through the Custom House, 20 per cent. being added to the former tariff. Business at Santa Fe was also quite dull.

UNITED STATES EXPLORING EXPEDITION.—Commander Ringgold was at St. Simon's Bay, Cape of Good Hope, Oct. 15th, with all the vessels of his squadron, viz.: The Vincennes, Porpoise, John Hancock, John P. Kennedy, and Fennimore Cooper. The bad weather had detained them at St. Simon's Bay, in making the necessary repairs to some of the vessels, but they were to leave in the course of a few days.

Commander Ringgold, in the Vincennes, with the Porpoise in company, was to proceed to the South, round New Holland, to examine a route for our trade between Australia and China, now become so important, whilst Lieut. Rodgers, with the steamer John Hancock, ship J. P. Kennedy, and schooner Fennimore Cooper, was to proceed directly to the Straits of Sunda, to examine the Straits of Gaspar and portions of the China Seas. Here the whole squadron was to meet again, and proceed to China in February.

The health of the officers and crews of the squadron was good, and the vessels seem well adapted for the duty they were to perform, and when they leave the Cape will all be in fine order. The little pilot boat schooner Fennimore Cooper proves very fast, and a perfect vessel of her class.

Commodore Talbot, commanding the British naval forces on the Cape station, had been kind and attentive in every way, offering every facility in his power.

THE HOLIDAYS.—"The holiday season!" said old Roger, as he threw down the paper that alluded to them, "what right have we to talk of holidays with a spirit on us that almost begrudges the sabbath for rest and don't find the rest of the days long enough for making money? We call Christmas and New Years days the 'holiday season!' What a misnomer! It is like calling those pickles, mem, (to the landlady) sweetmeats; but it don't make them so; or like Mr. Swiveller's calling his solitary apartment his 'rooms;' but it didn't make it so; nor his 'rosy' of gin and water the sparkling wine, because he called it so. We are the same shopkeeping, penny saving, money seeking people on 'the holidays' as upon any other days. Even the birth of the world's salvation becomes transmuted into a salvation of dollars, and the chink of change mingles with the joyous laughter that here and there arises where some good Barnard redeems the day as much as he can from its worldliness. The catholics are worth copying in regard to holidays. They have an army of saints to commemorate—saints worthy of a day's devotion—and they give their time to mirth ungrudgingly.—Their spirits thus acquire new energy for after toil, and spring forward refreshed from the momentary suspension of over taxing care. Herein the catholics are right, and even Gavazzi with his tongue of fire cannot talk me out of it. I go for more holidays for the people. Let us make saints to commemorate. Devote a day here or there to the memory of Washington, or Webster, or Franklin, and offer hilarity and joy upon the altar of the season. There should be three holidays—real holidays I mean—where there is one now. Fourth of July looks too far off from Christmas, with not a resting place between." The little man broke off here, amid the plaudits of the boarders with the handles of their knives, and he found that they had eaten up all the custard pudding while he had been talking.—Boston Post.

The Cheapest and Best.
THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the
WEEKLY CHRONICLE,
AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,
At $1 per Annum, in advance.
Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.
The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.
LOCAL MATTERS
Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.
The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisement—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.
☞ All Postmasters will act as Agents, and any person sending five subscribers, with pay for a year, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

WM. PENN AND THE BISHOPS.

The case of the celebrated William Penn and William Mead, tried at Old Bailey for a breach of the peace, because they preached to two or three hundred persons their quaker doctrines in the street, is one of great interest. Penn pleaded that the assembly was a lawful one. The judges charged strongly against the accused, but the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. One of this jury was named Edward Bushell. He was committed to Newgate for finding the defendant not guilty "against law, against evidence, and against the direction of the court in matters of law." Eleven judges heard this case. They acquitted Bushell, and ever since, Stanhope says, this question of punishing a jury for their verdict, "should be looked upon as dead and buried."

Another of the celebrated cases, in connection with the rights of jurors, is that of the seven bishops in James the II. reign. They were tried for a libel, and this was contained in a petition to the king, who, the moment he received it, pronounced it "a standard of rebellion"—"the most seditious paper that ever was penned." They were summoned before the privy council, where the bloody Jeffries was chancellor, to answer to a charge of high misdemeanor. Here they acknowledged the petition, and were then prosecuted at the court of kings bench, and committed to the Tower. All the judges delivered opinions to the jury at the trial. There was no doubt as to the fact of the petition, but all the judges put the question, libel or no libel, as matter of law to the jury.

Here both sides did not deny to the juries the power or the right of determining the law of that case. Wright, who thought it was a libel, named it as a point of law, and Halloway, who did not think it a libel, also used the same phrase. It was admitted that the jury was the tribunal to determine the case. They did determine it. The bishops were acquitted, amidst "a shout of joy," says Mackintosh, "which sounded like a crack of the ancient and massive roof of Westminster Hall."

AN OLD NEGRO SOLDIER.

"Mr. Packenham, late British Minister at Washington, was one day dining at the residence of Hon. Senator Barrow, of Louisiana. Before dinner and in the temporary absence of his host from the room, her Majesty's ambassador was accosted by an old colored man who was in the room putting things to rights, with, 'Massa, is your name Packinham?'—Yes, said the Minister. 'Was dat your brudder dat was killed at Orleans at de great battle dar?' He was, replied the ambassador. 'Well dere, some how or udder I thought so! I was dare myse'f. I seen him popped ober wid my own eyes. Great fight, dat, Massa!'

While at dinner, Mr. Packenham said to Mr. Barrow, 'Your man tells me sir, that he was at the battle of New Orleans.' 'He was,' said Mr. Barrow, 'and acquitted himself manfully at that engagement,' but at the same time he looked daggers at the old seneschal, for having broached such a subject in presence of his guest. 'He tells me too,' continued Mr. Packenham, 'that he saw my brother fall.' The frown upon the host's face grew darker, and the subject was adroitly changed.

The next day Sam came in to Mr. Barrow with a note. 'Massa, dere's a note, and dey say it's for me! E'yah! E'yah!' And sure enough, it was for him. Moreover, it was an invitation to dine the next day with Mr. Packenham, which he did, and was listened to with intense interest while he rehearsed the events of the great battle, all of which he saw, and part of which he was.—Knickerbocker.

A LARGE GRIST MILL.—The Philadelphia North American gives the following description of a large Flour Mill at Alleghany, Pennsylvania. The machinery, we presume, is of a similar description to that of the Suffolk Mill in Boston, and not superior to it, but it operates on a larger scale.

The Pearl Mills, at Alleghany, Pennsylvania, for the manufacture of flour, is one of the most extensive, as in its arrangements and operations it is one of the most complete establishments of its kind in this country. The whole machinery is worked by steam power, and so comprehensive is the labor it is made to perform in the process of the manufacture, that it commences with raising the grain out of the boat in which it is floated to the mill, and does not cease until it has literally packed the flour in the barrels in which it is, the next moment, rolled from the packing room into a boat waiting at the other end of the factory for the purpose of its shipment.

This mill has cost in the construction and fitting up about one hundred thousand dollars, and it turns out regularly, when doing full work, seven hundred barrels of flour per day. The flour is of a very superior quality —equal, indeed, to the very best made at any other mill in the United States.

A correspondent of the Chicago Daily Times, gives the following description of some things he saw at Memphis:

I landed at this place Christmas morning. The first thing that met my eye, standing on a high bank, facing the river, was the following inscription in large letters, upon a fine building, with piazza and pillars in front, "Bolton, Dickens & Co., Slave Dealers." In addition to this, I soon found two others on one of the principal streets in the city, situated nearly opposite to each other. The sign of one reads thus: "Byrd Hill, Slave Market." The other, "Ben Little, Slave Market and Livery Stable."

I visited them, and was invited to 'walk in and look at the stock!' Oh! how my whole being recoiled at the thought. There were men and women, girls and boys, of almost every shade of complexion, ranging in age from ten to thirty or forty—all well dressed, as you see no other slaves, except some favored body servant. Some of the best looking women were attired in beautiful delaine, made in the fashion, too. When a stranger goes in, they are quickly arranged upon seats on either side of the room, and they watch with interest any one they suppose intends to buy. Of course, you can examine teeth, limbs &c., and call for any exercises from them you choose. They are taken out every day, and walked around in a large circle, the men and boys under one leader, and the females under another.

I was not permitted to look into their place of confinement for the night, but only saw the grated window. Near by are horses and mules for sale, and they are fat and sleek, because in the market. For the same reason, were these men and women well dressed."

SEWING MACHINES.—One of that much abused and more bemoaned class of females who eke out a scanty living by stitching pantaloons for two shillings a pair, procured a sewing machine, and in a single day finished sixty pairs and earned fifteen dollars. It is true it was an extra day's work, in competition with another girl who used a different machine, and the patentees who were interested in the result, gave her special facilities, but it shows what can be done, and how one phase of the seamstress question is likely to be disposed of. The strenuous efforts which some have been making to raise the compensation for such work, to what is called "a fair living rate," may as well be abandoned at once. It is an unwise benevolence that attempts to thwart the world's progress, instead of conforming to it.

It is certainly painful to see suffering around us that we know not how to relieve; but it is more judicious if such be the case, to acknowledge it, than to waste strength in endeavors that we know beforehand to be fruitless.—There are, however, other remedies, and of a practical kind, for the suffering of this class to which we have referred.—New York Journal of Commerce.

CLOSURE OF KENTUCKY DISTILLERIES.—The Louisville Courier reports at least 20 per cent. decrease in Bourbon whiskey. In Harrison County alone the amount of last year's distillation was about 15,000 bbls. This year it will not be more than 10,000. The Courier makes the encouraging inference as to the cause, that the people seem to be getting an aversion to the traffic, and a disposition to condemn those who engage in it. Nearly half the distilleries in the country have closed up, or been converted into other purposes. Others will follow the same course as soon as the present season is over.

THE LAWS IMPROVING.

We believe we have already mentioned that the Governor of Alabama, in a message to the Legislature, suggests the enactment of a law to prevent the separation of husband from wife, and parent from children, in the sale of slaves.

A bill in relation to the sale of slave mothers and their children is before the Legislature of Georgia. It provides that no slave children under five years of age shall be separated from their mother, by any kind of sale whatever, legal or otherwise, unless, in dividing an estate, it shall be found impossible to effect a division without such a separation.

There is no necessity for any such law in restraint of the right of the master, as is suggested by the Governor of Alabama. The suggestion implies the prevalence of an evil which does not exist to any extent, and thus does injustice to the moral sentiment of the slaveholding community. The proper remedy for this, as for every other civil incident in the condition of slavery, is not to be found in compulsory legislation, but in the voluntary action of an enlightened public sentiment.—Excessive cruelty to slaves is as rare in the South as crime of a far more heinous character, and is as fatal to the social position of the master. And, in a few years, the violent disregard of the family relations of the slave will be quite as uncommon as the more outrageous occurrences of physical cruelty and oppression. It is as unnecessary as it is perilous, to tamper with the relation of master and slave.

Now with due deference to the editor of the Enquirer, we must be allowed to believe that the Governor of Alabama and the Legislators of Georgia, know as much as he does about the state of affairs at the South, and probably a little more. They think a change is called for. Besides, we are surprised to see the Enquirer playing into the hands of Garrison and Douglass. We have heard and seen it said at least a thousand times, in New England, that these fanatics, by their interference, had caused cruel laws to be enacted at the South, and rendered the condition of the slaves.—But now the Enquirer tells us what it equivalent to saying it is not so, the laws need no alteration, public sentiment will rub out the dirty spot. Well perhaps it will. Meantime the Eastern Argus tells us:

We perceive, too, that in the discussion of this subject in Congress and elsewhere, slavery is not defended as a permanent institution, but as a transition state from involuntary labor to freedom. This is the ground taken by Mr. Preston, of Kentucky, in his late reply to Gerrit Smith, in the House of Representatives, and received by the Southern press with apparent approbation.

MRS. PARTINGTON.—Shakspeare's remark concerning the filching of a good name applies with much force to the case of Mrs. Partington of ours. Her name has been taken very freely as the exponent of many good and many stupid things all over the country, and latterly we see an advertisement in the New York papers of a new work, entitled, "Mrs. Partington's Carpet-Bag of Fun," &c., about forthcoming. Our Mrs. Partington wishes us to tell the world, through the press, that she has nothing to do with the New York work, and has written the publishers a request to withdraw her name from their publication, as there will soon be issued a work of her own, and she is desirous of securing to herself the benefit of a name that she has endeavored to render respectable. Such papers as are disposed to see justice done the old lady will oblige her by alluding to the above.—Post.

Bless me! said Uncle Toby, as he laid down the Boston Post, What will these New York Book Makers do next? They have stolen the old lady's Carpet Bag, and would have stolen her Chris's name if she had any—but I believe she hasn't. I wonder if somebody won't steal my wig! and he clapped his hand on his head to see if it was safe. He found all right, but expects to see some counterfeit of himself come along presently, peddling spurious carpet bags for the benefit of some outlandish Mrs. Partington, who can neither take snuff nor tell stories.

The Sons and Daughters of Portsmouth, however, know the old lady too well to be imposed upon; the raciness of her mistakes, and the richness of her humor, are no more to be mistaken here, than the "fragrance" of her rappee.

THE ABBY PRATT.—We are informed (as is the New Bedford Standard,) that a Vineyard pilot boat spoke the ship Abby Pratt, which was recently wrecked on the Nantucket South Shoals, a short time previous to the disaster. A conversation was had about taking a pilot on board, but the captain refused to pay the regular rates for vessels of that class, $85, offering to pay $45 for the service, which the pilot declined receiving. In a few hours after, the ship struck. The small sum of $40 was very dearly earned!

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.—We have dates to the 5th ult. The steamer Fanny, the first steamer for Puget Sound Navigation, arrived on the 1st, and was greeted with common salves.

The first immigrant train of 34 wagons reached Puget Sound by the new and direct route on the 16th Oct.

A large number of immigrants are settling on White river. A large bed of pure brimstone has been discovered near the stream.

THE NEW-YORK MUSICAL REVIEW AND CHORAL ADVOCATE.—This Journal (which has heretofore been published monthly) commences its fifth year in January next, and thenceforward it will be published every two weeks—on every other Thursday; thereby giving more than twice as much matter without any increase in price. Each number contains sixteen quarto pages, four of which are new music, consisting of glees, hymn tunes, chants, anthems, dedication and holiday pieces, and, in short, every variety of music adapted to purposes of religious worship, to public occasions, and to the home circle; all of which will be of a practical character and such as can be sung by persons of ordinary musical attainments. In the Editorial department of the REVIEW are engaged (in addition to Mr. Cady, the former editor) gentlemen of the highest talent and ripest musical experience, among whom are, Geo. F. Root, Wm. B. Bradbury, Thomas Hastings, and Lowell Mason; and its circle of correspondence, home and foreign, is complete. The music alone in a vol. would cost over five dollars in the usual form. Besides this, there will be an immense amount of musical news, essays, criticism, instruction, &c. &c.

Terms.—One dollar per annum, or six copies for five dollars, always in advance.—Specimen numbers sent on receipt of two letter postage stamps. Address (always postpaid) MASON BROTHERS, 23 Park Row, New York.

PUTNAM'S MONTHLY, for Jan. 1854, is on our table, from Fetridge & Co., Boston, and J. F. Shores, jr., of this city. It commences with an illustrated article on Washington's Boyhood, with three engravings, which is followed by the Public Buildings of New York, with 5 engravings. The National Inventory, An Adventure on the Plains, and the Confessions of a Young Artist, are articles of ability and interest. Hayti and the Haytians is valuable.

HUNTINGTON'S SCHOOL VISITOR—published by F. G. Huntington, 23 Park Row, New York. Terms 30 cts per year; eight copies for $2—monthly. This a very nice little paper for children, got up in the most beautiful style, embellished with exquisite wood cuts. The matter is selected judiciously, to attract and instruct. The best paper yet, of the kind, that we have seen.

☞ The "State of Maine" paper, published at Portland, has changed hands, Messrs. May & Marble having disposed of their interest to Messrs. Chas. D. Bearce & Co. Mr. J. M. Edwards, formerly of the Portland Advertiser still retains his interest in the establishment.

GREAT SHIP BURNT.

Telegraphic despatches from New York, Dec. 27, state that the mammoth ship Great Republic, Capt. McKay, lying in this harbor, is burnt, together with two other ships, which caught fire from a store on the wharf.

Later despatches state that the fire commenced in the Novelty Bakery, on Front street, and destroyed ten or a dozen buildings.

The wind blew a gale from the North West, covering the shipping at the docks with the burning cinders. The "Great Republic" was soon in flames and burnt to the water's edge. The packet ship "Joseph Walker," of the Black Star Line, is also a total loss. The clipper "White Squall" was towed down the river a mass of flames.

The clipper "Red Rover" was towed out of dock in flames, and was eventually burnt to the water's edge. The packet ship DeWitt Clinton was also very seriously damaged. Many other vessels are burnt in their spars, rigging or hull. The ferry boats were busy in towing out vessels into the stream, by which many were saved.

The Great Republic was scuttled when she first took fire, but there was not sufficient water to sink her. Total loss is now estimated at one million dollars; but is probably a great deal more.

THE CHELSEA KIDNAPPING CASE:—We have already laid before our readers an account of the attempt to kidnap a little Irish girl living at the house of Mr Huntington, in Chelsea, by her sister and cousin, on account of her suspected Protestantism.

The Traveller states that Thursday evening the little girl was visited by her sister, in company with a police officer and one of the selectmen of Chelsea, and the two had a long private conversation, which ended by the young girl's protesting her unwillingness to go with her Catholic friends. The sisters finally took leave of each other, the elder declaring that if the younger persisted in her Protestantism, she would never see her again.

A guardian will soon be legally appointed to protect the child. The cousin, whose assault upon the poor orphan a few days since was so furious, has paid the fine which was imposed upon her of $10 and costs.—Boston Journal.

KENTUCKY MORALS.—The editor of the Smithland (Ky.) Postboy makes the following confession:

"We have had numerous fights in town during the week; some very interesting, and some not so much so. We attended one or two ourself, and have got a certificate of our attendance in the shape of a black patch over the left eye. See what a man's curiosity brings him to."

Elder Gardner Dean, so mysteriously missing at New Bedford, has turned up at Albany, a great humbug.

LOCAL.

☞ The lecture before the New Lyceum, on Tuesday evening, was delivered by Prof. Hoyt, of Exeter Academy, on the relation of wealth to a free government. The lecture was, in various parts, humorous and satirical, severe and hopeful. The influence of wealth was portrayed, as it is felt in the school and the pulpit, in the court house and the town meeting, in the railroad train and the manufactory. It was shown to be indispensable in all these places, to advancing civilization, and yet its increase in them all is not without its dangers.

It was a lively lecture and well received.

THE METHODIST FAIR on Monday and Tuesday evenings, was entirely successful.—Jefferson Hall was crowded—and from 6 o'clock to 11 all was bustle and fun. The receipts on Monday evening were about $225; on Tuesday evening $175; of which nearly $300 will be left to help on the Organ, after paying all bills.

☞ The second Lecture, by Rev. Dr. Burroughs, of the regular winter course, will be given this evening, at the Chapel in State street.

☞ Mr. Abournette, at the Temple, this evening; gives an entertainment of electrical, magical and chemical experiments and illusions, explaining and illustrating the whole.

☞ Our foreign news this day, was copied from the Eastern Argus, furnished to us by the attention of conductor Akerman.

LADY HUNTINGTON AND HER FRIENDS.—A copy of this book was, according to our request, laid before us a day or two since. Mrs. Knight has made it so readable, that we have already read 190 of its 292 pages, much of it aloud, with a running commentary, extempore.

This commentary, we shall not give the reader to-day, but will give our general impressions of the book, which are decidedly favorable.

Lady Huntington's face looks at us in the frontispiece, with intellect, firmness and hope shining from every feature, and speaking through her lustrous eye; and before we look at one printed page beyond the title, we can see why this opulent and titled lady gathered round her such friends as Wesley and Watts, Whitfield and Doddridge, Romaine and Berridge, Venn and Rowland Hill. She had a patent of artificial nobility which they had not; and her wealth contrasted strongly with their general poverty. But nobility and wealth of a better kind she and they possessed in common; they were Nature's Noblemen, and she one of Nature's Noble Women. Nor was this all they had in common. The theological views of the men named, to be sure, differed widely from each other, and these diverse views, in the part of the book where we now are, broke out into something very like a polemic war. On the points over which the friends (including our heroine) got into their quarrel, both sides were positive, and as we view it, both were wrong. But on other and more important points, they were alike, and they were right.

Adopting the words of our compiler, with only a slight variation, their religion "was the life of God in the soul, the living Christianity of the Bible, transforming and vital: the elements of which are, love of virtue, love to the Redeemer, and flowing from these, love and good-will to man."

These things Lady Huntington and Her Friends held in common, and they made a platform broad enough. On such a platform, with them, stands the compiler throughout the book; and she has made a better volume than she could have done, had she been the exact follower of either of them.

Her own evangelicism, which is just sufficient to bring the book within the pale of the American Tract Society, is not of that kind which is so severely handled by Prof. Crosby in his strictures; and it need not hurt any one who harmonizes, as we do, the theologies of Wesley, Whitfield and Doddridge, whose portraits adorn this book, and whose characters are pleasantly sketched by its compiler.

The volume is richly worth the money it costs:—more and better, it is worth reading. The friends brought to view herein, are nearly all old book friends of ours; and we are greatly obliged to the authoress for making a party of them, that we may converse with the whole of them together.

☞ The sleighing season has commenced. The ground is well covered, with just about the right depth of snow, and the bells jingle right merrily.

☞ Peter Clark, Esq., aged 70, died in Boston on Sunday morning. He was formerly of Francestown, in this State, and was well known as a great constructor of railroads.

Ward, the murderer of Butler, at Louisville, Ky., through his counsel, has obtained a change of venue, and is to be tried in Hardin instead of Jefferson county where the deed was committed.

THE PRACTICAL DENTIST is the title of a spicy little newspaper, the first number of which is just being distributed pretty thickly in Rockingham County. Dr. Frank Fuller is editor and publisher of this semi-annual sheet. It is well filled with matter of interest relating to the Dental profession and practice—and contains many a hint worthy the heeding of the multitude. In its advertising columns are notices of some of our most enterprising merchants. The Dentist is commendatory and recommendatory of many of our citizens, and laudatory of some. It is evidently in the hands of a good-humored editor, and can't fail to put its readers also in good humor. It must be seen to be appreciated—as must the Dr.'s work in general.

The British Quarterlies

AND

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

LATER NEWS FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE PACIFIC.

Vice Admiral Osmar Bey with fourteen ships attacked the Russians, when an awful naval battle ensued. The Turks fought like demons, and thirteen of their ships were blown up and sunk, only one escaping. Osmar Bey was taken prisoner.

Of the Russian fleet two line-of-battle ships, three frigates and two steamers were destroyed.

There was intense excitement in London and Paris on the reception of this news.

European war is now deemed inevitable.

Flour one shilling sixpence to two shillings advance since the sailing of the America. Wheat two to three pence advance.

2 WEEKS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

The Northern Light at New York on Saturday brought 526 passengers, a million and a half of gold dust, and dates to the 1st inst.

The rainy season began on the 14th. The first rain lasted, with short intermittent clear spells, a week, after which there were five or six days of fair weather, and it is again raining.

The most important item of news is the publication on the 21st ult., of an address by the Democratic Central Committee, of which D. D. Broderick is President and leader.—The address professes to be aimed at the democrats who were lukewarm or bolted in the late election, and it pointedly excommunicates Collector Hammond, who is one of the aspirants with Broderick for the U. S. Senatorship. The purpose of the address is to crush or fright the "chivalry" faction, who are Broderick's principal opponents. Another purpose is to induce the President to remove Hammond. The political excitement is now running high. The democratic organ in this city opposes Broderick, and they are now open and fierce enemies. One consequence is likely to be that the "Stamp Act," got up to compel advertisements to be published in the Bigler organs, will be repealed.

A great interest has recently been excited in regard to the agricultural capacities of California. During the last season, fruits and vegetables of every variety have been produced, rivalling, and in many instances excelling, the productions of older States. It has been clearly shown that California can produce almost everything which is grown in the Atlantic States. Recently it has been made to appear that tobacco and cotton can be cultivated with great success. The former has been found growing wild in the Valley of the San Joaquin, and Major Reading has succeeded in raising a beautiful sample of cotton from New Orleans seed, on his rancho at the head waters of the Sacramento. The introduction of rice and tea into the State, by way of experiment, is also contemplated.—Rice, it is believed, will grow luxuriantly on the swamp lands of the interior, and tea, it is thought, will flourish on the slopes of our mountains. Sugar has also been extracted from the California pine tree.

Accounts from the mining districts continue encouraging. The rain has filled the gulches and raised the rivers, and the works of the dry season are closed. The diggings in the river beds have been abandoned, and in many cases valuable dams, flumes, &c. have been swept away, although the rise has not been great. The miners now look upon and count their profits and losses for the last six months.

The shipments show that undiminished amounts of gold have been produced, yet many of the diggers complain that they have spent much money in canaling, machinery, &c., and have made little.

Snow has fallen in the mountains, and the northern part of the State has been visited by frost.

The Indians in the North have again been subjected to outrage and wrongs at the hands of the whites. A few days since, two of those unfortunate creatures were killed by mistake—upon a subsequent examination it having been made to appear that they had not committed the offences attributed to them.

A large quantity of lumber is now turned out from the numerous saw mills located in the northern portions of the State, on the slopes of the Sierra Nevada.

George W. Hall, convicted of the murder of an unoffending Chinaman, is sentenced to be hung at Nevada, on the 30th of December next.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.—Our dates are to the 5th of November. Up to that date, 112 whalers had arrived at Honolulu, Lahaina and Hilo. The port charges for whalers have been reduced.

Honolulu is said to be free from small-pox, but the disease is carrying off many of the natives in the rural portions of the Islands.

Two of the men attached to the Portsmouth sloop-of-war had a difficulty in Honolulu, which terminated in the death of one of them.

Hawaiian missionaries have been despatched to the Marquesas Islands, to convert the natives.

In politics a calm seems to have followed the storm, although the approaching election is beginning to excite attention. Free trade and annexation to the United States are warmly advocated by the Liberal party.

DESPERATION.—At the Representative election in Sunderland, on the "fourth Monday," a man sick with the small pox was carried to the polls by the whigs and voted! He was convalescent himself, but his wife and child were still sick with the same disease.—A whig doctor said there was no danger, and that he would stand all risk. So it appears that small pox is not contagious on election days.—Northampton Courier.

NERVOUS DISEASES.

If the intelligent people of Portsmouth are disposed to be pleased with a long extravagant advertisement, we are disposed to displease them, by a very brief notice, and simply announce that

1,000 DOLLARS

Will be given to any person, who is in need of money, who will produce so many well authenticated certificates from intelligent patients and scientific Physicians, of permanent cure of Nervous Diseases, a list of which may be found in a pamphlet of 24 pages, to be had (gratis) of the only Agent in Portsmouth, DAVID KIMBALL. Do not fail to obtain a pamphlet.

The Electric Chains are particularly recommended for the usual diseases of Females. Ladies who are enciente are requested not to wear them.

J. E. HAM,

TAILOR & DRAPER.

HAS just received another lot of fashionable Pantaloon Goods, Velvet Vestings, &c. &c., which will be made to order as low as can be had at any other establishment in this city.

Particular attention is giving to cutting Pantaloons, which is indeed one of the most difficult garments in the department of dress, and has heretofore received too little attention. The success we have had in this branch of our business enables us to ENSURE ALL with an easy and becoming FIT.

Gentlemen in want of any kind of Garment can be furnished at very short notice.

In the Coat Department, our customers have practical proof that we CANNOT BE BEAT.

Customers furnishing their own cloth will be attended to in the best possible manner.

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of all parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisement—giving more columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

☞ All Postmasters will act as Agents, and any person sending five subscribers, with pay for a year, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The Methodists of Lowell deny that the Rev. Jacob W. Cooper, arrested in that city for breach of promise of marriage to two young ladies in South Groton, belongs to their denomination. He is said to be a "come-outer," though how he expected to come out of such an affair without deceiving one of his two betrothed ones is not explained. The matter creates much excitement in South Groton, where he was a favorite. He is a young man of twenty-five or thirty years of age.

Here is a good reason why the denomination of every clerical scoundrel ought to be named—that his supposed brethren may clear themselves of his stain if he does not belong to them, or cast him out if he does.

BUDGET OF BLUNDERS.—A report in a New York paper of vessels at St. Thomas, very carelessly prepared, states that ships Otomoco, Howes, and "Kate Hunter, Norcross," are condemned The Otomoco was quietly discharging her freight of coal, and would proceed to New Orleans as soon as it was delivered. The Kate Hunter was ldg at Mobile for Liverpool; and the Kate Howe, Capt. Norcross, which was the vessel intended to be mentioned in the blundering report, had left St. Thomas some time before, and was in Kingston, Jamaica, at that date disg her cargo.—Boston Adv.

Major Schlesinger, who held a command among the Cuban fillibusters, has been arrested at New Orleans on a charge of larceny, in breaking open a trunk belonging to a lady at a boarding house, and stealing $260 therefrom.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricophorus, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricophorus pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of one, half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 350,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidence of the medicinal properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&swim je22

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as Nature's known remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, whose names are attached to the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase a Remedy equal to DR. FOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $50 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

DEVYNE'S COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGE THE WONDER OF THE WORLD

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($800 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

LIFE IN CALIFORNIA.

By the last arrival we have the following tragic romance. A correspondent of a Stockton paper writing from Columbia under date of November 14, says:

Our town has again been the scene of an extraordinary excitement. For a period back, a feud has existed between several persons living at the Saw Mill Flats, and others residing at Pine Log Crossing. This bad feeling has caused several collisions between the parties, but hitherto without serious results. On Sunday last, however, an Austrian named Peter Nicholas, from the flats, visited Columbia, and became intoxicated and quarrelsome. In the evening he met Captain John Parrott, a resident of the Crossing, formerly of Massachusetts, and assailed him with harsh epithets; Parrott declined quarreling with him, but Nicholas continued the assault by seizing Parrott by the throat, and demanded the name of his country. Parrott told him he was a Californian; Nicholas continued to hold him by the throat, and upon being requested to give up, he drew a bowie knife and thrust it into Parrott's neck, running down the back bone five or six inches. Parrott fell, and struck his head on the corner of a box, which the physicians think has produced a concussion of the brain. Medical assistance was obtained, but little hopes are entertained of his recovery. He has lost the use of his limbs entirely, from paralysis, and below the diaphragm no emotion whatever is perceptible.

Nicholas was immediately arrested and taken to Justice Carley's office. This morning he had his hearing, which of course resulted in his committal; but before his removal a large assemblage congregated around the Court House. A body of Parrott's friends from Pine Log Crossing, numbering fifty or sixty, marched into town and demanded that the prisoner should be given up for summary punishment. The crowd increased every moment, and it was quite evident that a rescue would be made. The prisoner was chained to staples driven into the floor, and Constable Conner swore in ten or twelve special constables. But all these were of no avail. The Court House was soon filled, and upon a signal given the officers were all pinioned, the staples forced by a pick, and the prisoner borne out upon the heads of the excited multitude. Away they went, phrenzied by excitement, to a pine tree, where a rope was soon thrown over a limb, and but for the timely interference and almost superhuman exertions of some of our citizens, the culprit would have suffered the penalty of his crime. Here a parley was had, and it was decided that he should have a fair trial. Accordingly he was taken by the people to a hill back of the town, where a marshal was appointed, a jury sworn in, and persons appointed to defend and prosecute. The Sheriff of our county, Major Solomon, at this time arrived upon the ground, and exhorted the crowd to desist from their unlawful proceedings. He was followed by Mr. Coffroth, who urged obedience to the constitutional authorities and laws, and implored the people to give the prisoner over to the Sheriff. But both gentlemen failed to effect their desires. An attempt was then made to rescue the prisoner, but with like effect. The trial then proceeded; the witnesses were heard, and the prosecution and defence summed up. Capt. Caymean, appointed by the people, followed Col. Gillespie, who spoke for the prisoner. Capt. C. was followed by Mr. Coffroth, in defence of the prisoner and against Lynch law. The jury brought a verdict as follows: "We the Jury find the prisoner guilty of assault and battery, with intent to kill Captain John Parrott; but as Parrott is not yet dead, they agree that the prisoner shall be given up to the civil authorities."

A vote was taken to ratify or reject the verdict, and a majority have decided to sustain it. A rush was then made for the prisoner, by those dissatisfied, but in the meantime he had been placed in the Sheriff's hands, and with the assistance of the jury and others, the culprit was taken to the Sonora jail. Many persons from the Pine Log followed the officers on the Sonora road for the purpose of recapturing him, but they finally gave up the chase.

The wounded man is in a deplorable condition. The physicians are of the opinion that he will never have the use of his limbs, although he may live for years. I understand he is to be sent to the State Hospital.

Another account states that the man is dead.

Judge Black of the Supreme Court, has delivered an opinion granting an injunction, restraining the authorities and the citizens of Erie from further interference or molestation of the works of the Franklin Canal Company.

Benjamin Buckingham, aged 27 years, shot himself in a cave at New Milford, Conn.—He had made $30,000 in a first voyage to California, and lost it in a second.

INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS.—It has been stated in the report of the proceedings of the House of Representatives that on Wednesday Mr. Phillips offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Commerce to inquire into the propriety of continuing and completing such of the river and harbor improvements as were appropriated for at the last session, and which, in the opinion of the committee, are within the constitutional power of this government, and of general interest and importance, and that they report at an early day, by bill or otherwise. This resolution elicited an expression of opinion on the subject of internal improvements, which is of much significance. Mr. McDonald moved to lay the resolution on the table, which was negatived—yeas 55, nays 112. The resolution was then passed by a vote of yeas 111, nays 54, as follows:

Nays—Messrs. Abercrombie, Willis, Allen, Bailey, Ga.; Bailey, Va.; Barksdale, Bocock, Boyce, Brooks, Chastain, Christman, Cobb, Craige, Davis, Ia.; Dean, Dent, Disney, Edmundson, Goode, Greenwood, Grow, Harris, Ala.; Harris, Miss.; Hibbard, Hillyer, Houston, Jones, N. Y.; Jones, Tenn.; Kidwell, Kittredge, Letcher, Lilly, McMullen, McQueen, Mayall, Morrison, Murray, Oliver, Packer, Perkins, Powell, Reese, Ruffin, Shaw, Singleton, Smith, Va.; Snodgrass, Sollers, Stanton, Ky.; Taylor, N. Y.; Vail, Walsh, Wheeler.

FIDELITY OF A DOG.—A short time since, as a gentleman in Northampton was returning home at rather a late hour, he was suddenly arrested in his onward course by a dog, whose master "lay prostrate" in the middle of the road, wrapped in the arms of Morpheus, with "a brick in his hat." Finding it impossible to pass, he went back and procured the assistance of a couple of men and a large Newfoundland dog, and by setting on the Newfoundland dog, and having him hold on to the drunken man's dog, the party were able to get the owner up, place him in a wagon, and take him home.—Springfield Republican.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, DEC. 29, 1853.

THE GREAT FIRE IN NEW YORK.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

The fire commenced early in the morning of the 27th; indeed one account dates it at midnight. An evening despatch of that day says:

Nine stores, with their contents, were burnt. The loss of Messrs. Harris & Co., provision dealers, is $30,000. That of Jones, Rowland & Co., flour dealers $40,000; insured for $26,000; D. & G. Sanford, extensive dealers in wine and liquors, are heavy sufferers—their stock being totally destroyed.

Among the cargo of the Great Republic, were 900 tierces of beef, nearly 7000 barrels of flour, 2000 bales of cotton, 4000 barrels rosin, 600 chests of tea.

The ships Whirlwind and DeWitt Clinton were towed to Wallabout Bay, near the Navy Yard, where they now remain, but little injured. There was an insurance of $20,000 in Philadelphia on the Great Republic, and $240,000 in New York. The cargo was valued at $600,000—insurance unknown. The ship Joseph Walker was insured in Wall street for $90,000.

The Red Rover was not much injured, she being towed into the stream. The White Squall was also towed out, but she was too far gone, and floated to the Navy Yard, where she burnt to the water's edge. She was owned by William Platt & Sons of Philadelphia, and had just returned from California.

It was, says the New York Herald, about half past one o'clock when the rigging of the stupendous new ship Great Republic took fire. Owing to the immense height of her masts it was impossible for the engines to play upon the flames, and the consequence was that the falling spars soon set her deck in a blaze. At three o'clock her foremast fell, knocking the main yard out of the slings, and shortly after the mainmast came down across the deck. Her mizzenmast followed, carrying with it the spankermast. The vessel was now one mass of flame abaft the mainmast. From the rapid manner in which the flames spread, it was apparent that nothing could save her, and in an hour or two more she was a charred and blackened wreck.

The Boston Courier says the Great Republic was insured by Mr. McKay for $185,000 on the vessel and $25,000 on the freight, $20,000 only being effected in a Boston office, and the rest is understood to be in New York.—Her loss is a national misfortune. She was the favorite work of a man of genius and capacity in his art, and the public sympathizes with him in this sudden and untoward end of his great enterprise.

NEW YORK CUSTOM HOUSE.—The Washington Union states that Judge Brouson, the "hard" Collector at New York, made 260 appointments in the Custom House, not one of which has been disturbed by his "soft" successor, Mr. Redfield. Mr. Redfield has made about eighty appointments: of these the Union is authorised to say "that more than three fourths were the supporters of Gen. Cass for the Presidency in 1848, and all since 1848 have been National Democrats, and subscribers to the Baltimore Platform." It thus appears that, between them, the Democratic Collectors have removed no less than 350 officers, whigs, of course. The Union closes its remarks by saying, "Does this look like proscription?" It certainly has that appearance.—Boston Adv.

The Advertiser is quite old fashioned, if it considers the removal of whigs by a democratic executive to be proscription! We would like to know how the present executive could have come into power, if it had not been for the prospect of a general turn out of whigs.

ACCIDENT.—Early on Saturday morning a large portion of the spire of the First Reformed Dutch Church, at Kingston, Ulster county, was blown down, crushing in the roof of the church. The spire was about two hundred and eighteen feet high; the church was erected about a year ago.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

A fine thing it is to have a lofty but rickety, half-built steeple come down in a year, as a token of the folly of combining pride and poverty or meanness, in the construction of a public building. If a church is rich enough to build a steeple at once elegant and safe, let its managers build it if they please—but if not, let them be content to roof over the tower just above the bell, and wait till they are able to amuse themselves with a tall spire that can stand against the storms.

POLYGAMIST CAUGHT.—Warren F. Smith, who left a wife and family in Lowell, went to Manchester in N. H., and there married a Miss Thorn; being found out, fled, and has been secreted in Boston. On Monday he was caught in Nashua, and taken to Manchester. Smith has four wives—the two already named, one in Bradford, Mass., and one in the northern part of New Hampshire. He ought to be tried on three separate indictments for Bigamy, as our laws run, and sentenced on each.

COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE.—The Salem Freeman has a letter from a friend in Washington, in which it is stated that the Democrats undertook to provide for Mr. Chase, the Free Soil Senator from Ohio, leaving Mr. Sumner to the tender mercies of the Whigs. In the Whig caucus Mr. Sumner was nominated by Gov. Seward. His nomination was defeated by Mr. Everett, his colleague, who made a speech in opposition to it.

RAILROAD WAR.

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 27.—The railroad track and bridge at Harbor Creek, were again destroyed by the mob last night. A meeting was held in the evening, at which some of our more prudent citizens evinced an inclination to abandon their riotous proceedings.

The Sheriff of Philadelphia is in town, serving writs of injunction from the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, on the citizens, to restrain them from doing injury to the Western road.

Two of the railroad rioters of Harbor Creek were shot this morning by some of the persons connected with the railroad. There is considerable excitement in consequence, and some talk of arming the citizens. It is hoped, however, that the determined action of the railroad authorities will put a stop to all further riotous proceedings.

7 P. M. Quiet is restored, and the Sheriff has taken possession of the railroad at Harbor Creek, determined that no one shall molest the track, either to repair or destroy, until the matter is finally settled by legal process.

Some of these things look like returning sanity. The wounding of two rioters, bad enough in itself, may intimidate others. But where is the brave Gov. Bigler, with his sympathy? Why is he not on hand, after all this time has elapsed?

☞ A Buffalo dispatch of the 28th, represents the railroad riot at Erie on the 27th, as a very serious affair, getting to be dangerous,—and calling for the interference of the General Government.

MAYOR OF BOSTON.—A second trial to elect a Mayor took place in Boston on Tuesday. The vote was smaller than that at the former trial. The votes compare as follows:

	Whole No.	Seaver,	Smith,	Sleeper,	Allen.
Dec. 12,	13,039	5651	4691	2016	596
		Bigelow,			Hobart.
Dec. 26,	12,171	4491	6078	774	749
		*888	*1160	†1387	*1228	†153

* Loss. † Gain.

Three Aldermen are elected, all of them on the Citizen's Union Ticket, leaving three vacancies. Dr. Smith lacks eight votes only, of a majority. He was the "Citizen's Union" candidate, and bids fair to be elected Mayor at the next trial.

TRUANT BOY FOUND DEAD.—A Mr. Cox of Portland, had a truant boy, nine years old, who had been threatened with punishment if he played truant again. He wandered from his father's house on Monday afternoon of last week, just at dusk, and every effort has been since made by parents and friends to find him,—but his body was found on Tuesday noon, near Cape Elizabeth Bridge. He was lying on his back on the flats, without bruises or marks, looking as fair as if he only slept. One shoe was gone.

A SAILOR HERO.—Although instances of heroism and self sacrifice are not rare among sailors, few can be adduced more striking than one that has recently come to our knowledge. The British brig Venilia, Capt. D'Entrement, left St. Eustatia, West Indies, October 30, for Clare, N. S. Soon after sailing, the officers and crew, seven in number, were taken down with fever, except a young seaman, named Hilarion Therieau. Finding that upon him alone rested the responsibility of managing the vessel, and of providing for the safety of the lives and property thus unexpectedly thrown upon his charge, he put the brig under a reefed topsail only, to be prepared for severe weather. When eight days out, Capt. D'Entrement died; five days afterwards the first officer breathed his last. Therieau alone, for forty days, steered the vessel; hove her to, to cook, to attend to the sick, to bury the dead, and to take a few hours rest in the day time; and did his best to get the vessel home, although unacquainted with navigation. He had the satisfaction to deliver her to the owners in Clare, with the proceeds of the outward cargo, in American gold. The rest of the crew, four in number, reached home alive, but very much debilitated. Mr. Therieau is a mere skeleton, from over exertion, anxiety and want of sleep. The proceeds of the cargo were insured in Boston, and it is believed some suitable acknowledgement will be made of the young man's faithfulness, energy and perseverance.—Boston Advertiser.

Surely they ought to be acknowledged and rewarded. He ought to go Captain next voyage, with an old mate who would teach him the Art and Science of Navigation.

RUM AND ABUSE.—Saturday night there came an urgent messenger to the City Marshal asking him to go to the house of one Joseph Graffam, and arrest him for abusing his wife. The Marshal and his deputies went thither. The wife met them and repeated the request, detailing her grievances at some length; and adding "take also the demon that has caused all the mischief!" referring to a quantity of liquors in the house, in which Graffam is an obstinate trafficker, and for which he was recently indicted, and placed under heavy bonds. Graffam and the liquor were accordingly taken to the lock-up, to await the operations of the law.—Portland Advertiser.

INDIAN BREAD.—An exchange gives the following recipe for making the celebrated St. Charles Indian bread, as prepared at the St. Charles Hotel, New Orleans:

Beat two eggs very light, mix alternately with them one pint of sour milk, or buttermilk, and one pint of fine Indian meal, melt one table spoonful of butter, and add to the mixture, dissolve one table spoonful of soda, and saleratus, &c., in a small portion of the milk, and add to the mixture the last thing, beat in a pan and bake very hard in a quick oven.

It is stated that counterfeit post-office envelopes have been put in circulation at Albany.

LOCAL.

☞ Mr. Abbott's compliments to all the little boys and girls in the city of Portsmouth. Would be very happy to receive a call from every one of them on Saturday, the last day of 1853, at his office 74 State street. Mr. A. will be in his office that day from 9 A. M. till 5 P. M., and will present all his callers with a little book. Now be sure and not forget Saturday.

☞ The lecture before the Lyceum at the Temple next Tuesday evening (Jan. 3) is to be by Geo. Sumner, Esq., on "France."

COLD BATH.—The Newburyport Union says, a valuable horse, belonging to Mr. Harris Pearson, by some means broke out of the stable where he was kept, and fell into the dock, rear of Mr. P.'s bake house, where he remained all night. Although the blanket with which he was covered was frozen to the thickness of an inch, the horse does not seem to be much worse for his hydropathic exercises.

☞ The Entertainment at the Temple, last evening, by Mr. Abournette, was very good in the Legerdemain department, and instructive as well as amusing in the explanation of and experiments with the Galvanic Battery. The effects of his nitrous-oxide gas was as laughable as ever. He gives another entertainment this evening.

The Newburyport Herald learns that upon examination of the stomachs of the deceased females, Sampier and Burnham, found dead in bed at the Merrimack House in that city, one of them was found to be inflamed, which would indicate that poison had been used.

THE LOSS.—A New York dispatch of Dec. 28, says the aggregate loss by the fire yesterday morning is estimated at $940,000, on which there is insurance to the amount of $735,000.

The Journal of Commerce says, the three ships were valued as follows:—Great Republic $300,000; White Squall $100,000; Joseph Walker $90,000: cargo of Joseph Walker $45,000.

The cargo of the Great Republic was valued at $300,000. Add to this the cargo of the Joseph Walker, and the stores burned, and the total loss must border hard on one million five hundred thousand dollars.

Rev. O. H. Tillotson, of Hartford, Conn, has resigned the pastorship of the Universalist Church in that city, to enter on the study and practice of Law.

DEATH OF MRS. OPIE.—The arrival of the steamer brings intelligence of the decease of the celebrated authoress, Amelia Opie, which took place in the 85th year of her age, at her residence in Norwich. Mrs. Opie was the widow of John Opie, a historical painter of eminent distinction in England. She was well known to the literary public as the writer of several popular works, most of them novels, which had a quite successful run in their day.

FIRE IN TAUNTON.—The Unitarian Church in Taunton took fire from the furnace in the vestry on Sunday, between the morning and afternoon services. The church narrowly escaped destruction, the fire having made considerable progress before it was discovered.—The flames were extinguished with considerable difficulty.

BRITISH NAVAL SUPPLIES.—Among the supplies advertised for by contract by the British Admiralty, "for victualing and transport services," the schedule names "50,000 gallons rum, to be delivered at Her Majesty's victualing stores at Deptford."

JENNY LIND.—The following extract from a letter from Dresden is given in Galignani's Messenger:—

"On Saturday I attended the second of a series of concerts given by Herren, Goldschmidt, Schubert, and Kummer. The evening will be memorable in the annals of the musical world, as that on which Mme. Jenny Goldschmidt made her first appearance in public since her marriage and return from America. For days previously the music shop from which tickets were issued, had been beseiged by the public of Dresden, and many hundreds were turned away disappointed. Her voice is as fine as ever it was."

SALE OF THE BISHOP'S HOUSE.—Bishop Fitzpatrick has sold his house and land, at the corner of Franklin and Federal streets, Boston, to Messrs. Pierce, Howe & Co. The land embraces an area of about 7000 square feet, and was sold at $8 per foot. The purchasers propose to erect an extensive warehouse. The Catholic Church is to remain for the present; but it is probable that, upon the erection of a new Cathedral, it will also be disposed of.—Courier.

LATE FROM MEXICO—Dates from the City of Mexico to the 17th inst. have been received. Santa Anna has issued a decree accepting the Guadalajara declaration with a salary of $60,000, but takes the title of "Most Serene Highness," instead of Captain General, and has also decreed that in case of his death or moral disqualification, he shall name his successor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The ten thousand dollars stolen from the Mechanics' Bank, in Jersey City, a short time since, was found yesterday upon the person of young Fox, son of the Cashier of the Bank. It was secreted in his fireman's cap. A servant girl in the Fox family was arrested and imprisoned at the time, on suspicion of being concerned in the robbery.

FACTORIES BURNT.—The cotton factory of D. & J. Daniels, at Northfield, N. H., was destroyed by fire on the 24th inst.; was insured at the Manufacturers' Insurance Company, Boston, for $9500.

The button factory of the Pomroy Manufacturing Company, at Wallingford, was burnt early Tuesday morning, together with its contents. Loss $5000. Nearly covered by insurance.

The British Quarterlies

AND

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz.:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per ann.	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Dec. 27.

SENATE.—Mr. Seward introduced a bill to provide for the construction of a Military and Postal road through the Territories of the United States, between the Atlantic States and California. Referred.

Mr. Badger introduced an amendment to the River and Harbor Act of last year, referring to the clause appropriating $50,000 for constructing a Breakwater at Albemarle Sound Inlet.

Mr. Slidell brought forward bills for the improvement of the mouths of the Mississippi river, and the establishment of a Navy Yard near New Orleans.

The death of Mr. Campbell, of the House, was announced.

Mr. Jones, of Tennessee, pronounced a brief and earnest tribute to the memory of Hon. Brookins Campbell, late a member of the House, when the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The death of Hon. Brookins Campbell, a member of the House from Tennessee, was announced, and eulogies spoken by Mr. Smith of Tennessee, and Carruthers, after which the customary resolutions were passed, and the House adjourned.

1 WEEK LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

Total Loss of the Steamship Winfield Scott—The Passengers and Treasure all Saved.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 26.

The steamship Texas has arrived at this port, from Vera Cruz, bringing San Francisco dates, by the Ramsay route, via Mexico, to the 7th inst, being one week later than our previous advices. The time occupied has been only 18 days between San Francisco and New Orleans.

The mail steamship Winfield Scott which left San Francisco on the 1st of December, for Panama, went ashore on the following day on the coast of Santa Barbara, and is a total loss. Her passengers and treasure were all saved, and arrived back in San Francisco on the 6th, whence they were again despatched in the steamer California, on the 7th, for Panama.

Oregon dates are to the 26th November. Gov. Stevens had arrived out. The rivers were high, owing to heavy rains. Business was active.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Flour is more active, but without any material change; sales of Gallego at $14. Corn Meal sold in half bbls at $3.50. Cheese Prime $23; Mess $21. Gunny Bags dull at 14½; keg Lard sells at 13½. Cheese 18c. Large sales of crushed Sugar at 12c. Candles—Adamantine 25c. Eastern Lumber dull.

HAVANA.—Late accounts from Havana say it was reported that the new Governor-General had signified that he would do his utmost to prevent the landing of slaves on the Island, and would endeavor to capture any on shore, but once on an estate, could do nothing.

That part of the President's Message speaking of his determination to stop expeditions, was received with gloom by the Cubans; by the Spaniards it was received as an empty assurance.

LARGE FIRE IN BRISTOL, R. I.—A destructive fire broke out in Bristol on Sunday morning. It originated in a wooden building on Capt. Joseph L. Gardiner's wharf, where no fire or lights had been. The building was used for the storage of lumber. The flames extended to Gardiner's steam planing mill, and thence to the fire arm manufactory of Messrs. Burnside, Foster & Bishop. It communicated also to the building used as a counting room, and to the "mansion house" of the late Charles D'Wolf. All these were destroyed, and about $20,000 worth of lumber, which, with all the buildings, belonged to Capt. Gardiner, whose loss is about $45,000, half of which is covered by insurance in offices in New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

The loss of Messrs. Burnside, Foster & Bishop is $2000 on machinery, which is covered by insurance at the Conway Mutual.—They were just ready to start their machinery for the manufacture of the new rifle invented by Major Burnside, late of the Third Regiment U. S. Artillery. The belts were to be put on to-day.—Providence Journal.

SENTENCE.—Lucas, the miscreant who was arrested some months since on a charge of placing obstructions upon the Middletown Branch Railroad, has had his trial at Hartford;—is convicted and sent to State Prison for 10 years. This fellow had a family, and owned considerable properto. He placed numerous obstructions upon the road and exhibited the utmost determination to destroy at least one train of cars, not caring how many lives were lost with them.

THE EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA AND CONT PAUL ESTERHAZY.—We are informed that Count Paul Esterhazy, who, since the unhappy events of 1849 in Hungary, has been compelled to absent himself from his native land, and has spent the chief portion of his exile in England, has recently received the Emperor's permission to return home, and to reside in future in the Austrian domains.

IMPORTANT DECISION.—The Supreme Court, on Friday last, gave their opinion in the case of the Soulards vs. Thomas Allen, which was argued last spring. The case involved the title to about thirty acres of land in the first ward, on which the church of St. Peter and St. Peter stands, and valued at probably over one thousand dollars. The Supreme Court affirmed the judgment of the Court below, which was in favor of Allen, and thus has settled, we presume, not only the title to a considerable piece of land in the city, but some important principles applicable to other cases.—St. Louis Republican.

MURDER AND SUICIDE IN GROTON, MASS.—On Sunday evening, while Mr. Haynes, the superintendant of the poor house in Groton, was laboring under a temporary fit of insanity, he cut his throat, and also that of his wife, with a razor. He also attacked Dr. Pinco, the physician, who happened to be entering the house at the time, and was assisted in the attempt by a drunken man, but Haynes being weak from the loss of blood, the doctor obtained the mastery and escaped. Haynes and his wife are both dead.

TAILOR & DRAPER.
HAS just received another lot of fashionable Pantaloon Goods, Velvet Vestings, &c. &c., which will be made to order as low as can be had at any other establishment in this city.
Particular attention is giving to cutting Pantaloons, which is indeed one of the most difficult garments in the department of dress, and has heretofore received too little attention. The success we have had in this branch of our business enables us to ENSURE ALL with an easy and becoming FIT.
Gentlemen in want of any kind of Garment can be furnished at very short notice.
In the Coat Department, our customers have practical proof that we CANNOT BE BEAT.
Customers furnishing their own cloth will be attended to in the best possible manner.
☞ Wanted immediately 2 COAT MAKERS, to whom the highest prices will be paid.
Apply at No. 22 Market Street, up stairs.

At the Temple.
THIS EVENING,
THURSDAY, Dec. 29,

IS positively the LAST NIGHT of Mr. J. D. ABOURNEITE'S Scientific Entertainments in this city. 40 gallons of Laughing Gas, under the patronage of the Laughing Philosophers, will be administered; and the performance of Hindoo Miracles—together with the introduction of the most amusing Electrical Illustrations. And the wonderful feats of the Fire King. Also a Balloon Ascension, (weather permitting.)

The Cheapest and Best.
THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the
WEEKLY CHRONICLE,
AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,
At $1 per Annum, in advance.
Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the Partizan sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.
The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.
LOCAL MATTERS
Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.
The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.
☞ All Postmasters will act as Agents, and any person sending five subscribers, with pay for a year, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this

In Kingston, Jamaica, the contest for Mayor run between Mr. Lawrence, a Jew, and Mr. Jordan, a colored man. The former was elected by one vote—67 to 66. Mr. Jordan, it appears, lost ground with a portion of the electors, because "he assumed the leadership in the Council against the Assembly," while Mr. Lawrence took the popular side in this latter body.

J. W. Willacy, late of Boston, died in San Francisco, Nov. 22, aged 32 years. He was quite extensively known in the city under the sobriquet of the "Count," and was a man of considerable energy, self-reliance of character and enterprise.

Judge Grier, of the United States Circuit Court at Philadelphia, has decided that the translation of Mrs. Stowe's novel of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" into German, is no infringement upon the copyright.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upwards, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous; for the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KOREN REMEDY for removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Mosquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV, late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, Cholera Morbus, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"PUPILS OF LISZT AND MENDELSSOHN."

A recent number of Dwight's Journal has an excellent communication, showing up the humbug of those artists who, coming to us from Germany, delight to announce themselves as "pupils of Mendelssohn, Liszt, Thalberg," &c., when they have no real claim to such title. In most cases these pretenders have been merely members of classes which have received a few lessons from these distinguished men. Neither Mendelssohn nor Liszt, says Dwight's correspondent, ever gave private lessons on the piano, as professors generally do. This remark is perhaps, literally true, and yet may be misunderstood.—Liszt does not, perhaps, give lessons as other professors do; but it is a mistake to suppose that he in no cases gives private piano lessons. He does not give such lessons merely from pecuniary reasons, however; and it is extremely difficult to obtain such instruction from him, as he only gives it where he takes a fancy (from perception of extraordinary talent, or other reasons) to the person desiring it. At least we know of a young American who, during much of the past year, has enjoyed the advantage of some hours' private instruction per week from Liszt, and who is still with him.

In the course of further very just remarks in the article in Dwight's Journal, to which we have alluded, we find the following:

"As the good is always more scarce than the bad, Germany numbers also many more bad than good musicians; and, unfortunately, she likes to send the worst ones to America, and keep the best herself!"

This we heartily endorse. American art and artists have suffered much from the men here alluded to. They are that class of foreigners who, coming among us because they had not the ability or knowledge to sustain themselves at home, delight in sneering at everything musical which is American.—American composers, or teachers, or singers, they are in the habit of abusing on all possible occasions. These are they who are fond of deriding the "Yankee Psalm-singers," and "Down-east Singing-masters," as they term American musicians.

It is unfortunate that we in America have great musical reverence for a mustache and a foreign accent. Having been accustomed (very justly) to regard Germany as that country which has made the highest musical progress, and given to the world the greatest masters of this science, we have made the foolish mistake of thinking every German must be a good musician! As if a diet of sour kraut and German sausages must necessarily result in musical proficiency!

A brighter day is dawning, however. We are beginning to discover that the mere fact that a man is a German does not necessarily make him a musician. American teachers, who add to a sufficient musical knowledge, that common sense which enables them to impart it to others, are beginning to be appreciated, and to rank in the estimation of the people more nearly as they should, while, as a consequence those foreigners whose chief qualifications have been high pretensions and impudence, are beginning to be properly appreciated also.

Now, let us not be misunderstood, (misrepresented we expect to be,) as taking ground against German music and musicians. Germany has given us the great masters, who stand far above all others. Handel, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Schumann, are names in reverence of which we yield to none. Their works are those which we would counsel all to study and look up to as the great models of musical excellence. We have also many German musicians among us, gentlemen of real ability and knowledge, who are exerting a most beneficial influence, and accomplishing a great work, and whom we delight to honor. It is these others who are mere pretenders, and by whom we have been so much imposed upon, that we take exceptions to; and it is these who are loudest in their sneers and abuse of American music.—N. Y. Musical Review.

SINGULAR CIRCUMSTANCE.—The Belfast Journal states that a great commotion has been recently noticed at a point in the Penobscot near Prospect Ferry—the surface being much disturbed and stones and earth apparently thrown up from the bottom. This upboiling still continues at intervals, and experiments show that at least an acre of the river bed has sunk from a depth of seven to a depth of fourteen fathoms. A sulphuric gas is emitted from the water during its periods of commotion, and it is said that two distinct shocks of an earthquake have occurred since the commencement of the phenomena.

Dover Cliffs are about to be blasted, and it is calculated that nearly 200,000 tons of chalk will be removed.

An immense deposit of guano has been discovered in the Indian Ocean, between Mauritius and Calcutta, the island being forty times the size of Ichaboe.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Mr. Seward's Railroad bills provides that a good first class double track railroad shall be constructed throughout the territories of the United States, north of the 40th parallel of north latitude to the Eastern boundary of California. The public land necessary for the width of the bed of the road will be ceded to the company during their existence. That the road may be constructed by any company duly authorized by any one of the Legislatures of the States. That the Secretary of War shall issue proposals, and select the one most advantageous to the United States. That the government shall advance funds, either in money or stock—the company depositing five millions, either in money or public stocks, for the faithful performance of their contract. The road is to be completed in five years from the time of its commencement. The company are to enjoy to their own use for fifty years, the profits and emoluments of the road; but the United States mails, troops, and munitions of War are to be transported at rates to be determined by the government and Congress.

DEATH BY VIOLENCE OF A WIFE IN BRIGHTON—ARREST OF THE HUSBAND.—On Saturday afternoon last, a woman named Mary Ann Norton was found dead in the house of her husband, Charles Norton, in North Brighton, Mass. It appears that the body of the woman was found at the foot of a pair of stairs; about one half of the right ear was missing, and there were also bruises on different parts of the head and body. The husband was in the house at the time the discovery was made, but he declared that his wife was not dead, but drunk. In relation to the missing part of the ear, he and his friends stated that it had been bitten off by a dog; but when called upon to produce the dog, they stated that it had been drowned.

On Saturday the authorities of the town sent for Coroner Adolphus Smith of Newton, who visited the house and summoned a jury to hold an inquest upon the body. The husband was then absent, his friends stating that he had gone to Roxbury to purchase a coffin. It appears that both the husband and wife are habitual drunkards of the worst kind, and it was at first supposed that the wife might have come to her death by falling down stairs, but a saw has been discovered with marks apparently of blood upon it, and it fits into the wound in the cheek and ear. The husband has been arrested.

WHISPERING.—We copy the following sensible remarks from the Berlin Messenger:—"Those young gentlemen in the habit of whispering in church or public meeting must quit it—it won't do. Ladies may be excusable, but gentlemen cannot. Whispering in public meetings, changing of seats, leaving before service is ended, are violations of the science of etiquette. There are no doubt some exceptions, but this is the general rule, and should not be violated except in case of necessity. So let's hear no more whispering in meeting."

The publication of the Daily Post, at Springfield, Mass., is suspended, because the publisher refuses to give the proper security to meet the result of the libel suit brought against it by George Ashmun.

In Rome, N. Y., a few days since, a woman, while in a state of intoxication, laid her infant on the hearth before a blazing fire—supposing it to be the cradle, and the little creature was literally roasted to death.

TALK ON TEMPERANCE.

BY UNCLE TOBY.—NO. III.

By way of digression or parenthesis, let the old man say a word or two on the "Talk" which was presented against the Maine Law in the Chronicle several days ago. His first word shall be, that he is by no means the champion of that law, and therefore does not feel called upon to defend it; but only as a peace maker and lover of law and order, to see fair play on all sides as far as possible.—For this reason, he stepped back very willingly, to let the author of the "talk" say what he pleased against the law and its advocates.

The quotation from the 7th chapter of Mark, "there is nothing from without a man that entering into him can defile him," if it is to be taken literally, and applied to drinking, will prove a vast deal; and possibly may prove too much. Would it not seem to mean, applied to this subject, and taken literally and absolutely, that no amount of bad liquor could defile or render the drinker unfit for heaven? If so, would it not contradict the other texts quoted? And would it not also upset every argument and plea for temperance in the whole piece? But the old man will not say any thing that shall seem to undervalue the talk aforesaid, considering that it embodies about all that can be said in favor of a license law or against the modern movement commonly styled the Maine law. But, as before stated, the purpose of Uncle Toby's talks is not to advocate or defend such a law, but to give historical sketches of temperance and intemperance, especially in this city and vicinity.

He believes what is said in the article referred to, about spurious liquors—that not one gallon in five is what it pretends to be—and therefore thinks such things are unsafe medicines,—preferring to give them a wide berth. He is ready to acknowledge many excellent traits of character in some drinking men; and in some cases the finest minds and warmest hearts, have been found in the same persons whose cravings for stimuli finally reduced them to mere sots. Such considerations, while they lead him to total abstinence as a practice, and to advocate it as the only safe ground,—also lead to the most charitable construction of the opinions and acts of those who think they cannot do without it.

With such feelings, he passes on with his statements. In the year 1827, June session, the legislature of New Hampshire passed a license law, authorising three kinds of licenses; the first of which, on payment of 20 cents to the town clerk, authorized a dealer to sell spirits, not less than one pint, to be carried away from the store; the second, on a payment of two dollars, authorized tavern keepers to sell by the glass, and drank on the premises; and the third, on payment of twenty dollars, licensed the keeping of an open grog-shop, to retail mixed liquors drank at the bar.

This twenty dollar license tax stirred up the people of Portsmouth, especially the 200 retailers, and at a special town meeting held Sept. 14, 1827, it was Voted, That the town refund to the retailers of wine and spirituous liquors, the amount paid by them to said town for licences; agreeably to the law of this State passed June, 1827.

This nullified the law; 74 licences only were taken out under it, and so far as law is concerned, there has been a free trade in liquor in Portsmouth from that day to this. The existing license law of the State imposes no license tax; and though it prescribes penalties for selling without license, they are not enforced.

Nevertheless, by moral means, talking, preaching, example, and pledges, we believe the consumption of spirits and wines as common drink, has been diminished at least one half, among the same number of inhabitants, comparing 1826—27, with 1850—53. And we are pretty certain that about 1843, when the number of liquor stores, shops and houses, got down to about 40, the liquors then drank here, were at a low figure.

Having already mentioned several particulars, showing what the usage was, 30 or 40 years ago, Uncle Toby will remark that about the year 1821—2, when in the full tide of his military success, he had the honor of distributing grog through the ranks of the company to which he belonged. There were about 80 men on the ground; the company stood in open order, and sergeants with buckets of grog, ("half and half,") and mugs for drinking, passed along in front of each of the ranks. Of about 40 in one rank, only one man declined the drink, and a number of them, as the liquor passed the second time, instanter, took a second mug of the delectable field. These drinkers were the respectable young men of that day, who belonged to the working class.

A little before that period, a sleighing party of about 25 couple, mostly young married people, of whom Uncle Toby was not one, went out on a sleighing party to a tavern then kept in Greenland, and staid till a very late hour; and some did'nt go home till morning! One lady who did come home in the night, said there was not a sober man or woman in the party: it might not be true; but no one took the trouble to deny it; and it made only a few days talk.

Now contrast the state of public opinion in which such things could happen, with the present time, wherein public opinion is very different. To show this, we copy a brief extract from the New Hampshire Gazette of a few weeks ago.

It may be that we do not see all the wickedness or observe the peculiar liability of the young men to intemperate habits; but we do not believe that the majority of this class of citizens are so far towards the gutter as to be publicly stigmatized as habitual drinkers.

So it seems that it is a stigma, on a young man now, to be called a habitual drinker. But in the days of Uncle Toby's youth it was no stigma at all, for nine tenths of all the men, old and young, were constant and regular drinkers.

A late Washington letter writer, whose letter is copied into the Gazette, after noticing some slanderous reports against the White House as a scene of revelry, says,

"I know that the President is strictly abstemious—that upon Sundays his letters are not opened—that he is regular in the performance of his religious duties, &c."

Now these three things are mentioned to the President's credit; and what does the first one show? It shows that in the opinion of the writer, and in the supposed opinion of the public for whose eye he wrote, strict or total abstinence in the President, was the only form of temperance which would appear safe, decent and respectable for the President's reputation.

These things we take for evidence that public opinion, in our day, has changed for the better. And we know that public opinion and public customs and usages act and re-act on each other.

MILITARY FORCE IN INDIA.

A friend has furnished us with a file of the Bombay Duyanodaya, and as most of the articles are in the Mahratta language and character, he has translated a little article on the Present Military Force in India, as follows:

In the Bombay Gazette of Aug. 17, it is stated that the present military force of the Native Princes in India is 398,918, viz:

In Madras, in all 2,472.

In Bombay presidency 369 artillery; 13,632 cavalry; 27,872 infantry.

Of the Queen's troops, 3,664 cavalry; 25,316 infantry; total 28,980.

Of these, 2,569 are Engineers; 16,449 artillery; 34,984 cavalry; 229,406 infantry; 1763 medical department; 4,124 veterans.

THE BEDINI RIOT.

Bishop Bedini, the Pope's Nuncio, is now the guest of Archbishop Purcell, at Cincinnati, Ohio, and officiated in the cathedral on Sunday. In the evening a body of five hundred of the German Society of Freemen marched from their hall to the residence of the Archbishop, with the supposed intention of doing violence to the person of M. Bedini. The chief of police having had an intimation of the movement, had the whole police force of the city stationed in the vicinity. As the procession of Freemen approached the Archbishop's house, the police rushed into the procession, and each arrested a man. A general melee ensued, and many shots were fired.—Sixty Germans were captured, and lodged in the cells of the watch-house. Great excitement prevailed next morning in the neighborhood of the watch-house.

The bitter animosity against the Nuncio, which led to this outbreak, is the consequence of that individual's betrayal of the cause of Liberty in Italy, during the Revolution in 1848. Several inflammatory articles have recently appeared in the German papers touching that matter, in one of which the following sentence occurs:—"If the Hungarian butcher, Haynau, met with so warm a reception in monarchial England, what ought the Pope's Nuncio to expect in republican America."

The parties arrested on Sunday night have been held to bail for an appearance on Friday next. Fourteen were wounded, of whom one died on Monday morning. A despatch of Monday evening says all was quiet then, and says, also, the German Association engaged in the riot assert that they had no intention of doing more than burning M. Bedini in effigy.

LOCAL.

ANOTHER HOLIDAY.—Yesterday, (Thursday,) was a holiday to all intents and purposes, among a large class of our people. The great snow storm which began on Wednesday night, almost stopped the sleighing, and kept all the ladies at home. So among the Dry Goods Men, Thursday was a dies non, as the lawyers say. The fancy goods and book stores, with many others, were not thronged. The Custom House was in its place,, and so was the Post Office—but there was no business in the one, and not much in the other, until 5 o'clock, P. M., when the Western Mail arrived, which was due at half-past 9 A. M.

The river was full and active, not with vessels, but with wind and tide, the latter rolled in, and, held in by the wind, overflowed several wharves at 10½ A. M.—and the snow descended as if "there was a plenty more where that came from." The Railroad Men in every direction had a hard time of it.

STEREOSCOPE.—Among the attractions at the Methodist Festival, in Jefferson Hall, was a fine Stereoscope Picture, executed by Mr. Albert Gregory of this city. He has recently exhibited specimens of a different character—in which the view of the daguerreotypes was had through two distinct lens, like spectacles. In this new style, the pictures are placed at the ends of a long box, inside, and reflected by mirrors running from each end to the middle, forming an angle. The invention is recent, and has not been generally adopted as yet; though it is the opinion of the best artists that it will be. Seen in this way, the picture presents a most pleasant and lifelike appearance. A series of daguerreotypes may be fitted for the same box, of course—furnishing a most complete and agreeable picture gallery. The thing will well repay for examining.

☞ Among the other good things buried in the snow of Thursday, was the entertainment to be given by Mr. Abournette. However, by virtue of his magic power and fire-eating propensity, he will doubtless resuscitate in good time; and may be expected to farther amuse, interest and instruct our citizens at an early day.

MRS. WALTER.—Died in Boston on the 12th December, Ann Walter, consort of the late Lynde Walter, aged 80. Few females born in the 18th century have passed away from life possessed of such strong faculties of the mind as the subject of this notice, and though her educational facilities were but moderate, she had treasured up a great amount of knowledge. Mrs. Walter was by birth an English woman, and was devotedly attached to the Established Church. She was the mother of Lynde Walter, Esq., who was the editor of the Boston Transcript, and his sister, Miss Walter, who succeeded him in that editorial chair. The old lady's reminiscences of "old times" have frequently been given to the public through the columns of that paper; and they usually appeared in print just as they proceeded from her pen.

In private life, Mrs. Walter was a most exemplary and self-denying mother, experiencing many sad reverses of fortune with a patience that could proceed from nothing but a truly Christian view of life. She endeavored always to meet her trials with a mind sternly composed for rigorous duty and for calm endurance. Her English birth imparted to her a tone of feeling and peculiar attributes of character more loyal than republican, but she did not cherish these sentiments in a manner either prejudicial or bigoted. She was grateful for the institutions of America which gave to her children enlarged privileges, and fitted them especially for the fulfilment of responsible duties. Her family, being English, it is not unworthy of remark, that she descended from a lofty ancestry, and that her name is recorded in "Burke's General Armory," with the descent from which she sprung—a rare instance for an American family, at the present day.

THE CONGREGATIONAL JOURNAL.—Rev. Mr. Wood, for the last thirteen years editor and proprietor of the Congregational Journal, has disposed of his interest to Messrs. B. W. Sanborn and B. P. Stone, by whom it will hereafter be conducted, at Concord, N. H.

☞ One of our merchants has favored us with the London Times of Dec 13, the principal news in which, the Russian Naval Victory, has of course been anticipated. Nevertheless we prefer to read the English news done up in the English fashion, rather than to read it in abridgements, like the late Liverpool Times, or in the chips of telegraphic summaries. The London Times looks like an old friend—but at the present moment the New York Herald, and at least two other New York Dailies, go before it in talent, and interest to American Readers.

Orestes A. Brownson, the political and religious weather-cock, delivered a lecture in Boston recently, on "Russo-Turkey." He always took the Russian side of the controversy, of course. He is on the side of despotism both in Europe and America.

THE MAINE LAW.—Ex-Governor Eaton, of Vermont, says of the operation of the Maine Law in that State, "that the law has exerted an immense influence, and accomplished great good, it is plain to him whose eyes are not resolutely closed to the light of truth, as is the light of the sun to him who opens at mid-day, eyes that have not been deadened and darkened by paralysis, or veiled by cataract."

MARINE CHRONICLE.

PORT OF PORTSMOUTH.

Sch Euphemia, fm New York for this port, was at Edgartown 25th, and at Newport 26th Dec.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.

I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.

There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.

The genuine is clear the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.

Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.

Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has purchased the outside wrapper of wet paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

6tis d30 DONALD KENNEDY.

THE RAILROAD WAR NOT ENDED.

A Buffalo despatch of the 28th says:—

The riot at Harbor Creek yesterday was more serious than was at first reported, and causes great excitement here. It appears that the railroad officers who were at Harbor Creek to make repairs to the road, were attacked by an armed mob of 600 or 700. Mr. Coffin, a conductor on the Buffalo and State line, drew a revolver and shot one of the ringleaders, wounding him only. The railroad men then attempted to retreat, but were beset by the mob, and many of them shockingly beaten, two or three being nearly killed. The railroad men finally reached the cars, pursued by the mob, who were determined to get hold of Mr. Dennis, the Superintendent, whom they swore they would hang on the first telegraph pole. They rushed upon them, and some of them had already got hold of Mr. D., and were dragging him off, when the engineer rushed forward and started the locomotive. The mob jumped off and the train reached the New York line in safety.

The Company now refuses to run beyond the State line.

The excitement in this city is intense, and it is feared that unless immediate steps are taken by the General Government for the protection of the public, there will be a movement among the people of New York which may entail terrible disasters on the whole country.

THE ERIE RIOTERS.—The railroad corporations whose property has been destroyed by the mob at Erie, intend to touch the people of that lawless city in the tenderest point, as will be seen by the following from the Buffalo Express:

A prominent citizen of Erie, who has been identified with the destruction of the property of the railroad, visited this city on Thursday on business. Suits were commenced against him by the company to recover the damages incurred directly and indirectly through his acts, and the sheriff paid his respects to him clothed with an authority that he had to respect and obey. If there is property enough in Erie to pay for the damages done to the railroad company's property and interest, it will probably be reached in the process of time.

In New York on the 28th, after the steamer's news had been discussed, prices generally were found to be almost unaltered by the intelligence.

The quotations are—Ashes unchanged; Cotton steady. Flour 6d a 1s easier; sales 8000 bbls; com to straight state 7 50 a 7 56; com to good Ohio 7 50 a 7 62; southern less buoyant; sales 1100 bbls mixed to good brands 7 50 a 7 62. Corn buoyant; sales 42,000 bu mixed 70 a 71c old; white 71 a 74 new; yellow 71 a 74 1-2c new; round yellow 80 a 81c. Provisions unchanged.

Fredericksburg, Va., Dec. 27th.—FACTORY BURNT.—The cotton factory of the Messrs. Slaughter was burnt last night, together with the stock and machinery. Loss $20,000; insurance $12,000.

FROM AUSTRALIA.—The news from Australia contained in the late London papers is of some interest. The steamer Victoria brought advices from Sydney to Sept. 17, having made her passage from that port in 84 days, from Adelaide in 72, and from the Cape of Good Hope in 33. The subject of the new Constitution proposed by the British government had been discussed in the Legislative Council, and although there was a strong opposition to it in the colony, on account of the proposal, that the members of the upper Chamber of the Legislature shall hold their offices by appointment by the crown, instead of being elected by the people, it was ordered to a second reading by a vote of 34 to 8. The Governor Latrobe had suddenly changed his opinion in regard to an abandonment of the gold license fee. Although he had but a short time before peremptorily refused the urgent application of a deputation from a large assembly of diggers for a repeal of the duty, or a reduction of it from 30 shillings a month to 10 shillings, he proposed to the Council to require a fee of £2 to be collected for the next three months, and thereafter to abolish it altogether, and to impose in place of it an export duty on gold.

The rural and pastoral districts of Australia are represented as in a satisfactory condition. This is proved by the increased quantity of wool shipped during the present year. The same fact is apparent of the general success of the gold diggings.

VERMONT.—A letter from the Vermont correspondent of the Manchester Democrat says of the Vermont liquor law: "It has already done wonders for the large towns in our State. It has swept away the grog-shops and emptied the jails; removed poverty and crime, and caused peace, joy and plenty to smile upon whole communities."

It appears to us that this world grows queerer every day, when we reflect that there are men holding office under the administration in Massachusetts, who "once upon a time" were very anxious for us to vote Charles Sumner into the U. S. Senate; and yet this same Sumner voted for a "hard" printer to the Senate in opposition to the administration, thus encouraging the Senate to non-confirm these very democrats. Every day shows that Sumner should not have been put there.—N. H. Democrat.

Well this is a queer world—and ardent political partisans, especially those who are afraid of coalitions, are as queer as anybody.

Washington, Dec. 28th.—Nothing was done in the Senate this morning in consequence of Mr. Campbell's funeral:

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisement—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

☞ All Postmasters will act as Agents, and any person sending five subscribers, with pay for a year, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

THE WHOLE WORLD OUTDONE!

C. HAZARD, after experimenting for over five years has at last discovered a composition which will polish beautifully, and at the same time oil the leather, and now offers to the citizens of Rockingham County an article which is unrivalled in this or any other country for its shining quality, and its nutritious elements to the leather. It is a valuable discovery. To be had of all the Dealers, and at wholesale and retail of

IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be beleived, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.

The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this

A DISTINCTION.—Two friends met after an absence of some years, during which time the one had increased considerably in bulk, and the other still resembled only the 'effigy of a man.' Said the stout gentleman, 'why, Dick, you look as if you had not had a dinner since I saw you last.' 'And you,' replied the other, 'look as if you had been at a dinner ever since.'

THE FOURTH OF JULY NEW YORK RIOTERS.—On Friday the jury in the case of the rioters who assaulted and beat severely an omnibus driver in the ninth ward, who passed through a funeral procession, returned a verdict of guilty against fifteen of them. They will be sentenced at the next term.

DEATH BY ACCIDENTAL POISON.—Captain Bangs Nickerson, of Harwich, drank through mistake from a bottle a quantity of bed bug poison. In consequence of its being immediately ejected from his stomach it did not cause immediate death. He lingered along a number of days, and died on the 20th inst.—Cape Cod Advocate.

KILLED BY A FATHER.—In New York on Friday, a coroner's jury returned a verdict that —"we find that the deceased, William Sullivan, came to his death by fracture of the skull and other injuries; and that these injuries were received at the hands of his father, Cornelius Sullivan."

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—At Hooksett, N. H., Dec. 15th, Mr. David Dyer was robbed on the road by Warren J. McIngre and Philip Cassidy, of Manchester, of $5 and a jug of rum. They kept out of the way for a time, but were arrested on Monday, and taken to Concord. They are committed for trial.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricophorous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricophorous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricophorous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest praise has not yet been withheld, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m p22

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merits than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETIZER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in small bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IIIs late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in one minute. It is perfectly innocent, to take internally and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

DR. CONINE'S COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGE THE WONDER OF THE WORLD

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

GAVAZZI ON SCHOOLS, &c.

The first attack is upon your schools.—There are now five or six Roman Catholic congregations in Buffalo, St. Louis, Michigan, &c., which are under interdiction on account of refusing to the Bishop the right to administer the rent. Bedini was sent out to settle the matter, and he decides in favor of the Bishop, and against the congregations. Oh, Roman Catholics, open your eyes. Here you have five Roman Catholic congregations, interdicted, threatened with ex-communication, on account of a difficulty about the administration of temporal affairs. Is this the true church of Christ? Is not his church to care for sinners, to save sinners? And is that what we see in these churches in St. Louis and Buffalo? No! We see Americans, naturalized Americans, for the sake of a few dollars, excommunicated, and excommunication means damnation. Here we find a Bishop who claims to represent Christ, excommunicating 5000 persons for money. If you give your money to the Bishop you are a good Christian. If not, you are not. This is not the church of Christ, of St. Peter, but the church of Simon, the magician.

One word on this point to the native American:—It is your duty to defend the foreigner—the honest foreigner, who is coming here to enjoy American hospitality and freedom, against the tyranny of Rome. Help them, if you would have them good citizens or good Christians. In this connection he delivered a very severe and scathing rebuke to the 'New York Tribune,' for saying that Bedini—the butcher Bedini—had a right to call the St. Louis congregation to obedience. The 'Tribune,' he says, is known as an earnest opponent to negro slavery in this country, and yet it proposes to enslave the Catholics to the Pope. No—no slavery for any; either white or black, foreign Protestant or foreign Catholic.

But the second point of attack is against your schools. And why? This is the reason: To corrupt the present generation in America is a difficult thing. A writer has said with force and truth, of German and French and other Catholics who have not the blindness of the Irish, that the first mass they hear after arrival here, is their last, because they soon abandon the mummeries of the Roman Catholics, pass by the errors of infidelity and become Protestants. Therefore the church tries to corrupt the youth in the schools in order to have them afterwards subservient to the Bishops. I find this attack against your schools increasing every month. I have nothing to say against Roman Catholic people. They are but the puppets in the hand of the Priests-or Bishops, who stay at home and pull the wires—sending the people forth to cry out against the schools.

The Baltimore Council said that your State schools are infidel and immoral, and no Roman Catholic boy should be sent to them. I reply that they cannot be infidel while the Bible is read in them, for the Bible is the foundation of true faith in Jesus Christ.—The Roman Catholic schools have not the Bible, and therefore they are infidel schools. Again, they are not immoral, and cannot be immoral, because the teachers are married—are fathers and mothers,—and fathers and mothers cannot corrupt the children of other fathers and mothers—and so they are not immoral. Those schools are immoral where the teachers are priests and monks, and nuns doomed to celibacy—immoral teachers, and therefore making immoral schools. Therefore your schools are not immoral or infidel. Therefore preserve your schools as they are.

But these are mere sham objections. There are two real ones—they are the Bible and Americanism. They oppose the reading of the Bible in the schools. On this point he would advise that the Roman Catholic boy be not compelled to be present when the Bible is read, but have the liberty to go or come as he please. This was tried in Philadelphia, and the first year sixty Roman Catholic scholars stayed away; the second year, thirty-two; the third year sixteen, and the fourth year none—and thus they were all brought to read the Bible without compulsion. He would permit the Catholic boy to take the Douay Bible if he chooses, and as he reads with the Protestant Bible, he will after a few months begin to inquire into the alterations, and will find them purposely made by the Pope, and will abandon the Roman Catholic version.

These few concessions he would make, but no more. For if they drive the Bible from the schools, they will next try to drive out the Lord's Prayer, and then the usual books of Protestant literature, and so, degree by degree, the schools will become Roman Catholic. No more concession at all. Therefore stand up for the right of the Bible to be read every where in the State Schools. It is the first element of your nationality! Your children's food. Without it your schools are not American schools, but Roman Catholic schools.—Your children are as a painted flame, without light. Without it the Protestant is like Samson in the lap of Delilah, shorn of his hair. Remember, people of America; and if you find a superintendent of your schools who shall forbid the reading of the Bible in them, treat him as a traitor to America and to republicanism.

Again they fear Americanism. It smells of Yankeeism. God forbid that the American schools should ever become Roman Catholic schools. You have some who want German, Irish, French, or Italian schools. What shall you say to them? If you will have a German school, go back to Germany (applause.) If you will have an Irish school, go back to Ireland, and God bless you; (great applause;) while you are in America, you must have American schools. And more; if you Germans and Frenchmen came to America to be naturalized, you are no mere Germans and Frenchmen, but Americans. Therefore you must have American schools. It is not the business of Germany, of Ireland, of France, or of Pius the Ninth, to make American citizens. But it is the business of American schools, and it is a shame for the foreigner who comes here to share the hospitality of America, to array himself against her schools.

I am for the schools as they now are—Protestant and American. I do not say that the Roman Catholics should not have their schools separate if they choose, in order to keep their people in blindness, ignorance and slavery. They should not have the right to the school fund of American schools. If they will have Roman Catholic schools, let them pay their own teachers. Resist this effort to divide the school fund, for all is in the beginning.

The effort was begun in 1849, and see what progress has been made in four years. If they should succeed so for ten years, they would be masters. Therefore resist it now. See the activity which pervades their ranks; see their audacity in attempting thus to rob the school rent. Resist it now! and, with no money, in a few years there will be no Roman Catholic schools.

The greatest enemy to your land is not from abroad—not from foreign invasion!—Your greatest enemy is the ignorance of your people. There are 28,000 people in Massachusetts who cannot read, of whom 1800 are natives and the rest foreigners.

You are therefore menaced with ignorance, not of your own people but of foreigners; therefore keep your State schools as a preventive against imperial aggression and against civil discord.

CALIFORNIA FLOUR.—The correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, under date of San Francisco, Dec. 1, writes:

Within the past week, a committee of three, late New York flour dealers, was appointed to pass upon the merits of eight samples of flour, presented to the agricultural fair in this city for the prize of a silver cup, gold mounted, worth fifty dollars. Five of the samples were very choice, and fully equal in quality to Hiram Smith and other extra brands of Ohio and Genesee flour, both as regards color and bolting, and at the same time possessed of all the strength of Gallego and Haxall. The exhibition was in the highest degree satisfactory to the committee, who were astonished at the superior quality of the flour presented, and which has since received the attention of others in the trade, who were not before aware of the properties of our California wheat.—The result of the examination induced Messrs. Warren & Son, proprietors of the Fair, to give special prizes to the four other samples, as being so near up to the premium standard as to be worthy of special prizes.

SATURDAY, DEC. 31, 1853.

TEMPERANCE AND POLITICS.

The Meredith Bridge Democrat contains an address to the Democratic party, cautioning them not to be deceived by whig politicians pretending to be temperance men. The following is an extract from the article.

It becomes evident that the temperance question is to become an important element in the coming election in this State. Nothing in any of the other questions of a public nature appears to contain enough of vitality to produce any sensation, or to serve the purpose of controlling votes.

The cause of temperance is one which must enlist the best wishes of every well meaning man. All are, directly or indirectly, interested in favor of temperance. Every man with a family, whatever may be his politics, must look with solicitude upon the influences which surround unwary youth, to lead them in the path of temperance, morality, virtue and prosperity; or in that of intemperance, vice, degradation and death. We see on every hand evidences of the fatal effects of intemperance. We see violence, disorder, ignorance and poverty, where all might be peace, prosperity and happiness; and we are aware that the drinking of intoxicating liquors is a main cause of this evil. All this appeals directly and strongly to our best feelings as parents, philanthropists and citizens, and causes us to look for some remedy for the evil.

We feel a great interest in the promotion of temperance. But we were not aware that any effort was likely to be put forth next March, for a new law;—and were certainly not prepared to learn from such authority as the Democrat, that temperance is the only vital question, or the only one in which the people feel any great interest. But perhaps it is even so.

THE LIQUOR LAW IN MASSACHUSETTS.—The Cambridge Chronicle of Saturday last contains an address to the Mayor of that city, the Hon. James D. Green, bearing the signatures of eight hundred of its citizens, including apparently all the eminent public and literary men who are clustered around the University, and forming a list of distinguished names, which should give almost an irresistible weight to any recommendation. The purpose of the address is, to request the Mayor to use all the lawful means in his power to put a stop to the unlicensed sale of intoxicating drinks in the city. It is accompanied by a note from a committee of the signers, giving an account of the origin of the application, and also by the reply to it of the Mayor.

This reply is in substance that: "notwithstanding some harsh and obnoxious features," the law ought to be obeyed by every good citizen, "until repealed or modified by the legislature," that he is prepared to do what he can to enforce it, but that he has not the means of obtaining information or proof of the violation of it, and therefore it is not in his power to enforce it. Such is the position of the executive magistrate of Boston, and probably of every large community in the State; and consequently the law remains a dead letter in those parts of the Commonwealth where its salutary effects are most needed, on account of those "obnoxious features," which make a large portion of our citizens shrink from identifying their efforts with measures for carrying it into execution.

On this state of facts, the conservative but thoroughly informed editor of the Boston Advertiser remarks:

With such proofs as are exhibited in this correspondence, of the universal desire of the intelligent portion of the community, to carry into execution the main design of this law, and at the same time of the impracticability of executing it in its present shape, in addition to similar proofs from other quarters, we conceive that the legislature can no longer excuse themselves from the obligation of so modifying the law as to relieve it of those offensive characteristics, and to enlist in its favor the common support of all good citizens. Should the consideration of the question take such a direction as is likely to lead to a co-operation in a practicable common object between persons who have taken both sides of the general question of sustaining the law in its present shape, we shall heartily unite in the effort of relieving the Commonwealth from the opprobrium of a law designed for the suppression of a prevailing vice, so obnoxious in its provisions as to render it inoperative in those parts of the community where its restraints are most needed.

LICENTIOUSNESS OF POMPEII.—The discovery of Pompeii has been worth thousands of sermons as a vindication of the reforms worked by Christianity. Had it not been for the paintings that still survive on the walls of the exhumed dwellings, the moderns would have had no adequate conception of the immorality of the ancients. All that Tacitus has written of the licentiousness of the Roman Emperors, fails to make an impression equal to that produced by these indecent pictures. For that an idle, luxurious and despotic monarch should violate every law, human and divine, seems possible; but that private citizens should imitate their example, surpasses belief; but it is proved by the walls of Pompeii. On those walls; the walls of dwellings; the walls of the common sitting-room; the walls on which husband wife, mother and daughter, maiden and suitor gazed in company, are seen paintings which would disgrace the vilest modern bagnio. The universality of these pictures prove that it was not a few dissolute young men who thus covered the walls of their rooms, but the fathers of families, citizens of the highest rank, and even grave senators were equally guilty. How gross and corrupt must that state of society have been, in which licentiousness not only shook off all decorum, but sat in the very domestic circle itself.

Admiral Dacres, of the British Navy, who, when a Captain, commanded the Guerriere in its fight with the Constitution, died recently in England.

THE CHAPLAINS TO CONGRESS.—The New York Times gives an interesting sketch of the gentlemen elected Chaplains to the 33d Congress. We give it entire:

Rev. Henry Slicer, elected Chaplain of the Senate, is a politician as well as minister, and stamped it extensively for Gen. Pierce during the last canvass. He distinguished himself considerably by a controversy on the stump with Mr. Joel G. Seaver, who was a member of the Baltimore Whig Convention from Louisiana, and who has at various times made himself conspicuous in various relations in several States. His last exploit was to subscribe half a million of dollars for stock in the Pacific railroad. Rev. Mr. Slicer made some very damaging disclosures concerning Seaver, which induced that gentleman to change the locality of his political efforts. Mr. Slicer now gets his reward for these services at the hands of the Senate.

Rev. Mr. Milburn, who is elected Chaplain of the House, is a man of a different stamp, and was elected on other grounds. He is only about thirty years of age, of decided ability, eloquent in his calling, and of most excellent moral and social character. For some years he has suffered from disease in his eyes, which renders him nearly blind. Some five or six years ago he was chosen Chaplain of the House, and gave universal satisfaction.—The circumstances of his election at that time, as we have heard them narrated, were curious and creditable. He was travelling on one of the Western rivers, in a steam boat,—being upon one of his preaching circuits. He was but about twenty-two years of age, and seemed even younger. A great number of members of Congress were on board, on their way to Washington, and had drawn a great deal of attention to themselves by card playing, drinking and profanity. As Sunday came round, Mr. Milburn was asked to preach, which he did. In the course of his sermon he addressed himself directly to the members of Congress, and rebuked them in the severest terms for the reproach their conduct was calculated to bring upon the country, in the eyes of the public at large, and enforced upon them the duty of remembering the responsibilities which rested upon them. He retired to his room, believing that he had offended them, fearful that he had overstepped the bounds of propriety, but conscious that he had discharged his duty. Soon afterwards a Committee, appointed by the members, called upon him, thanked him for his reproofs, solicited his acceptance of a purse of money they had made up, and asked permission to present his name as candidate for Chaplain of the House of Representatives. His assent was given and he was elected.

We think that we shall not be alone in the opinion that an election on such grounds and for such services, is more creditable both for Congress and to him, than any one based upon partisan efforts, however serviceable they may have been.

REV. GARDINER DEAN.

The New Bedford Standard of Tuesday, gives the following, as the latest news about the missing minister from that city. It will be seen that he has not been found at Albany or elsewhere.

Rev. James Taylor, of this city, received the following letter by mail, last evening, in relation to Mr. Dean. It is in the same hand-writing as the letter received by Mr. Squire Gifford, yesterday; and we are also informed by the best authority, that the handwriting is the same as that of the anonymous letters received by Mr. Dean a few days previous to his disappearance. The letter to Mr. Taylor is postmarked "Albany, N. Y., Dec. 23," and superscribed "Rev. Taylor, New Bedford, Mass." Its contents are as follows:

"Dec. 23

Rev sir The dream i had last nite makes me want to confes The whole i did i am frade the expres man see me Put the letter that i wrote in my Poket and see me take out the one we made Dean write if i cold be forgiven i wold tell oll i want you to Pray to God to forgiv me Daniel"

The following telegraphic despatch, dated Albany, Dec. 27, has been received by the Mayor, from Mr Burt: "Up to 9 o'clock this morning, no satisfactory news of Gardner Dean has been obtained. I have seen the Clerk in the Post Office. Your despatches are received."

The "mystery" appears to be increasing instead of diminishing in certain minds, but to those who view the matter rightly, we apprehend, there can be but one solution. We are happy to state that the affair will be thoroughly investigated. No expense should be spared to unravel it and satisfy the public curiosity, inasmuch as it has assumed a phase at once important and curious, not to say mysterious, with a large portion of our citizens. Mr. Dean, if he be anywhere in the four quarters of the globe, should be found, and a satisfactory explanation demanded. There is some rascality at the bottom of the whole matter, and we hope it will be speedily brought to light.

SAINTS AND SINNERS.—The "Young Men's Christian Association" of New York rejected the admission of a young gentleman, who is clerk in the office of the Collins' Steamship Company, as a member of the Association, by a vote of 104 to 89, because the applicant was a Roman Catholic. After the vote was declared, a gentleman moved that the election of Roman Catholics was contrary to the spirit of the constitution of the Association. This was amended so as to read that all Jews, Mohammedans, Unitarians, and Universalists be declared immoral persons, and ineligible to the Association. A second amendment was moved, that the resolution embody the words "all sinners." At the presentation of this facetiæ, the Association adjourned.—Boston Times.

At the "Fish Manufactory," as it is called, at Hunningen — the establishment for producing fish on the artificial system—there are now 200,000 eggs of the Rhine salmon, and of the large trout of the Swiss lakes, duly fecundated; and there are 100,000 of the same description of eggs, also fecundated, at the College de France in Paris. These eggs are destined for distribution amongst the departments in which money has been voted for the application of the artificial system.

LOCAL.

MUSICAL CORRESPONDENCE.

The publication in Friday's Chronicle of an article on the Pupils of Liszt and Mendelssohn, has drawn out the following note from one of our resident Music Teachers.

Messrs. Editors:—I suppose you must feel exceedingly uneasy to advertise in your anti-german-music-paper a german music-teacher. I am happy of being able to deliver you of this uneasiness, by asking you to stop my card with the last day of this year.

Yours very respectfully

Dec. 30, 1853.

We were by no means uneasy—for the advertisement was of some benefit to us, as its insertion might be to the advertiser; but if he thinks otherwise, or chooses not to advertise here, he has the right to act accordingly; and for the exercise of that right we shall never find fault with him. But when he intimates that we have any opposition to German Music or Teachers or Musicians, he makes a mistake which we are called upon to correct. We object only to trashy music; and only to quackish musicians, who, while they undervalue others, cannot themselves perform creditably.

The fact that a man was born in New England or Old, in Germany, Africa or Ireland, does not make him a musician—nor does it prevent his being such. It has happened to us in the course of a lifetime, to wear two German Broadcloth Coats; one of which was the best coat we ever had, and the other wasn't.

Just so it is with music and musicians; some are very good, and others, with great pretensions, are good for nothing. Worth makes the man; skill, industry and taste make the musician, no matter what his nativity or language may be. And the lack of these qualities diminishes the man and dwindles the musician.

☞ A young man of intemperate habits, residing in this city, was found by the Watch, on Thursday night, between 11 and 12 o'clock, in State street, sitting in a snow drift with his back to a house, so much chilled by the cold as to be unable to speak, and with his right hand badly frozen. He was taken to the watch-house, and comfortably provided for through the night.

Another person was found sitting in a snow drift, so stupefied that he thought he was sleeping on bales of cotton, and inquired to whom they belonged. He was taken home.

☞ The storm of Thursday destroyed all regularity of trains and mails. The Mail train for Portland, due at 11 A. M. on Thursday, came along past midnight, bringing among other passengers, the gentleman, who was to have lectured before the City Lyceum on Thursday evening, but whose performance is postponed to next week. The evening train from Boston came in an hour later; and the brisk north west wind which blew through the night, filled up the tracks again, and made Friday's trains even later than those of Thursday.

There might be eighteen inches of snow on a level, if we know any level spot—but there is none short of the woods.

The usual trains on the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad did not run yesterday. A train of two engines with a snow plow, left here for Portland early in the morning, and reached that city in season for the regular 3 o'clock train to start, which, being preceded by the engine and plow train, arrived here at 6 P. M.—being the first arrival for the day.

No train through from Concord, had arrived in this city on Friday at 7 o'clock P. M.—A train started from this city at 2 P. M., went about half way up, and returned, reaching this place at 7 P. M.

We are informed by a traveller, that the first train which started from Boston at 7 o'clock on Thursday morning, on the Boston & Maine Railroad, arrived at South Berwick Junction, on its way to Portland, at 2 o'clock P. M. on Friday.

10 o'clock, P. M.—At this hour there had been no arrival from Boston. Snow had again commenced falling.

DISASTER.—The Schooner Eliza Jane, Capt. D. C. Day, of and for Rockland, went ashore on Wallace's Sands, Rye Beach, during the storm on on Thursday morning, at about eight o'clock. All hands saved. She had but a small cargo, consisting of nails, camphene, &c., which will be secured.

The Portland papers of Friday contain accounts of ten vessels injured more or less, in Portland harbor by the storm. Many of the wharves were overflowed.

JOURNALS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.—The Secretary of State, John L. Hadley, Esq., has presented us a copy of the Journals of the Senate and House, June Session, 1853. The two Journals compose a volume of 1256 pages.

☞ Rev. Henry D. Moore will deliver the Fifth sermon of the series on the Lord's Prayer, to-morrow afternoon, in the North Church.

THE HUNDREDTH YEAR.—The New Hampshire Gazette has just entered its hundredth volume. Mr. Fuller, its present editor, says:

We intend that in its old age, it shall rather improve than retrograde, and that it shall favorably compare in point of interest with its contemporaries. We shall support Democratic policy, State and National, and especially the administration of Frank Pierce, around which every New Hampshire Democrat should rally with that zeal which has always distinguished the party.

MAINE FESTIVAL AT LOWELL.—The sons and daughters of Maine are to hold a family festival at Lowell, next Monday evening.—Letters have been sent to Governor Crosby, Neal Dow and other distinguished men of Maine, and to George S. Hillard, and other Maine natives, of Boston. Mr. Dow has returned a letter accepting, and it is believed that others will do the same.

About 300,000 feet of the best white pine plank are annually sold by the lumber merchants of New Haven, Ct., for the manufacture of the American friction matches in that vicinity.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.

I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.

There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.

The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.

Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.

Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

6tis d30 DONALD KENNEDY.

THE JERSEY CITY BANK ROBBERY.—The Mechanics' and Traders' Bank, Jersey City, was robbed about three months ago of $10,000. A servant girl in the cashier's house was at one time arrested, and kept in prison for a month or two, but was finally liberated, no proof appearing against her. On the 26th, Dudley S. Gregory, Jr., about to go to a firemen's procession in Elizabethtown, went into the room of young Mr. Fox, the son of the cashier of the bank, and took his fireman's cap. The Foxes and the Gregories were so intimate that there was nothing thought of taking such a liberty. When young Fox had heard that young Gregory had gone off with his fireman's cap to Elizabethtown, he immediately started after him in the next train, and meeting the person whom the cap was taken for, and on whose head it was, he forthwith took from it, but not unobserved, the amount, about $10,000, which he had secreted in his cap. This act was observed by Mr. Woodruff, the superintendent of the New Jersey Railroad, and he caused him to be arrested and searched, and the money was found in his possession.

The father, the cashier, Mr. Fox, made up the loss some time ago to the bank, but had no suspicion of his own son. He made up the loss because the keys of the bank were taken from his house, where he had carelessly left them. Such a robbery, among parties so highly respectable, creates a great deal of excitement and conversation in Jersey City.—New York Express.

RECAPTURE OF AN ESCAPED BANK ROBBER.—In Nov. 1852, John Rand was tried at Norfolk for robbing the Farmer's Branch Bank at Portsmouth, Va., of about $60,000, and was convicted and sentenced to ten years in the State Prison, but while in Jail at Norfolk, awaiting a decision on exceptions which had been filed, he managed to effect his escape. This was a year ago. Officers from Virginia arrived in Boston last week in search of Rand, who was not to be found, and they returned home, leaving authority with Constable Clapp for his arrest. On Monday Rand was seen in Court street by Constable Hopkins, who immediately notified Clapp, and he was shortly again in custody. In default of $66,000 bail he was commited to jail to await a requisition from the Governor of Virginia.

Rand effected his escape in this way. Two females from Boston arrrived at Norfolk, and, as is the custom there, were allowed unrestricted intercourse with the prisoner. One night the females gave an entertainment at the jail, at which the jailor and Rand were present. During the entertainment the females managed to obtain the jailor's key, and they and Rand walked off together.

EXTRADITION CASE.—New York, Dec. 28,—The case of Alexander Hulburn, a fugitive claimed by the British Government, under the Ashburton treaty, who was brought before the New York Supreme Court on a writ of habeas corpus, was decided this morning, by Judge Mitchell, who ordered the prisoner to be discharged, and that an order to that effect be served upon the United States Marshal. The Marshal it is understood, will refuse to obey the order, and will hold the prisoner subject to the action of the United States Court.

Montreal, Dec. 28*th*—LARGE FIRE.—A fire occurred on Sunday in Notre Dame street, destroying four stores, occupied by Solomons, furrier, Lewis, dry goods, and others. Loss very large; insurance £25,000.

A few days since, a poor inebriate, by the name of Kingsbury, was found dead in a meadow in the town of Mansfield, Ct. A friend informs us that the coroner's jury returned the verdict—"died for want of rum!" He was a victim of delirium tremens.—Woonsocket Patriot.

Mr. John Mahony, another of the Irish patriots, arrived at New York in the Humboldt, from Havre. He was a gentleman of fortune, and raised a force which made several successful attacks; but he was finally compelled to retreat, and fled to France, where he has since been.

Monroe D. Dandall, district school teacher of Belchertown, has been ordered to pay $10 and costs, amounting to about $30, for inflicting excessive punishment on a female pupil. He appealed. The hearing was before three Justices at Palmer.

THE EASTMAN DIVORCE CASE—The suit for divorce of Prudence W. Eastman against her husband, Rev. John Eastman, of Hawley, was tried before the Supreme Court at Greenfield, Mass. last September, and argued subsequently at Northampton by Mr. Choate for the woman, and David Aiken of Greenfield and Edward Dickinson of Amherst for the husband; the case has just now been decided; the Court denying the application of the wife for divorce. The application was based upon alleged cruel treatment and neglect by the husband, which was denied by him, and something like the opposite attempted to be shown.—Springfield Republican.

PINE LOGS.—The Portland Advertiser states that Mr. Chase, of that city, in erecting a new store, had occasion to remove some old pine logs, which were used for building a wharf, and had been submerged for many years, and finding them sound, sent them to a mill, and obtained a good article of plank worth from $12 to $15 per thousand, out of such stuff as was formerly thought only fit to build a wharf.

The latest letters say there is to be a regular reform in the Havana Custom House, the reason given being that the revenue has fallen off more than a million and a half of dollars during the last year.

A model return upon a writ was recently made by a deputy sheriff in Morgan county, Indiana. It was "Served the within, but was fit with brickbats by the woman so that I couldn't serve it."

The Manchester & Lawrence Railroad have declared a dividend of 3 1-2 per cent., payable on the 16th of next month, to stockholders, holding stock on the 30th inst.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.
The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.
LOCAL MATTERS
Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.
The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this

DEATH OF AN AERONAUT.—A letter from Nismes, (Sardinia,) of the 29th ult. announces the death of the aeronaut Dechamps, while making an ascent from that town. It appears that his second ascent having been fixed for the previous day from the amphitheatre, all the necessary preparations were made. The weather was so exceedingly stormy, that M. Dechamps thought it necessary to signify to the mayor that there would be danger for M. Letur to descend by means of a parachute, as had been publicly announced. In consequence the mayor authorized M Letur not to perform his part of the engagement entered into with the public.

A little after three in the afternoon, M. Dechamps entered the car, and the ropes being cut, the balloon rose rapidly above the walls of the amphitheatre, the wind then carrying it rapidly in the direction of the southwest. In proportion as it rose, the huge machine appeared to become less agitated.—About ten minutes after the balloon had quitted the earth, it was observed to commence descending, at first slowly, and then much more rapidly, its form at the same time becoming perpendicularly elongated, as if from a sudden escape of gas.

It fall then became so rapid that every one that was looking on felt convinced that an accident had occurred. The balloon fell several miles from the town, in a field about half way between Generac and Beauvoisin. M. Dechamps was found lying at a little distance from the car without any sign of life. The body was at once taken to Beauvoisin, where medical aid was called, but without any result, as life had fled.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's renowned Pills,
Is just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2awly

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wóm je22*

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe for this Medicine from DR. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, is now offered.

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial bottles, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers active in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. No compound can be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of this medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

Two or three drops, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not receive relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

DEVINES' COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGE
THE WONDER OF THE WORLD

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fall disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($00 00) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

A CHRISTMAS BALLAD.

BY COUSIN EMMA.

'Twas on a holy Christmas morn,
Dear children, long ago,
And noiseless as an angel's step
Fell starry flakes of snow,
Clothing the ground in robes of white,
And sprinkling every tree with light.

'Twas in a low and cheerless room,
Where scarce could sunbeams creep,
A little child with pallid face,
Lay quietly asleep;
While softly, lest the child might wake,
Another little maiden spake:

"Oh, mother! mother! I'm so cold,
So hungry, mother, dear,
I wish you'd take me in your arms,
And let me feel you're here!
I could not sleep the whole night long,
And at the earliest dawn
I heard the joyous Christmas bells—
For this is Christmas morn.

I listened, and forgot the cold,
And when they died away—
Those blessed bells—I shut my eyes,
And then I tried to pray.

But, mother, when I thought of you,
And little Nell so weak,
The words all froze into my heart—
My lips refused to speak.

'Twas hard to say, 'Our Father' then,
For, oh! if God is good,
How can He, mother, see us starve,
And yet not send us food?

But when the chimes all died away,
And every thing was still,
I hope I tried to feel resigned
To all His holy will.

And then I thought that if to-day
I heard the great church bell,
I'd go and sit upon the steps,
And beg for you and Nell.

I know they can't refuse to give,
This holy Christmas day,
So kiss and bless me, mother dear,
And then I'll go away."

By narrow lanes—thro' crowded streets—
The maiden hurried fast—
Till, tremblingly, her weary feet
Drew near the church at last—
The holy church, where grief and sin
Might come, and feel the calm within.

A blessed peace stole o'er the child
While waiting at the door,
A peace from heaven, so calm, so still;
She never felt before.

Her aching feet—her frozen hands—
She never thought of them,
But only of the loving Christ,
Once born in Bethlehem.

How He, the Shepherd kind, would keep
The lambs within His fold—
The lambs like her and little Nell,
Away from pain and cold.

And when she raised her eyes to heaven,
The dim and snowy air
Seemed quiv'ring full of angels bright,
Come down to take her there!

Within the church, through echoing aisles,
The grand Te Deum rung—
Without, upon the icy steps,
Another hymn was sung—
A thankful hymn of praise and prayer
That God had sent His angels there!

And when the eager throng poured out,
On mirth and joy intent,
But few upon the little child
A glance of pity bent.

One widowed woman lingered last
Within the house of prayer;
Her heart and home were desolate,
For Death had entered there.

She stooped, in passing out, to lift
That little drooping head—
The brow and lips were icy cold—
The beggar child was dead!

DOCTORING.—The following is a genuine extract from a recent letter of an invalid:

"We called on Dr. ——— in the morning, and had to wait till the middle of the afternoon waiting our turn. He says he will cure me in two months; 'most too soon for one in my state. I have six kinds of medicines to take three times a day, besides liniment for the outside, wash for the throat, two kinds of pills, &c., &c.; shoulder-braces and supporters to wear, inhaling-tube to use, baths in cold water daily, and in fact enough to do to make a well person crazy. I shall follow his directions for two months, and see what effect will be produced."

A singular death occurred in New York on Wednesday. A little girl was desirous to see the body of a man in a neighboring house, who had been murdered. She was allowed to do so by her parents, but fainted at the sight, was carried home in convulsions, and soon died.

PHILADELPHIA AND BALTIMORE RAILROAD.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce gives the following description of an improvement in night cars, introduced on the route between Philadelphia and Baltimore:

In these cars a double row of Hammett's patent reclining chairs have been placed, which secure for the entire body the recumbent posture so essential to the enjoyment of repose.—This contrivance is quite simple, and consists of a handsome arm chair, furnished with a sliding, self-adjusted head rest, so padded as to form a delightful pillow. The occupant, by touching a small spring, finds himself in a recumbent posture, the backward movement of the seat throwing up a padded leg rest. It is indeed an admirable contrivance, and I hope to see it adopted on other roads. An enterprising spirit has been infused into the direction of this company by the President, Mr. Felton. Surveyors are now engaged in determining the points on either side of the Susquehannah from which the bridge at Havre de Grace shall be built. You will remember that the Legislature of Maryland, at its last session, authorized the capital stock of the company to be increased from $3,850,000 to $5,000,000, for the purpose of constructing this bridge. When it is completed, as it probably will be in the course of another season, the time of trains between Philadelphia and Washington will be greatly reduced.

The Baltimore Sun says of the preparations for this bridge:

The surveys have all been made for a distance up and down the river of two miles, and the character of the foundation has been found very favorable, which will reduce the cost below the former estimate. The chief engineer of the road, Major J. R. Trimble, is now, with his corps, engaged in completing estimates on the different plans of proposed construction, with a view to the early commencement of work on the bridge in the spring.

ONE KIND OF "HELP."—A tradesman was waited upon in his shop by a superbly-attired female, whom he politely addressed, and desired to know what commands she wished to honor him with. The lady, after lifting her veil, which hid a not unhandsome face, intimated in a style corresponding with her dress, that hearing there was a vacancy in the gentleman's service, she desired to be engaged by him as housemaid. The gentleman stated that his "better half" was at their residence, in the suburbs. The following dialogue ensued:

Servant girl, (in a querulous and disaffected tone;) "then you reside in the country—that would be so inconvenient."

Gent—"But, then, we could remove to town."

Girl—"And the washings, I am given to understand, are done at home, which I don't much like."

Gent.—"But, then, we could give them out."

Girl—"Are there any children?"

Gent.—"Twelve."

Girl—(in great excitement, and half inclined to faint,) "Twelve children!"

Gent.—"But then, to oblige you, we could drown a few of them."

MONDAY, JAN. 2, 1854.

THE NEW YEAR.

Has the New Year which began yesterday, found us advanced, in virtue and happiness, beyond our starting point a year ago? We trust that not a few readers can respond to this question by an affirmative answer; and if any cannot, then it surely becomes such to inquire, Why it is?

The experience of the past is worth comparatively little, until it is transmuted into wisdom for the present and trust for the future.

With such views as these, we utter no idle wish, as we offer to our readers the New Year's Benediction, and say, Be Happy!—For it is true, not only that the heart knoweth its own bitterness, but also that no stranger intermeddleth with the joys of the inmost soul.

When we cordially express our wishes for the outward prosperity of all who read these lines, as we do heartily to-day, we know that such events lie not exactly within their power nor within ours. The best laid worldly plans of the wisest men, sometimes fail; and their most earnest efforts to acquire or retain wealth and power fall short of their objects.

Even Doctor Franklin, the prince of philosophers and the pattern of economists, closes one of his prudential chapters on this wise:—This course, viz. energy, self-denial, economy and perseverance, "will certainly lead to competence and probably to wealth—unless the Almighty Disposer of events, in his inscrutable providence should otherwise determine."

But happiness is nearer at hand, and more accessible than either wealth or power, and it does not greatly depend upon either of them. It resides in the contented mind, which is a continued feast, and which alone can give a zest to all the good things with which it may be surrounded; while it extracts or neutralizes most of the evils and suffering from those untoward occurrences and afflictive events which come more or less to all, and sometimes descend thick and fast like the driving snow on the benighted traveller or voyager.

Closely allied to this contented mind, is trust in a higher power than those of earth, and heartfelt allegiance to heaven's law. It is difficult to see, indeed, how the former can sustain itself without the latter; and we suppose it never does. Therefore, when we see the honest and dilligent man also content and quiet, though tired and tempted, we are as certain of his faith and hope, as we are that there must have been an apple-tree, when we eat a good apple.

But from good wishes we have slipped off so far that we do not care about going back to our starting point, and so, having begun with a question and a wish, we will close with the old Puritan exhortation and caution to the Cromwellian army,—"Trust in God and keep your powder dry."

THE FRENCH CLAIMS for spoliations prior to 1800, though immediately to be brought before Congress, are not likely, it is said, to receive favorable consideration. They may pass the Senate, but the Speaker of the House is opposed to their payment, and the Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means is the same; and should they escape such opposition, President Pierce, when a member of Congress voted against them, and is presumed to have immovable convictions that way now. For ourselves we never doubted the justice of the claims, and since many of the claimants with our knowledge, are poor and destitute, we have hoped they might be paid; but the Galphinisms of the past are an obstruction in the way of honest payments of old claims now, and we must confess that the chance appears much against these demands to which increasing age brings no value.—Newburyport Union.

No person who understands the nature of the subject, can doubt for a moment the sacred duty of our general government to pay these claims, which it assumed so many years ago, as distinctly as it did the Mexican claims at a recent period.

We do not believe President Pierce has any convictions against the justice of these claims, —but suppose on the contrary that he is personally favorable to their payment. His vote referred to, might then be given as a partisan, but parties have changed greatly, since Mr. Pierce was in Congress.

SENTENCE OF FORGERS.—Ransel Lamb the young man (foreman in the engraving house of Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Edson, at Cincinnati) who was lately arrested on the charge of printing notes on the State Stock Bank, having plead guilty, has been sentenced to the Penitentiary for three years. James Jones (a young man of excellent education, and an accomplished pressman, who filled the bills) and Jas. Kelley, Milton Parker, Wm. McCrea and Lewis Dollman, all concerned in the same transaction, were sentenced to the Penitentiary for three years each.

FORCE OF HABIT.—It has been told of the late Mr. Peter Moore, and was actually true of Secretary Scraggs, who began life as a woman, that in the days of his opulence, he had his coach, when he went into his carriage, and then, from the mere force of habit, got up behind.

LETTING DOWN THE TUCKS.

An old fashioned friend of Uncle Toby, one Common Sense, as he subscribes himself, feels his spirit stirred within him, as he sees little girls, from four years of age to eight or ten, going out on our coldest days, with their dresses quite too short for his ideas of comfort, propriety, and christian simplicity.

He describes the dresses as in many cases containing several tucks, and as being so arranged as to reach a little more than half way from the waist down toward the knees, leaving the knee and all the leg covered only by the stocking. The dress is generally of some costly material, and if the tucks were let out, contains cloth enough to keep off some of the wind. The dress is often covered with a cloak or sack of silk or other costly fabric; but is certain to be no longer than the dress, while the bonnet is of fashionable shape, and prettily decorated with ribbon of high color and cost.

"Common Sense" calls for these tucks to be let out, thereby making the juvenile dress for girls at once comfortable and decent, fit for Christian parents and modest men to look at, and for Christian children to wear; and he deems it an object worthy of his pen, to promote at once the warmth and the modesty of those little girls who are now the pets of the household, but who are to be in a few years the young ladies of taste and delicacy, or else to be brazen and shameless. And he deems the children as now in training for one or the other of these characters.

Perhaps Uncle Toby is not so well posted up in children's fashions as some of the juniors; nevertheless, he would like to ask a question or two; perhaps some lady will answer, and if so, the answer shall be printed. The Bloomer Dresses, for ladies—why were they rejected? and the trailing skirts,—why are they still trailed? Does comfort or decency demand that the mother shall draggle her skirts in the mud and snow? And does the same comfort or decency demand that the little daughter's dress shall be only half as long as her person? Does decency forbid the lady to wear a Bloomer sack with the comfortable Bloomer Pantalettes? and the same decency command her daughter to wear the sack without the trousers? Or is fashion regardless of both comfort and decency? And lastly, as the little girls have donned the upper part of the "Bloomer Custom," as Mrs. Partington called it,—would it not be the better way to add the nether garment also;—the—the—inexpressibles!

A FAMILY FESTIVAL.

The descendants and connections of Mrs. Lydia A. Locke, as we learn from the Portland Transcript, met on the 21st inst., at the old homestead, in Lyman, Maine, where she resides, to celebrate the completion of the one hundred and second year of her age. The senior publisher of the Transcript, Erastus E. Gould, is a great-grandson of this aged lady, and being present at the above festival, furnishes his paper with a highly interesting account.

"For one of her age" she is a smart old lady. We found her enjoying good health, free from all disease or complaint, though of course, with faculties impaired by her extreme age. She is able to go about the house; talks in a clear voice, can hear when spoken to in a loud tone, but her eyesight is nearly gone. Her memory of the events in her early, active life is more vivid than present occurrences, though her mind still shows some activity, as a reply she made shows. An artist was employed to take her daguerreotype, and when told of it, she dryly remarked, that she had got so old and frizzled up she guessed it wouldn't be a very handsome one. Owing however to the darkness of the day he failed to get a good likeness.

All the creature comforts for the festivity were abundantly provided. Contrasting with the cold piercing atmosphere without were the regular old fashioned, cheerful blazing fires on the hearth; that the old folks especially, might feel themselves young again by reviving the days of yore, when huge "back-logs" and large "fore-sticks" supplied the place of black, unsocial stoves. At the proper time the tables were spread with an abundance and variety of the substantials and luxuries of life, which were discussed with a hearty relish. Seated at one table were five generations. The oldest of each was, respectively, 102, 76, 54, 34, and 14.

The Providence Mirror says—"The general impression that the constitutionality of laws prohibiting the sale of spirituous liquors has been established by the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, is not correct. This impression rests upon an erroneous decision made by the late Chancellor Kent, who, with all his merits was of the old fogy school of judges. As in this opinion, we have no doubt its distinguished author lived to regret having sent it into the world, like the hump backed tyrant, scarce half made up. It is an opinion which his thousand admirers will shrink from defending, which his few detractors will delight to quote in corroboration of the charge of hastiness of judgment and of over-weening self-confidence to which, if we mistake not, he has by some ever been deemed obnoxious.

We do not know exactly what Chancellor Kent decided; but we had the impression that the celebrated Pierce liquor case from Dover, N. H., was carried up to the U. S. Supreme Court, and there decided in favor of the State. If we are wrong we wish to be corrected,—for such an impression prevails to some extent.

LOCAL.

THE CHRONICLE.—We have added many names to our subscription-list within the last month, and several new yearly advertisers to our columns. The Daily commences a new half-yearly Volume on February 1st; the Weekly begins a new Volume on Saturday next. Terms—Daily $3 per year, Weekly $1, in advance.

Now is the time to square the books. We shall be happy to settle all demands against the Chronicle immediately, and expect to find all its debtors equally ready to answer our semi-annual call.

MAILS AND TRAINS.—Many of our readers have heard the old standing joke about dinners at the West End of London, which for gentility's sake had been changed from noon to sunset, and from that to a late hour in the evening, and which a Hibernian servant suggested would soon, in very genteel families, be put off till the next day.

Our mails, trains, stages and carriers, have been improving on this plan ever since Wednesday. Thursday's mails by Railroad came in late, but Friday's did not come at all.—The Kittery Point stage came in on Saturday for the first time since the storm, and took out three days' news in the Daily Chronicle.

The Expressmen, Mails, and some passengers, for Boston, started on Saturday morning at half past 9, via South Berwick and the Boston and Maine Railroad.

A train from Concord, came in on Saturday, a little after noon.

HURRAH.—A mail from Boston arrived in this city on Saturday evening, over the Boston & Maine and Concord Railroads, bringing papers issued the same morning. This is the first arrival from the west since Thursday morning.

The train which left this city on Friday morning, arrived at Newburyport at 4 1-2 o'clock the same afternoon; started again the next morning, and arrived at Salem at 12 1-2 o'clock Sunday morning. The train from Boston which had waited its arrival at Salem, started for the east at 5 o'clock Sunday morning, proceeded but a few miles and was compelled to return, owing to a breakage of the plow; it started again at 11 1-2 o'clock, and arrived here at 7 o'clock, P. M. Perseverentia omnia vincit.

Schooner Fawn, Day, from Philadelphia for Portsmouth, N. H., with coal and lumber, went ashore on the rocks off Cape Cottage, during the storm Wednesday night, at high water, and will probably go to pieces. With the assistance of Capt. Strout and Mr. Faulkner, Mr. Senter, of the Cape Cottage, succeeded in rescuing the crew from their perilous condition, and getting them into comfortable quarters.—Portland State of Maine.

The Fawn parted company with the schr. Philanthropist, bound from Philadelphia for Gloucester, also loaded with coal, on Saturday afternoon, near the Isles of Shoals, and the Philanthropist went ashore near Annisquam, Cape Ann. The Fawn put to sea and weathered the storms till the above disaster befel her.

The coal of both cargoes was for William Day, Esq., of this city.

☞ The Newburyport Union has been united—"married" the editor says—to the Herald. Mr. Colby is to continue in his position as editor. The cause is that their principles are essentially alike, and that the interest of both parties will be advanced by the junction of the "financial shrewdness and business habits" of the "husband" with the "love and sympathy" of the wife.

☞ The Eastern Railroad have declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, payable on the 16th of January.

At London a few nights since, there was a fog so dense that a complete stagnation of business throughout the thoroughfares was caused. In addition to the loss of seven lives at Sturbridge, in consequence of the darkness, several people were run over and killed in London, and the following particulars are given:

"The different omnibusses on the several lines, were for some time obliged to be preceded by men carrying lighted links, but at length the vehicles were obliged to stop altogether, and by that means the greatest confusion was created, so that it was a work of no little danger for a pedestrian to cross any of the roads. The different vessels proceeding on the river with the tide, had to be moored in the roads above the bridge; the watermen and lightermen, however, in several instances, being unable to see the buoys, had no alternative but to allow their craft to drift along with the tide, and several vessels were driven against the piles of the bridges, and it is feared that some of the watermen met with watery graves. The greatest care was obliged to be taken by the officials of the railway companies in starting the trains, and also in seeing that the London termini were kept clear for the expected incoming trains.

At day break on Wednesday morning the fog still continued to hang over the metropolis, and it became denser as the hours advanced, until by 1 o'clock the whole of London was enveloped in such a cloud of darkness that traffic on the railways and the Thames was almost at a stand-still, and business in the differout shops and elsewhere could only be carried on by the aid of gas light."

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz.:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum.	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.

I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.

There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.

The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.

Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.

Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE AFRICA.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30th.

The steamer Africa arrived here at 11 A. M., to-day, with four days later news from Europe.

ENGLAND.—Lord Palmerston has resigned his office of Home Secretary, and Lord John Russell was expected to occupy the office.

Lord Lansdowne is expected to resign, and Lord Panmure to succeed.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.—The intelligence of the defeat of the Turks at Sinope, caused great sensation at Constantinople. The Grand Divan immediately convened. All the Foreign Ministers were present.

It was reported that the Allied Fleet had been ordered to the Black Sea.

Persia has declared war against Turkey.

In a battle between the Russians and the Turks, on the Armenian frontier, there were four thousand Turks killed.

DESPERATE FIGHTING IN ASIA.—In Asia six Russian fortresses had been captured, and fifteen thousand Russians had been defeated in a pitched battle!

Hostilities are suspended on the Danube.

FLOUR MARKET, &c.—Flour is active—sixpence dearer. Wheat is two to three pence dearer. Corn is sixpence to one shilling dearer. Tea, Coffee and Sugar are quiet.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Judge Phelps, who was appointed by the Governor of Vermont to the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Upham, took his seat in the Senate yesterday. Previous to doing so he was told by Senator Atchison that neither he nor the Secretary claimed any right to omit his name in calling the ayes and nocs.

Mr. Phelps's commission reads thus: "To serve until the action of the legislature." As the legislature failed to elect any one he claims the seat as being still his.

Nothing important was done in the Senate to-day. Adjourned to Tuesday.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Mr. Perham and J. Wesley Jones, proprietors of the Gift Lotteries, have been arrested on the suit of the Governors of the Almshouse for a violation of the Lottery Law. Perham was ordered to give bail of $50,000, and Jones $10,000. It is said that measures have been taken to arrest Messrs. Jullien and Dodworth, proprietors of the Jullien Music Lottery. Perham has sold 80,000 tickets in his scheme.

It was reported at Vienna, on the 13th that a combined Russian and Persian army was about to march on Erzeroum.

Some of the London papers intimate that a disagreement in the Cabinet on the Eastern questions caused Lord Palmerston's resignation.

An engagement took place between some Russian vessels and three Turkish steamers. Two of the latter escaped whilst the third was blown up by her commander, rather than surrender.

The Russians fired into a Turkish brig near Odessa, and sank her. All on board perished.

BUTTER.—The Schoharie Republican says the recent fall in the price of butter, together with present indications of a greater reduction, has somewhat frightened the dealers thereabouts, who have been "holding on" for better prices; and consequently they are now rushing the butter to market in haste. Ten or fifteen tons passed that office in one day, running towards Albany.

"What use do you make of your physician?" said the King to him one day.

"We chat together, sire," said the poet.—"He gives me his prescriptions; I never follow them; and so I get well."

The æronaut, M. Arban, who made an ascent from Barcelocis, Spain, more than two years ago, and had not since been heard of, and who was believed to have fallen into the sea, has made his appearance again. An Alicant letter says that his balloon went over to Africa, and that he was seized and made a slave, and continued in that state for two years, when he made his escape.

The fashionable boots now worn by the Parisian ladies are made of morocco, with kid tops, high heels, thick soles, and buttoning up at the sides like gentlemen's. The price is $3,33 per pair.

During the last six years and a half, 30,000 persons have left the Romish Church in Ireland, and become members in Protestant churches, while more than 80,000 have been unsettled in their old opinions.

A "SNUG LITTLE FORTUNE."—Hector Jennings, of Sandusky, Ohio, has been notified by his attorney in London, that he is undisputed heir to one half the Jennings estate in England, about $60,000,000.

CRYSTAL PALACE.—The N. Y. Tribune says that it is now definitely settled that the Crystal Palace is to be a permanent institution, devoted to the exhibition of industrial and artistic productions of all nations.

ADVANTAGES OF BURNING SMOKE.—We this week visited a farm at Barton Grange, and the farmer informed us that some of his sheaves had been in the field five weeks, that a few years ago they would have been quite blackened by the smoke from Manchester, but that now they were not in the least discolored. He ascribed this entirely to the practice of burning smoke in Manchester, and he added that the owners of steam engines there were now compelled to burn their smoke under a penalty, but that every one of whom he had conversed with declared that the burning of smoke was a considerable saving of fuel. In not a few cases an improved form of boiler has been adopted to facilitate the consumption of the smoke, but the expense has been abundantly repaid.—Leeds Mercury.

THE SOLDIERS OF THE WAR OF 1812—the second war for American Independence—are to have a National Convention in Philadelphia, where they have had a meeting, this winter, to petition Congress for an extension and enlargement of the bounty land laws, so as to secure 160 acres of land to all who may have served for any length of time, and also to the officers and seamen of the Navy, who were engaged in the service at that date. Senator Brodhead has lately introduced a bill which will doubtless become a law, by which the old soldiers or their heirs, whether in the army or naval service, shall have a moiety of the public domain. This will be a matter of importance to a great many families, and will be a popular movement. The soldiers of the revolution have nearly all passed beyond the reach of our aid and sympathies; many of them were wretchedly poor. The soldiers of 1812 are taking their places in age, and it is due that their labors should be rewarded and their patriotism remembered. A thousand times better it is that the public lands should feed the old soldier than remain for speculators or for contentions among the States.—Newburyport Union.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered by others, have made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringements of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most faithful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Founded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidence of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and intrinsic merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and universal remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Poisonous Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is a speedy cure.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers it unnecessary, as any person who buys and tries it, will be sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

COLDS COUGHS CONSUMPTION
THE WONDER OF THE WORLD

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

HENRY WARD BEECHER AT THE N. E. FESTIVAL.—At the festival of the New England Society in New York, last week, a speech was made by the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, in reply to the toast complimentary to the clergy. The following are extracts from it:

Why I should be selected I do not know, except for my very reverend and clerical ways. Of eight boys in my father's family only seven turned out ministers, but, to make up the deficiency I married into a family that had four more. Thus being a 'Hebrew among the Hebrews,' and asking the 'benefit of clergy,' I will make some remarks. In early times the ministerial function was different from what it is now. It is now our business to preach on the Sabbath, and to lecture during the week, and, if we make calls, to make calls of courtesy; but what I should do, if I were led back to the days of the colonies, I am a ta loss to know. I should be as much puzzled to discharge my duties, as some of the clergymen of that day would be, standing in my position to night. How much the people valued their ministers, in their new country—in Massachusetts and Connecticut—you can imagine, when it is known that they could not get along without two ministers to each church. In the first six churches in Connecticut there were ten preachers. Each church, if possible, had a teacher and a pastor. The teacher was a professer of theology, and his busines was to indoctrinate. The other was the revival minister, as we understand the term. The doctor put the powder down and the other man touched it off. In those grand old times, besides the Sabbath sermons and week-day lectures, the business of the minister was to go from house to house, and lecture the inmates. Now, however, that business is entirely transferred to woman. It was expected, too, that he would address himself so thoroughly to every individual, that each should stand in fear of God and the minister. However, let it not be supposed, because clergymen were earnest and devout religious ministers, that they were men devoid of humor. The man is not half a man who has not a streak of that in him.

"I recollect that even so late as in my day, the old sort of ministers of Connecticut could crack a joke, and smoke tobacco in an accomplished manner. I recollect that when they used to meet at my father's house, pipes and tobacco were set out and other creature comforts in proportion, which were never seen there at any other time. In those times it was supposed that Providence winked at those things, for certainly they did not know any better. I recollect, too, the explosions of human thunder, called laughter, which could be heard in the room filled with smoke, and where it is supposed the ministers were; and if you had been listening, as I was, you would have said that every mother's son was a Dutchman. When the services were all over for which they had met, they were accustomed, not only to run each other with their jokes, but with their horses.

"I have mentioned that that was not altogether their fault, for it is said that ministers' sons were accustomed to ride the horses of clergymen visiting their fathers' houses.—The horses were not of a poor breed, either; and the horses, getting into bad habits under the tutelage of the boys, would keep up the habits with their masters on their backs. It was doubtless the boys' fault, and not the clergymen's.

I recollect that even Dr. Backus, of Bethlehem, on returning from my father's house to his home, was attempted to be passed by a man. The doctor had no idea of being beaten, and if he was, he meant that the man should do it well. The man finally saw that it was impossible to overtake him, and hallooed at the top of his voice, 'Dr. Backus, you run as if the devil was after you.' The doctor, looking around over his shoulder at the man, said in reply, 'I believe he is.'

* * * * * * *

"It has been a maxim that ministers' and deacons' children are worse than any others. The Greeks express a similar opinion. I was informed by a Greek teacher—who, I may say, earned his money for the services rendered—that it is said in Greece that ministers' children are the devil's grand-children. I don't believe a word of it. I know why my grandfather was, and I am bound to say that ministers' children are the best sort of children—that is, if they are children of good ministers. I have in my hand a letter that was sent to me some time since, and which contains some facts bearing upon this matter.

"In Connecticut, of 937 children over fifteen years of age, of 207 ministers and deacons, only 20 turned out badly—I suppose because they were not much in the habit of attending public dinners.

"In Massachusetts, out of 433 families of ministers and deacons, there were 1,598 children over 15 years of age, and only 20 ever became dissipated. Here we have 40 out of 2,535 children, and some of my friends, who are used to figures, say that this is just 2 1-2 per cent. in the whole number.

"Now, gentlemen, I will ask you if any grazier who was breeding cattle would not be glad to lose only 2½ per cent. of his stock? I will ask any business man if he would not be glad, oft-times, if his losses were not greater than 2 1-2 per cent? I undertake to say that no business has ever been so safe a one as that of raising deacons' and ministers' children in New England.

"There is but one thing more that I wish to mention before I close, and that is, that while ministers are exceedingly talkative, ministers' children are both modest and taciturn. It is on that account that I am unable to extend my remarks any further at this time."

SEWING SCHOOLS.

Plain sewing, the use of the needle on cotton and linen clothes, should be taught in our common schools. It used to be taught, and quite successfully too, in the women's schools of fifty years ago—but in spite of the general progress of schools, in this respect education has gone backward. On this subject the Boston Herald makes the following sensible remarks, which we would particularly commend to the careful attention of our School Committees:

We have heretofore said something of the importance of instructing very young girls, when at school, in needlework. Whoever has paid any attention to the pupils at our primary schools, will have perceived that the routine of studies is not sufficiently varied to keep the children from falling into a state of listlessness during school hours. Since the introduction of music, however, these pupils have had an easier time than heretofore, and the enthusiasm with which they prosecute their vocal exercises, attests the wisdom of the introduction of singing.

Still there is another occupation which can be incorporated into our primary school system with great advantage to the pupils. We mean that of plain sewing. A large proportion of our primary school misses are children of indigent parents, who send them to school mainly that they may be kept out of mischief, while a poor father or an indigent widowed mother is engaged in some humble avocation to procure the means of subsistence. The girls of such parents cannot procure instruction in sewing at their homes. The mother in such cases has not the leisure to instruct them, nor the money to pay for the materials which would be necessary. It is, however, all important that such girls should be ableto do something for their family, at as early an age as possible; and our primary schools, on their female side might establish a sewing branch, which would vary the routine of the girls, and lay the foundation of a very useful occupation.

By this suggestion we do not mean that these girls should be kept at work to the exclusion of study; but we hold that mental assiduity before a child arrives at the age of ten years, is neither commendable nor profitable. And yet a child is generally incessantly active. It must have occupation of some sort, either at school or at home. But a continuous occupation tires the child and renders his or her labor irksome. If, therefore, a new exercise can be introduced which will break up the monotony of the primary school course, it will give a zest to the studies pursued, and really benefit the female pupils.

It may be urged against this that the expense of cloth, thread and needles, could not be afforded by the parents of the children.—But there need be no hesitation on this account, for the liberality of our citizens will second the enterprise and provide the necessary materials. And when the children have made some proficiency, they can take light work from their homes to the school, and their labor will be of great advantage to their parents.

For want of such instruction as that which we suggest, many of the indigent female children of our city are brought up without any knowledge of plain sewing, and are entirely useless to their parents. The work which children could and would willingly do has to be paid for by the parents, and oftentimes is not so well done as it would be by their children if they had the requisite elementary instruction. This instruction could be given at our primary schools without any inconvenience to the teachers, and with benefit, in every way, to the children.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, JAN. 3, 1854.

THE ADMINISTRATION.

Hon. Edmund Burke, in his Old Guard of Saturday, predicts a fatal recoil of public opinion against the present administration,

"If the Union and its satellites continue to denounce democratic Senators, for so trifling a cause as the election of one democrat instead of another, to the office of Printer to that body. If the President shall not put an end to such preposterous folly and insolence—such an audacious outrage upon the rights of a co-ordinate and independent branch of the government, he will not leave the White House with so many friends as John Tyler did, when he returned from the Presidency.

We have been at Washington—in the joint editorial control of the Union—and we know that the Senate of the United States is not to be dragooned into subserviency to any President, or Cabinet, by all the newspapers in the country. There is an esprit du corps in that body which prompts every member to defend its dignity, and to assert its constitutional rights; and, also, to stand by his brother member. It is a hard body for Presidents, newspaper editors, or individuals, to bump their heads against. We do not believe Gen. Pierce is so wanting in good sense and sagacity, as to sanction such conduct as that of which the Union, N. H. Patriot, and their sympathizing factionists of the press are guilty. If he does sanction it, it requires no prophet to predict his fate in the Presidency."

It strikes us that Mr. Burke is rather fast in his predictions. President Tyler happened to offend the whole of the party which elected him, with the exception of a mere corporal's guard; while President Pierce cannot be supposed to have offended more than half of his immediate constituents. In this respect and to this extent their cases differ. So do they also differ in another respect;—Tyler made a revolution in the policy of the administration; Pierce has made none as yet, and so far as we see, proposes none. He may or may not be re-nominated or re-elected to the presidency. The contingency here, depends upon the union of the great democratic party—about which we shall learn something when congress gets fairly under way at making political capital for the next presidential election. A few weeks will help us to some knowledge on this subject.

In the mean time, the affairs of the nation seem to go on very much as they might have done under Gen. Scott, except that men of a different party name hold most of the offices. Mr. Fillmore had no party majority in Congress, during his whole administration: it remains to be seen whether Mr. Pierce has any. The Democratic Party, considered as a Unit, has a large majority in both Houses; and if on any one point of policy they are united, they can carry it.

We hope they may unite on one, viz., the speedy payment of honest and long deferred debts,—one of the oldest being that assumed foreign debt, the old French Claim;—and in connexion with this, have a department or bureau of claims, established and permanent, in Washington, which shall be accessible through the year, and which shall make an annual report to Congress, who shall confirm or reject their doings. The commission on claims, ought to be, as a court should be, appointed from both or all parties.

NEW HAMPSHIRE POLITICS.

The Whigs and Free Soilers are forming a coalition in New Hampshire for the March election, and John P. Hale is to stump every county in the state. The next legislature will elect two senators to Congress.—Newburyport Union.

The statement about the Senators is correct; but for that about the coalition, we would like some better authority than any we have yet seen. The Free Democrats, so far, this year, have shown no disposition for such a coalition, and made no movement towards it. That the parties named may form one, at some future time, is quite possible; and so is a similar coalition of whigs and democrats:—but we deem it incorrect to say that either of them is forming.

Old Bullion's Magnanimity to his Slave.—The Philadelphia Register relates that—

"Old Bullion, on one of his journeys to or from Washington, whilst in the Senate, arrived at Cincinnati, with a very good looking servant to attend on him. While there two or three days, his servant left him and lay concealed somewhere in the city, intending, when the noise about his leaving the Senator was what some over, to go to Canada. Mr. Benton was, at that time, so great a favorite of the Democratic party that several promised to have the servant brought back to him and put into his hands if he desired it. But he replied—'No, gentlemen; No: I brought him here, fully knowing that he was entitled to his liberty, should he claim it. But I thought he would prefer remaining with me to going out free by himself. I have been mistaken. And how could I, a Senator of the United States, knowing his rights under the Constitution, and sworn to support it, reduce him again to slavery. No, sirs, rather now than throw any impediment in the way of his wishes, I would prefer forwarding them.' This account, if it be true, and we see no cause to discredit it in the smallest degree, does great honor to Mr. Benton."

It would be honorable if true—but we doubt the story very much.

RISE IN PRICES.

The effects of the gold digging business begins to be not only perceived, but measured. An article on Foreign Commerce, in the Boston Post, states that the commercial intelligence by the late arrivals is of a decidedly favorable character. The money market was easier. Specie was flowing into England in large sums from Australia. In spite of the Russian drain of bullion from England, the bank shows a weekly increase. Large discount houses are well supplied with means, and confidence has been maintained, against adverse circumstances. A commercial circular presents the following facts in a retrospect of the past year:

"The bullion in the Bank of England is now about £15,000,000 sterling; at the same period last year it was about twenty millions.

The rate of discount on first class bills was 1 7-8 to 2 per cent.; is now 5 to 5 1-4.

The price of consols was 100 1-8; it is now 95 per cent.

Exchequer bills were at 59 to 62s premium; they are now 5 to 7s premium.

Labor is now 30 per cent. higher.

Wheat has advanced from to 36 to 74s.

Cotton has not varied materially.

Coals have risen from 17s to 27s 6d per ton in London.

Tea has risen 30 per cent.

Copper has risen from 102 to £126 per ton.

Scotch pig iron has risen from 62 to 80s per ton.

Tin has risen from 96 to £125 per ton.

Lead has risen from 17 to £28 per ton.

Silver has advanced a notable per centage, say 3 to 4 per cent., while gold is received at the Bank of England at the standard price."

Manufacturers are generally busy, while there are unusually satisfactory accounts from India, China, and Australia.

American securities were in good demand and at better prices than they have been.

The laborer in England, it seems, has added 30 per cent. to the price of his day's work; but then the price of his fuel is almost 40 per cent. higher; and the price of his bread has a little more than doubled. In these respects, the laborer is injured by the influx of gold; but in another he is benefitted, for all the laborers there now can have employment, which has not always been the case.

Wages, however, are one of the last things to rise or fall. And we see, by late accounts, that 70,000 English workmen are said to be on strikes, and that the price of labor in England, per hour, is as high as it is in this country. This looks as if wages might yet go higher.

Editorial Capacity.—The editor of the Newburyport Union, in his valedictory, thus describes the qualifications needful in a good newspaper editor:

To please the public, so far as to command their patronage and support, and yet be true to one's self—to deal with parties and factions and sects, and still be patriotic and liberal—to be informed in foreign and domestic affairs, so as to treat them understandingly—to come down to local matters, to street gossip, and individual transactions, and yet not affront the immediate community interested, and then to attend to the business of a publication office, requires wisdom and wit, talent and industry—varied and extensive acquirements, that few possess.

The same article alludes to the fact, that of twenty-four papers which have been commenced in Newburyport since the Herald began its course, says:

The Herald for more than sixty years has stood unmoved amid the countless shocks that sent others to their graves, and is yet green and vigorous, sturdy and strong. Its name has become identified with the name of Newburyport—its opinions with the opinions of the people, and is known over the whole land for the industry and ability with which it has been conducted, especially within the last few years, and the consistency that has marked its course; it is justly valued at home, and eagerly read abroad.

To the truth and justice of this statement we give our hearty assent; and our own knowledge of the late Ephraim W. Allen, who was for many years its publisher and editor, induces us to add,—that his steady and faithful administration, though it did not perhaps gain friends very rapidly, yet always kept them a great while; and that his friendliness and good nature, personally and in his paper, while they never astonished his friends and partisans, made it next to impossible for an opponent or rival to contend against him.

Patent Agency.—By reference to a new advertisement in this day's Chronicle, it will be seen that Mr. Samuel Cooper, late of the Patent Office, has established an office in Boston for the purpose of procuring patents; and that he exhibits the most satisfactory testimonials of his character and capacity.

Mr. Van Buren, we hear, is now in Rome, with his son, living in a small house with a large garden, on the Via Gregoria.

Mr. Van Buren will make a very quiet dweller in Rome. No man is better versed, practically, in the old maxim, When you are in Rome, do as the Romans do.

☞ Elder Dean has returned to New Bedford, and gives a very incoherent account of his wanderings. The New Bedford Mercury says his friends are blistered, he having, among his other freaks, hired himself out to cut wood; and he is much emaciated and is in a feeble condition.

The public verdict is, that the man is insane.

LOCAL.

Launch.—The A 1 Clipper Ship Cœur de Lion, will be launched from the yard of Geo. Raynes, Esq. this day, Tuesday, at about 2 o'clock, P. M. The dimensions of the Cœur de Lion are, length 182 feet, breadth 26, depth 22, dead rise 15 inches: government tonnage 1080 tons. She is owned by Wm. F. Parrott, Esq. of Boston, and Capt. G. W. Tucker of this city, who is to command her.

Snow.—The amount of snow which has fallen within the past seven days is beyond precedent, within the memory of the "oldest inhabitant"—about 2 1-2 feet having fallen within that time. To put it into a tabular form:

Monday Dec. 26	6 inch.
Thursday " 29	1 ft 4 "
Friday " 30	3 "
Sunday Jan. 1	5 "
	2ft 6 inch.

New Features.—Odd things have been done on the railroads during the storm and drift. A Newburyport paper of Friday says:

This morning there was a new feature in railroading, the trains as they left the depots being bountifully supplied with provisions, for no one could tell where they were to dine.

The paper of Saturday says,

We have received foreign news via Exeter, N. H., by Joseph B. Flagg, to whom our thanks are due.

☞ An Ecclesiastical Council will convene in the Evangelical Congregational Church in Epping, on Wednesday next, for the purpose of installing Rev. Lyman White in the pastoral office of said Church and parish. Rev. Henry D. Moore, of this city, is to deliver the Sermon, on the occasion.

EFFECTS OF THE STORM.

While the railroads were blocked up, and the land-lubbers were grumbling because of a little delay and inconvenience, the sailors on the coast were suffering real hardship and distress, and not a few lost their lives. Vessels were cast ashore on Cape Cod, in great numbers. Among them we notice, near Race Point,

Bark Elizabeth, (of Harrington) Stront, from Matanzas via Vineyard, for Boston, went ashore in the night. The Captain got ashore with his wife in the morning. She perished in his arms on the beach, and their little child, which was lashed in the rigging, froze to death. Sch. Mail, Cobb, from New York for Provincetown, was ashore at the same place; three men drowned and one saved. Capt. Skinner reports seeing a schooner, name unknown, go to pieces, and all hands perish.

Brig Boston, Laybold, from Halifax for Boston, with twenty two cabin passengers, eleven of them females. All the passengers and crew saved; state of vessel unknown. Sch. E. Bray, of Yarmouth, is a wreck; mate and steward drowned. Sch. "Witchwitch, from Florida for Boston," (so reported,) mate and seamen drowned.

The masts of a schooner are seen above water at Dennis, is supposed to have foundered at her anchors, with all on board.

Very extensive damage to wharves and vessels at and near Yarmouth, but no lives lost.

In Chatham, Mr. Abijah Crosby, a shoemaker, was at work at his bench, when he found his shop was floating off. He had just time to leave when the building went out to sea, with all his stock, and $20 in money in his desk. Loss about $300. Much damage was done to the Chatham wharves, particularly at the Old Harbor.

At the south the storm was not so severe; nevertheless we have the following bad accounts from Philadelphia:

The schooner wrecked off Cape May on December 23d proved to be from the east, with stone—name still unknown. From some clothing that floated ashore it is supposed that the captain had his wife and child on board. All perished, including Albert Fuller, pilot, of Southwark.

Cape Island, N. J., Dec. 29, 8 P. M.—The body of a sailor boy was washed ashore this morning, and no less than twenty lives have been lost from the two schooners wrecked in this vicinity during the late disastrous gale.

POLITICAL SCRAPS.

We look upon the perpetuation of democratic ascendency and a faithful and ardent support of the administration of Frank Pierce, as a sure guarantee of the rights of the south. So long as democratic principles can be kept in the ascendency, and the doctrines advocated by Frank Pierce cordially endorsed by all good men, both north and south, there will be no danger, and demagogues of all stripes can be frowned down by the people. These cowies of this ilk had their reign a few years ago, and came near severing the Union. Their day, however, is past, and the sober second democratic thought has returned to the people, and the conservative policy of Frank Pierce has taken their place.—Selma, Alabama, Sentinel.

Free States! Free States? Which are they?

A native reformer, named Ramaya Baba, has sprung up in India, who is creating much excitement by his preaching against idol worship and caste. In Mirzapore hundreds came out to see him, and the Rajah of Benares has given him land for a christian colony.

The speaker of the house of Representatives receives sixteen dollars a day, in addition to mileage, books, &c. His pay during six or seven months session, is about equal to that of a member of the Cabinet.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.

I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.
There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.
The genuine is near the color of cider, with a pecular taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.
Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.
Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

CONGRESS.

SATURDAY, Dec. 31.

HOUSE.—Mr. Hendricks asked leave of the House to present the proceedings of a meeting held at Indianapolis, calling the attention of Congress to the railroad disturbances at Erie. A debate ensued, and finally leave was refused, Mr. Richey of Pennsylvania, objecting.

Mr. Houston, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported a bill making appropriations for the support of the army, and a bill for the transportation of mails in ocean steamers for the ensuing fiscal year.

Mr. Bissell, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a joint resolution of thanks to Gen. Wool, for his brilliant conduct during the war with Mexico.

Mr. Bennett introduced a bill granting an equal quantity of lands to certain States, for the purpose of constructing railroads, and for the support of public schools. Mr. Jones, of Tennessee, moved to lay the bill on the table, and pending the motion the House adjourned until Tuesday next.

THE LATE RIOT. Cincinnati, Dec. 31.—All the Germans who were arrested last Sunday night have been acquitted, the prosecution being unable to make out a case against them. Public sympathy is now with the Germans, and the police are being denounced in unmeasured terms. From the evidence adduced at the trial, it appears that the conduct of the police was outrageous and unjustifiable.

SUDDEN DEATH.—At Newburyport, on Saturday morning about 10 o'clock, Mr. Philip Coombs, aged 74 years, suddenly fell dead, without any notice of approaching dissolution. Mr. C. had been in good health, and after eating his breakfast as usual, went out to shovel snow, and had but just returned at the time of his death. He was a merchant of the old school, and some years since had retired from business. He enjoyed an excellent character for morality and integrity, and leaves an extensive circle of connections and friends to mourn his loss.—Union.

The Journal of Commerce has accounts from Inagua, a small island near St. Domingo, reporting violent gales and heavy rains in that vicinity. Several vessels were driven high and dry upon the beach. The salt heaps were said to be nearly ruined, not more than 20,000 or 30,000 bushels being left, which was selling at 30 cents a bushel. The gale was also severe at Cape Hayti, St. Domingo, and Turks Island.

ESCAPE OF O'BRIEN—CUBAN SLAVE TRADE.—New York, Jan. 2.—The Limerick (Ireland) Chronicle states that Smith O'Brien has escaped from Van Dieman's Land in an American trading vessel.

The new Captain General of Cuba has issued a decree for suppressing the slave trade, and authorising as a substitute the introduction of free Indian laborers.

When French & Reed's mill was on fire at Pawtucket, John Bensley placed a long ladder in an adjoining building, ascended by it to the eighth story of the mill, and rescued two women who had no other means of escape. It was a daring deed, and a noble one.

The great eastern mail for Nashville, which was stolen on the morning of the 26th ult., has been found, and the thief captured. About $3200 and other valuables, together with all the letters, have been recovered. The offender's name is Graham.

The Newark Advertiser states that Stephen Spochynski, a Polish Roman Catholic clergyman, of Paterson, N. J., has been converted to Protestantism, and is addressing some able letters to his former congregation on the subject in the Paterson papers.

Mr. Lawrence, of the Erie Railroad Company, has offered to furnish rations for 250 men for six months, to encourage the regiment proposed to be raised in New York to assist the Turks.

Rev. Joseph P. Thomson of the Broadway Tabernacle, N. Y., has accepted an invitation to address the Society of Inquiry in Andover Theological Seminary at their next Anniversary.

KOSSUTH.—Mr. George N. Sanders, writing to the New York Herald, 10th, says that Kossuth has been invited to Constantinople by the Porte, and leaves in the steamer next week.

James Neal has been found guilty of firing a pistol at Mark E. Jose at Portland, with intent to kill. He is a son of John Neal, the author. We are not aware that he has been sentenced.

The English courts have decided that Trustees of Methodist meeting-houses have no right to refuse the use of the meeting-house to any preacher sent by the Conference.

Rev. Levi. W. Leonard, D. D., who for the last thirty years has been pastor of the First Congregational Society in Dublin, has removed thence to Exeter.

A cow died in Oxford, Maine, and a post mortem examination revealed a darning needle in her heart. She had swallowed it with apple-parings.

The Queen of England has conferred a pension of £50 per annum upon Mrs. Glen, the widow of Dr. Glen, the Translator of the Persian Bible.

During the thirty-one years Boston has been a city, there have been thirteen elections when there was no choice of Mayor.

The Methodist meeting-house, a mile from Kennebunk village, was burned to the ground a few nights since.

The number of operatives on strikes in England is 70,000, and the prices of labor are as much per hour as in this country.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—Six inches of snow fell last night. Sleighing good and it is well improved.

Near Richmond, Va., on Tuesday, Alexander Bradley was killed by four men, two of whom were arrested.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies;
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Is just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2awly

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE,

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR,—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superfluous hair, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and of course increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers it unnecessary, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

MORNING CHRONICLE

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1854. VOLUME 3. NO. 133.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE
is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

MR. BAYARD TAYLOR, of the New York Tribune, is preparing a course of lectures embracing the main points of interest in his late travels in the East. Some of our readers may be aware that Bayard Taylor was a printer, who nine or ten years ago, in company with a cousin, made the tour of Europe afoot. While in Europe he supported himself by writing letters for a Philadelphia paper. The result of his travels was "Views Afoot," one of the most popular books of travel ever issued from the New York Press. We next find him the City Editor of the Tribune. Again California, and Mexico furnish matter for his facile pen, and pleasure to his numerous admirers.

Mr. Taylor has, during his last tour, visited most of the noted parts of the East, and has penetrated further into the coast of Africa than any other European traveller; he came home rich in fruits of extensive travel and intercourse with nearly every people on the globe.

We saw Mr. Taylor's return to the Tribune Office. The telegraphic dispatch announcing the arrival of the Sea Serpent was about being sent up into the composing room for the Evening Edition, and the editors and reporters were gathered in groups, discussing the probable change in Bayard's personal appearance, after an absence of two years and four months in the topics, when a young man, attired in the uniform of a master's mate, stepped into the room, and slapped Ripley on the back. That gentleman—the literary editor—amazed at so rude an assault, turned his spectacled eyes upon the new-comer. "Is that you; why how-are you, old fellow." And then ensued such a shouting and crowding, and welcoming as is rarely witnessed in the Greeley sanctum.

Mr. Taylor is a fine-looking man, six feet in height; his eyes and hair are a light brown; his beard and mustache are of a similar color. His age is about 29, and he looks every inch the gentleman and the poet.

The cause of Mr. Taylor's late tour was the death of a beautiful woman, to whom he had pledged his troth. Consumption, however, robbed him of a loved companion, and gave Heaven another angel. A few days before her death they were married, and when her remains were laid beneath the wild flowers, he set out for the East, with her last sigh still fanning his cheek. His course has since been one of uninterrupted success, and his mission eminently prosperous. Doubtless his heaven-wife has hovered over his pathway, cheered his saddened spirit, and smoothed his rugged way. Mr. Taylor, although widely known as a writer, will achieve still greater renown as a lecturer, and it is not too much to predict that the young author will leave a name that his country may be proud to honor.—Lowell News.

A HARD TICKET.—Yesterday City Marshal Jones, of Augusta, Me., arrived in this city with a requisition for Edgar M. Warren alias Samuel M. Whelpley, charged with escaping from the Insane Hospital at Augusta, and the theft of a horse, carriage, harness and robe. His arrest here has previously been noticed by us. Whelpley is decidedly a hard case—a whelp without the termination of the 'lev.' He belongs in Walcott, N. Y., served in the Mexican war, and was arrested some time ago for robbery at Harpswell, Me.—Whelpley was taken with his plunder in a boat, heavily armed and fast asleep. He plead insanity, and got off by going to the Insane Hospital. The account of his subsequent escape some weeks ago, and the cool letter to the Superintendent of the institution, have travelled all over the Union. He told the Augusta Marshal, that he had no objections to returning with him provided he shouldn't be sent back to the hospital. Marshal Jones assured him upon his honor that this time he should go to the state prison.—Lowell Herald.

A FEW SPANISH FACTS.

Like a camp follower, Spain lags behind the march of progress, yet is on the march. From a German work on the present condition of the Peninsula, we gather a few facts.

No census has been taken of the Spanish population since 1788. Then the population was ten and a half millions; now it is computed by our author to be about thirteen millions—seventy to the square mile. Of this number, one million two hundred and twenty one thousand can read and write; six hundred thousand more can read, but not write—"a low portion, which the government is now trying to raise." There are ten universities in Spain, ten normal schools, twenty eight normal elementary schools, seventeen thousand boy's schools, five thousand girls' schools, two hundred and ninety-seven infant schools, and the whole number of pupils in all these is eight hundred and sixty nine thousand.—The system of education is founded on that of French. A property qualification alone entitles a man to vote; but, only half as much property confers the privilege of voting on an artist, a doctor a lawyer, a teacher, or a servant of the State, as is required to qualify any other persons! In 1850, there were thirty-two thousand six hundred persons in the Spanish prisons and galleys, of whom nearly three thousand were women. The prisons are generally not well conducted; but theres are a few which are worthy to be model establishments, owing to the humane exertions of a Spanish Howard, by the name of Monterinos. One great obstacle to improvement in Spain, is the diversity to the local customs, and the jealous tenacity with which the people cling to them. For example, the government has for sometime been endeavoring to make the weights and measures uniform throughout the country, but so far, with little success. The Museum of Art and Manufactures at Madrid contains specimens of all the measures used in the various districts; jars, cans, bottles, canisters, pipkins, with long long necks and short, slender and pot-bellied, great and small. In some places there is no fixed measures at all; and in gauging quantities they go by the advice of expert farmers, or by rough estimates. The measures for wheat are of every shape and kind; not only do those in the town differ from those in the country, but also in the same communities as many as two or three dissimilar wheat measures are used indiscriminately. Many families possess peculiar measures of their own, which pass current with the rest in sales and purchases in open market. And to all these measures the people persist in adhering. The army of Spain consists of one hundred and one thousand men, and the annual expense of maintaining it is little more than five millions of dollars—fifty dollars a man. The navy consists of about sixty vessels, of which twenty-two are steamers. The industry of the nation is 'protected' by a high tariff, and consequently it is "visibly improving;" yet Spain does not produce more than one-third of the manufactured articles required for her annual consumption. The pressing wants of Spain are good roads, canals for traffic and irrigation, and the removal of obstructions from the beds of the rivers. The mountainous surface of the country places an obstacle in the way of an extensive railway system, which will probably remain long insuperable. A vast emigration of Spaniards to Algeria has been going on for some time.

Upon the whole, as we have hinted above, Spain is slowly waking up from the lethargy of centuries, and may be expected to arrive at the Good Time Coming, sometime after the rest of the world has become used to it.—Home Journal.

The Washington writers state that the President will send in the nomination of Redfield, for collector of New York, during the first part of January. The vote on this confirmation will test the strength of the bards in the Senate, and perhaps foreshadow other events.

Two families in the Rev. H. Wilkins' church, (Congregational) Montreal, have given each 1000 copies of the Testament for distribution in China. The rest of the congregation gave the money for 8000 more. A handsome collection for the same object had been just previously made.

Miss Rosa Douglass, daughter of the lady who was recently found guilty of teaching negroes to read and write, in Norfolk, having voluntarily returned from New York, appeared before the mayor last Thursday, and was held to bail in the sum of $500 for her appearance at the next term of the Superior Court

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 4, 1854.

VERMONT.—We mentioned, some days ago, that in Vermont, a bill to repeal the liquor law passed the lower house, but was lost in the Senate, and the law therefore stands, and will continue to do so. We were somewhat puzzled to understand how it was that a major part of the people of Vermont should vote for a law; and then the same people choose Representatives to repeal it; which repeal should be vetoed by the aristocratic branch, viz., the Senate.

But it turns out that we were in error. The Portland Journal tells us that the members of the House of Representatives in that State do not represent population, but towns; that is, every town and city, large or small, has one representative, while the Senate represents population. Thus, in Vermont, the Senate is the popular body, and the House represents town corporations.

Seventy-four small towns with a population of 32,000, have seventy-four representatives, while nine large towns with 33,000 inhabitants have but nine representatives; and in these small towns and plantations, some of them having no more than from twenty to fifty votes, a trader or some other managing man can easily get himself or a friend elected, and thus create an apparent, but not a real public opinion, to be shown off in the House. Something like this was done at the election last year.

SHOEMAKING.—A writer in a paper in one of the Shoe towns, says one cutter can keep 50 women binding and 50 men bottoming and soleing Shoes. The same writer says that shoe making is one of the most unhealthy employments in the country, and that if a more pale, sickly set of men can be brought together out of one trade than another, it is shoemakers. It has often been noticed by the writer, as journeymen bring in their work, what a round shouldered, flat breasted, consumptive set of men they are "as a class."

We cannot see exactly why a shoemaker should be more unhealthy than workmen at any other shop trade. There are standing benches, where shoes can be pegged as fast as they can be in any way, and by having a high chair, the workmen may stand and sit, interchangeably. Shoes that are sewed, do not belong in this class, and we believe nearly all the men who make them, sit on low benches; though we do not see why this need be. The upright posture, and frequent changes of posture, are favorable to health.

One great cause of their unhealthy appearance, is the fact that, as a general rule, shoemakers work in large numbers in close rooms, where many of the men smoke pipes or cigars, and thus render the air, which would not be sufficient to supply each man with the necessary amount of oxygen,—doubly poisonous to all who breathe it. In seventy shops out of a hundred, if there were but half the number of seats, there would still be too many for health, unless the rooms were ventilated very thoroughly. The matter of ventilation is worthy of more thought and care than is commonly bestowed upon it, even in an economical point of view, aside from health and comfort.

THE WEEDS.—The family of Weed, who settled at Stamford, Conn., in 1650, were French Huguenots. The Albany Evening Journal says:

"At Cincinnati, however, our cousin produced a letter from a clergyman rejoicing in the name of Weed, whose researches had gone back to the root of our genealogical tree.—Three brothers, he says, reached this country in 1650, first making "a lodge in this vast wilderness" at Stamford. They were French Huguenots, and had been driven out on account of their religion, going first to Holland and from thence coming to America. The name was rather "De Grasse," or "Grass;" which, by a free translation into English, became "Weed."

It would be an interesting topic for some genealogist to ascertain at what precise point of distinction this family forfeited the honorable name of Grasse and went down to that of Weed. It would show, too, how many of them are now entitled to the old surname. As for Thurlow, of the Albany Journal, we should certainly have no hesitation in telling him to "go to Grasse" again.

THREE CHEERS.—We gave a hurrah, in the "little horn," when we got the first mail from Boston after the storm. But they had a louder cheer in Salem, of which the Salem Gazette says,

The alarm of fire, in this city, on Saturday evening, was occasioned by some cheers, given at the Eastern Railroad Station, on the safe arrival of a train.

☞ The little paragraphs in the papers, about the Rev. Gardner Dean, of New Bedford, have done him great injustice. We intend, as the best means of correcting the error, to publish his own account of the matter to-morrow.

THE GOSPEL ENTERPRISE.—The New York Times, of Saturday, contains a card from John Perham, contradicting the report that he has been arrested. He says that no action has been taken in that direction.

AN "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" AMONG THE SINGING BOOKS.—The Shawm, a Library of Church Music, (as it is termed,) by Messrs. Bradbury and Root, assisted by Messrs. Hastings and T. B. Mason, is having a sale, we are informed, quite as wonderful in its way as was that of Mrs. Stowe's far-famed work.—Scarcely four months have elapsed since its first publication, and yet the almost incredible number of forty-eight thousand copies have already been printed, while the demand shows no signs of diminution. This sale is vastly greater than any other similar work ever had in the same time.—N. Y. Evangelist.

There are good reasons for this great sale. Bradbury and Root are two successful teachers of music, now actively engaged; and their aids, Mason and Hastings, enjoy a wide popularity, east and west, as veteran teachers composers and performers. The book itself contains, by dint of crowded printing, about one thousand pieces or tunes, within 352 pages, and at a moderate price.

A rapid glance through its contents, shows that the most of these tunes and pieces are so arranged as to be available for use in almost any respectable choir; and much of the music is of a pleasant and popular cast. It is destined to great success.

☞ The lively and excellent evening Boston Transcript, comes out in a new dress, and is slightly enlarged. Next July the price is to be raised to $5 per annum. It is well worth the money. The paper on which it is printed, has been furnished by one maker for 21 successive years.

☞ The Boston Chronicle, established specially to oppose and break down the liquor law, has always contained a good variety of general and local news, and other matters of interest, and has been conducted with much ability. It was enlarged at the beginning of this year. We consider it first rate authority in all matters of fact relating to liquor and liquor laws.

SINGULAR ESCAPE OF CONVICTS.—The Bombay Times of Nov. 14, gives the following account of an adroit manœuvre of the convicts in the jail at Rangoon, who marched out of Prison before the eyes of their guards:

About sunset the convicts seized upon the muskets of the Sepoys, which were piled; and having possessed themselves of the weapons, quietly walked out of the jail, to the considerable astonishment of the guard, who saw their muskets with bayonets fixed, carried off before their eyes. The convicts made, half of them, for the river side, and half for an old burial ground, and although heavily ironed, made such good way that the Line Guards, who by this time had turned out in pursuit, could not head them, particularly as the convicts took a narrow road lying between two swamps, more than knee deep in mud. In this state of things the guards had nothing for it but to fire at the mutineers as they were seen running away, and the Peons and Chubrassies cut down all they came up with. The result was, that out of about 132 prisoners, 13 were killed, 43 wounded severely, 15 got clear away, and the remainder were recaptured. So severe were the wounds inflicted, that it is said all the doctors in the place were employed the whole of the next day in taking off legs and arms.

"Divers shrewd opinions are ventured now-a-days, that owing to the immense influx of Hibernians this country is to be taken by the Irish, as Holland has been on one or two occasions by the Dutch. This is all moonshine. For every two Irishmen who land upon our shores, comes one Dutchman with phlegm enough to neutralize the 'rim' of a whole county of Tipperary boys; and so strongly, sleepily Protestant, as to defy the blandishments of a whole college of Jesuits; for you might as well try to convert Professor Bowen to liberal views as to make a proselyte of a Dutchman to any creed smacking of Catholicism."

A GUESS.—The Boston Chronicle says,

We have no doubt that Mr. Sidney Webster, the President's private Secretary, would know how the New York papers, the Boston Post and the New Hampshire Patriot, came by copies of the Message, in advance, and in season to have them put in type on Sunday.

THE LAW IN MICHIGAN.—The great objection to a stringent Maine Law is receiving a prompt answer. The moral power of the people is triumphant. In this city most of the liquor establishments closed voluntarily. In a few cases of tardiness, prosecutions were promptly made. There is not now an open grog shop in the city of the Straits. So far as we hear, there has been no attempt to resist the execution of the law. We have heard of some dealers who are preparing to leave the State in disgust at so strange a proceeding.—Michigan Advocate.

A NEW AND STRANGE PROCEEDING.—We learn, (says the Boston Chronicle,) that on Saturday an action was commenced against a mercantile house in this city to recover the sum of $3,700, alleged to have been paid by the plaintiff, in the purchase of liquors, on the ground that the transaction was in violation of the "Maine Law." As the firm refused to give bonds, a deputy sheriff took possession of the store, and at the present writing is in keeping of it. This proceeding is under the supposed shield of the LAW, and cannot fail to lead to reflection on the part of merchants and others.

Although these proceedings are had for an alleged violation of one of the provisions of the Maine Law, they do not originate with an advocate of that statute, and are not a Maine Law "movement." The complainant is himself a dealer in liquor—and the motives of his conduct are left to the surmise or judgment of the reader.

LOCAL.

MECHANICS' LYCEUM.—At the Temple on Tuesday evening, George Sumner of Boston gave us a very able political and philosophical lecture on France; in which he vindicated the French people from the charge of unnecessary revolutions or causeless changes, by showing that no government has fallen there since the days of Louis XV. that did not deserve to fall; and also by showing, that in consequence of each of the three revolutions made by the people of that country within that period, a substantial gain has been realized in liberty, property and government. The orator analyzed and described the three political parties of France, Royalists, Republicans and Burgeoise, the latter being the conservative interest of trade and thrift: and showed their operation in the various movements for reform, or intrigues for power.

He was very happy in his comparative view of the atrocities of the reign of terror, when in two years the French Revolutionists executed 18,000 people,—and the sacking of Warsaw, at the same time, where in two days the royal robbers slew a much larger number.

He gave the revolution of 1848 the credit of building 3000 school houses all over France; of introducing a more equal taxation; and of the universal suffrage, which though it may be but a farce in voting for the emperor, is a valuable feature when every peasant votes for his local magistrates once a year.

His whole view of French History, politics and prospects, was, mainly, liberal and hopeful;—and the moral, drawn for ourselves was, substantially, that moderate and constant reform and improvement, make revolution unnecessary. He might have added, that such a course would render it almost impossible.

The voice, elocution and action of the orator, were all in good keeping with his subject—and the lecture as a whole, must be classed among the best.

The lecture on next Tuesday evening, is to be by Wendell Phillips, on the Lost Arts.

☞ The fine ship Cœur de Leon was launched yesterday, according to announcement, in the most beautiful style. On account of the cold weather there was not a very large attendance to witness the interesting event.

In the evening, by invitation of Captain Tucker, the mechanics, and all others interested in the building of the vessel, together with invited guests, partook of an excellent supper at the City Hotel. A very agreeable hour was spent in the discussion of the matter, and the company dispersed, fully satisfied that the captain, like the ship, was A 1.

THE TURKS DEMOCRATIC.—By a natural though unexpected consequence, whilst the religious dogma of the Koran tends to deism, that is to say, to the very negation of dogma, it leads, with regard to morals and politics, to doctrines the most liberal and progressive. Every principle of our modern democracies is therein contained, not only in germ, but expressed in the most formal manner. A Turk having had explained to him the meaning of the words liberte, egalite, fraternite, stamped upon one of our coins, Allah kerim, "God is great!" cried he. "That which the infidels write upon gold and silver coins, God has written in the heart of every true Mussulman."—Urbicini's Letters on Turkey.

ITEMS FROM PARIS.—Le Verrier, the great astronomer, predicts that we shall discover an immense number of Asteroids yet. He calculates the total amount of the matter constituting the small planets not to exceed about a fourth of the mass of the earth.

French chemists condemn the practice of making bread too white. They say the exclusion of bran is a loss of nourishment—and it is a perfect absurdity to deny the whole system for the sake of gratifying the eye. We have no doubt they are right.

The receipts of the Parisian theatres and other places of resort for the month of November, amounted to one million two hundred and forty-seven thousand francs. Wonder if the money bestowed on religious, charitable and educational objects combined, amounted to that sum.

Prentice, of the Louisville Journal thus closes a beautiful tribute to the memory of his late partner, Mr. Thomas H. Shreve, assistant Editor of the Journal, whose demise the telegraph recorded, a few days since:

"We, the surviving editor of the Journal, feel that the prime of life is scarcely yet gone; yet, as we look back upon our long career in this city, we seem to behold, near and far, only the graves of the prized and the lost. All the numerous journeymen and apprentices that were in our employ when we first commenced publishing our paper are dead, our first partner, our second partner and our third are dead, our first assistant and our last assistant are also dead. When these memories come over us, we feel like one alone at midnight, in the midst of a church-yard, with the winds sighing mournfully around him through the broken tombs, and the voices of the ghosts of departed joys sounding dolefully in his ears. Our prayer to God is that such memories may have a chastening and purifying and elevating influence upon us, and fit us to discharge, better than we have ever yet done, our duties to earth and to heaven.

SUDDEN DEATH.—James Hartigan, printer, 45 years of age, died suddenly on Monday at his residence in Sturgis place, Boston. One of his children was sick with the measles, and his wife went out to get some medicine; on her return, she found her husband lying dead upon the bed, and the head of the sick child lying upon his arm.

The Rev. Jacob W. Cooper, the Groton clergyman, who was recently arrested at Lowell for breach of promise to two different girls, has compounded the matter by marrying one of them, Miss Fletcher.

WEIGHT OF OUR BABY.—The California papers adopt the English custom of publishing births, and add a truly American or Yankee peculiarity, by giving the weight of the young citizen.

The Keensville Republican states that teams cross Lake Champlain south of Chimney Point, upon the ice. The lake is there about half a mile wide.

Louis Napoleon appears to have a sentimental penchant for showing the Empress the various prisons in which he has been immured.

Never marry a fop, or one who struts about dandy-like, in his silk gloves and ruffles, with silvered cane, and rings on his fingers. Beware! there is a trap.

It is estimated that seven-eighths of the infants who are reared by dry nursing, in London, die in infancy.

The whole number of deaths in Dover in 1853, was 165—of which 78 were under 20 years of age. In 1852 the number was 144.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.

I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.

There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.

The genuine is near the color of cider, with a pecular taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.

Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.

Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

MORE MARINE DISASTERS.

A telegraphic despatch from Providence, R. I. Jan. 7, notices the arrival there of sch. Ann Susan (of New York), Myers, from Mobile. On the 24th ult., lat. 34, lon. 73, spoke brig George Washington, from Wilmington, N. C., for Portsmouth, having sprung a leak the day before. Lay by her 24 hours, when the captain of the brig succeeded in freeing her of water. On the 26th, Capt. M. states that he experienced a violent gale of wind, which he fears must have been disastrous to the brig.

The sch. Moselle, of Wellfleet, Capt. Dayton, from Boston for Virginia, was wrecked on Sunday night on Brenton reef, off Newport. All hands lost. One body has drifted ashore.

☞ We are informed by Jackson & Co.'s Express that a despatch was received in Boston yesterday afternoon, after the publication of the evening papers, that the ship Staffordshire had been wrecked on Cape Sable, during the late storm, and 177 lives lost.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The weather is fine to-day and business generally suspended.—President's house was thronged beyond all precedent, and citizens generally interchanged calls. Sleigh bells were ringing merrily.—The first number of the daily National Era has been issued. It is a neatly printed and readable journal, about the size of the other Washington dailies. The Weekly Era will be enlarged this week.

The friends of the Rev. Mr. Sunderland, the pastor of the Four and a half street Presbyterian Church, presented him with a New Year's gift of a policy of Life Insurance for 5,000 dollars.

OUTRAGE.—On Sunday afternoon, Mr. W. M. H. Copeland, a police officer of Salem, while on duty in Carltonville, was violently assaulted by two Irishmen, named Shannon and Mahoney. They had in their possession the handle of a clam digger; he was struck two or three very severe blows upon the head with that cudgel, was knocked down, jumped upon, and otherwise seriously injured by the assailants. They had been around town the same afternoon and, as we are informed, had broken several fences with the club, and also demolished a light waggon belonging to Dan'l Abbott. Mr. Copeland is a very active, energetic and ready officer. At first his physician thought him in a very critical condition, but at last accounts, although he was not able to move, strong hopes were entertained for his recovery. Shannon and Mahoney were immediately arrested by the chief of the Police, and were on Monday bound over to the next term of the C. C. P. in January, in the sum of $10,000, by the Judge of the Police Court. —Salem Gazette.

SUICIDE.—An Irishman named James Marten living near the upper end of Congress street, yesterday at 5 o'clock P. M. put an end to his own existence by discharging a bullet from a gun through his head. Coroner Norton was called to hold an inquest, and sum moning a jury, went to the house of the deceased. All the information relative to the dreadful affair that they could obtain was from a daughter of the man, aged about ten years. It was to the following effect:

The wife of deceased was confined on Thursday night; the occasion was made one of usual hilarity and drunkenness. The husband was still under the influence of the drunken revel, when, at the time previously stated, he went to his wife's bed, kissed her, then seized a gun and rushed into the entry. The daughter, with fearful suspicions awakened, ran after him, and succeeded in getting the gun away from him. But he wrested it from her grasp, and quick as thought had discharged it full at his head, the ballet entering at his cheek, turning the eye from its socket, and passing through the skull. The deed was done. The husband and the father, lay a weltering corpse by his own hand, in his own dwelling—a victim of rum!—Portland Advertiser, Dec. 31.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Mr. Abraham Pittsley, of North Fairhaven, was frozen to death in the woods near Slab Bridge, in Freetown, on Friday night last. He had been cutting wood in the forest for several days previous, and lodging in a cabin. On Friday night he started for home, and it is supposed, was overcome by the intense cold. His friends, at home, supposed he was at his work, and made no search for him until Sunday, when he was found as above stated. His age was about 60 years.—New Bedford Standard.

COUNTERFEITERS ARRESTED.—Two men named Abel G. Rankins and John H. Goddard, were arrested in Bath, Me., on the 25th ult., for passing counterfeit money. They had in their possession about one hundred and fifty dollars of counterfeit money, in bills on the Fall River, White River and Montpelier Banks.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 2.—A boiler in the establishment of Chas. C. Reinhart, surgical instrument maker, exploded this morning, injuring six workmen badly. The roof was blown off and building greatly shattered. We have no mail to-day beyond Washington.

The trial of Adaline Phelps, on a charge of having murdered her father by poison, was concluded at Greenfield on Friday morning. The Jury were out all night, and came in in the morning, unable to agree. After further instruction from the Court, they retired and came in about 10 o'clock, with a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Dr. Cornell, in his introductory lecture lately delivered to the class of the New England Female Medical College, urged the utility of medical education on the part of missionaries to the heathen, and pertinently cited the advantages enjoyed in this respect by Grant, with his cataract needle; Dr. Parker, with his scalpel, and Gutzlaff, with his medicine chest,—finding admission to rude barbarians, through passes guarded by armies.

An English widow lady, residing at Plainfield, (N. J.) and who has been in indigent circumstances, last week received intelligence from England, that a deceased relative has left her property and valuables worth $1,000,000.

POLICE REPORT.

One Christopher Twist,
Ordered Hannah McCrist
To stand still and be kissed.
But Hannah gave out
Such a deuce of a shout,
At what Twist was about,
That a watchman named Top,
Came up with a hop,
And marched Twist to the shop.
Being brought to the Squire,
And Hannah not there,
To the kissing to swear,
Twist was cleared by the chair,
And made tracks like a hare.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Is just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by improdence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. T. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. T. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2awly

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered by inventors or others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the without delay through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most faithful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervaded the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 960,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d & w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 40,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 246 Greenwich street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub lic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

Mr. French, Mayor of New Bedford:

Dear Sir:—Two weeks ago this day, after taking tea at the house of Mr. William Willcox, in company with Eld. J. Taylor, I started to go to the Allen Street Church, to meeting, and to tarry for the night at Mr. Davis's, on Bedford street—but when below Mr. Arnold's on County street, a one or two horse covered waggon stopped as it overtook me, and a common sized man told me Mr. Barjona Tripp was at the point of death, and I must come immediately, by his request. I hesitated, on the ground that there might be foul play, and he said you know this man, pointing into the back part of the waggon, getting out as though he saw something wrong about the harness. As it was very light, good moon, I ventured to look into the waggon, and as I did, one of the two gentlemen, (as I then supposed they were,) cordially reached his hand, and said, "I'm glad to see you," and held me by the hand, pulling me in, and by the aid of the man or friend in the rear, or that got out, I was thrust into the waggon, and in a moment was smothered nearly to suffocation. The first voice I heard after that was in sound like speaking through a horn, telling me I might breathe, but if I screamed or made any noise, I should be choked to death. An hour passed away, I should think, without another word being spoken, except "drive like hell." Soon after this, I was blind-folded, and the waggon stopped, and I should think I walked half a mile, as I was led by one of them. As we stopped, they disrobed me of all my apparel, and as I was very cold, I thought they intended to freeze me. I then prayed a few words aloud for a composed mind to meet death, and for my children, and for them. One spoke through a horn or trumpet and forbid my praying. I then gave the hailing sign of distress, and also the sign of an Odd-Fellow, and entreated them in the most tender manner I was capable of, to spare my life.

When I asked what they meant, or what they had against me, one said I was not fit to live and that was enough, and he told the others not to answer any questions; one of them then handed me some drink, liquor, and what more I cannot tell. As I refused, they loosed the bandage, so I could just see a revolver and a large dirk-knife. I had my choice to drink or die. I drank and soon felt a little sick and dizzy; they then ordered me to put on my clothes, and they helped me. I then spoke and asked them if they did not see two persons when they pulled me into the wagon?—No, was the reply. I concealed the fact, they were almost out of sight.

They took all from me except eight dollars and my pocket book, keys and pencil. I had ninety dollars with me; they robbed me of eighty-two, just about as much as I received of Rev. S. H. Morse, the day before I left the West, as I sold him two notes to that amount. They were deceived—they thought I had more money, and ordered me to stand still, if I did not I should be shot. They then went away a short distance, and talked so low I could not hear a word clearly, I should think they talked a half hour, and told me when they came back that they had agreed if I would change my name and occupation, and write letters indicating that I ran away, and never tell or hint or insinuate the doings of that night, I might live. I did not know, for joy, what to say, only to promise unequivocally to all, and I do not know as I then felt that I should deceive them. They then went through a solemn form swearing each other to do all in their power to take my life, if they hunted me by eaves-dropping, if I ever broke my word. They then brought me paper, ink, and a small board, looked like a lid took up from under the cushions of the wagon. They asked me if any one owed me money. I told them that Rev. S. H. Morse had a collection of fifteen dollars for me, and he lived about 12 miles from my children in the West.

They ordered me to write. I did, and addressed George Ellis, M. D., Springfield X Roads, Pennsylvania. They told me to write to some relative. I did to Bro. Willard Tripp of Taunton, and I think one more to New Bedford, to Esquire Gifford or Rev. J. Taylor, or both. These I promised to mail at Albany a week from that time, and write one a week from that time in presence of the Express Company, for my things to be sent to Albany, which I did; and a letter to the Postmaster of New Bedford directing my letters to Albany. They then wrote a long time, as they said, and made me promise on the peril of my life, not to look at them to see who they were directed to. There were two letters tied together, with the inscriptions inside as they were tied. In one week and one day I promised to mail them at Albany, and did. Then I was to leave to chop wood this winter and to work on a farm in the summer.

As I went from place to place, before I got work, I was to change my name, and never let it be known that I ever preached, lectured or taught school. All they said was through a trumpet, except when I was pulled into the wagon. I hope all three, before this time, are arrested. If they are not, death may soon be my portion. I was forbid the privilege of ever having my trunk or letters. I now think I shall go to Albany and get Rev. J. Hazen to go with me to the Express office, but I don't know, I feel better to die with my friends knowing what has become of me, than to keep the promises I made that night through fear of death. I am at the house of Mr. Wm. Haven, he and his folks are very kind to me, and I did not till last night let them know my real name and occupation, but as the excitement in my mind has some abated, I believed it my duty to disregard those promises I made to save my life. A gentleman told me he read in the paper that you had offered a reward for any one that would find me. I thank you for this, and want you to write to me to Schenectady whether it will be safe for me to come to New Bedford.

If I had injured any one of your city, or sought to, then I might write bitter things against myself, and feel I was served right; but instead of that I sought daily to do good, not only in public but from house to house.—I am some surprised that the promises I made that night in connection with the fear that they would execute their threats should keep me silent so long; not till last eve did I tell my name to any one. I wanted much to see the men or fiends after they took the bandage from my eyes, but I was told if I looked back it would be death; the one that took the bandage off stood back of me and ordered me to go straight forward till I came to the oad, and then turn to the right. I did with speed, and by going two or three miles I came, much to my surprise, at Assonet village. Here I was much inclined to stop and tell how I had been treated, and the next thought was the penalty will be death, and I hastened on, beginning again to feel sick. I went as fast as I could, and near Apollos and Levi Dean's I failed for a while, but after vomiting freely I felt better, and started again, looking down over the moon-light plains of my boyhood silently bidding them a long farewell. Oh, what a moment was this, the recollections of the past, and the scenes just past were overpowering. I passed your father's, and on through Taunton by day-light. Oh, how I wanted to stop and see Willard and Rhoda, but I could not. I got carried a few miles before I got to Providence, and then I took the cars. I assumed the air and gait of a man that would look with contempt on preaching, and changed my name. I came to this town last week, and went to chopping, and as I wished to tell my real name, and write and let my friends know where I was. The promises I made that night would rush over my mind, and then I thought I should be sorry, as I was when I burned two letters they made me write, one to the west for the money, and the other to Esquire Gifford—both of these I wrote again at Albany as near as I could, as they made me write them, with the exception of the inquiry "how I got out of the city." This morning two or three claim me to carry me back to New Bedford, to get the reward, but I refused to go. I don't want any money spent in this way, but hope it will be spent freely in the enforcement of the liquor law. Further, I think I should be murdered the first night I should attempt to step in New Bedford. When I was in their power in the woods, they spoke the name of one person of New Bedford, and it was in this way: "What did you insult Mrs. Kent for, d—m you." I replied I did not and never thought of such a thing, she is a friend of mine. "So is the devil your friend, ask a man at the Post-office if Mrs. Kent is your friend?" was the reply, and then one of them demurred at such d—m nonsense, as he called it, and that ended the talk for ten minutes, I should think.

I now start to go to Albany with Mr. Haver and another gentleman, to learn something of my things, and if it will be best for me to go west or what to do. Those three ruffians swore by all the solemnities that could enter the mind, that they would individually take my life before I could possibly be in New Bedford 24 hours.

I feel to thank God that I am alive, and I want to trust fully in Him who is the wise disposer of all events, and at the same time I do not wish to be rash and throw myself into the arms of destruction.

I am some unwell, and that must be my apology for such poor writing. I send my respects to your family, and all my friends, I don't forget them. Respectfully yours,

GARDNER DEAN.

HON. RODNEY FRENCH, New Bedford, Mass.

P. S. I heartily thank you for your trouble, I see by a paper brought here last eve, that you have been to much trouble for me; do write immediately on the reception of this to Schenectady. If I stop all night at Albany, since I have told my name and how I was brought off, I shall be murdered.

LOWELL SCHOOLS.

Some unknown friend has forwarded to us the 28th Annual Report of the School Committee of the City of Lowell. The Report is a business document without flourishes.—Early in the year, the committee adopted a uniform system of writing, using Payson & Dunton's Engraved Copies, to the exclusion of all others, and think they have saved time and money, while they have greatly improved the style of writing in most of the schools.

There is one High School, containing 400 schollars; ten Grammar Schools, containing 3033; four Intermediate, containing 6 83; and forty-nine Primary Schools, containing 4678 Scholars. Total 8794.

The High School has seven teachers and assistants; the Grammar Schools one teacher and commonly three assistants; the Intermediate one female teacher and commonly one assistant; and the Primaries one female teacher each.

Considerable attention is paid, in the report, to sectarian schools, which are denounced as evil. At the instigation, doubtless, of their "ghostly fathers," all the girls had been withdrawn from some of the city schools, and placed in a Roman Catholic school, where "the avowed object being the 'teaching of religion,' we have no evidence that they go much beyond this."

The Committee say,

It is found that children who have been taken from our public schools, and after a while allowed to return, have been unable to sustain an examination in the same studies with which they seemed to be familiar when they left. Instead of an advancement, there has been a retrogression, showing that while the distinctive sentiments of this or that church is taught, solid acquirements in reading, spelling and arithmetic are neglected. This is the testimony of teachers in our own, as well as other cities, and is conclusive proof against any departure from our present school system.

There is in Massachusetts a law, something like one in this State, requiring all children who work in factories, to have a certain portion of schooling, in Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, &c.,—but the Lowell Committee say,

If it be affirmed that sectarian schools answer this great purpose, it is said in reply, that all proof is wanting, since the teachers of these schools refuse even to sign a certificate or subscribe to an oath, that the above-mentioned studies have been pursued, and the children who come out from them being unable to bear an examination in any of those branches.

This subject is deemed worthy of presentation at this time, from the fact that it is a theme which is absorbing the minds and engrossing the attention of other cities and states, and one which demands a full and fair investigation. The day which dawns on the destruction of free Public Schools in which the children of all sects can meet and pursue their studies on one common level, will be darker than any we have yet seen, and every true patriot and lover of his country should be ready to stand forth to defend this great safeguard of public virtue, civil equality, and private peace, from any and all assaults which may be made upon it.

Your Committee do not argue that the principles of this or that creed should be taught or even that prayer should be offered, or the Bible read in our Public Schools. These points belong entirely to another discussion. But it is intended that all sectarianism should be kept out of our schools as they now exist, and that the present system be preserved against the inroads of those persons who would blot it out, and build upon its ruins a system of sectarian parochial schools, the tendency of which would be to foster bitterness, engender strife, and break down the bulwark which our anti-sectarian free schools have reared around the education of our youth, and the liberties of all.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

New Orleans despatches and papers notice the arrival at that port on the 2d of Jan., of the steamer United States, from Aspinwall on the 27th.

She was detained 13 days awaiting the steamer Winfield Scott. She reports that the steamer Illinois, with the mails and treasure, sailed for New York on the evening of the 26th. The Illinois had 350 passengers, and $1,250,000 in gold. She reports the steamer Pearl, bound to New Orleans, sunk in the Mississippi, on Saturday night, when 18 lives were supposed to be lost. She had a cargo of sugar.

The total treasure shipped on board the California which sailed for Panama, was $1,167,000, including the amount transferred from the Winfield Scott. Principal shippers on the California are Page, Bacon & Co., $188,000; Wells, Fargo & Co., $80,000; Adams & Co., $80,000.

Mining accounts were favorable. The Utah Indians were committing depredations on the southern parts of the State.

The market since the sailing of the last steamer had been quite active, and purchases for the interior quite heavy. Rates generally remained unchanged. Rio coffee was jobbing at 25 cents. All descriptions of Eastern lumber were dull and drooping.

MILLINER.—Milan was once the seat of fashion for all Europe. Hence our word Milliner.

☞ The Whig Committee or Convention of Boston, have nominated John H. Wilkins for Mayor.

REV. GARDNER DEAN.

We have seldom known a more general misrepresentation of any case, through the press, than has been made relative to the disappearance of Mr. Dean from New Bedford, and to his return thither. We have aided in this misrepresentation, unwittingly, as we were misled by positive but brief statements in some of the most respectable papers. Some of them stated that he had once before gone off strangely; others that he had now left under suspicious circumstances; others still that he was insane; and one, that he "has returned to New Bedford, and coolly claimed the reward offered for his discovery. He gives a sort of madman account of his adventures. The brethren have forgiven his sin."

Almost all the papers, since his return, pronounce his own account of himself, given in his letter, (which we publish on our first page to-day,) incoherent, inconsistent or incredible.

Now the New Bedford Standard, from which we copy his letter, states distinctly that Mr. Dean has not claimed the reward offered, and has no intention of doing so. The same paper states that he arrived in the city, on Sunday morning, with Mr. Burt. Mr. Dean visited Albany on Friday, and went to the post office, where Mr. Burt obtained an interview with him, in accordance with arrangements he had previously made. Mr. Dean's return was voluntary, and he expressed no objection to coming, except the fear that he might be murdered.

Mr. Dean wished the Standard to state that he has no knowledge of the letters received by Mr. Squire Gifford and Rev. Mr. Taylor, signed "Daniel," and that he has never admitted their authorship, but has always denied it. He is apparently in good condition, although somewhat exhausted by his late journey from Albany, which was attended with great fatigues, on account of the storm. He is laboring under some little excitement of mind, but no more than would be naturally produced by the circumstances under which he is placed.

The letter now published, was written by Mr. Dean, before he saw Mr. Burt, for the purpose of sending it to the Mayor of New Bedford. It contains his account of his disappearance, and was furnished by his consent, for publication in the Standard.

We have read the letter carefully, and do not perceive that it contradicts itself, or that it clashes with any well established facts in the case, which we gather from any other source. It is, evidently, not written by a literary man, nor by one of strong mind or sound judgment;—nevertheless, it bears internal evidence of truth; and seems to indicate that the writer is a man of lively imagination, great reverence, warm heart and weak nerves.

The letter, prima facie and without prejudice, is in his favor. If he can be shown, by good testimony, to be either a liar who cannot be believed, or an insane man of such a cast as to go through great sufferings for nothing, the letter must fall to the ground, as being no evidence.

But unless this is done, his story must stand until we hear some other side, as strong or stronger. We see no motive to induce his going away at the time and under the circumstances of his departure. But we do see that a fanatical religious and temperance reformer, who preached religion and morals from house to house, might be offensive to such men as sent him anonymous threatening letters, and as he says, carried him off and robbed him, and by a show of deadly weapons, compelled him to partake of drugged liquors, and extorted from him oaths of secresy.

The City Government of New Bedford seem to have no doubt that the great crime of abduction has been committed, for at a special meeting of the Aldermen on Monday it was voted "to instruct the police to use all due vigilance in investigating the circumstances connected with Mr. Dean's late disappearance." If they had supposed he went off either in a deranged state, or for any fraudulent or criminal purpose, they would have examined him themselves. But the fact that they set the police to hunting, shows that they hope to ferret out some band of robbers, and bring them to justice.

SINGULAR ORIGIN OF A SINGULAR CUSTOM.—A recent letter writer from Milan, says that when a person sneezes in company, the custom is for one or more present to say, "God bless you." This had its origin in the fact that there once prevailed in Milan a most fatal disease, the victims of which were taken sneezing. Solemn must have been its significance when first used.

A HOUSE PLOUGHED OPEN.—On Saturday evening a train of cars, preceded by three locomotives and a snow plough, was passing through South Boston at a rapid rate, when the plough took a sudden plunge, and, darting off the track, entered a dwelling situated near Swan street, demolishing the side, and entering the sitting room of a Mrs. McKee. A long shed was also partially demolished. A girl in the room narrowly escaped being crushed by the plough, but jumped in time to save her life.

The Delavan House at Albany was considerably damaged by fire on Saturday morning.

LOCAL.

NEW YEAR'S CALLS.—The invitation of the City Missionary to the little children, on Saturday, brought to his office 623 children. There were a few who could not be called little children; but as they were pleased to accept of a little book, they were just as welcome. The callers reported themselves as follows:

☞ The Temple was filled to overflowing, Wednesday evening, to hear Rev. Mr. Moore lecture on Odd-Fellowship; but owing to the detention by an accident, of the last train on the P. & C. Railroad, the expected speaker did not arrive home in season to lecture. So after waiting till past 8 o'clock, the audience was informed how matters stood, and the lecture announced for Wednesday evening next. The capital choir gathered for the occasion, favored the expectant audience with some fine music not on the programme, and all left.

Mr. Moore was absent during the day, to fulfil at Epping an engagement previously made without day. He arrived in town soon after the crowd had dispersed.

☞ The name and fame of the lecturer announced for the City Lyceum this evening, is sufficient to fill any house any where. The lecture he is delivering this season, is said to be very witty and amusing as well as interesting. Evening Tickets 12 1-2 cts., at the door.

☞ It is said that the scholars of the late Wm. C. Harris, Esq., are making arrangements to cause a monument to be erected to his memory.

"A SWEET SERMON."—These were the words by which a short time since we heard a certain discourse characterized. Sweet apples are good, and sweet oranges, but sweet sermons have a smack of confectionery about them not altogether to our taste.

SHIP STAFFORDSHIRE.

The Boston papers of Wednesday confirm the statement of the total loss, on Friday last, of the fine packet ship Staffordshire, with one hundred and seventy seven lives, and a valuable cargo. Only thirty three persons escaped of all those on board. The Staffordshire belonged to Messrs. Enoch Train & Co.; she was 1817 tons, built by Donald McKay, at East Boston, in June 1851.

The following telegraphic despatch from R. W. Frazer, U. S. Consul at Halifax, gave information of the melancholy disaster:

"The packet ship Staffordshire, Capt. Richardson, from Liverpool Dec. 9, for Boston, struck the Blond Rock, South of Seal Island, on Friday morning, Dec. 30, at 10 o'clock. The 1st and 2nd mates and seventeen seamen reached Cape Sable. The third mate, boatswain, and twelve others, were picked up and landed at Shelburne, Nova Scotia. The remainder, or about one hundred and seventy seven persons, including Capt. Richardson, went down with the wreck, immediately after striking."

It was at first hoped that the original despatch was erroneous in announcing the loss of Capt. Richardson, but subsequent information leaves no doubt of its accuracy. He was an excellent man, and one of the most able and intelligent shipmasters that ever sailed from Boston. It is quite probable that he might have saved his own life had he been willing to abandon his ship and his passengers while they were in danger; but it would not have comported with his noble and courageous nature to prefer his own safety to that of others entrusted to his charge. He was about forty years of age, and leaves a family. His wife had accompanied him on some of his previous voyages.

The passengers lost were mostly emigrants on their way to this country. The vessel was fully insured.

TOLERATION.—"Sigma," a very worthy old gentleman whose real name is Lucius M. Sargent, writes an essay on toleration, in the Boston Advertiser, in the course of which he says,

"There was certainly a fair prospect of a serious riot in New York, a few days since, occasioned by a man, named Parsons, who, in direct violation of a city ordinance, attempted to preach in the streets against the Catholics, on the Sabbath, and was very properly arrested."

Toleration would be in a bad way, if the logic by which it is advocated were no better than the statements here put forth as facts, but which are all errors, except the prospect of a riot. Parsons was not even the occasion of the probable riot. The mistake of the Mayor who arrested Parsons for fear he might provoke the catholics to riot, caused and occasioned great assemblies. Parsons violated no ordinance whatever; did not attempt to preach in any street; and was not properly arrested, but very improperly and illegally; insomuch that the City authorities backed square out of the prosecution against him, and stationed a strong body of police and military at the spar yard on the next Sabbath after Parsons's arrest, to protect him from any assault, while he preached to as many thousands of men as could get within the sound of his voice.

We, as well as Sigma, are in favor of toleration: but our toleration is not of that kind which would shut the mouth of a Roman priest, for fear he should make us or our friends angry—and of course it would not gag our friends, to prevent their speaking against a priesthood and a press which every week denounce our churches as profane, our doctrines as damnable and our ministry as unclean; which pronounce our schools to be Godless, and our whole people, themselves excepted, to be travelling in the direct road to perdition.

That they say all this, is no fancy sketch. We read it regularly. We do not object to their saying it: but we do object to having the American press, pulpit or stump, so muzzled, that it cannot speak against such monstrosities, either through fear of an Archbishop's curse, or of a bog-trotter's shillaleh.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.

I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.

There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.

The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.

Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.

Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.

SENATE.—Mr. Seward rose to a question of privilege, touching the case of Mr. Phelps, the Senator from Vermont. He recited the facts in the case, and offered a resolution that Mr. Phelps be allowed to retain his seat.—Laid over.

Mr. Sumner presented numerous petitions in favor of the Niagara ship Canal.

Mr. Sumner presented a petition for the repeal of all duties on coal.

Mr. Bright gave notice of a bill to establish a board of Claims.

A message was received from the President, communicating information relative to the interests of the United States in Hayti and St. Domiago.

After a short executive session the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The resolution for presenting a sword to General Wool for his gallant conduct at Buena Vista, was passed.

On motion of Mr. Ingersoll, the President of the United States was requested to furnish Congress, if in his opinion the public interest will allow, with copies of all correspondence that has passed between this Government and Spain, relating to the seizure and imprisonment of Capt. Thadeus Beecher and the officers and crew of the schooner North Carolina, of New Haven, by the Spanish authorities at Porto Rico in 1850.

Mr. McDonald offered a resolution which was adopted, calling on the Secretary of the Navy to communicate the number and names of the Steamers which have been built for the United States since January, 1835, their tonnage, expense of building, repairs, and information generally, respecting them.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of Mr. Bennett's Land Bill, granting 150,000 acres for each Senator and Representative, and to the Western States from one million to one million and a half in addition; the Western States to use their lands for railroads, and the old States for schools. After some debate, and a refusal to lay the bill on the table by a vote of 62 to 90, a motion by Mr. McMullen to devote the proceeds of the lands to naval purposes was refused, and the bill was referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. Cutting offered a resolution setting forth the removal of Collector Bronson, and the correspondence between the Secretary of the Treasury and the Collector on the subject, and calling for copies of such correspondence and any other letters that may have passed on the subject. Mr. C. advocated the adoption of the resolutions.

Objection was made by Mr. Bridges, of Pa., and the matter lies over.

Mr. Perkins submitted a resolution that the Committee of ways and means be instructed to report a bill repealing all duty on Railroad Iron, and demanded the previous question which was laid on the table by 78 to 95.

Mr. Preston offered a resolution calling on the President to communicate copies of instructions to the officers of the navy, having reference to the protection of the rights of fishermen under the treaty with Great Britain. After other unimportant business,

Mr. Churchwell submitted a resolution instructing the Committee of Ways and Means to report a bill giving four years credit to Railroad Companies on duty on Railroad Iron. Mr. Hamilton moved to lay it on the table.

Mr. Clingman with a view to get a full house on the question, moved an adjournment. Agreed to.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.

EMIGRANT LAWS — FILLIBUSTERING—COASTING TRADE.—The Washington correspondents of the city papers state that Senator Fish is collecting information with a view to a thorough revision of our emigrant laws, and that a bill for that purpose will soon be prepared. Also, that the enlisting of foreigners in New York, ostensibly for the Turkish cause, is supposed by the administration to be intended for fillibustering purposes nearer home; and that the matter has been referred to the attention of the Attorney General. Also, that the British government has not receded from its demands for a full participation in our coasting trade, nor modified its claims since last winter.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 2.—The mail from Fort Lamarie left on the 17th ult. No mail from Salt Lake—caused by the deep snow. The Pawnees had gone into winter quarters, and the Sioux warriors were returning to their homes. No fighting since the last dates. The Utah Indians are penitent since hearing that Major Gunnison's party were not Mormons.

The river between Cairo and St. Louis is closed by ice; also between here and Cincinnati. 375 hogs have been killed around the falls, to date.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 26.—Taylor & Co.'s Pork House at Covington, Ky., was destroyed by fire on Saturday night. Loss $40,000.—Partially insured.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Mr. Francis Davis, depot master at Newton Lower Falls, was killed at that place on Tuesday morning while opening the gate to allow the half past eight o'clock train from Boston to pass. He was forty years of age, and was to have been married in a few days.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday the baggage car of the Saugus Branch Railroad train was thrown off the track at the Maine Railroad station, in Boston, in consequence of the failure to change the switch after the locomotive had been disconnected, and a brakeman by the name of Eames, belonging to Wilmington, was thrown off the car upon the track. The baggage car fell over upon him and killed him instantly.

A despatch from Harlem, N. Y., says:—"As a man was crossing the track to-day, (Friday,) in a double wagon, the freight train going west suddenly came up, smashed the wagon to pieces, and carried the man about one hundred yards on the cow-catcher, without doing him any material injury."

In New York on Sunday, a man who was hit in the face by a snow-ball, stabbed Peter McKeon, one of the youngsters engaged in snow-balling each other, and wounded him, it is feared, fatally.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth hardly can be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

The British Quarterlies

AND

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tomes of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus 4 four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWENTY CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

SAMUEL COOPER,

Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office.

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on Pale Pavilion flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Is just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2awly

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements for the speedy application prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection, of Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more ability, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent; I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the labels have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Druggists dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants of the United States, and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wsm jc22

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United states, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle. In case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by this Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and still-Vital remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

An Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETIZER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers active; a proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds; the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

HAMPTON, N. H.

The following facts, in relation to the Deaths in Hampton, during the year 1853, and for 120 years previous, are furnished for the Chronicle, by Rev. Mr. Hartwell of the M. E. Church in that ancient town, and will doubtless interest many persons, there and elsewhere:

The following will show the names and diseases, with the time of death, of each individual—

Jan. 18,	Miss Mary Redman, old age,	89
Mch. 8,	Martha Garland, lung fever,	4
" 13,	Widow Sarah Brown, old age,	81
" 17,	Mrs. Abagail Towle, lung fever,	74

" 20,	Miss Betsey Brown, old age,	89
" "	Jonathan Hobbs, lung fever,	50
" 24,	Ward Saddler, consumption,	44
" 28,	Mrs. Rachael Hobbs, old age,	73
May 7,	Mary Ellen Page, cholera infantum,	2
June 3,	Elizabeth Alexander, consumption,	20
" 6,	Albert Lamprey, lost at sea,	21
" 7,	son of Geo. Briggs, small pox,	1 wk.
" 14,	David Garland, jr., typhoid fever,	41
" 27,	Tyler Crane, lung fever,	37
Aug. 14,	George Hobbs, typhoid fever,	19
" 20,	Jonathan Elkins, consumption,	71
" 22,	Timothy Watson, lung fever,	22
Sep. 2,	Thomas Philbrook, consumption,	46
" 4,	Mrs. Mary A. Watson, typhoid fever,	26
" 7,	John L. Lamprey, abdominal abscess	27
" 9,	Robert N. Palmer, lung fever,	2
" 15,	Mrs. Rhoda J. Godfrey, consumption	20
Oct. 6,	widow Abagail Sanborn, old age,	82
" 23,	Franklin W. Lord, scalded,	14 mos.
" 31,	Samuel Marston, jr., consumption,	52
Nov. 1,	daughter of Geo. Tubbs, erysipelas,	4
" 7,	Moses Leavitt, disease of kidneys,	67
" 7,	Dudley Lamprey, old age,	83
" 14,	Sam'l D. Taylor, dropped dead,	67
" 27,	Mrs. Hannah Lane, consumption,	46

It will be seen that in January, there was 1 death; in February, none; in March, 4; in April, 7; in May, 1; in June, 5; in July, none; in August, 3; in September, 5; in October, 3; in November, 5; in December, none. There were three months in which no deaths occurred, February, July, and December.—The most fatal month was April, in which there was seven deaths, and June, September and November, in which five deaths occurred in each. I have generally found March and September to be the most fatal months of any in the year.

In 1853, there were thirty-four deaths, being one to every 35 1-5 of the inhabitants. This is a very great mortality. Indeed, this year, (1853) is one of three of the most fatal years since the town was incorporated, and more than has died in any year for ninety-nine years past!

The greatest number that have died in any one year since the town was incorporated, was in 1736, when 68 died, and 61 of these died of throat distemper. In 1754, 99 years ago, 51 deaths occurred in town, and 37 of these died of throat distemper. This year there has been 34 deaths, and with no prevailing disorder!

Of those who have died, the following will show a comparison of the diseases. Of old age, 8; of consumption, 7; of lung fever, 6; of typhoid fever, 3; of convulsion fits, 2; of disease of kidneys, 1; of disease of heart, 1; erysipelas, 1; of abdominal abscess, 1; of small pox, 1; drowned, 1; scalded, 1; nervous disease, 1; cholera infantum, 1.

It will be seen by the above, that lung diseases have prevailed largely over all others, as 7 have died of consumption, and 6 of lung fever: proving that a damp atmosphere is unfavorable to those who may be predisposed to lung difficulties.

The average age of those who have died may be seen as follows. Between 90 and 100 years, one; 80 and 90, six; 70 and 80, three; 60 and 70, one; 50 and 60, one; 40 and 50, seven; 30 and 40, one; 20 and 30, four; 10 and 20, two; 5 and 10, none; 1 and 5, five; under 1 year, two.

Thus it will be seen that 11 were aged, 9 in middle life, 6 were youths, and 7 were babes or small children. One fact is prominent, that all these deaths have been preceded by but short periods of sickness, the longest being about six months, while some have died without one moments warning.

So far as I have been able to ascertain, 18 who have died have made at some time previous to death a profession of religion. The Congregational Church has lost seven members, the Methodist three, and the Free Will Baptist two.

If we should reckon the ages exactly, the united ages of ten of those who have died this year would be 823 years and 5 months, averaging 82 years and 4 months to each one.

In 120 years, last past, commencing in 1734, 480 have died in town over 70 years old.—The whole number which have died in 120 years, is 1847, not including any who have been lost at sea or in the wars. In these 1847 deaths, 230 have died between 70 and 80years old, males, 90, females, 110. Between 90 and 100 years old, 49 have died, males 19, females 30. Over 100 years old, 1, and this a female, who died aged 104 years and 17 days.

By the above it will be seen that about one fourth of all who have died in 120 years have been aged, or rising 70 years. It will be seen further that the proportion of aged females is much larger than that of males; and above 90 years, the proportion is as three to two in favor of females.

Another fact appears in examining the records of the town, that the average of life has been much lengthened in the period of 120 years. Diseases were once less complicated and severe than now, much less of sickness in proportion to the whole number of inhabitants, and anything like a contagion or epidemic rarely known. When these did occur, as in 1734 and 1754, a large proportion of all attacked with the throat distemper, died; and those who died of the epidemic constituted nearly all who died in 1734, there being 60 deaths by this disease and 8 deaths by all other diseases. In 1754, in 51 deaths, 37 died of throat distemper, and 14 by all other diseases; showing that in the latter period this disease was better managed on the part of medical attendants than in the first instance. Taking the record of the town, and the testimony of several of the most aged persons, it is very evident that there is much more sickness in proportion, and that too with complicated and dangerous maladies, and still many less in proportion die!—showing conclusively that life is being lengthened, and that medical science is on the advance, and on the part of medical attendants there is much more ability to "grapple with fell disease and conquer!"—This, then, should call for grateful acknowledgements to our doctors' skill, induce us to put ourselves promptly under their care, and award them the credit of giving us, by God's blessing, a few more years in which to do and enjoy good. And whatever credit, in view of these facts, comes to the doctors, comes to the regular or Aleopathic course of treatment, for quackery of any sort in medicine has but little prevailed here, and in most instances where quacks and uneducated men have been employed, the diseases they have been called to treat have proved fatal in their hands. We, then, are in duty bound, to rally round a legitimate and time-honored profession, and ever accord to it the credit which is due.

THE OLD FRENCH CLAIMS.—The letter writers from Washington intimate, that, even if the bill, making a partial indemnification to the holders of the old French claims, should pass, the President may veto it, and thus defeat this long deferred measure of justice. We will not believe beforehand that he will be guilty of so flagrant an act of injustice.

The history of these claims is simply this. At the commencement of the Revolutionary War, in a treaty of alliance with France, the United States came under obligations to the French to render them assistance in maintaining their possession of the West India Islands—and under such obligations was our Nation held, that in the event of war between England and France, if the U. S. were at peace with England, we should have been compelled either to break the treaty or to enlist in the service of the French to protect their West India Islands.

The United States were relieved from this obligation, by an offset of the claims of our Government for spoliations on the property of its citizens, by a release from the obligations of the treaty referred to.

Yet for these spoliations not a cent has yet been paid to those who have by their property purchased that peace and prosperity which the Nation has since realized—although many of them have by those losses been reduced from affluence to comparative poverty. If the spoliations were such as to make a National claim, which was acknowledged and paid—why were not the claims of individuals equally just, on our Nation?—and as promptly paid?

Let us hear no more boasts of our overflowing Treasury, until the five or ten millions, which should long ago have been distributed among our citizens is every cent paid off.—Salem Gazette.

FIVE SCORE YEARS OLD!—A correspondent of the Norfolk County Journal states that Mr. Josiah Hall of Walpole, was one hundred years old on the 26th ult. The event was celebrated at the Meeting-house, where addresses appropriate for the occasion were made. After the services at the church, the company repaired to the vestry, where an ample dinner was provided. At the head of the table sat the man of one hundred years, surrounded by his family and friends. When the dinner was past, the aged man, for the entertainment of the company, related to them a brief history of his several campaigns in the army of the Revolution. Mr. Hall is in good health and spirits, and bids fair to live for several years to come.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JAN. 6, 1854.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

By the attention of Mr. Akerman, conductor from Portland, we have the Augusta Age of Jan. 5, from which we learn that on Wednesday John J. Perry was chosen Clerk, and Noah Smith, jr., Speaker of the House. Mr. Smith had 83 votes, his opponent, Mr. Littlefield, 56. The Age says:

We have no room to remark upon the history of yesterday's proceedings in the House further than to say, that the whigs, free soilers, and those democrats who represent the Morrill interest, formed a complete and triumphant coalition.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 4.

SENATE.—Mr. Douglass reported back the bill providing for a territorial government for Nebraska, with a substitute.

Mr. Seward's resolution relative to Mr. Phelps' seat was referred to committee on judiciary.

Mr. Sumner presented the proceedings of the meeting held in Faneuil Hall, Boston, in favor of cheap ocean postage.

The resolution voting the presentation of a sword to Gen. Wool, passed.

Mr. Chase's Pacific railroad resolution was taken up, discussed and referred back to the committee.

The Senate then adjourned.

HOUSE.—The speaker appointed a select committee to inquire into the expediency of investing the Smithsonian fund in stock or otherwise.

Mr. Bailey reported a bill adjusting French spoliation claims.

Mr. Cutting called up his resolution calling for correspondence relative to the removal of Collector Bronson, and proceeded to address the house. During his remarks he was frequently interrupted by Messrs. Clingman, Bissell, Jones, of Iowa, and others, and the resolution was finally tabled on motion of Mr. Orr—yeas 104, nays 66.

The house then went into committee of the whole on the President's message, when

Mr. Washburn, of Me., made a speech in favor of the annexation of the Sandwich Islands, when the committee rose, and the house took up the Senate resolutions authorizing the brevet title of lieutenant general in certain cases.

Mr. Bissell moved its reference to the committee on military affairs.

Mr. Hillyer opposed the resolution altogether, as tending to confer a mere title of nobility, and moved to lay it on the table.

Mr. Taylor, of Ohio, advocated it as an act of justice to Gen. Scott.

A motion to lay it on the table was negatived, and the resolution was finally referred to committee on military affairs. House adjourned.

FROM LIBERIA.—The Traveller has advices from Liberia to Aug. 3.

An attempt had been made to revive the slave trade at Gallenas. Boyer, of Trade Town, made a bargain with the commander of a Spanish vessel to furnish a cargo of slaves, not intending to fulfil the engagement, but to gain what he could from the cupidity of the slaver, and then hand him over to the Government. The Spaniard, however, got wind of this, and managed to effect an escape. It was rumored that in hastening to the Gallenas he grounded on one of the many banks which occur in that river; the cargo was landed at a small town, after which the natives cut his vessel to pieces. The crew went on shore with him, and he was preparing for business on a large scale. It was reported that his slaver was sent out to make arrangements for two other vessels which were expected on the coast.

There was a prospect of large quantities of rice coming into market, and prices had fallen. The farms in every direction were yielding abundantly. The barque Shirley, from Baltimore, arrived at Monrovia, with emigrants, in good health. The publication of the Liberia Herald was temporarily suspended in consequence of a di appointment in not receiving paper by the Shirley.

AN ACCEPTABLE GIFT.—We are indebted to Mason Brothers, publishers, 23 Park Row, New York, for a package of valuable music books—including copies of the Shawm, the Glee Hive, Cottage Glee Book, the Chorus Glee Book, Choruses of Handel's Messiah, Musical Vade-Mecum or Manual of the Science of Music, Lowell Mason's Musical Letters from Abroad, and Zundel's Melodeon Instructor. They are got up in good style, and seem to be full of available music and musical information. We shall notice more particularly after closer examination and trial.

☞ Mr. J. P. Morse has furnished us with the Illustrated Magazine of Art for January, 1854, containing 30 or 40 engravings, with interesting reading matter.

Also, the Musical Repository, No. 8, vol. 1. Each No. contains a sheet of music.

Both are published by F. Parker, Boston.

☞ The owners of the ship Staffordshire hope she is not wrecked; and so do we; but our fears in this case are stronger than our hopes. We shall know by to-morrow.

ALBION, MICH., Jan. 4.—The Albion College building was burnt this morning, the fire breaking out while the students were at breakfast. All the young ladies and most of the property are safe. Loss $15,000. No insurance.

☞ The Legislature of Massachusetts is in session. The Whigs have everything their own way, as the coalition has been shipwrecked and abandoned. Otis P. Lord, of Salem, is Speaker of the House.

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

"OFF THE TRACK!"

What shall be done when you are off the track? Why, try to get on again as soon as you can; and hold on patiently and philosophically until you do get on. "But it is very annoying." So it is; especially if at the other end of the track, there should be an audience of a thousand persons, waiting to hear a Lecture from you, and they supposing that you are on the track, and in due time will appear on the platform. How odd it seemed, that instead of being on the platform, the lecturer should be twelve or more miles away in a Station house (railway station, I mean) looking out of a window toward spectral lanterns flitting to and fro, in the hands of invisible mortals, attempting to get the Engine on the track; and while thus looking anxiously out of that window, which never until the other night had so anxious a pair of eyes looking through it; it was provoking to have a sympathizing brother to tell you that a pot that is watched never boils; and to have him assure you that your prospects of electrifying an audience were very flattering indeed, and to respectfully suggest the propriety of calling for supper and lodgings.

"Off the track just about an inch and a half." Well, an inch and a half don't seem much when compared with a track sixty miles long; but see what anxiety it resulted in.—It is so easy to get off the track about an inch and a half; but it's mighty hard to get on again. And just for the want of an inch and a half of railroad iron, in the right place, there were two full hours of delay. Now as an inch and a half of railroad iron, is to two hours of mental anxiety, so is the gist of your reflections during those two hours to the sum of the evidence of total depravity in switch tenders.

It is easy to get off the track; but it takes time and pains and labor and anxiety to get on again. These things can't be helped after they are done. Therefore it becomes every body concerned in the "getting off," to wait patiently till they get on again. If you fall down, get up again. Don't cry and blubber about it, but go ahead till you tumble down again. If you get off the track, get on again. Don't be discouraged. Many a poor fellow is off the track! Many a poor family is off the track! Let us help them on again, to give them a start that they may go ahead again.

"Though little your strength, and little your span,
Let us all try to do a good turn when we can."

☞ The alarm of fire, on Thursday noon, proceeded from the elegant new house of Mr. Frederick W. Fernald, in Court street, near the Stone Church. The fire was in a chamber, occupied as a nursery, where the nurse had placed some clothing too near the air tight stove, just as she left the room. In a few minutes the burning clothes set the nearest woodwork on fire, and but for prompt attention and help would have destroyed the building. As it is the damage is comparatively slight.

The burning clothing set fire to the floor and burnt through to the room below; caught the mantel, and ran up into the attic. The lady of the house, coming into the nursery, found the chairs in flames, and threw them out of the window; but finding herself unable to quell the fire, sent for the City Marshal to come to her assistance. They made no alarm, but by the aid of those who rushed in, put out the fire before it was generally discovered there was one. Such presence of mind in a woman is not common, and is worthy of all commendation.

Messrs. Editors:—We could not but feel pleased with the conduct of Mrs. Fernald, at the late fire which threatened the destruction of her beautiful dwelling, for instead of opening the doors, running into the street, and crying fire, with great presence of mind she kept the doors closed, and applied water to the burning room until almost suffocated, which no doubt was the means of saving not only the house, but great destruction of elegant furniture. We hope ladies generally, as well as gentlemen, will receive a lesson.

ONE WHO WAS PRESENT.

INSTALLATION AT EPPING.

The following order of exercises was observed at the installation of the Rev. Lyman White as pastor of the Evangelical Congregational Church and Society in Epping, on Wednesday last.

Invocation and Reading of the Scriptures, Rev. Mr. Dinsmore,
Introductory Prayer, Rev. Mr. Toby,
Sermon, Rev. Mr. Moore,
Installing Prayer, Rev. Mr. Holmes,
Charge to the Pastor, Rev. Mr. Allen,
Right Hand of Fellowship, Rev. Mr. Robie,
Charge to the People, Rev. Mr. Mann,
Concluding Prayer, Rev. Mr. Fifield,
Benediction, Rev. Mr. White.

These services were interestingly varied by music from a full instrumental and vocal choir.

The Society in Epping is very promising under the faithful services of Mr. White, who has been supplying the pulpit for nearly four years past.

City Council—Thursday, Jan. 5.

In Board of Aldermen—His Honor Mayor Walker in the Chair. A petition of the building committee of the North Parish, asking for the use of a strip of land on the north side of their lot for the purpose of erecting a tower to the new church they propose to build—granted.

A petition to pass an ordinance relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors was referred to a special committee.

The ordinance requiring the clearing of sidewalks, received from the Council, was referred to committee on bills on their second reading.

In the Common Council, a resolution was adopted, granting to the North Parish a strip of land on which to erect a tower to their new church.

An ordinance was passed, requiring occupants or owners of buildings to clear their sidewalks of snow within twenty-four hours after its fall; and in cases of neglect, to be done under the direction of the City Marshal, at the expense of such occupant or owner, the property being liable, the same as for taxes—sent up for concurrence.

A resolution from the Aldermen, authorizing the Chief Engineer to sell such hose as may be unfit for use, was adopted.

☞ Mr. T. P. Moses, for the last few months has devoted much attention to Crayon Painting, and cannot fail to take high rank with the best artists. He is preparing to take up his residence in New York, in a few weeks, where he will practice his favorite professions of Music and Painting. He is to deliver a Lecture on Music, at the Temple, before his departure, in connection with a Concert.—With his long and large experience in teaching music,—the giver of probably more than fifty Concerts in this city and elsewhere, during the last fifteen years,—and the author of two or three able and well-received discourses on Music,—no man is better qualified for the undertaking; and we have no doubt the people will be there to hear and appreciate.

☞ Rev. A. L. Stone, of Boston, gave on Thursday evening at the City Lyceum in the Cameneum, a popular and familiar lecture on Individuality, as distinguished from bondage to fashions and conventional rules of living. The general style of the lecture was pleasant, and some portions of it instructive, without being profound. If we might judge the audience by their appearance, the lecture was favorably received. We were not particularly pleased with the half apologetic tone of the close: no matter if some might deem it trifling; such ingenious, innocent and pleasant trifles are too good to be damaged by apologies.

The lecture for next Thursday evening, is to be delivered by Rev. Mr. Willis of this city.

INTERMENTS IN 1853.

The Interments in this City, during the year 1853, were males 87, females 102, total 189. It should be observed that several of these interments are of persons who died abroad, and were brought hither for burial.

Females; 84, 72, 8, 2;

DEC.—Males, 65, 3, 4, 68;
Females, 1, 72, 43.

☞ We understand that Mrs. Mary E. Ball, who lately deceased in this city, has left a will, in which, after a few legacies, she makes the Howard Benevolent Society her residuary legatee. The exact value of the property we do not know; but it may probably yield to the Society an annual income of $100 to $150.

☞ Messrs. D. & J. Lancaster, of Concord, have just issued the first number of a well printed paper called the New Hampshire Phœnix, which the editor says "is to be a Temperance Paper, but not confined to one idea. Besides discussions on this subject, it will furnish a channel for articles on educational topics, common schools, and other matters of general interest, not sectarian in politics or religion; giving also a brief weekly abstract of passing events, and the news of the day." The editor can do all these things. We hope he will,—and put money in his purse.

☞ The Boston Trumpet says of the Rev. Gardner Dean, that

"In mind, he was always soft, poor fellow. This is the same man who once professed to embrace Universalism in Lynn, Mass.; made a flaming Universalist while the excitement lasted; and when he ceased to attract notice, he renounced back again, &c. There was also a Rev. Mr. Taylor, of Lynn, who professed to become a Universalist about the same time, who is now in New Bedford. He and Mr. Dean are companions; but Mr. Taylor did not elope."

We hope the papers and the police too, will sift him and his history, as thoroughly as may be, and let every tub stand on its own bottom.

THE TURKISH WAR.

It was credibly certain that the combined English, French and Turkish fleets had entered the Black Sea on the 10th, the supposed destination being Sebastopol. Three ships from each squadron were left to guard the approaches to Constantinople, the czar having frequently declared that he should consider the entry of ships into the Black Sea as equivalent to a declaration of war. The withdrawal of the Russian ministers from Paris and London is immediately looked for. On the other hand it is semi-officially announced from Vienna that the fleets enter the Black Sea on peaceful errands, to prevent further collisions.

There is an extraordinary rumor current that the destruction of the fleet at Sinope transpired in Constantinople before the news of the disaster could possibly have reached there. The Turks imagine that the affair was planned with the consent of the British, to intimidate them into accepting terms of peace.

It appears that the Russian admiral observed the Turkish flotilla at anchor in Sinope on the 23d of November, and although already outnumbering the Turkish fleet, he sent for three more line-of-battle ships, which joined him on the 27th, and the battle was fought on the 30th.

The news of the Turkish fleet being at Sinope was carried to the Russians by an Austrian steamer.

The Paris Debats publishes a document purporting to be the letter of instructions sent by the four powers to their ambassadors at Constantinople. The Moniteur recopies it from the Debats, but does not say whether it is genuine or spurious (no doubt genuine.) The same letter refers to the protocol of December 5, and is in the collective name of Austria, France, Britain, and Prussia. It hopes that the Porte will circumscribe the difficulty between itself and Russia within the true limits, and avoid introducing new elements into the war. It calls on Turkey to declare that she is still desirous of a peaceful settlement, accepting the assurances of Russia that no infringement of the Sultan's sovereignty is intended,—is prepared to discuss proposals for re-establishing peace, and evacuating the principalities, and suggests that the Russian and Turkish plenipotentiaries should not treat except in the presence of the Four Powers, and that a city in a neutral country be selected for the session of conference; and further, that the opening of the conference be the signal for an armistice. This despatch the ambassadors are ordered to read to Reschid Pacha, and to impress it on his attention. The Debats also publishes the protocol itself precisely as above, but with this important sentence, that the existence of Turkey within the limits which treaties have assigned to her has in fact become one of the necessary conditions of European equilibrium, and the present war cannot in any case involve modifications in the territorial circumscriptions of the two empires calculated to alter the state of possessions which time has consecrated in the East, and which is equally necessary to the tranquillity of all the other powers. Turkey is therefore invited to state on what terms it will treat.

From Constantinople, Dec. 13th, we learn that the Courier, bearing this note and letter, had arrived, and the Ambassadors of the Four Powers forthwith proceeded to act as directed. The Sultan's reply was expected to reach Vienna on the 26th. Letters say that he refuses to accept an armistice, but consents to send a representative to the Conference.

German papers mention a doubtful rumor that the Czar also consents to send an Envoy to the Conference. The Paris Union denies this statement, and states that the Note had not even been officially forwarded to the Czar, and would not be unless the Sultan shall have replied.

On the line of the Danube there has been some fighting. On the 4th the Russians attacked the Turkish position at Kalafat, and forced the outer entrenchments, but were eventually repulsed. The carnage was great on both sides in killed and wounded. The number is stated at 4000. This, however, must be received with caution, for a Russian attack on Kalafat would be the signal for a Turkish attack on Ragusso, Giurgevo, Oltenitza and Hersova, to cause the Russians to divide their forces.

On the 13th, two Russian steamers, towing four gun boats, unsuccessfully attacked the Turkish position at Matschim, and were forced to retire with a severe loss.

The reason why part of General Luder's force went to the Crimea, was owing to an insurrection there in favor of Turkey. Consequently the provinces of Bessarabia, Kherson and Tauris are placed by the Russians under martial law.

Nothing really later has been received from Asia. Reliable private accounts from Erzeroum, of November 17th, confirm the previous statement of Turkish successes, which had induced the main body of the Turkish army to cross the Georgian frontier and march upon Tiflis. The Georgians everywhere welcomed the Turks.

A Turkish force occupied Erivan, which the Russians had abandoned on their approach.

The reported Turkish defeat at Akhalzok is doubtful, although a battle was certainly fought there, November 26th, with considerable slaughter, although there is no reliable accounts.

The general tenor of advices indicate that the operations of the last week in November were unfavorable to the Turks. General Andronikoff has possibly relieved the fortress of Akhalzik, and another division under Prince Rebutoff has succeeded in repulsing a Turkish force back upon Kars—a Russian Bulletin says with loss of cannon and camp.

A rapture between Persia and Britain happened anterior to the declaration of war by Persia against Turkey, and was caused by insults offered to the British Embassy.

Persia's declaration against Turkey was caused by a direct promise of the Czar to remit the debt due and to restore the disputed territory. The Shah has placed 30,000 troops at the Czar's disposal, and asks for a Russian General to command them.

The Persian minister, after breaking off relations with the Porte, retired to Bagdad.

The relations between the Austrian minister and the Divan were daily becoming colder on various pretexts.

The British Ambassador has ordered Mr. Gardiner, the British Consul at Jassy, to retire from the principality.

The Russian government orders that all foreign merchant ships going to Ottoman ports in the Black sea shall be searched, and all carrying stores or munitions of war shall be seized, although sailing under a neutral flag. Turkey, on the contrary, has extended the term to 45 days ere the Russian merchantmen shall be declared prizes.

Turkey has forbidden the exportation of grain, but contracts will be permitted to be completed.

ENGLAND.—The liberal papers complain that Prince Albert is making himself too busy in the affairs of the army. Some attribute Lord Palmerston's resignation to a cabal in that quarter. Complaints are also made that Prince Albert interferes in politics.

Very severe weather has been experienced, and numerous ships have been wrecked on the Irish coast; none were American, except as follows, viz:—The ship Niagara, for New York, with 150 passengers, was ashore at Wexford; cargo would be saved. The Pollock, from Liverpool for Apalachicola, put into Queenstown on the 8th, being disabled, spars damaged, &c.

SPAIN.—Mr. Soule has fought a duel with Marquis Turgot, the French minister. Lord Howden officiated as second to Turgot.—Another duel was had between young Soule and the duke of Alba. All about sarcasm on Madam Soule's style of costume. Nobody was damaged.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.
I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.
There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.
The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.
Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.
Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.
6tis d20 DONALD KENNEDY.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be beleived, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz:

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newspaper items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases in ADVANCE.

money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $6; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $20; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Is just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2aw1y

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a grove upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous, for the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that before this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot: nd manufactory, No. 187 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

d&w6m je22 For sale in Portsmouth by J. H. THACHER.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Cold, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United states, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by this Liniment, but considering the warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Chollic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETIZER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers even in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are at liberty to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

TO MARL.

Written one rainy night.

The cottage and the mill, Marl, that crazy talking mill,
Whose hand caresses carelessly the wanton, romping rill;
The olden bridge above, Marl, the music-flow beneath;
The eddies and the stars that come to join the water-wreath;
The graveyard near the oak, Marl, the breezes and their sighs,
The clouds that read the epitaphs with their dilating eyes;
The trains from distant towns, Marl, whose shriekings startle night;
The booming factory hard by with window eyes of light;
The moonlight walks we've had, Marl, and walks without a moon,
Thro' woods stuck full of rosy eyes by airy-ankled June;
The ruined Fort that stands, Marl, and frowns so in the night—;
Where meets Piscataqua and toys with Ocean's lips of white;
The gleaming of your eyes, Marl, the floating of your hair;
The echoes of your lip that trill and faint upon the air;
They all come back to-night, Marl, they all come back to-night;
My soul behold the dusty Past, and mem'ry holds the light.
The unforgiving winds, Marl, torment the tender rain;
A storm's without, I heed it not—I'm with you once again.

New York, 1853. A.

MUSIC IN SCHOOLS.

Vocal Music continues to be taught in the Public Schools in Boston, Lowell, and other places, as it ought to be here and everywhere. The elevating tendency of music cannot be noticed too often. Its influence in softening and ennobling the rough nature is demonstrated by facts which are constantly recurring. The singing exercise serves as a source of pleasant relaxation from the fatigue of more severe studies, and less congenial pursuits, and under the skilful training of the efficient teacher, is made pleasant and interesting.—The time given to music need not be long, but cannot fail to answer a valuable purpose, and subserve a wise end. We wish the attention of parents, teachers and committees could be drawn effectually to this matter.

ZUNDEL'S MELODEON INSTRUCTER.

This is an entirely new work, published by Mason Brothers, 23 Park Row, New York. It is designed as an instructer for the Melodeon, Seraphine, Organ, and similar instruments; and is admirably adapted to its purpose.

The elementary part is singularly plain and intelligible; and yet complete, or at all events ample for most students for a long time. This part of the work is the result of the author's long experience in teaching.

There is besides, an excellent selection of music, comprising about eighty choice pieces, old and new, from the best masters, all of which are arranged with a special reference to the instruments for which they are designed.

The author is John Zundel, organist of St. George's Church, New York, who shows, in its preparation, the skill and faithfulness of a workman who needs not to be ashamed.

FREE DEBATE.—In the House of Representatives at Washington, a few days ago, when Gerrit Smith was making his speech, Mr. Sallers of Maryland, called him to order on the ground that he was making an abolition speech. The chairman of the committee of the whole, Mr. Orr of South Carolina, decided Mr. Smith to be in order, and he proceeded and said:—"The gentleman from Maryland says I am making an abolition speech. I hope he will be patient under it. In turn, I will be patient under an anti-abolition speech."

☞ The city government of Concord have passed an ordinance, providing that refreshment and victualling saloons must be licensed; that no intoxicating liquors shall be used or kept in any refreshment saloon or restaurant within the city for any purpose whatever; that the rooms shall be cleared of company and closed at 9 P. M., and not opened before 6 A. M. Licenses to be revoked if the keepers break or evade the law, and fines of $5 to $10. The Phœnix says the city officers are executing the ordinance with due diligence, as the Marshal and his aids are expressly made guardians of the law.

CINCINNATI.

The Boston Post says:

Things are in a bad condition in Cincinnati. The Bedini riot and murder is proved to have been the work of the police. The mayor was absent; the city marshal, an experienced officer, was not consulted; but Lukens, captain of the police, a young man who had been only ten days in office, placed his agents among the Germans assembled at Freeman's Hall. Without attempting to stop the procession, or trying to persuade the men, women and children to disperse, these agents marched with them to Ninth street, where, without warning, one hundred policemen, stationed on each side of the street, fell upon the Germans, shooting them and beating them down with their heavy maces, killing at least one, wounding sixteen others, and taking sixty-four to the watchhouse. It was on Christmas day. The Germans had committed no breach of the peace. No riot act had been read. In fact no danger was apprehended by Archbishop Purcell and his household; for during all this time that the police were committing the outrage and murder, Monseigner Bedini, the pope's nuncio, was sleeping soundly; his friends did not think it worth while to awaken him. Capt. Lukens testified that, after he had got his prisoners into close confinement, bail was offered for the appearance of several of them and refused. Upon the examination before the police court, without any evidence except that given by the policemen themselves, the prisoners were every one discharged, upon the motion of the prosecutor!

AN INGENIOUS SWINDLING OPERATION.—As the steamship Magnolia was descending the Mississippi river, a week or two since, two elegantly dressed gentlemen came aboard at Vicksburg and took a state room together. Soon after the boat got under way one of them borrowed some thread and sealing wax of the clerk, and proceeded to tie up and seal a small package, which he said contained bank notes to the amount of $5000. The package was delivered to the clerk for safe keeping, and deposited in the iron safe of the boat. On arriving at New Orleans the strangers left to secure rooms at the hotel, stating that they would return for the package of money and then settle for their fare. A day passed and they did not appear; and at last the clerk, getting out of patience, proceeded to open the valuable parcel, which was found to consist of slips of newspaper, about the width of bank notes, tied up with thread and sealed with wax. Nothing more was seen of the well dressed strangers.

DISAPPEARANCE.—The North Bridgewater Gazette of the 29th ult. states that Gardner G. Kingman of Campello, Mass., a boy of sixteen, left his father's house on Friday, 25th of November, to visit his friends in New Bedford, where he remained until Wednesday, Nov. 30th. Since then he has not been heard of, and information of him will be gratefully acknowledged by his friends.

The crew of the Moselle, lost off Newport, were Capt. Joseph S. Rich, of Wellfleet, 23 years of age, leaves a wife to whom he was married Nov. 25th; Rufus W. Rich, of Wellfleet, 23, leaves a wife and one child; Wm. Wood, from the north part of New York, 25; George ——, cook, said to be from Lowell.

J. H. Gorham, mate of the Ida, died at Barnstable on Monday morning.

MARRIAGE STATISTICS.—In Boston during the year 1853 the City Registrar issued 3092 certificates of Intentions of Marriage—an increase of 205 over the preceding year. The actual number of marriages has not been ascertained, as many of the certificates have not been returned.

ARRIVAL OF THE ILLINOIS, WITH $1,200,000 in Gold.—New York, Jan. 5.—The steamer Illinois has arrived, with one million dollars in gold dust, and $200,000 in the hands of her passengers. There were no arrivals at San Francisco from the Atlantic States during the week previous to her sailing.

The railroad depot master at Harvard, Mr. George Gerry, was seized with sudden sickness in the cars for Worcester on Tuesday evening, and was taken home in a dying condition.

SATURDAY, JAN. 7, 1854.

COALITION IN MAINE.

How very differently the same things strike different people. We live close to the borders of Maine, and take great interest in Maine affairs. Moreover, we read three daily papers from the city of Portland, to keep "the hang" of things down East. Having learnt on Thursday from the Augusta Age, that a coalition had chosen a whig speaker, on Friday we took up, as we thought, the Argus, and read as follows:

WHIG SPEAKER.

Our readers, we are sure, will receive with great pleasure the account of Legislative proceeding copied in another column. They will see indications that the desperate efforts towards harmony, which our Pillsbury friends have been making, have hardly been appreciated on the Morrill side of the house. Whence the maxim may be educed, that excessive palaver after excessive abuse only makes matters worse. But mark the footsteps of the Whigs, and see how the upright prosper.

But we do not understand how any one can find much fault with the election of NOAH SMITH, JR., as Speaker. He is a gentleman in every respect, as well as a man of ability. Energetic and prompt, but fair and courteous, we have no doubt he will preside to the acceptance of all parties.

The curiously developed endeavors of the Pillsbury gents to stave off the organization, will not escape the notice of our readers. They evidently had a shrinking sense of the cold bath provided for their reception. Their conduct is also of some significance in indicating their general apprehensions for the Session. May their dread be confirmed!

Wondering what it could mean, to see such things in the Argus, we looked again, and found we had taken up the Advertiser instead, and then our wonder ceased.

Now let us see what the Argus did say.

The extraordinary coalition of the Morrill democrats with the whigs, by which that most inveterate federalist, Noah Smith of Calais, was made speaker of the House, has taken everybody by surprise. There are rumors that the coalition is complete, disposing of all the offices,—from United States Senator down to places not yet vacant. We can hardly believe this astonishing political defalcation has extended thus far—though it may be so. We must hereafter be surprised at nothing, if such be the case. We shall take occasion soon to comment upon these extraordinary manœuvres, which have so outraged propriety and astonished every body but the whigs, who are so vastly pleased at the result that they have no room for astonishment.

There, there sounds life-like and natural for the Argus.

Putting all the accounts together, we think no one can doubt that a coalition has been formed in Maine, between whigs, free democrats, and Maine law democrats,—by which, among other things, that law is to be sustained.

THE SHIP STAFFORDSHIRE.

TWO TELEGRAPHS.

On Thursday evening the Boston Journal contained the following communication, which came from a responsible and known source.

BY SPIRITUAL TELEGRAPH.—Mr. Sleeper:—When the Staffordshire was before reported lost, I then consulted, through a medium, what purported to be the spirit of Capt. Sturgis, and the response was, that the ship was safe, and had arrived at San Francisco. This morning, through the same medium, I again consulted the captain, and received in substance the following answers:

"The Staffordshire is safe, and will arrive in Boston, with moderate winds, in 9 or 10 days. The account of her loss is a fabrication. No large ship was wrecked on Blonde Rock at the time."

I have frequently tried to render spiritualism available for practical purposes, and wish you to publish this as a test. SEER.

The reader will see, by the following paragraphs from the Courier of Friday morning, that by this test there is a failure somewhere. The Staffordshire is lost. Therefore, either the ghost of Capt. Sturgis was mistaken, or somebody's else ghost was mistaken for that of Capt. Sturgis, or else it was no ghost at all, but a humbug.

We are very sorry the Spiritual Telegraph is in error this time, but so it is.

The telegraphic advices from Halifax to the Merchants' Exchange confirm the report of ship Staffordshire being lost off Seal Island, night of 29th ult. Three mates and forty others of the crew and passengers were saved. One mate and part of those saved have arrived at Halifax. Others were at Shelburne and on the way to Halifax. Captain Richardson, and all the rest on board were lost.

A telegraphic despatch from Barrington, N. S., of the 3d, says that three boats of the Staffordshire had landed there, with 29 men and one woman, saved from the ship. The schooner Expert picked up 14 men, whom she landed at Shelburne, making a total in all of 44 saved.

MAINE EXPOSITOR.—This paper, like the Boston Chronicle, was set up to destroy the modern liquor laws. And like that, it has become a good general newspaper. In the last Expositor there was only a quarter of a column of the "peculiar one idea" matter of the paper. One idea papers cannot be supported, or even read with any interest for a long time. Two or more ideas seem indispensable to success.

MAYOR OF BOSTON.—The Union Association (anti-liquor law) have nominated James Whiting for Mayor, and Mr. Scattering will have a number of votes.

For the Morning Chronicle.

THE WEARE MONUMENT.

HAMPTON FALLS, Jan. 5, 1853.

Messrs. Editors:—Considerable discussion having occurred in the columns of the Portsmouth papers in relation to the correctness of the inscription upon the Weare Monument recently erected by the committee appointed by the State, I feel it my duty as chairman of that committee, and as the author of the inscriptions, to state briefly to the public, the authorities on which I relied for the dates given, and some of the reasons why the inscriptions were not more full. I would premise however, that I do not feel responsible for the correctness or incorrectness of the prefix Gov. to President Weare's name, in the inscription in raised letters over the wreath on the eastern side of the monument, which is the first error that has been pointed out. The circumstances in relation to that inscription, are simply these: meeting Mr. Treat, the manufacturer of the monument, in the cars one day, he remarked that there was room to have Mr. Weare's name in raised letters upon that side of the monument, and observed that he thought it would look well, and wished to know our opinion in relation to it. We told him if it would add to the beauty and general effect of the monument, to put it on.

I think he said either President Weare, or Governor Weare's name might be put on.—We certainly thought nothing of it at the time, and presume Mr. Treat did not. He probably put it Governor without much reflection, and perhaps as more convenient for the place occupied by it, than the prefix President would have been. It seems to me a matter of very little consequence whether one prefix or the other was used, as both mean the same thing, Chief Magistrate of a State. Perhaps if there had been room, simple Meschech Weare would have been in better taste than either.

The second error that has been pointed out is the statement in the inscription, that Mr. Weare was President of New Hampshire from 1776 to 1784; so far from this being an error we contend that it is strictly and literally true. The records in the Archives of the State, at Concord, show that with the exception of intervals, when he was probably detained by sickness, and that duty was performed by the President pro tempore of the Council, he signed all the public and private acts, and resolutions of the Legislature as President, from June 1776 to June 1785. Those records farther show that he was annually elected to that office, from June 1776 to June 1784 inclusive, by virtue of which he was during all that period at the head of the Executive Department of the State, signed all commissions, warrants and drafts, and exercised all the functions of chief executive magistrate, as much and as fully prior to 1784 as during that year. It is said also, on the authority of Belknap, and Dr. Farmer's note thereto, that Mr. Weare resigned the office of President in June 1784, having held it under the new Constitution but a very short time. This is manifestly a mistake, although we have the highest respect for Dr. Belknap, and the deepest regard for the accuracy and careful research of Dr. Farmer. We are compelled to say that both these gentlemen happen to be entirely mistaken in this matter.

The Records in the office of the Secretary of State at Concord, show conclusively that President Weare was present at the second session of the Legislature, commencing Oct. 20 1784, and ending Nov. 1784, holden at Portsmouth, and signed all the bills passed thereat. At the third session of the Legislature, holden in 1785, President Weare does not appear to have been present, as all the bills passed are signed by Woodbury Langdon, President protempore; But that he did not resign even then, is conclusively shown by the records of orders drawn by that Executive on the Treasury, which continued to be signed by President Weare through the year. There are many of these on record, dated all along through the months of January, February, March, April and May 1785. There are several of these dated in May, 1785. It has been said that the inscription states that President Weare held the office of Chief Justice of the Superior Court until 1784. The inscription states no such thing; all it states is simply the fact, going to show the almost unlimited public confidence in the man; that he held at one and the same time, the responsible offices of Counsellor for Rockingham, Chairman of the Committee of Safety, President of the Council, and ex officio Chief Magistrate of the State, and Chief Justice of the Superior Court.

This is strictly and literally true, for the records show that he was Counsellor for Rockingham, nine years, from 1775 to 1784; Chairman of the Committee of Safety, and President of the Counsel during the same period, and Chief Justice of the Superior Court from 1776 to 1782.

It has also been objected that the inscription is incorrect in stating the Speakership of the House of Representatives as the first public office filled by President Weare.

This is not a fair representation. The inscription did not design to state the first, or all the offices filled by President Weare, and does not profess to do so.

It only mentions the date at which he was appointed or selected to certain important offices, and among others, that of Speaker in 1752. We were not ignorant of the fact that he was appointed Justice of the Superior Court, in 1748 we think, by the Royal Authority, and held the same office as long as New Hampshire remained a colony of Great Britain. We were not unaware also that President Weare had been for several years a member of the Assembly, held several other responsible offices in the gift of the citizens of his town, as well as in the militia, but there was not room upon the Monument to give the names and dates of all these, and we did not deem it important, or profitable that it should be done. Our chief design in the inscription was to mention those facts showing to some extent the remarkable and almost unlimited confidence, for so long a period reposed by the people of one whole State, in a single individual: It being so our apprehension one great design of the Monument to commemorate that Virtus which, never abused, or to the slightest degree profited by this extraordinary confidence or the power resulting from it.

Yours, respectfully,

GEO. H. DODGE.

ALMOST A FIRE.—There was another narrow escape from a destructive conflagration, in this city on Thursday afternoon. About six o'clock, as Dr. J. H. Thacher was heating liniment, in a vessel on the stove in his fine apothecary store, the mixture boiled over and ignited. The flames quickly set fire to the tissue-paper ornamenting the ceiling, running to every part of the room, and the burning fragments fell thickly upon everything. There were piles of bills and labels, and other paper upon the counters, and it was only by brisk movements, and at the expense of some scorching of hands, that the Dr. was able to put the fire out—which he did literally, running to the door with armfuls of fire, and "flinging it about" as it is said "none but a madman will" do. It is to be presumed that being "singed," he will "shun the fire" in future.

☞ We learn that the schooner W. H. Hazard, from Texas for New York, which came into our harbor in distress on Thursday, was discovered at some distance by the keeper of Boon Island Light, who boarded her and found that having been blown out of her course, the crew supposed they were near Cape Cod. They were glad to avail themselves of his pilotage and aid, by means of which they came in safely.

☞ See advertisement of patent rights for sale in another column. The machine is very simple; not easy to get out of repair, and those who have seen it in operation say it will do just what is claimed for it.

☞ See Auction Sales this day and evening, for a chance to buy Horses, Harnesses, Carriages, Stable, Furniture, Crockery, Dry Goods, Sugars, and Varieties.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.

The Steamer San Francisco, spoken at sea in distress, is a new vessel on her first trip, and was on her way to her place on the line between Panama and San Francisco. She had on board a few passengers, besides a large detachment of United States troops. The underwriters do not apprehend any serious disaster. The boat had an extra boiler elevated above the main one, to be used in case the latter should be flooded, and was provided with other arrangements to provide against disaster.

The Secretary of War has telegraphed to this city for the chartering of a steamer to proceed immediately in search of the disabled steamer San Francisco. The Secretary of the Treasury has also ordered several revenue cutters on the same service.

The San Francisco has on board 500 troops of the third regiment of United States Artillery, with the non-commissioned officers and band, with the families of many of the officers. She had besides as passengers, Mr. George Aspinwall, of this city, Capt. Gardiner, of the United States Dragoons, and Lieut. K. F. Hunter, of the Navy.

A marriage was prevented at Woburn by the storm, last week. Mr. Junius Commings went three miles after a marriage certificate, and on his return, was overcome by the storm, and fell by the way-side. He was fortunately discovered, and taken to a house near by, where he remained during the night. The bride was adorned for his coming, when a neighbor arrived stating what had become of her intended. The marriage has since taken place, the bridegroom not being so frost bitten as to prevent it.—Manchester Mirror.

BREAKING AWAY OF THE CANAL IN NASHUA.—Last Friday the canal which furnishes water for the Nashua Mills broke away in the same place it did two years ago, and made a deep cut several rods long, and, in some places, twenty feet deep. In its results the breakage is a bad one, as it takes two or three weeks to repair it, and the mills must lay still that length of time.—Manchester Mirror.

A female physician was arrested in Cincinnati, a few days since, for administering drugs to another female, for the purpose of procuring an abortion. In default of $2000 bail, she and the man who instigated her to the act are committed to prison.

The steamers Northern Light, for San Juan, Ohio, for Aspinwall, and the Star of the South, for New Orleans, all sailed from New York on Thursday. The Northern Light took over 600 passengers, among them several officers of the 4th Infantry and 150 dragoons.

Juvenile Singing School.

THE NEXT TERM of MR. CLARK'S Juvenile School for the instruction of Masters and Misses in the art of Singing by Note, will commence at ACADEMY HALL, on Wednesday Afternoon next, at half-past 2 o'clock.

Mr. C. has about one hundred members of his Evening Class for adults, and it would be gratifying to him to see one hundred Girls and Boys on next Wednesday afternoon, at Academy Hall, to join his Juvenile Class. Parents! you should sustain two Juvenile Singing Schools in this community, if you have any desire for the cultivation of vocal music among your children.

TERMS—One dollar for 24 Lessons, payable in advance. j7 2t

THURSDAY, Jan. 5.

SENATE.—The Senate, at noon, adjourned until Monday next.

HOUSE.—In the House, a communication was received from the Treasury Department, enclosing estimates for the new Revenue Cutters for the Coasts of South Carolina, Texas and California. Also, asking an appropriation of $75,000 for the erection of Custom-House buildings at San Francisco.

CAPT. INGRAHAM.—Mr. Davis brought up his resolution for a vote of thanks and a gold medal to be presented to Commodore Ingraham for his gallant conduct at Smyrna in the Koszta affair, and asked that the resolutions might be put on their passage, and he moved the previous question Disagreed to, and debate ensued, in which some members advocated the resolutions, regretting that the committee had stricken out every thing about Koszta's American citizenship. Others were glad that it was stricken out, as they put the act on the score of humanity.

Mr. Smith of Alabama would vote against the resolution in all its forms; it was simply thanking a man for doing his duty. He thought we ought to be consistent, and referred to the case of Capt. Long of the Mississippi, who was denounced for his conduct at Marseilles, when, by his firmness, he prevented a rupture between France and the United States, which the rebellious Kossuth endeavored to produce, and to that of Lieut. Hunter, who was dismissed from the Navy for capturing a Mexican town. As a man he applauded Capt. Ingraham, but did not wish to commit the government to an act of questionable propriety.

Mr. Smith of Va., said the committee on foreign affairs have skulked their duties to avoid a commitment; he should vote for no resolution unless the conduct of Capt. Ingraham was placed on the principle to which he wished to be committed.

Mr. Smith of New York said he approved, from the bottom of his heart, the resolution before the House, because it avoided all questions of nationality and citizenship, and hoped it might be unanimously adopted. He was glad to hear the gentlemen from Virginia and South Carolina justifying Ingraham on the broad ground of humanity. He held the law of humanity to be paramount. He could not admit any law which overlooks and outrages and crushes humanity. He knew of no law for the destruction of human rights. This government now stands committed to the diabolical position that a man who rescues an outraged and kidnapped brother deserves fines and imprisonment, but pass this resolution and men whom he had in his eye would fall under the principle of the resolution, and they too will be entitled at your hands no longer to imprisonment, but to gold medals.

The reader will perceive that the three Smith's do not talk alike.

Mr. Churchill deprecated the course the debate had taken, and as he listened to the gentleman from New York he was almost led to the question whether Koszta was a negro or not.

Pending the discussion, the House adj.

The resolution will probably pass; but it is utterly pointless, except as a mere approval of Capt. Ingraham's conduct, without stating the grounds of it.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Arrival of a Slaver.—The schooner H. N. Gambrill, Lieutenant De Camp commanding, arrived at this port yesterday, in 53 days from Loango, Southern Africa. The H. N. Gambrill hails from Baltimore, is a slaver, and prize to the United States frigate Constitution, Commodore Isaac Mayo, and was captured on the 3d of November off Congo River, and placed in charge of Lieutenant De Camp, who brought her home, with the cook and one seaman belonging to the vessel, and also twelve seamen, invalids, from the squadron.

The United States ship Marion sailed from Benguella, Nov. 3d, all well.

The United States frigate Constitution would sail for Monrovia and St. Helena, in a few days.

The United States brig Perry was at Monrovia.

FROM AUSTRALIA.—Dates from Melbourne, Australia, are to the 17th. Trade was generally dull.

The mines continued to yield favorably.

A nugget, weighing one hundred and thirty six pounds, was taken out of a claim at Sailor's Gulley, this being twelve pounds greater than the celebrated monster nugget.

LIVERPOOL, N. S., Jan. 4.—The Maria Frances reports, Dec. 26, lat. 38 20, lon. 69, fell in with an American steamer, bound from New York for San Francisco, with decks swept, boats gone, and completely disabled. Could not render any assistance. Drifted out of sight during the gale.

The Steamer Empire City, ashore at Barnegat, it is thought will be got off.

Revival of Business in Daniel st.
SAMUEL M. DOCKUM would respectfully announce to his friends and the public, that owing to the frequent calls for articles in his line, he has been induced to enlarge his Establishment to enable him to keep all articles usually found in a Furniture Warehouse, viz.
FRENCH SOFAS, Lounges, Tete-Tets, Easy Chairs and Parlor Chairs.
Mahogany Sofas, Rocking Chairs, Dining do.
A variety of Mahogany and Black Walnut Centre Tables, some with marble tops.
Extension Dining Tables; a large supply of Cottage and common Bedsteads;
Ettarsharies and What-Nots; Elegant Chamber Sets;
Sinks; Wash Stands and Toilet Tables;
Cane seat and back Rocking Chairs; Grecian and Common do. of all kinds; Hat Trees, Looking Glasses, &c. &c.
The above Stock is entirely new and will be sold as cheap as can be found in the city.
French Work made to order after the latest styles.
Rooms open in the evening until 9 o'clock.
All favors gratefully received. o31

Cheap Reading for the Long Evenings.
THE Subscriber would call attention to his CIRCULATING LIBRARY, consisting of about 2500 vols. of Histories, Biographies, Voyages, Travels, Novels and light reading, to which all new works are added as soon as published.
Subscribers are entitled to the use of two volumes at a time; for one month 75 cts. For three months $1.00. Non-subscribers will pay for octavos 10 cts.; for duodecimos 6¼ cts per week.
JOHN S. HARVEY, 7 Exch. Buildings.
The above plan places a good variety of Reading matter within reach of all, at a very small expense. d16

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.
I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.
There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is adulterated and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.
The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.
Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.
Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.
6tis d30 DONALD KENNEDY.

THE WHOLE WORLD OUTDONE!
E. C. HAZARD, after experimenting for over five years has at last discovered a composition which will polish beautifully, and at the same time oil the leather, and now offers to the citizens of Rockingham County an article which is unrivalled in this or any other country for its shining quality, and its nutritious elements to the leather. It is a valuable discovery. To be had of all the Dealers, and at wholesale and retail of

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner,'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be beleived, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newspaper accounts, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

SAMUEL COOPER,

Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

HENRY B. REDWICK, J. D. GALE, J. H. LANE, Principal Examiners.
T. R. PAGE, THOS. H. EVERETT, F. SOUTHGATE SMITH, WM. CRAUNCY LANGDON, Assistant Examiners.

From long acquaintance and intimate official relations with Mr. Cooper, I fully and heartily concur in the foregoing recommendation made by my late colleagues.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Profess or Mott's reviving Pills,
Is just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2awly

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages to inventors by offering, in person or to those offices, to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most faithful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 8000!!!

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of an article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired, for the bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an article hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

For sale in Portsmouth by J. H. THACHER.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Cold Sores, Headache, Mosquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded: all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S HIGHEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles, $1.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVERIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs are sufficient to hold together life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

HOW A MAN FEELS WHEN HE IS FROZE TO DEATH.

Many years ago I wanted to go across the Hudson river from New York to Jersey city one cold night, to take the stage for Trenton at 4 o'clock the next morning. It was midnight of a cold bitter night in December.—The ferry-boats had all ceased their trips till daylight, and I could not think of that; so I hired a boatman with a heavy bribe, and the promise of more if we crossed successfully within an hour, and left the shore. It was very dark and blustering. The tide was not so furious in the river as now, for the piers were then fewer, and not extending into the channel; but the northwest wind added a heavy sea to the danger of the night, and taking all things together, the prospect was poor. But I had been in rough seas and running ice before, and taking an oar I pulled a stroke that evidently surprised my boatman and added to his hopes of a successful voyage. It was one o'clock when we left the shore. At half past three we were under the lee of Governor's island, coming up the Buttermilk Channel on the return of the flood. At four o'clock we were making the shore near the old Brooklyn distillery, when a cake of ice came in on the sea, and closed around our egg shell of a boat, and it cracked, and crushed, precisely as you would have crushed an almond in the nut cracker. Unfortunately, there was no one to pick the valuable contents out of the broken shell, and if we had not been remarkably quick, and the ice remarkably strong, I am not altogether certain that I should have been here to-day. On the contrary, I think I might have gone out to sea on the next ebb tide, under water instead of above it, on a cake of ice, as now seemed probable. By this time I was cold, as you may imagine. Rowing was out of the question, and I had been forced to beat my hands until they were sore, in rain efforts to keep up some sort of warmth in my numb fingers. And now, on this cake of ice I must keep still, motionless, or I should go through. So I sat down holding the oar which had never left my grasp, and looked about for my boatman. He was missing. A shout brought back a reply. The ice had parted, and we had parted company, and we did not meet again till some weeks afterwards. We had no time or inclination to exchange parting salutations or good wishes. In truth I had no good wishes for him. I reserved them all for myself. I was thinking of no one else, and his fate formed no part of my apprehensions. Let me tell you that freezing to death is a very painful affair after all. It has none of the delicious sleepy quiet about it that some persons imagine. It is no lotus eating death, passing away into dreamy listlessness and into profound slumber. It is worse than nightmare, a thousand fold. It is the struggle of a prisoner in an iron cell, a fierce furious struggle, a mad struggle, a terrible struggle. I felt the grasp of death, cold, tightening, chilling, deadening on wrist and ankle, on neck and waist, on brain and heart. I sat motionless, and fought as no man ever dreamed of battling except in such a case; but of what avail is it to resist when the weight of the world is pressing you steadily down? It was just that feeling. I saw a star over me, and it seemed to come down to me, and to grow larger and larger, and the silver point became a ball, a globe, a sphere, a world, hiding everything else; and all I could see was, that one great stream of starlight shivering my eyeballs over, and ten thousand sharp pains darted through every part of me, and I fancied I shrieked aloud, a lonesome cry that might startle the gulls in the harbor from their rest on the floating ice, and a momentary, flashing thought of the startled seabird rising on his white wings was in my mind, and then a blackness of indescribable agony ending in insensibility took possession of me. I was frozen to death.

My next sensations were the thrilling pains of recovery, sharp, shooting, piercing, stabbing, twisting, in fact every sort of pain conceivable. I was surprised to find myself alive. This was my first intelligible thought, for I believed I had known that I was frozen; and having deliberately given up after a struggle, I was rather astonished at finding myself likely to thaw out after all. But I had fallen into good hands.

I had gone ashore below Red Hook, and been picked up by some scamps, who cleaned out my pockets, and my coat and the chief part of my clothing, for I certainly did not seem to need any of it. But a better specimen of humanity followed them and took me to his house, where Dr. Davidson, who then lived in the neighborhood, found me and resuscitated me. His attention was unwearying, and I believe he saved my life a dozen times that day. I shall always remember that fearful night. I am now past the meridian of life. Then I was young and full of hope.—Correspondence of Journal of Commerce.

Mr. Marshall McFarland was killed by falling into the waterwheel of Snell's auger factory at Southbridge on Wednesday. He leaves a wife and seven children.

AN INTERESTING FAMILY.—Mr. McLain, the Secretary of the American Colonization Society, states that the brig General Pierce, which sailed from Savannah, for Liberia, on the 16th ult., carried out, among other passengers, a family of thirty eight negroes, consisting of a man and his wife, and their children and grand children. They were liberated by Col. Montgomery Bell of Tennessee. He gave them a full outfit, and paid $2000 for their transportation and support for six months after their arrival in the land of promise.—Col. Bell has a large number more, of whom he intends to send out eighty as soon as a convenient opportunity occurs. These slaves have been employed as workmen in the extensive iron manufactories of Mr. Bell, and have among them miners, colliers, and moulders, and are fully competent to build a furnace for making iron and carry it on themselves.—They are generally men of high moral character, who would be an acquisition to any country. Thomas Scott, the patriarch of the family, assisted in making the cannon balls which were fired from behind the cotton bales at the battle of New Orleans.

Col. Bell must be an astonishingly presumptuous man, to think these negroes can take care of themselves.

SNOW SHOES.—The Bangor Whig of Wednesday, makes a note of the arrival there of the Whig Senator from Aroostook, and his adventures, thus:—

Nathaniel Blake, Esq., the Whig Senator elect from Aroostook, arrived in this city on Monday evening, and started by express yesterday for Augusta, to be present at the organization of the Legislature. In coming to this city during the blocking storms of last week, he experienced great difficulty, and was eight days on the road. When near Patten it was found impracticable to travel with horses, but "Uncle Nat," as all the settlers call our Senator, was bound to be on hand, and he tied on snow shoes and came ten miles on them over the snow drifts and amidst the storms. He had a hard time of it, but doubtless reached Augusta in season to take part in the preliminary organization of the Senate today, and for his perseverance as well as his other excellent qualities, and among them we may mention his portly and handsome appearance, he deserves to be elected President of the body of which he is a member.

A NEW BEVERAGE.—A down East paper tells a good story of two friends, who, meeting each other in Bangor after a long separation, concluded to celebrate the joyous occasion by a "drop o' drink." They accordingly repaired to a druggist's shop, and called for brandy, which, the parties being known, was immediately forthcoming. Unfortunately the clerk in his haste to serve his customers, placed a decanter of paregoric before them, instead of the desired fluid. The result was that one gentleman swallowed his tumbler full at a single gulp before he discovered the mistake, and was obliged to be immediately conveyed to a physician's, and submit to the unpleasant operations of a stomach pump.

ANOTHER BURIED CITY.—Letters from Naples announce that another ancient town has been discovered several feet under ground, between Acerno and Scaffari. It is stated that it does not resemble Herculaneum or Pompeii in any respect.

MONDAY, JAN. 9, 1854.

BISHOP BURGESS.

This gentleman is the Bishop of the Episcopal Church in Maine. His testimony, in the following letter to a brother clergyman, Rev. C. W. Andrews, D. D., is of such a character that it cannot fail to secure attention and respect. It is sufficiently well known that he was not one of the getters up of the Maine law; that he has never been one of its sponsors; and that he is quite out of the reach of temptation to speak better or worse of it than it deserves. He has, moreover, a good opportunity to judge of its general effect; and the authority of his statements must be ranked among the very best.

GARDINER, ME., Aug. 22, 1853.

REV. AND DEAR SIR:—To your queries I reply briefly in their order.

Q. Did this prohibitory law originate in the schemes of politicians for other purposes, or did it stand in the Legislature upon its own merits?

A. I have very little knowledge of the operations of politicians amongst us; and, undoubtedly, individual leaders or others, members of parties, may have been influenced by their political interests in sustaining or opposing this measure. But I suppose that, beyond all question, the law originated with persons who were solely concerned for the suppression of intemperance; and that it was passed only because it was believed to be demanded by a great majority of the people, for its own merits.

Q. Has it justified the expectations entertained of it by its friends at the time of its passage?

A. What were their actual expectations, I cannot venture to say; but every reasonable expectation must have been more than satisfied. Whatever it is in the power of a prohibitory law to accomplish without extreme severity or inquisitorial scrutiny, this law has generally, in my opinion, accomplished.—Those who are bent upon obtaining liquor can and do succeed; but it has ceased to present any open temptation; the young are comparatively safe; and all the evils of public drinking shops and bars are removed, together with the interests of a large body of men in upholding them for their own pecuniary advantage.

Q. Have there been any reactions in public opinion, so as to induce the belief that at a future day it might be repealed?

A. In my opinion quite the contrary.—Should the law be repealed, which seems in the highest degree improbable, it will be the result merely of political arrangements; but I do not believe that any political party would venture on a measure so hazardous to its own prospects. Undoubtedly many discreet and conscientious persons saw strong objections to some features of the law, and still feel their force. But multitudes who doubted the expediency of adopting it, would, I believe, regret and resist its repeal.

Q. Has the law been generally executed, and the amount of intoxication been speedily diminished in the State in consequence?

A. The law has been, I believe, generally executed; though not everywhere with equal energy; and the amount of intoxication has been, in consequence, most evidently, strikingly, and even, I think I may say, wonderfully diminished.

Q. Has the health, wealth, morality, and general prosperity of the State been apparently promoted by it?

A. Unquestionably.

Q. Has the law been found in its operation to be oppressive to any citizens not guilty of its violation?

A. So far as I know, not in the least.

In thus answering your inquiries, I would avoid everything like the intrusion of an opinion respecting the practicability or wisdom of such a measure elsewhere. I never appeared here as its public advocate; and I am not blind to such arguments as may be urged against legislation which, though it is peculiarly humane in its operation upon persons, is so sweeping with reference to things. Nevertheless I am most devoutly grateful for the practical working of the law; and believe that to every family in Maine it is of more value than can easily be computed.

I am, very faithfully, your friend and brother,

GEORGE BURGESS.

☞ The Granite Farmer and the Farmer's Monthly Visitor, have been united and are now published at Manchester in large folio form, under the title of The Farmer and Visitor. It is ably edited by C. E. Potter, Esq., assisted by Levi Bartlett, Esq., of Warner, one of the best agricultural writers in the State. Every farmer should subscribe for the paper.

☞ The Boston Pilot, the organ of the Roman church, comes to us this week in a new dress and in an enlarged form. It is exceedingly valuable for its information concerning Catholicity, but in controversy with outsiders, by founding its argument on the infallibility of the church, is apt to deal in denunciation, rather than reason.

Three physicians at Montreal pronounced some bones found in a stove to be those of a woman; whereupon Anderson, a soldier, was arrested for murdering his wife, who had disappeared. She returned a day or two afterwards, having been abused by her husband, and gone out to sewing. The bones were those of a pig. Many of the practitioners in Canada receive their education in the medical schools of the United States.—Eastern Argus.

A letter from Oetiz, Transylvania, Nov. 23, states that so thick a smoke arises from several forests of that country, which are on fire, that it is impossible to carry on the ordinary agricultural pursuits. In addition, the atmosphere, the letter declares, is so saturated with acrid emanations as to seriously affect the sight and breathing.

SHIP GREAT REPUBLIC.

The bottom of this great ship, with all that remained unburnt of her hull, was got afloat on Thursday morning, and she now lies at the wharf in New York City, an object of curiosity to crowds of spectators as numerous as those who surveyed her before the fire.—She was got afloat by building a temporary stern, (that part of the vessel having been burnt away,) and enclosing the whole after-part of her hull, which was deepest in water, in canvass, to stop the leaks. Five steam pumps were then put aboard, and the twelve feet of water in her were exhausted at the rate of one foot per hour. Only one-third of the cargo was touched by fire, leaving at least three thousand tons damaged by water, in the two lower holds. These decks occupy about twenty-four feet from the keel upward, and that part of the vessel which includes all below copper, is in a sound condition; so that her late commander, Capt. McKay, on Wednesday remarked that she might yet be made into as fine a steamer as floats. The two upper decks, (the promenade and spar,) are wholly gone, with the timbers; but a large quantity of cargo stowed in that part of the vessel, cotton, grain, rosin, &c., are in course of removal. Half a dozen schooner loads have already been taken away,—all, of course, greatly damaged. Among other articles is a great quantity of corn, in bulk and in bags.—That part most badly burnt will be good for nothing. The clean portions, injured only by water, will be chiefly valuable only to make starch of. It was sold on Wednesday, together with the remains of the rigging, old junk, &c.

Capt. Sturgis, agent of the Underwriters, has charge of the wreck. The flour below decks is in a tolerably good condition. Barrels of flour submerged in water are not ordinarily penetrated by it more than two inches in about three weeks; and good Southern barrels, such as were in the Great Republic, are preserved much better. The wheat is also below decks. What disposition will be made of the hull, is altogether uncertain.

The Great Republic was three hundred and twenty-five feet long, and was supposed to be capable of carrying six thousand tons of cargo, though only rated a little over four thousand five hundred tons burthen. She was the largest vessel afloat, and was said to have been the largest vessel constructed since the days of Noah's Ark. But the New York Evening Post says, in relation to this matter:

There were ships built by the ancients, it appears, far superior in proportions to the modern ship of Mr. Donald McKay.

A ship was constructed for Ptolemy Philopater, which was 420 feet long, 56 broad, and 72 feet deep, and of 6445 tons burthen. Archimedes constructed a ship for Hiero, King of Syracuse, of such large dimensions that none of the harbors in Sicily or Greece could receive it.

Noah's Ark, by those who are curious in such things, has been calculated to have contained 1,500,000 cubic feet, and was 11,905 tons burthen. A remarkable difference between modern and ancient times, in state and condition, is exemplified in the Great Republic. The was the property of a private American citizen; while the wealth and resources of all Sicily were called into requisition to construct Hiero's vessel.

NO MURDER—ALCOHOL.—The Newburyport Herald learns that the Coroner's Inquest in the case of the Sampier and Burnham girls, who died in the night at a hotel in that city, have received the chemical report of Dr. Hayes, State Assayer, and the following is the concluding part of his report:

In carefully applying the resources of chemical science of the present day, to these cases, without detecting any substance excepting alcohol, which would produce death, I have arrived at the conclusion that an alcoholic fluid stronger than proof spirit was taken in a large quantity by both the persons to whom these stomachs belonged, and that from the absence of food, the full poisonous effect was manifested, resulting in death.

"The cause of their death is to the jury unknown, unless occasioned by the quantity of alcoholic liquor which their stomachs were found to contain."

THE CALIFORNIA MAILS, of the Winfield Scott, did not come on the Illinois, the United States Consul at Panama having detained them for the purpose of drying their contents, which were pretty thoroughly wet in the wreck of the Winfield Scott. Thus the whole New England mail due from California has failed to reach Boston, except a small supplementary mail, made up at the last moment. So we have a few papers here from California, but no letters. They will come along, we suppose, by the next steamer from the Isthmus.

CANADA possessed in 1851, 46,936 more milch cows than Ohio, and yet Ohio produces one-eighth more butter, and nearly eight times as much cheese as Canada.

☞ The Portland Advertiser advises the Whigs in the Legislature of Maine not to be proud, or put on airs, for without the coalition they are in a lean minority.

MRS. Payne, who was severely injured by the accident on the New York Central Railroad, on Thursday evening last, has since died.

LOCAL.

THE MAILS.

PORTSMOUTH, Jan. 7th, 1854.

Messrs. Editors:—Permit me, through the columns of your widely circulated sheet, to inquire the reason why our morning mail cannot be ready for delivery in a shorter time.—It is well known that the first train from Boston arrives here between half past nine and twenty minutes to ten, being seldom later. We have three persons employed in the Post Office, and the mails are not larger than when Mr. Tullock held the office of Post-Master. Yet we cannot get letters from the Office before quarter to eleven, and consequently that is no time to answer a despatch by the next mail. It would seem that three persons, as smart as they are reputed to be, would be able to arrange our not tremendously large mails, in an hour, at the farthest. It has been done, with a less number of clerks, and why should it not now? It is extremely inconvenient for merchants to be obliged to wait such a length of time for their often very important letters, and causes much complaint among the numerous business men of this city. Added to this, the board being up so long, there is no chance to mail a letter, if a person happens to be out of stamps, and if he waits till the board goes down, in order to get some, he must travel to the depot to mail his letters, because the bag is closed at the office. It is to be hoped that this now very frequent custom will be done away.

A little extra quickness, will remedy the difficulty, and the constant growling and grumbling, which is heard among the outsiders in waiting, would give way to smiles and pleasant remarks. L.

☞ We have no doubt that the above complaints are founded on the late openings of the mail on some of the days of last week, and especially on Saturday. On that particular day, the arrival of the mail was half an hour behind the time. And during the first week of every quarter, the Post Master is required to make an exact list of all newspapers and periodicals received, giving the name of every one and its place of publication, stating whether it is daily, semi-weekly, weekly or monthly, and giving the names and number of those that come free, distinct from those charged with postage. This must be done and the postage marked also, while the mail is being sorted, or it can never be done at all. And in so doing it is needful to open every sealed paper, and in most cases to preserve the wrappers and return the papers. This has to be done, on opening every mail during the first week, which happens to contain one or two thousand newspapers. Of course it takes up much time.

On Saturday, we happen to know, being accidentally present, that over a hundred packages, great and small had to be thus opened: and we know also, that the utmost diligence was used by the Post Master and his clerks, to despatch the business as soon as possible.

For the Morning Chronicle.

A NEW BOOK

FOR S. S. TEACHERS AND SUPERINTEDENTS.

Kenny's Mills, or the Earnest Worker, is the title of a small book recently published in New York, and written by Mrs. Knight of this city, having for its object the inculcation of earnestness on the part of those who have the direction of Sabbath Schools. The spirit of the work seems to be, that what is worth doing is worth being well done. In the garb of a pleasant narrative is presented to us a school all disorder and irregularity, and then another in its first conception—its small beginnings, its successful operation, and its glorious results—under a superintendent who enters the work with heartiness, and infuses his spirit into those whom he calls to his assistance as teachers and officers. The earnest teacher, always at his post, is presented to our view, and the one who always calculates to go, but has something or other to prevent him from being punctual—who in principle visits his scholars, but finds it very difficult to get time for such business. The narrative is here and there suspended to make some suggestion relative to the Sabbath School work; and the model superintendent in his discourse with others, constantly imparts and enforces ideas, which every superintendent and teacher will profit by making his own and acting upon, in the discharge of their respective duties.—Teacher's meetings, the visiting of scholars, management of libraries, keeping of records, and the teacher's and superintendent's offices, are discussed in the course of the narrative. But without undertaking to analyze the book and present its excellencies, permit me to invite every one interested in Sabbath Schools to read it for themselves, and I shall be much surprised if by the perusal they are not only entertained but better qualified for their work.

NEWBURYPORT.—The City Government of Newburyport was organized by the induction of Mayor Davenport and the Aldermen into office, and the choice of Moses Hale the senior member, as President of the Common Council. Geo. J. L. Colby, late editor of the Union, and Wm. H. Brewster, of the Herald, were chosen before Mr. Hale, but both declined the office. Jacob Haskell was elected Clerk, and Mr. Colby introduced an order for applying to the Legislature for an alteration of the city charter, so that the Mayor may have a fixed and honorable salary.

Accounts from Michigan represent that the liquor law is working admirably, in the suppression of grog-shops and tippling-houses.

The price asked for Mount Vernon, the mansion-house and two hundred acres of the adjacent land, is $200,000, while the intrinsic value of the property, aside from its associations, is not estimated higher than $30,000,

The people of the metropolis of London have gone to work in good earnest, in preparing a vast necropolis, having purchased 2116 acres at Guilford, on which to construct a cemetery.

FATAL OMNIBUS ACCIDENT.—About noon on Friday, as one of the Cambridge omnibuses, was plunging through a deep cradle-hole in Boston, the vehicle upset and crushed a boy riding on the outside, so that he died in a few minutes.

The St. Louis Democrat has a long article going to show that Capt. Gunnison and his party were not killed by Indians, but by Mormons. "It is no part of the policy of these people," the Democrat says, to permit an exploration of their country, for the purpose of finding a route for a railroad, which is to be the highway of nations, and, if made, would bring them again under the observation of the civilized world."

BALDNESS CURED!

Emerson's American Hair Restorative.

FOR Restoring the Hair on Heads HOPELESSLY BALD, and to prevent the Hair from falling, is winning golden opinions of perions who are using it. This is a new article, recently introduced, is a sure thing for Baldness, and will stand the test of a discerning public. The Proprietors have such confidence in it that they authorize their Agents to take Bald cases on GUARANTEE. Price to be agreed upon between the parties.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, Jan. 6.

HOUSE.—The communication from the Secretary of War, explanatory of the estimates for rivers and harbors, was referred to the Committee on Commerce.

The Senate bill prescribing the manner of appointing the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, was taken up, when

Mr. Orr moved, as a substitute, that hereafter when that office shall become vacant, the appointment to the vacancy shall be made by the President, by and with the advice of the Senate.

PROVISIONS AND BREADSTUFFS.—It is stated at Louisville, Ky., that there will be a surplus of hogs this year, for packing. We hope it is true, and that there may be no hocus pocus, whereby the price of pork can be kept up in the face of such a statement. It would be a good thing to have one cheap eatable substance amid the general dearness of provisions.

At Cincinnati, Jan. 6, Hogs were selling at $4 40 a 2 60. Provisions dull, there being but few buyers. Mess Pork is offered at $12. Lard, in bbls, held at 18 1-4c. Dry salted meat 4 1-4 a 5 1-4c, for Shoulders and Sides, for February delivery.

In Boston, for the last half of the week,—Pork in moderate demand. Sales of new in small lots at $14,50a15 for prime, $16,50 for mess, and $19a20 for clear, 4 mos. Beef continues in very fair demand, and sales at $14a 14,50 per bbl. for good brands Western Mess, and $15 a 15,50 for extra brands, 4 mos.—Lard is selling at 10a11c in bbls., and 11a12c in kegs, cash and 4 mos. New Western Smoked Hams are selling at 10a10 1-2c, 4 mos. Flour—The market remains firm but transactions limited. A few hundred bbls. Gallego sold for export at $10, 4 mos., interest added; Western common and fancy brands Ohio and Michigan $7 62 1-2a7 87 1-2; extra do $8; extra Genesee $8 12 1-2a8 50 per bbl., cash. Grain—But little doing in Corn for want of a supply; sales new yellow in lots at 78 cents, and do white 75 cents. Oats—Northern 56 cents per bushel, cash.

LARGE SALE OF SLAVES.—We learn from the Farmville (Va.) Journal that upwards of 100 slaves were sold at auction in that town on Tuesday. Of these 85 belonged to the estate of Josiah Chambers, deceased, and brought the sum of $46,660 cash, being an average of a fraction over $542.

EXPLOSION OF GAS IN NEW YORK.—On Tuesday afternoon, as two men were excavating the earth about the gas pipe at the corner of Greenwich avenue and Twelfth street, in New York, a match was lighted by one of them, whereupon a terrific explosion ensued, throwing the man who lighted the match a height of some twelve feet in the air. The force of the explosion was such as to throw the coverings of the culverts along the line of the sewer in Troy street, with the seven iron plates over the main holes, each weighing 180 pounds, to a distance of more than 500 feet. An iron fence was broken down, and a grocer's waggon and numberless window panes destroyed. A young lady who was passing was struck and slightly injured by several of the flying fragments. The earth in the neighborhood was found to be so completely impregnated with gas, that it fairly issued from the crevices of the bricks, and on being ignited, burned throughout the night.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Mr. Wm. Coverny, one of the switch tenders on the Lowell railroad, was accidentally killed at East Cambridge on Friday morning. His foot was caught between two of the rails on the road, at a time that a train was advancing towards him, and although he made every effort to escape, and the engineer reversed the engine, it was impossible to prevent the wheels from crushing him. The deceased is represented as an old and faithful servant of the Company. He leaves a widow and two children.

PURCHASE OF THE 'MUSQUITO KINGDOM,' SONORA, &c.—The Washington correspondent of the Courier and Enquirer states that facts are known in that city, which justify the inference that the British government is preparing for the gradual abandonment of all Central America, and that a company has been formed in New York and Philadelphia for the purchase of the Musquito kingdom, and that one-half had already been transferred, and the money paid for it. Several politicians are stockholders and directors in this company.

The same writer reiterates the assertion that there is no truth in the report that a treaty has been negociated with Mr. Gadsden, but that there is good reason to believe that he has offered a large sum of money for Sonora, Chihuahua, and Lower California.

The Tribune's correspondent states that the project of colonizing the Musquito coast is wholly southern in its purposes. The design is to transport slaves there. The grant of the company is said to embrace 300 miles of seacoast.

The same correspondent states that there is a rumor at Washington of a new fillibustering expedition, which is to proceed in a well armed steamer, to the Peruvian coast, then hoist the Bolivian flag, and seize upon the Lobos Islands.

THE ERIE DIFFICULTIES.—Judge Irwin, in the United States Circuit Court at Pittsburg, on Thursday, committed Kirkpatrick, one of the ringleaders in the Erie riots, to the Alleghany county jail, during the pleasure of the Court, or until released by due course of law, for violating the injunction of that Court, in aiding and abetting in the destruction of the railway track at Erie. The Court also instructed the Marshal to report to it all such persons as were resisting its injunction, by preventing the repairs at Harbor Creek and other places.

Marshal Frost and Deputy Shroal went to Erie on Friday, to enforce the order of the Court.

HORSE KILLED BY A FALL OF ICE.—A drack-horse was instantly killed on Wednesday afternoon at the corner of Haymarket square and Haverhill street, Boston, by the fall of a cake of ice from the Boston and Maine Railroad depot.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.
I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.
There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.
The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.
Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.
Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner,'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz.:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWENTY CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Is just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2awly

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring Patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am, very respectfully,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 250,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement to this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.—All who have used

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Corns, Chilblains, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the bowels, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"$50 05. On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

WILLIAM DEVINES."

This valuable Medicine is daily effecting some of the most astonishing and wonderful cures that have ever been known. All who have used it for Asthma, Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Whooping Cough, Croup or Hives, Consumption, Chronic Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Pain and Soreness of the Breast,—

CAN AND DO ATTEST TO ITS USEFULNESS.

BRONCHITIS,

A Disease which is annually

SWEEPING THOUSANDS!

To a premature grave

IS CURED BY IT!

This expectorant immediately suppresses the Cough and Pain, subdues the inflammation and Fever, removing the Difficulty in Breathing by producing a free and

LOVE STORY OF THE ATSTRALIA DIGGINGS.

Mike and Robert were two as good mates as any at the Mount Alexander diggings.—They had had a good spell at hard work, and as is usually the way, returned to Melbourne for a holiday at Christmas time;—and then it was that the bright eyes of Susan Hinton first sowed discord between them. Mike was the successful wooer, and the old man gave his consent; for Mike, with one exception, had contrived to make himself a favorite with both father and daughter! The exception was this: old Hinton was a strict disciplinarian—one of what is called the "good old school;" he hated radicals, revolutionists and reformers, or any opposition to Church or State. Mike, on the contrary, loved nothing better than to hold forth against the powers that be; and it was his greatest boast that government had never pocketed a farthing from him in the way of a license. This, in the old man's eyes, was his solitary fault, and when Mike declared his intention of taking another trip to the 'lottery field' before taking a ticket in the even greater lottery of marriage, he solemnly declared that no daughter of his should ever marry a man who had been openly convicted of in any way evading the license fee.

This declaration, from any other man who had already promised his daughter in marriage, would not have had much weight; but Mike knew the stern, strict character of Hinton, and respected this determination accordingly. The day of their departure arrived, and, with a tearful injunction to bear in mind her father's wishes, Susan bade her lover farewell, and Robert and he proceeded on their journey. Full of his own happiness, Mike had never suspected his comrade's love for Susan, and little dreamt he of the hatred against himself to which it had given birth—hatred the more to be dreaded since it was concealed under a most friendly exterior.

For the first month Mike behaved to the very letter of the law, and haxing, for the sum of £1 10s., purchased his legal right to dig gold, felt himself a most exemplary character. Success again crowned their efforts, and a speedy return to Melbourne was contemplated. In the ardor of this exciting work another month commenced, and Mike at first forgot, then neglected to renew his license.—"The inspector rarely came his rounds before the 14th; the neighborhood was considered deserted—fairly worked out—he'd never come round there." Thus argued Mike, and his friend cordially agreed with him. "Lose a day's work standing outside the commissioners tent, broiling in a crowd, when two days would finish the job! Not he, indeed! Mike might please himself, but he shouldn't get a license;" and this determination on the part of his "mate" settled the matter.

In one respect Mike's self-security was not unfounded; the gully in which their tent was now pitched was nearly deserted. Some while previous there had been a great rush to the place, so great that it was almost excavated; then the rush took a different direction, and few now cared to work on the two or three spots that had been left untouched. Like many other localities considered worked out, as much remained in the ground as had been taken from it, and as each day added to their store, Mike's hilarity increased.

It was now the 10th of the month; their hole had been fairly "bottomed," a nice little nest of nuggets discovered, their gains divided, and the gold sent down to the escort office for Melbourne. A few bucketsful of good washing stuff was all that was left undone. "To-day will finish that," thought Mike, and to it he set with hearty good will, to the intense satisfaction of his comrade, who sat watching him at a little distance. Suddenly Mike felt a heavy hand upon his shoulder; he looked up, and saw before him—the inspector. He had already with him a large body of defaulters, and Mike little doubted that he must be added to their number. Old Hinton's determined speech, Susan's parting words and tears, flashed across his mind.

Mike glanced at him, and a look of triumph he saw there roused every spark of energy within him, and it was in a tone of well assumed composure that he replied to the inspector—"My license is in my pocket and my coat below there;" and without a moment's hesitation sprang into his hole to fetch it. Some minutes elapsed. The inspector waxed impatient. A suspicion of the truth flashed across Robert's mind, and he too descended the hole. There was the coat, and the license of the past month in the pocket; but the owner had gone, vanished, and an excavation on one side which led into the next hole, and thence into a complete labyrinth under ground, plainly pointed out the method of his escape. Seeing no use in ferreting the delinquent out of so dangerous a place, the inspector sulkily withdrew, though not without venting some of his ill humor upon Robert, at whose representations, made the day previous, he had come so far out of his road.

But let us return to Mike. By a happy thought he had suddenly remembered that whilst working some days before in the hole, his pick had let in daylight on one side, and he desperate hope presented itself to his mind that he might make a passage into the next pit, which he knew led into others, and thus escape. His success was beyond his expectation; and he regained the open air at a sufficient distance from his late quarters to escape observation. Once able to reflect calmly upon the event of the morning, it required little discrimination to fix upon Robert his real share in it. And now there was no time to lose in returning to Melbourne, and prevent, by a speedy marriage, any further attempt to set his intended father-in-law against him.—The roads were dry, for it was the sultry month of February, and two days saw him beside his lady-love.

Although railroads are as yet unknown in Australia, every thing goes on at railroad speed; and a marriage concocted one day is frequently solemnized the next. His eagerness, therefore, was no way remarkable. No time was lost; and when, three days after Mike's return, Robert (with his head full of plots and machinations) presented himself as old Hinton's door, he found them all at a well spread wedding breakfast, round which were gathered a merry party, listening with a digger's interest to the way in which the happy bride-groom had evaded the inspector. Mike had wisely kept the story till Susan was his wife.

NARROW ESCAPE.—We understand that Mr. Amos Spafford, the commissioner of the Sackett's Harbor and Saratoga Railroad company, came near losing his life a few days since, under the following circumstances:

Mr. Spafford, with a single companion, having charge of a large quantity of provisions, for the different parties now engaged in perfecting the surveys for the above mentioned railroad, had bivouacked for the night, when he was aroused by the roaring and plunging of the beasts of his caravan, and springing instantly up, he found himself surrounded by a large pack of hungry wolves, of which the constantly increasing darkness permitted him to count only eight. Mr. Spafford had started upon this expedition, which at all times during the season has been attended with more or less danger, armed only with a single rifle and hunting knife. But, being a man of the most approved courage, without a moment's hesitation he seized his weapons and boldly advanced upon the enemy. The first shot, aimed with all the coolness and precision of a Crocket or a Boone, resulted in the death of the foremost of the pack, a large, grey wolf, weighing, as was supposed, over two hundred pounds, and actually measuring, from tip to tip, more than seven feet. The rest of the pack took to flight before Mr. Spafford could reload his rifle; so he is possessed of but a single trophy of the combat, which might, under slightly different circumstances, have resulted fatally to him or his companion, and perhaps to both.—Saratoga Whig.

DISCUSSION.—The Ellsworth Herald, after having tried for a time to discourage all discussion of the subject in controversy at Ellsworth, between the Catholics and the Superintending School Committee, relative to reading the Bible in the Public Schools, has at length come out flat-footed in support of the Committee and in favor of the reading of the Bible. It would have been as well for the Herald to have been on hand at the start. Discussion is the New Englander's grand crucible, and everything must be tested by the alchemy of debate, and it is, therefore, in vain, and worse than in vain, to endeavor to stop discussion.—Let the people talk and keep talking, and they will be sure to show the right and to get right before they are done with it. The Herald makes up quite handsomely in zeal what it lacked in speed, and we venture to say will not be caught napping again.—Bangor Cou.

There is living in Tatnall street, a colored man aged 68, who is the father of fifty-one children, thirty of them are now living. He had three wives, the first, of whom was the mother of fifteen children, two of whom were twins. The second was the mother of fifteen, having twins three times; the latter who is still alive, has twenty-one children—having had twins five times. We venture that there is scarcely such another case on record.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.
"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Is just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2awly

TALK ON TEMPERANCE.

BY UNCLE TOBY.—NO. IV.

In regard to the present condition of temperance in this city and vicinity, we cannot do better than to make some further brief extracts from the New Hampshire Gazette, whose editor is a young man. After saying, as quoted before, that the editor does "not believe that the majority of this class of citizens (young men) are so far towards the gutter as to be publicly stigmatized as habitual drinkers," the Gazette adds; "neither do we believe that any number of the young men of Portsmouth will be inclined to parade their virtuous names before the public (in a printed list) as total abstinents. How many of the latter class there may be in the city, we have no means of knowing, and think that it is none of our business; though we may express our belief that the total abstinents from the use of spirituous liquors, (if we include ale, cider and porter) would form a very small portion of the male community over 18 years of age."

The writer of these articles is very sorry that he must say the latter statements are true; and that he must also add what is equally true, that among the occasional drinkers of the last and former years, there are not a few young men who are habitual and daily drinkers at the present day.

The point of difference between the occasional and the habitual drinker, is a very nice one; and many persons slip by it without being aware of the change. They fix their eyes on it, as mariners do on a distant light, and running for it, the current sweeps them by.

To indicate something of the strength of this current, we make another extract from the same paper.

"It seems that the ultra doctrines of temperance are repudiated here, as we presume they are throughout the country. These doctrines may be right; but they certainly are unpopular; and we think it an unwise course in our temperance reformers to class those who occasionally indulge in spirituous beverages in a mild form with the abandoned drunkard. The admitted progress of the temperance cause under this mode of treatment shows its effects—an increase of drinking, and it would seem the better policy to abandon it for some different species of tactics."

The intent of these sentences, is to warn temperance men that they go too fast and too far, in their efforts to promote the good object. By the ultra doctrines, here, we suppose from the connexion, must be meant those of total abstinence. They are less popular, we know, than they were about 12 years ago, when the names of professed and pledged total abstinents here were numbered and publicly enrolled by thousands, and in this number were hundreds of young men. But they are not so unpopular now as they were 20 years ago;—and 30 years ago no such doctrines were so much as dreamed of in Portsmouth.

Now what has been, may be again. The enormity of an evil, now and then wakes up a public sentiment against itself, beginning sometimes among those who pity the sufferers, and sometimes among the sufferers themselves.

Uncle Toby is not aware that any body has "classed those who indulge occasionally with the abandoned drunkard." He certainly adopts no such classification; but on the contrary maintains that there is a regular gradation, by numerous but almost imperceptible steps, from the first to the last; and the descent is so easy that he would warn all his younger friends as they value health, reputation, happiness and hope, to keep out of the danger, by the simplest process possible, viz.: to let strong drinks alone.

As an evidence of the danger, directly in point, several of the New York papers remark that there was an excess of drunkenness among the young gentlemen callers in that city on Monday, and that droves of them swarmed in every part of the city, rushing into and out of houses, where they were making their New Year's calls, half intoxicated, reckless in their conduct and demeanor, universally profane, and conducting in a manner not only disgraceful to themselves but reflecting discredit upon the city.

The cautious and urbane editor of the Boston Advertiser, speaking of the same New York celebration of New Year, says:

"All accounts agree that the streets were full of intoxicated persons, and the day seems to have been made the occasion of very general license and dissipation, as well as ridiculous extravagance. We hope it will be long before we import such manners as these."

The inference which Uncle Toby would draw from all these extracts is, that while public opinion here, and social usage among the young and fashionable, as to drinking, are not so bad as they might be, or even so bad as in New York,—they are yet not up to the mark of true temperance, honorable sobriety, total abstinence.

Those habits are not so bad as they were forty years ago, when every body offered liquors, and almost every body drank, at morning calls, evening visits and set parties; not so bad as when on election day, each political party had its free grog depot, between which and the polls, lines of voters were constantly and openly passing and repassing.—But they do appear to be worse than they were ten years ago; that is, social drinking among the young, genteel, fashionable and promising, is more common, open, and within a certain circle, reputable, than it has been, within a few years.

In this social, genteel drinking, he now sees the greatest danger. The old plea, that men made when he was young, is exploded. They used to say, that laborers needed rum to make them strong; that rum kept out the cold, and prevented people from dying with the heat. But this would be laughed at now. And yet, though the habit is confessedly useless, and though the descent from occasional to habitual drinking, and thence to frequent excess and constant misery, is fearfully rapid,—yet because it is the fashion, thousands approach the brink of destruction and look over!

CRIME IN TENNESSEE.—It is stated in an official report that, of 240 convicts in the Tennessee Penitentiary, 38 were temperate before sentenced, and 202 intemperate; and 127 were drunken when they committed crime. There are 43 whose fathers were temperate; 197 whose fathers were intemperate, of whom 72 were common drunkards. There are three who have had a classical education, 7 a common English education, 105 who can read and write, 62 who can read only, and 63 who can neither read nor write. These statistics show very clearly that intemperance and the want of education are the two most fruitful sources of crime.

GREAT FIRE IN NEW YORK.—On Sunday morning Jan. 8, the great Metropolitan Hall in New York, (first called Tripler Hall,) was burnt to the ground, together with the adjoining new Hotel, called the Lafarge. Insured for $195,000. Furniture of the Hotel for $20,000, less than one fifth of its value.

☞ The Maine Legislature is "in a fix," about the organization of the Senate: the democrats have 7 members, the whigs 6; and the Senate by a vote of 7 to 6, inform the House that there are 4 vacancies in Cumberland and Waldo, where Democrats must be chosen,—but the House demur—and so they are tied at present.

☞ The Lawrence Sentinel has new type and a new head. The Sentinel does up the local matters well. The editor we believe is an Irishman by birth, and in religion a member of the Roman Church; and he is certainly a member of the Democratic party, but whether hard or soft we cannot say. He does his editorial work ably and promptly.

MAINE TEMPERANCE JOURNAL.—We have just received No. 1 of Vol. XI. It is published in Portland, edited by Rev. Benj. D. Peck, and has just been enlarged and improved. It is now a paper of 28 columns, and contains a great variety of interesting matter.

☞ In Boston, Mr. W. P. Prescott has been fined $100 and costs, for selling liquor, and required to give bonds in $1000 not to sell again. This is the first successful prosecution in Boston. The fine was paid and bonds given.

PORTLAND EXCHANGE BURNT.

On Sunday morning about six o'clock, fire was discovered in the Exchange (or new Custom House,) the most extensive and costly architectural pile in the city, and in about two hours the whole was a mass of ruins; the extensive cabinets of the Society of Natural History, embracing some of the most perfect and rare collections in this country, are entirely destroyed; the Post Office apartments, the U. S. Court Rooms and offices, the splendid Hall of the Customs, and adjoining rooms, are swept of everything; and nothing now remains of the beautiful Exchange edifice, but the bare granite walls, shattered and wracked, and blackened by the devouring element.

The safe of the Atlantic Bank is in good order; the letters of the Post Office were saved; also the records and files of the U. S. Court.

The building was purchased of the city by the United States in 1849, for one hundred and forty-nine thousand dollars, and probably nearly fifty thousand dollars have been expended on it since that time.

But the most deplorable loss is in the rare and valuable collections of the Portland Society of Natural History. The pecuniary loss is perhaps from twelve to fifteen thousand dollars, but their value is not to be considered so much in the cost, as in the impossibility of replacing them.

The cabinet of shells, containing nearly 12,000 specimens, was one of the most perfect in America. There were 800 specimens of birds, finely prepared; and large collections of minerals and fishes. No insurance on this property.

Judge Ware lost a library worth $2000.

MAYOR OF BOSTON.—At 2 o'clock on Monday, the vote stood—for Wilkins 1742; Smith 3835; Hobart 140; Whiting 989; Scattering 46.

LOCAL.

☞ The Third Lecture, by Rev. Dr. Burroughs, of his usual winter course, will be delivered on Wednesday evening, in St. John's Chapel, State street.

☞ Rev. Mr. Moore is to deliver his lecture to the Odd Fellows at the Temple on Wednesday evening.

☞ Mr. Ingraham will preach on Wednesday evening in the Advent Chapel, Hanover Street; services to commence at 7 o'clock.

THE MAILS.—In the Daily Chronicle of Monday, "L." says,

"It is well known that the first train from Boston arrives here between half past nine and twenty minutes to ten, being seldom later."

In answer to that statement, we give the following memorandum, from the Post Office Books, of the time of arrival of morning Mail from Boston for week ending Jan. 7, 1854:

Monday, 2d	11:15 A. M.
Tuesday, 3d	10:10 "
Wednesday, 4th	10 "
Thursday, 5th	9:50 "
Friday, 6th	10 "
Saturday, 7th	10:05 "

For the Chronicle.

WHO ARE THE POOREST MEN?

Who is the poorest man?
Not him who toils ten hours,
With good mechanic powers,
To earn whate'er he can:
He's not the poorest man.

Who is the poorest man?
Not him, who with a sigh,
Bears brick and mortar high,
To earn his bread or die:
He's not the poorest man.

Who is the poorest man?
Not him who sweeps your walk,
And dares not with you talk
While shovelling up your tan,—
He's not the poorest man.

Who is the poorest man?
Not him who saws your wood
And blacks your boots so good,
To earn his daily food:
He's not the poorest man.

Who is the poorest man?
Not him whose bitter fate
His hunger 'tis to sate
By begging at your gate:
He's not the poorest man. ALPHONZO.

[Answer to-morrow.]

THE ERIE RIOT.

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 7.—The two Kirkpatricks, Dr. Sherwin and John K. Jacks have been arrested and taken to Pittsburg. This has completely cowed the rioters, and other formerly prominent leaders are absenting themselves from the scene of the operations. The Marshal here is determined to enforce the laws and protect the Railroad Company in their rights. The following despatch puts the finishing touch upon the riotous proceedings:—

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—To Alfred King, Mayor, and T. B. Vincent, Sheriff of Erie: I, Wm. Bigler, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the purpose of forcing obedience to the laws, and in order to see them faithfully administered, hereby authorize and require the said A. King and T. B. Vincent to call upon all good citizens, and if necessary the military, to aid in suppressing riots, if any should occur, and to preserve the public peace; and also to secure obedience to laws, and the orders and desires of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, against the destruction of the property of the Franklin Canal Company,—and further, that you advise obedience to the orders and decrees of the United States Court. You will also give publicity to this communication.

(Signed) WM. BIGLER.

The following despatch was received here to-day It proposes a compromise:—

HARRISBURG, Jan. 7.—To A. King, Mayor of Erie: The Railroad men propose, if the people will let them, to lay down a track for the time being, which shall not affect the legal rights of either party. They to telegraph to Pittsburg to discontinue proceedings against Kirkpatrick and others for contempt of Court. We think you had better accept. The Governor desires it. Call at Council and have their action immediately.

(Signed) E. BABBITT, and five others.

Our (Erie) authorities telegraphed that it is unsatisfactory to Erie, and Harbor Creek will not consent to the laying of any gauge whatever on the old track.

So it seems Gov. Bigler has come to his senses, and no longer sympathises with the rioters.

☞ Steamer George Law arrived at New York on Sunday from Aspinwall, and the Star of the West from San Juan—with $1,640,000 in gold.

The Sonora Fillibusters had been defeated.

The news from China, to Nov. 8, is favorable to the rebels.

EXPLOSION IN TREMONT TEMPLE, BOSTON.—On Sunday afternoon, about half-past one o'clock, the smell of escaping gas in Tremont Temple led to a search to ascertain the cause, and three men, named James Fairfield, Joseph K. Hayes, the superintendent of the building, and Deacon Drew, in searching the house, entered a large ante-room opposite the entrance of the gallery, which was so filled with gas as almost to prevent respiration.—One of the men incautiously lighted a match, and that moment an explosion took place, by which all of them were much injured, and the hall somewhat damaged.

9 DAYS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6.

Steamer El Dorado arrived at the Balize this morning.

The Daniel Webster from San Juan, with 100 passengers, is also coming up.

The Eldorado left Aspinwall on the 29th, and the George Law left the same night for New York, with mails, 3000 passengers, and $558,000 in gold dust.

The steamer Star of the West sailed from San Juan on the 1st for New York, with 300 passengers, and $2,000,000 in gold dust.

The principal feature in the California papers is the accounts of the proceedings of the Sonora Fillibusters.

On the 3d of December, the Walker party made an excursion from San Diego, where they arrived on the day previous, to capture the Governor or to forage. They were attacked by some Mexicans and beaten, with the loss of 12 or 14 men; they then fled and took refuge in a house at Eusenebe, where at latest accounts they were beseiged by several hundred Mexicans, who cut off their boats and prevented their reaching the Caroline, which was anchored near by.

The bark Anita sailed from San Francisco on the 30th, with 250 Fillibusters and a large supply of ammunition for the assistance of the Walker expedition. The authorities made no attempt to stop them. It is reported that others are preparing to follow.

The machinery and part of the mails of the Winfield Scott were entirely lost, but the ship had not at the latest dates broken up.

The Pacific Railroad Surveying Expedition was busy in the South.

The mining accounts are very favorable. Large quantities of rain had fallen, and the rivers were high.

THE STEAMER SAN FRANCISCO.

Much excitement and anxiety has prevailed with regard to this steamer. As has been stated, she left New York for California on the 21st ult., with eight hundred human beings on board, including over five hundred United States troops. She had on board nearly the whole of the 3d regiment of artillery. We have already stated that she was fallen in with December 26, by the Maria of Liverpool, N. S., and have the following in addition :—

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 7.—Captain Freeman, of the brig Maria, at Liverpool, N. S., 4th inst., reports that on the 26th of December, in latitude 38 20 north, longitude 69 west, with wind from southeast, that he fell in with the steamer San Francisco. She was completely disabled; her engines were not working, her decks were swept, and the boats and spars were gone. In order to keep the San Francisco heading to the sea, they had her dredged, but at the time a tremendous cross sea was breaking over her. Captain Watkins desired Captain Freeman of the Maria, to hold on during the night to render assistance, which he attempted to do under bare poles, but the wind increased to a hurricane from the northwest, and the next morning the steamer was not in sight, and he could not find her afterwards. It is the opinion of Captain Freeman that she foundered during the gale. Before he discovered the San Francisco he passed large quantities of bedding, chests, barrels, and other articles of ship's use.

The report of Captain Strout, of the brig Napoleon, at Boston on Saturday, gives something further :—

Captain Strout, of brig Napoleon, at this port from Matanzas, reports December 25, latitude 38 04, longitude 69 30, fell in with steamship San Francisco, Captain Watkins, from New York, December 21, for San Francisco, in distress, having been dismasted in a gale on the 23d. Everything was gone above the deck, and the sea was making a complete breach over her. Captain Watkins stated that the steamer was leaking fast, and requested Captain Strout to keep him company, which he did; but the next morning she was not to be seen, as she had drifted fast to the eastward. The steamer was first seen at mid day, and lost sight of at dark—wind northwest, fresh gale. At night it was more moderate, and next day it was nearly calm.—There were about two hundred persons on deck, and when the brig hove in sight they cheered her. The first mate of the Napoleon states that the spray (not the sea,) flew over the steamer. A part of the hurricane deck forward was standing, and the crew were busily engaged in cutting that away and throwing that overboard. She was on the southeast edge of the gulf, and was drifting out. Captain Strout judged that they were more safe on board the steamer than those on board his brig.

Mr. Aspinwall, one of the owners of the steamer, telegraphed to Boston for one of the officers of the Napoleon to proceed to N. York immediately, and the mate, in consequence of the request, left on Saturday afternoon.

It is stated that the San Francisco was built under the superintendence of Commodore Kearney and Captain Bell, of the navy. Her frame is of oak, and was caulked before planking. And otherwise she is braced and fastened in the strongest possible manner. She has two powerful engines of 1000 horse power each.

[There are great hopes that the steamer is not lost, notwithstanding the fears of Capt. Freeman. There is a wide interest felt in the fate of those on board. Major Marchant and his family have lived some years at Newburyport, and were much beloved and respected there. His wife and grown up daughter, a young lady of great accomplishments, and one or two younger children, Mrs. Chase, his married daughter, who is a widow, and her young boy; Capt. Gates, who married a Portland lady, with their three children; Lieut. Winder, who married a daughter of Capt. Ichabod Goodwin of Portsmouth; Capt. Judd, and his wife who was a neice of Commander Ingraham of the navy, of Charleston, S. C., were among the passengers.]—Boston Courier.

Mr. Badger, in the Senate on Wednesday, said the retrenchment committee was hard at work, and he would soon report their first fruits—a bill to increase the salaries of all the government employees.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.
I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.
There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle, the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.
The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.
Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 123 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.
Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

ANTIQUITIES FROM NINEVEH.—The bark N. H. Wolf, which arrived from Alexandretta, Syria, on Monday last, has thirty seven boxes consigned to the cabinets of several of the colleges of the United States, and to private cabinets, containing specimens of the arts of the ancient Ninevites, which have been brought to light by the labors of Layard and Rawlinson, under the direction of the British Museum, after having lain buried in those ancient ruins for twenty-five or thirty centuries. These are the first specimens of any note which have come to this country, and when placed in the cabinet for which they are designed will give the people of this modern country some faint idea of the perfection of the arts in the time of Jonah.—N. Y. Tribune.

DEATH OF THE REV. LEWIS WELD.—The Rev. Mr. Weld, principal of the American Asylum, at Hartford, died at his residence in that city on the evening of the 30th of Dec. He had recently visited Europe for his health, but without avail. Mr. W. was a very worthy man, and his services were valuable to the institution over which he has presided since the death of the Rev. Mr. Gallaudet.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz.:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage, to any part of the United States will be but THIRTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office.

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, late a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) is determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others), will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them the early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 300,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of this article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade on an article hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

For sale in Portsmouth by J. H. THACHER.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Mosquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholic, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 246 Greenwich street, New York.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as Narcor's Kennedy Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"$500 00. On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

Portsmouth, Aug. 1, 1853. m19 1y

This valuable Medicine is daily effecting some of the most astonishing and wonderful cures that have ever been known. All who have used it for Asthma, Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Whooping Cough, Croup or Hives, Consumption, Chronic Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Pain and Soreness of the Breast,—

CAN AND DO ATTEST TO ITS USEFULNESS.

BRONCHITIS,

A Disease which is annually
SWEEPING THOUSANDS!
To a premature grave
IS CURED BY IT!

This expectorant immediately suppresses the Cough and Pain, subdues the Inflammation and Fever, removing the Difficulty in Breathing by producing a free and

EASY EXPECTORATION,

So that a Cure is soon Effected.

It is useless for the Proprietor to state any more than the article really is, for upon trying it will fully test it. In case it does not give satisfaction,

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1854. VOLUME 3. NO. 139.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

is published by

FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,

At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,

Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $2 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,

A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

OUTRAGE BY A CONDUCTOR.—The Norwich Aurora gives an account of an outrageous assault upon a citizen of Norwich, a seafaring man, named John Crocker, by a conductor of the New London and Palmer railroad. Crocker had been to Norwich to visit his family, and was returning to his vessel at New London. He had left with his family all the money he had upon his person except the fifty cents, which, he supposed was the regular fare. Soon after the train had passed Norwich the conductor called for his fare, which Crocker handed to him. Five cents additional were demanded as the penalty for not buying his ticket before taking his seat in the cars. Crocker explained the circumstances, and replied that he could not pay it.

The conductor immediately ordered the train to a stop, and Crocker was seized by the brakeman and thrown with great force over the chain on the rear of the car. He struck upon the ground with such force that his knee-pan was broken and he was otherwise seriously bruised and injured. The train then passed on and he crawled upon the ground as well as he could to the nearest house—which was about a mile and a half distant—where he lay in great agony till his friends were notified of his condition Sunday morning. We trust that the guilty parties will be brought to punishment. Crocker is undoubtedly a cripple for life.—New Haven Palladium.

The conductor and brakeman had a legal right to turn the man out for the five cents; though in the circumstances named, some conductors that we know, would have let them go;—but the Railroad Company are liable to pay roundly for the man's broken knee; and the brakeman is liable to arrest as a criminal for assault and battery; because he had no right to use needless violence and thereby do injury.

DR. NOTT AND UNION COLLEGE.—Dr. Nott, who had been the best abused man in the country, at last stands before the world completely vindicated from the gross and wholesale accusations of his enemies. No graduate of Union College ever doubted its President's honesty, and we are proud, as one of his "Sons" and of her children, to volunteer the feeble testimony of our unshaken confidence in his integrity.

The Trustees of the College have made public a report which states officially that Dr. Nott has delivered to them property to the amount of six hundred thousand dollars for the use of the College. They also voted him Resolutions of thanks, and recommend a Congratulatory Meeting of the Graduates at the next Commencement in commemoration of the fiftieth year of his Presidency.

We will add, without knowing very much about the manner of the investments which Dr. Nott made for the benefit of Union college, that the intention made known twenty years ago, and confirmed by his announcement of the Board of Trustees, speaks through every act of his life.—Albany Express.

MISSIONARY CONTRIBUTIONS.—At a general meeting of the Orthodox Congregational Churches in Boston on the first Sabbath of the year, held at Park street Church, Rev. Mr. Anderson, one of the Secretaries of the American Board, made a statement of the contributions to the Treasury of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions during the year 1853, as follows:

Mount Vernon Church, Mr. Kirk's, $5,080 10; Essex street Church, Dr. Adam's, $4,368 90; Park street Church, Mr. Stone's, 3,336 78; Old South Church, Dr. Blagden's 3,150 12; Central Church, Mr. Richards's, 2,829 40; Bowdoin street Church, Dr. Waterbury's, 2,768 94; Salem street Church, Dr. Beecher's, 1,029 30; Phillips Church, in South Boston, 574 50; Shawmut Church, Mr. Smith's, 500; Maverick Church, in East Boston, Mr. Clark's, 485 19; Pine street Church, Mr. Dexter's, 217 72; Mariner's Church, Mr. Bourne's, 56; Edwards Church, 32 62; United Monthly Concert in January, 1853, 72 69; Ladies' Jews Society, (in part) 200 64; Miscellaneous, 357; Total, $25,032.

THE CHINESE WALL.—In a lecture on China, which he delivered at Bolton, England, Dr. Bowring said it had been calculated that if all the bricks, stones and masonry of Great Britain were gathered together, they would not be able to furnish materials enough for the Wall of China; and that all the buildings in London put together would not make the towers and turrets which adorn it.

A marriage has just come off in Syracuse, which was the result of an advertisement inserted in the New York papers. The advertisement was replied to by a Syracuse lady, pictures and letters were exchanged—finally a meeting took place. Result—matrimony, and a vindication of the advertising system.

WILD RACE OF A LOCOMOTIVE.

A few minutes past ten o'clock yesterday morning a collision occurred on the Miami road, at Milford. There was no loss of life, but the circumstances were quite remarkable. There had been an unusual heavy fall of snow the night previous, by which the track became heavy, and all the trains fell behind time.—The mail train coming into the city was some thirty-five minutes behind time at the Milford station, where it was due at 9 25. Conductor Osgood was on the platform helping the ladies to and from the cars, when the whistle of the Hillsboro freight train was heard, and the locomotive seen coming around the sharp curve above Milford at full speed. The Conductor of the freight train was on the engine, and told his engineer to check up. The signal was given but the breaks were insufficient to hold the wheels, and the cars came booming down the slippery track with abated but dangerous speed. The wheels were reversed, and the conductor and engineer jumped from the engine. A brakeman on the mail train shouted to the passengers in the rear car to get out, but before they could escape, the descending locomotive came into the car with a terrible crash, and went nearly through, splintering wood and iron, but—and there's the marvel—killing not one of the twenty passengers, the most of whom had got well forward before the iron horse came thundering over their seats!

When Mr. Watt, engineer of the mail train heard the crash of the collision he supposed his own train would be driven over him and, with his assistants sprang off. The furnace had just been crammed with wood and there was a full head of steam on. The force of the blow uncoupled the locomotive and tender from the baggage car, at the same instant jerking the lever and throwing the throttle valve wide open! Away sped the locomotive like an arrow, sweeping down the track at seventy miles an hour! God help any helpless train met or overtaken—help the city, but full fourteen miles below, for that distance will be devoured in fifteen minutes!

The escaped engine came howling by Plainville, visible for an instant to the appalled villagers, switched off into the double track, as lightning from one steel rod to another divergent, and thundered on to the city whose spires must now have been seen from the fire disc of this fiery comet—but there was none to see, for rider, or driver, or living human soul had the Engine none. On, straight on, the city! the city!

Happily the furnace door flew open, the draught ceased, and a little way above the upper Engine House, on a heavy up grade, the Locomotive's breath was spent; it came to a dead stand, and stood there silent and cold, forming as much a part of the still wintry landscape as the whitened rock and shrouded trees on the hillside above.—Cincinnati paper, Dec. 31.

LADY SHOEMAKERS.—Fancy needle work for ladies seems to be giving way to a more useful kind of labor in some parts of our country, and shoemaking is becoming quite a fashionable home employment among those who do any work at all. The N. Y. Express states that in Washington some of the most respectable and independent women, both married and single, engage in the shoe-making business as an agreeable pastime, as well as from motives of economy. They find it a light, pleasant and profitable work. They say:

"The gaiters which cost us $3 at the stores, cost us one day's labor and 60 cents for the best materials bought at retail. One of us has made five pair of ladies' gaiters in a week. Many of us make shoes for ourselves and children, without neglecting other household duties. On Capitol Hill alone there are thirty ladies thus employed, and about 200 in the city. We find it very easy to make two pair of children's shoes in a day, and they cost us here $1 25 a pair."

SAD ACCIDENT.—The Essex County Freeman states that Hon. Benj. F. Mudge, of Lynn, (County Commissioner,) was run over by the locomotive at the Ipswich depot, Friday afternoon, and injured in such a manner as to render amputation of both legs necessary.

EXEMPTED.—Printers with nine children are to be exempted from taxation in the State of New York. Very safe legislation, that. We would like to see the printer who had anything to tax, after feeding nine children.—Eastern Argus.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS,

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Is just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 2awly

V. B. Palmer, American Newspaper Agent, is the only authorized Agent for this paper in the cities of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and is duly empowered to take advertisements and subscriptions at the same rates as required by us. His receipts will be regarded as payments.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 11, 1854.

MAYOR OF BOSTON.

At the third trial, which took place on Monday Jan. 10, Dr. J. V. C. Smith, the candidate of the "Citizens' Union," was elected Mayor, as also Messrs. Drake, Odiorne and Williams, who were on the same ticket, for Aldermen.

The votes stood: for Smith, 6840; Wilkins, whig, 3171; Whiting, liquor union, 1731; Hobart, dem., 282; scat. 65. Total 12,099. This gives Smith an absolute majority of 845, and an excess over all others of 1689.

Dr. Smith's election cannot be claimed as the triumph of any political party: but it is far better, viz. the triumph of a good man over all party influences, cliques and intrigues. The Boston Courier says:

We have no particular fears that any great misfortune is to accrue to this city because Dr. Smith is chosen Mayor. He is a gentleman of sense and intelligence,—he has proved himself to be popular, and he can gain nothing by sinking the good opinions which he has gained.

The Chronicle also speaks favorably of Mr. Smith, and reports his address to his friends verbatim.

As soon as the result became known, the friends of Dr. Smith assembled in large numbers in front of his office, at the Tremont House, and cheered him many times. He made his appearance and addressed his fellow citizens from the steps of the hotel. He thanked them for the honor conferred upon him—and assured them, among other things, that he would administer the government independent of all parties. This he felt to be his duty, since he had been elected by the people and not by party. He had given, he said, no pledges to any one, and added, that none were asked from him. He should enter the office, therefore, free to act in accordance with his best judgment.

Dr. Smith is an old, well proved and judicious friend of temperance, law and order. He will do his best to promote good government.

LIFE IN BOSTON.—The Boston Courier of Monday says, there was a general turn-out of fast teams and slow on Sunday, and many of the riders, upon their return to town, looked and acted very much as if they had discovered "spirituous and intoxicating liquors" in their excursion in the "rural districts."

In the city, by the police, during the three months ending Jan. 1, 1854, the number of arrests have been 3026. Of these, 14 were for highway robbery; 76 house and shop-breaking; passing counterfeit money 19, pick-pockets 19, larceny 661, assault and battery 517, gambling 25, fugitives 19, gambling on Sunday 32, violation of the Sunday law 117, breaking glass 50, malicious mischief 27, disturbing the peace 58, night walking 97, drunkenness 1991, common drunkards 580, vagrants 46, stubborn children 23, smoking in the street 63, violations of the city ordinances 337, insanity 38, &c., &c. Of the whole amount of arrests made 882 were minors.

The North Watch, in the same time, have been called three hundred and eighteen times to stop fights and family quarrels; and have helped home 184 drunken persons. There has been $762,88 taken from prisoners, and returned to them when sober; about $2000 worth of stolen property recovered and returned to the owners.

A CASE FOR SYMPATHY.—Some three years ago, a young man, accompanied by a young lady to whom he was devotedly attached, stopped at Springfield while on a travelling excursion, and engaged a horse and buggy at one of the livery stables there, to be absent some days. The stated number of days having gone by, and the young man failing to appear, caused the owners of the team to be alarmed, and they immediately issued a hand bill, headed "Stop Thief!" In the mean time the young man made his appearance, and judge of his surprise to find himself at once seized by the officers of justice. He endeavored to reason and expostulate with the owners of the horse and carriage, assuring them that he was wholly innocent of any criminal intentions, and offered them the full price of the establishment to be released. All this proved unavailing to the hardened wretches. Rather than suffer the ignominy of a trial which would have resulted in the exposition of the young lady and his highly respectable connections, he gave an assumed name and plead guilty. He is now in our state prison, sick and emaciated, serving out his sentence, which expires in about twenty days. He never disclosed the above facts until yesterday, nor would they even now be known, but for his being in such a debilitated state as to make him feel alarmed for his life. May his future days be crowned with happiness.—Boston Post.

This is a very strange case. If correctly stated, the young man must have been oversensitive, over-modest, or over-proud. A small amount of courage and good sense would have made him plead not guilty, and abide the consequences. If the story as told above, be true, we wish to hear the rest of it.

FROM CHINA.

Dates from Shanghai are to the 4th of November, and to the 6th from Hong Kong.—The Small Sword Society rebels expelled the Mandarins from Shanghai on the 1st Sept. The rebels and foreigners are on very good terms. The success of the former is now considered certain. The stock of rice in Pekin is exhausted.

It is said that the Emperor has ordered a levy of 200,000 Manchoo troops.

The rebels had not at last advices arrived at Pekin, but had taken the capitols of four provinces, probably Keangtoo, Honau, Shanting and Shanse.

The U. S. Commissioner has become neutral.

A private letter from Shanghai dated Nov. 4th, says the Imperialists are furiously bombarding the town this morning. They are quite near us, but I hope not near enough to endanger us at all.. There is quite a smell of gunpowder. The siege is little better than a farce, and can effect nothing except by starvation, of which there is little danger. The insurgents are in high spirits, having plenty of powder and rice, and their opponents are much disheartened. Mr. Reynolds, an Englishman, was captured by the Imperialists when he was aiding the rebels, and they were talking of executing him. The British Consul refused to interfere. The rebels are now acknowledged to be good Christians by the foreign Protestants in China.

Dates from Canton direct by the clipper Mermaid, are to the 8th of October. There was little news of the war, the theatre of the important events being now principally in North China above Shanghai.

There had been several important skirmishes in the provinces of Honan, in which the rebels were victorious.

The news of the capture of Shanghæ by the Small Sword Society had produced a great sensation, and many of the foreign residents were of opinion that Canton would soon rise and expel the Mandarins. Some of the lower orders of the people in Canton had acted very rudely to Americans and British, making threats, and to secure the lives and property of the foreigners in case of an outbreak, the British sloop-of-war Lily had moved down near the foreign residences, so as to have them under their guns.

In case of any serious difficulty, it was understood that the forces of the two nations would act in concert, although nothing was apprehended after these precautions.

The U. S. Consul has received directions from Mr. Marshall to advise all Americans that they should treat both parties on a perfect equality if they wish to recover for any losses occasioned by the war.

GARDNER DEAN.—Two gentlemen of New Bedford, Messrs. Josiah S. Bonney and Franklin Jenney have been engaged in an investigation of the route said by Dean's letter to be travelled by him, and of the statements he made in regard to little incidents on the way. Mr. Dean accompanied Messrs. Bonney and Jenney, on their tour of investigation. They had heard many stories in relation to the singular disappearance of Mr. Gardner Dean, that he was in the city on the Thursday night Dec. 15, 1853, and that he was seen to pass by Smith's Mills, on Friday morning. But after hearing his story where he was on that morning, they went and found that his statement is true, in all his account of the route that he took after he left the woods at Assonet. The keeper of the Taunton Hotel, of whom he hired a horse and carriage; the man who drove; Mrs. Burt and son, at whose house he next called; Mr. Jones, a store-keeper in Rehoboth; and finally Carpenter & Colwell of Pawtucket, where he exchanged his hat for a cap,—all recognized him and confirmed all his statements in relation to that part of his adventure. Mr. Jones of Rehoboth, at whose store Dean warmed himself, says, "he appeared as rational as any man. The pedlar of whom I bought the combs asked Mr. Dean to ride with him as he wanted company; but Mr. Dean at first declined and appeared some timid, but finally after being asked the second time, he got into the carriage."

Others of the above persons considered the man to be either frightened or sick. On the whole, Dean's story is strengthened by the search; and must stand till a better one appears.

☞ David Dempster, undoubtedly the murderer of his wife, has been tried in Boston, and the jury did not agree. The jurors were divided thus:—ten for conviction; two for acquittal. The evidence is circumstantial, but very strong. Perhaps the two acquitting jurors might be more scrupulous on account of the new decision of the judges in Massachusetts, whereby the Governor is directed to issue death warrants.

Dempster was a drunken, cruel, detestable husband.

THE MAINE LAW IN DANGER.—Vast preparations are being made by the temperance party to pass through the Legislature a most stringent law against the sale of spirits, in any shape or form. There is, however, a chance of its defeat, if all we hear be correct. It is said that Governor Seymour entertains strong constitutional scruples against such a measure, and may, if new arguments be not addressed to alter his belief, deem it his duty to exercise his veto power in the last resort. Should he do so, there can be little doubt of his being presented for reelection by a strong, energetic and wealthy party in this State. As matters now stand, this is the last chance for those who are opposed to the measure.—New York Herald.

LOCAL.

NEW LYCEUM.—On Tuesday evening, at the Temple, Wendell Phillips of Boston delivered his valuable lecture on The Lost Arts, in announcing which he avowed his intention to aid the audience in making a truer estimate of our own knowledge and civilization, as compared with ages and periods in the past, on which we have been accustomed and taught to look back, as if they were vastly our inferiors; were savages or children compared with us.

Before proceeding to enumerate or examine the lost arts, he noticed the acknowledged superiority of the ancients, in works of fancy and imagination, as romance, poetry and sculpture: but remarked that it was in the arts commonly deemed useful, that we claimed our great superiority, which claim he aimed to show was not so well founded, as had sometimes been supposed.

Among the old arts which were equal or superior to those of modern days, he first mentioned Glass, including the use of telescopic and microscopic glasses, to which he ascribed great antiquity, supported it by abundant quotations, and closed with the modern fact of the broken magnifying glass dug up out of Ninevah by Layard.

The next thing noticed, was the excellence, variety and permanency of ancient Colors, instanced in a series of examples, from the stained glass windows in the old cathedrals on the European continent, back to the historic paintings on Egyptian walls of three or four thousand years standing.

In Metals, the ancient Eastern nations not only excelled us, but in their descendants they still show their superiority. The Damascus blades of the Eastern Tales, the same keen blades which met the crusaders; the hardened copper tools which cut hyreoglyphics on the old red granite of Egypt; and the knives which the savages of Madagascar now make of the rusty hoops of ship's water casks, were made to figure beside the hard copper rings found on the skeletons in the mounds of Ohio.

Lastly, he mentioned machinery and mechanical powers, including steam, steamboats, railroads and canals, with other items of less note, leaving us but few really new things, except the telegraph and daguerreotype.

But, as he closed, we were cautioned not to suppose the former days were better than these; but invited to consider that our superiority at this day consists not in the greater amount of our knowledge, but in the better use we make we make of it. The knowledge of Egypt was a monopoly of the priesthood, by which they and the kings cheated and governed the people: but the knowledge of our day, spread abroad by the printing press, and founded on the teachings of the New Testament, chased away the mist of ignorance, elevating, strengthening and blessing the masses: and for these reasons cannot fade away and die.

The lecture was delivered in a very easy and natural manner, without notes.

The lecture on next Thursday evening is to be by Rev. A. A. Miner, of Boston.

FIRE ENGINES.—Messrs. Editors:—Will you, in the name of many well-meaning and tax-paying citizens, inquire of the late Fire Department Committee, Where are the two new Engines? DISTRICT NO. 1.—The Delegates of the Democratic Party in District No. 1, assembled at Lee, on Friday, Jan. 7, and nominated, by acclamation, John M. Weare of Seabrook, as their candidate for Senator at the ensuing election in March.

☞ The Rockingham Co. Democratic Convention assembled at Exeter on Tuesday, and re-nominated the county officers of the present year, except John Shannon, Esq. of this city, who declined serving again as County Commissioner, and whose place was filled by the nomination of Gen. Josiah G. Hadley.

PORTSMOUTH ATHENÆUM.—At the annual meeting of the Portsmouth Athenæum, holden on Wednesday, Jan. 4, the following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year:

The Library now contains 7693 volumes, of which in the past year 88 have been added by donation, and 20 by purchase.

SHIPS WITCH OF THE WAVE AND NORTHERN LIGHT.—Considerable interest has been felt by nautical men in this community in regard to the passages of these two clipper ships, which sailed from Boston for San Francisco. By the arrival of the George Law at New York from San Francisco, we learn that they have both arrived out. The Witch of the Wave, Captain Miller, sailed from Boston, Aug. 16, and arrived Dec. 12, and the Northern Light, Capt. Hatch, Aug. 14, and arrived Dec. 16. By this it will be seen that the Northern Light has been beaten.

The Rev. Dr. Wardlaw, the distinguished dissenting clergyman, died at Glasgow a few days ago.

For the Morning Chronicle.

ANSWER TO "WHO ARE THE POOREST MEN?"

He is the poorest man
Of wealth not to be told,
Who joins the miser clan—
And shivers in the cold,
Rather than pay for fire.

He is the poorest man
Whose hope is in bank stock:
If you his motions scan,
He'll ask you what's the clock,
Then count his "interest!"

He is the poorest man
Who boasts of making money,
Yet "can't afford" a fan
E'en to his "sweetest honey!"
His love's the "almighty dollar."

He is the poorest man,
With coffers lined with gold,
Who buys up chips and tan,
To make his good-wife scold
For better wood.

He is the poorest man,
Who acts a mean man's part;
Who feels no sympathy,
Save with his selfish heart,
And hates, for nought, his neighbor.

He is the poorest man,
With thousands at his will—
Of soul a fly might span—
Who for a groat would kill:
These are the poorest men.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, Jan. 9.

SENATE.—Mr. Chase of Ohio presented the proceedings of a public meeting, which was held in committee, relative to the interruption of the mails by the riotous proceedings at Erie.

Mr. Badger introduced a bill allowing a credit on duties on railroad iron. Referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Thompson of Kentucky, introduced a bill for satisfying the claims of Texas embraced within the act of 1850.

Mr. Benjamin offered a resolution calling for the correspondence with Mexico relative to the Tehuantepec right of way.

Adopted and adjourned.

STEAMER SAN FRANCISCO.

The mails of Tuesday do not give any new intelligence from this vessel.

There were eight companies of U. S. Artillery on board, viz: Companies A, B, C, D, G, H, I, K, L, the whole constituting 500 men. Among the passengers were Mr. Geo. Aspinwall, Capt. J. W. T. Gardner, Lieut. F. K. Murray of the Navy; also the following list of army officers and their families:

Col. William Gates, commanding regiment; Major and Brevet Lieut. Col. J. M. Washington; Major Chas. S. Marchant; Surgeon R. S. Satterlee; Assistant Surgeon H. R. Wirtz; First Lieut. S. L. Fremont, Regimental Quartermaster and Acting Adjutant; First Lieut. L. Loeser, Acting Assistant Commissary; Capt. and Brevet Lieut. Col. M. Burke, commanding Company I; Capt. and Brevet Major George Taylor, commanding Company A; Capt. and Brevet Major F. O. Wayne, commanding company D; Capt. H. B. Judd, commanding detachment of recruits to constitute Companies B and L; First Lieut. and Brevet Capt. H. B. Field, commanding Company K; First Lieut. W. A. Winder, commanding Company G; First Lieut. G. S. Winder, commanding Company H; First Lieut. R. H. Smith; Second Lieut. J. Van Voast; Brevet Second Lieut. J. G. Chandler.

Officers Families—Mrs. Gates and three children, Miss Carter, Mrs. Merchant and two children, Miss Valeria Merchant, Mrs. Chase and son, Mrs. Fremont and three children, Mrs. Loeser, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Wyse and child, Mrs. Judd.

Officers of the San Francisco—J. T. Watkins, Commander; Edward Mellus, 1st officer; Geo. Gratton, 2d do; C. F. Barton 3d do; John Mason, 4th do; J. W. Marshall, Chief Engineer; A. Auchinlick, 1st Engineer; J. Farnsworth, 2d do; David Dunham, 2d do; James Crosby, 2d do; B. Donaghan, 3d do; C. Hoffman, 3d do.

THE STEAMER SAN FRANCISCO.—The steamship Alabama, chartered by the government, sailed on Sunday in search of the steamship San Francisco. She had a stock of provisions and coal for sixteen days. The steamship Union, which arrived at New York yesterday, was also chartered by the government, and would leave to-day.

It appears by a letter from W. H. Webb, the builder, that the San Francisco is a very strong vessel, and has extra fastenings, and other improvements were adopted to give her additional strength. Her frame is larger than usual for vessels of her class.

In addition to the steamers from New York, two pilot boats, and the revenue cutter Forward left Philadelphia on Sunday, in quest of the San Francisco. Confident hopes are entertained of the safety of the steamer, and it is not unlikely that she will arrive at Bermuda before any of the vessels which have been sent in quest of her, reach the spot where she was last seen. She was distant from Bermuda about five hundred miles when spoken by the Maria.—Boston Journal.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—A meeting of citizens was held at the Mechanics' Institute on Thursday evening, to consider the recent events connected with the Nuncio Bedini.—The meeting was largely attended, and the proceedings were very violent, the mayor and police being heartily denounced. A resolution offered by Dr. McKeslie, that the German Freemen be requested to carry out their intention of burning Cardinal Bedini in effigy, was adopted. A resolution to couple with the Cardinal's effigy that of the Mayor was voted down.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of Judge Spooner, Captain Lunker, of the police, and 104 police and watchmen, charged with rioting and assaulting the German Freemen. The parties all appeared before the magistrate and gave bail for their appearance on Monday, to answer.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 8.—FIRE.—Eight warehouses on Water street were burnt on Saturday night. Loss $50,000.

A block of buildings at Lafarge, Indiana, was burnt on the third of January. The buildings were at the foot of Main street, and included the Indiana Hotel. Loss $80,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—FIRE.—The machine shop of the Reading Railroad Company at Reading was burnt last night, together with eight or nine engines. Loss $100,000.

The War Department contemplates sending the steamer Key Stone State in search of the San Francisco, but has not yet decided!

THE SHIP STAFFORDSHIRE.—[Extracts from a letter, dated Halifax, N. S.]

"The schooner Expert, Capt. Day, picked up fourteen of the Staffordshire's crew in a boat—landed eleven in Shelburne, and brought five to Halifax. The steward is one of them.

Capt. Richardson was seriously injured a day or two before the accident, and was obliged to keep his bed.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.—We have dates to the 17th. Governor Stevens arrived at Olympia on the 16th of September. He was about to organize the territorial government immediately. He reports that the northern route is very favorable for a railroad.

DISMISSAL.—John M. Quackenbush has been dismissed from service in the U. S. navy.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.
I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.
There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.
The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.
Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.
Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.
6tis d30 DONALD KENNEDY.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this

SPIRIT RAPPINGS.—The Paris correspondent of the Literary Gazette writes, "Such is the terrible effect that it has created, that it has altogether weaned some persons from their ordinary avocations, has bewildered foolish women and has actually sent an eminent Parisian banker, a department prefect, and two or three high functionaries, stark staring mad."

The Washington correspondent of the Tribune says—"Mr. Cutting's move relative to the difficulty between Secretary Guthrie and ex-Collector Brenson is a decided failure.—But three Democrats from New York stood by him, and the Hards feel quite discouraged, if not discomfited. Cutting's resolution was for calling up the "correspondence between Guthrie and Brenson." It was tabled by a vote of 104 to 66.

Mrs. Jenny Goldschmidt recently received a letter from a Texas farmer, bearing the stamps of half the post offices in the United States and Europe. The letter was directed to "Miss Jenny Lind," and contained an offer of his "heart, hand and fortune." Otto was invested with the responsibility of answering the amorous petition.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz.:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages to applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost defies belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1853, was within a trifle of 800,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle sold sold itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus they built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wfm je22

For sale in Portsmouth by J. H. THACHER.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Mosquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not find it as represented may try it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S ROBUST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where so an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"$100 00. On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1854. VOLUME 3. NO. 140.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

is published by

FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,

At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,

Pleasant Street, ... PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,

A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

☞ The following pledge was found on the blank leaf of a book published in London, in 1626, written in a bold hand, and signed by the reverend author. It is dated 1637, and is 217 years old:

From this day forward to the end of my life i will never pledge any health, nor drink a whole carrousal in glass Cupp, Bowle, or any drinking instrument whatsoever, whomsoever it be, or from whomsoever it comes, except the necessity of nature does require it, Not my own most gracious King, nor the greatest Monarch or Tyrant on Earth, Not my dearest friends nor all the gould in the world shall inforce me or alarm me, Not an Angel from Heaven (who i knowe will not attempt it,) Should purswad me: Not Satan with all his subtilities nor all the power of Hell itself shall ever betray me: By this verry sin (for a sin it is and not a little sin) i do plainly find that I have more offended and dishonord my great and glorious maker and most merciful Savior than by all other sins i am subject unto; and for this verry sin know that my God has often bin stranger unto me and for that reason and for no other respect have i thus vowed. And i hartely beg my good father in Heaven of his great goodness and infinite mercy in Jesus Christ to assent in the same and to be favorable unto me for what is past. Amen.

Signed ROBERT BOLTON.

THE WINTER IN EUROPE.—Accounts from England report that the winter thus far has been rather colder than usual. The first part of December was attended with sharp frost and some snow, and at the latest dates the temperature was quite low. In France the weather has been extremely cold, and on the 22d of December snow remained on the ground near Paris. Building has been suspended for the present in that city, and the Archbishop of Paris, considering the severity of the season, has authorized the faithful to eat meat on Friday, till Lent. He deems that the body is better able to bear the cold if well fortified within.

The Archbishop is a wise man; and as no Ghostly Father seems to have the care of our city at present, Uncle Toby hereby issues his permission for all good Christians hereabouts, to eat meat on Friday, (if they can get it at the present high prices,) until Lent. He deems that good beef and mutton will better keep out the cold, than ever so much bad liquor. †UNCLE TOBY.

INSANITY OF HON. EDWARD CURTIS OF NEW YORK.—The N. Y. Tribune states—We learn with the most melancholy interest that our fellow-citizen, the Hon. Edward Curtis, was taken to the insane asylum on Saturday. His health has been failing for some time, and during the past year his intellect has been sensibly affected. The malady began with partial loss of memory, an inability to recognize persons and remember names, and more lately exhibited itself in the hallucination that he was possessed of boundless riches, which he was seeking to bestow with a lavish profusion. The case is deemed by the medical faculty to be a softening of the brain, and but faint hopes exist therefore of his recovery.

Many persons in this vicinity, who knew Mr. Curtis, will receive these tidings with sorrow. He was one of the most endeared personal friends of the late Mr. Webster, and we last saw him at the house at Marshfield, during the last sickness of the great statesman. He was then in good health, although there was a melancholy in his manner which excited much inquiry at the time, but was attributed to the sorrow of the occasion. Mr. Curtis was Collector of the port of New York under Harrison's administration, and has long been a distinguished politician.

There is a tree in Mexico called the chijol, a very fine wood, which becomes petrified after being cut, in a very few years, whether left in the open air or buried. From the timber, houses could be built that would in a few years become fire proof, and last as long as those built of stone. The wood in a green state is easily worked, is used in building wharves, forts, &c., and would be very good as railroad sleepers, or for plank road stringers.

If Humbugs perched on trees, we should think this tree would be a favorite roost.

MORALS OF PORTLAND.—The Portland Journal says,—

"We are gratified to see that our principal liquor dealers have all closed up the traffic voluntarily, and say they will not sell while the law is sustained. This is true of all the principal hotels and wholesale dealers. If they abide by this decision, we opine it will be a long day before they commence again."

WRONG.—The City Missionary, Mr. Dennison, stated at a public meeting, on Sunday evening, that three little boys were now confined in the House of Correction in this city, because they were poor. They have no homes, and the County furnishes them at one of its prisons. It is wrong.—New Bedford Standard.

So it is—but it is better than no home, this cold weather. We suppose it is only a temporary arrangement.

Parson Brownlow says; "The Methodist Episcopal Church, North, has appropriated two hundred and sixty thousand dollars, for missionary purposes, the coming year. Thousands of this amount is for domestic missions, and will be given to those self-sacrificing, peace-making, Yankee hypocrites in the ministry, who labor in Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Texas and California, to convince the people that a man can't get to a Yankee's Heaven, and own slaves.—The only argument that will convince the pious rascals of their errors, is a coat of tar and feathers, and a good ride on a fast trotting Southern fence rail."

Collector Peaslee, of Boston, received a telegraphic despatch on Saturday evening to send the revenue cutter Morris in search of the steamer San Francisco. The cutter being on a cruise, a pilot boat was immediately sent after her, and she returned to port on Monday morning—was provisioned for a two months cruise, and made ready to sail on Monday afternoon.

At Lexington, Ky., Luther C. Cushing, a young man, was shot and killed by William H. Weigart, because, in a confectionary store, he patted Weigart's wife on the back, asking her "what will you have, pretty?" She was very indignant, and refused to accept Cushing's apology that he mistook her for an acquaintance. Weigart is holden for murder.

VERMONT.—The Rutland Herald says in that town week before last, two men and a woman were arrested in the street for being drunk. They went to the County confessional, and told the truth. Those who sold the liquor were fined $30 and costs, which went into the town treasury. About 100 gallons of liquor were seized and poured into the gutter.

It is a fact almost incredible that the supply of salt has greatly given out in the central districts of France. The grocers have doubled and trebled the prices, and the mayors have been obliged to get out circulars to the effect that this augmentation is not owing to any increase of the tax by the Government.

Punch defines a Court House as a place where a penny's worth of justice is purchased with a shilling's worth of law. There is only one thing less profitable than suing people, and that is going their security.

DEATHS BY RAILROAD.—The New York Herald gives a table of Railroad Disasters for the year 1853, in which the bad accidents are set down at 138; the lives lost at 234; and the wounded at 496.

MARRIAGES AND DEATHS IN CHARLESTOWN.—There were 330 marriages and 580 deaths in Charlestown, Mass., during the year just closed.

A "Poor Ball" in St. Louis, last week, realized about $3000 for the benefit of the needy.

In ten counties of Pensylvania, there are 263 iron works, and over $11,000,000 of fixed capital employed in the manufacture.

The body of Lieut. Saunders, Commander of the lost cutter Hamilton, has been found and taken to Charleston.

The canal enlargement resolutions have passed both branches of the New York Legislature, by an almost unanimous vote.

Kate Hayes and Biscaccianti are singing to crowded houses at Callao, Peru.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621wly

DANGEROUS BUILDINGS.

Last week, at Dayton, Ohio, a large brick store, occupied for the sale of iron and groceries, fell down, and in its fall crushed two other stores, killed three men, and destroyed a large amount of goods.

A Dayton paper says:

There is much speculation as to the immediate cause of the accident. We suppose the disaster has its ready solution in the fact that the building, though intended to be of the most substantial kind, was, in reality, far from possessing the strength required for the business for which it was intended.

That is true and pertinent. A good and experienced architect can tell how strong a building ought to be for a given purpose, and if the owners will spend money enough, it can be made safe from falling. Something like this is true also, of safety from fire. Why do we build of stone? Chiefly to avoid the danger of fire, and to make a strong building.—Yet old Dr. Beecher's Church in Boston, years ago, had the wood work of their house burnt out, and the walls were found to be so cracked by fire and water, that they were thrown down, a mass of rubbish, worse than worthless, because it cost money to clear them off.

And just now, at Portland, the fire that burnt out the wooden parts of the splendid Custom House, also ruined the walls. Now it seems, that when we spend $150,000 on a public building of stone, we should spend $50,000 more, and make it, like the Boston Custom House, fire proof, or at least make it so that fire could not pass from room to room.

MOVEMENTS OF "STRONG MINDED WOMEN."—Mrs. E. L. Rose has been lecturing lately in Providence on Slavery. Mrs. Mary A. W. Johnson is engaged in giving a course of Anatomical and Physiological Lectures to Ladies in Henry Ward Beecher's church in Brooklyn, N. Y. Emma R. Coe of Buffalo has recently delivered two lectures on Woman's Rights in New York city. Rev. Antoinette L. Brown spoke at the religious meeting of the Progressive Friends, Kennet Square, Philadelphia, on the 18th ult. On the evening of the 19th she lectured on the "Old and the New" in Hamorton Hall, and subsequently has been lecturing on Woman's Rights at Rondout and Kingston, N. Y. Miss M. A. Dwight of Boston, lately read a lecture on Art to a circle of ladies at the U. S. Hotel. Miss Dwight is a teacher of drawing. The Philadelphia Register notices a sermon preached by Lucresia Mott on Christmas Day, at the Cherry street Meeting of Friends. Lucy Stone is lecturing in St. Louis. A correspondent of the New York Tribune says she has spoken five times and drawn the largest audiences ever assembled in the city to listen to paid lectures, and Lucy's rooms have been thronged with visitors—lawyers, doctors, and some clergymen. She has walked the streets in her short dress and received no taunts or insults. All have been respectful and kind, almost beyond a parallel in a great city. Apropos of this correspondence, the St. Louis Morning Herald comes to us with the following lines in it:

"A name like 'Curtius' shall be his,
On fame's loud trumpet blown,
Who with a wedding kiss shuts up
The mouth of Lucy Stone!"

Strong minded women, those who are really such, are quite as apt to make good wives as any "weak sisters" that can be named; and indeed more so, provided they get husbands who have a fair proportion of brains, and whose sympathies are not too incongruous with their own. Weak men and boobies should not meddle with them. Indeed unequal yoking in the team matrimonial, is decidedly bad, as such inequalities are in other teams. The spirit and fire of one partner tend to the happiness of the other, if rightly matched. But there is a fitness of things every where, which cannot be disregarded with impunity.

Mary of Burgundy, was the only daughter of Charles the Rash, duke of Burgundy, and of Isabelle de Bourbon, his second wife. She was born in 1457, and on the death of her father, when she was twenty-one years old, she became the hier of his vast estates. She was one of the most beautiful women of her age, was gentle, modest, accomplished, and conspicuous for her constant regard for duty. She married Maximilian, son of the emperor Frederic III., and died at the early age of twenty-five, in consequence of the neglect of a wound received in falling from her horse, which her excessive modesty prevented from making known to any one.

This was the woman to whom Mrs. Soule was likened by the scornful and immodest Spanish dames. Why her hetspur son and husband need to have been offended with a real compliment, we can hardly see, unless it was, that an affront was intended. Mrs. Soule's real offence was, that she dared to wear a decent high-necked dress, in spite of the Spanish court fashion of dressing a lady's bust a la mode Grandmother Eve.

If the two male Soules had possessed wit enough to present the Spanish virago with a bonnet of fig-leaves, it would have been more pungent than the small sword seems to have been. But as the case stands, Mrs. Soule is worthy of the American name; but her husband and son are a laughing stock in the newspapers.

THE SAN FRANCISCO.

We have nothing later of this steamer, but copy from the New York Herald a portion of the statement concerning her, made by Mr. William McCarty, chief mate of the brig Napoleon. After stating the discovery of the steamer, and the brig's bearing down to her and receiving her hail, Mr. McCarty says:—

The captain of the steamer then said—"I want you to lie by and send a boat." Capt. Strout replied in effect that he could not send a boat, but added, "Put up a light at night." He then said that as a boat could not live in so fearful a sea, he would lie by till morning, and then would, if more moderate, board the wreck. He then asked, "Where are you from?" "From New York, bound to California." "When were you disabled?" "On the night of the 23d; my vessel is making water." To which Capt. Strout replied, "I am in distress, too, and short of provisions." "I have plenty of provisions," answered the captain of the steamer. We passed by this time too far to hear anything more Amidships I observed several men wearing oiled clothes and some caps and blue jackets. Some four or five of these men had axes in their hands, and were cutting away on some woodwork, and throwing pieces, perhaps chips, overboard. I could not see what they were cutting, but supposed at the time that they were making something for the security of the vessel—perhaps a drag. There seemed to be no fear among any of the people on deck, and those amidships continued their work, and appeared to pay little heed to the approach of the brig Napoleon. Also amidship observed smoke, or rather steam, issuing from a small pipe. I did not see any people working pumps. She had no boats left. The mizzen and mizzen topmast were standing, with a spanker gaff attached. On its end hung small remnants of a sail, and underneath it the ensign, union down.

I saw also the stump of a foremast, which reached as high as the top of the pilot house. That house was situated on the hurricane deck, just abaft of the foremast; its doors and windows were stove in, and no person in it.

The paddle-boxes on both sides were gone; the wheels remained, and seemed uninjured; I did not observe any of the floats to be off. The bulwarks were gone on both sides from abreast the pilot house to ten or twelve feet forward of the mizzenmast. The hurricane deck, too, was gone an equal distance. The hull seemed uninjured. These observations being at a distance of only some fifty or sixty yards, I think if she had been more seriously injured I would have observed it.

Capt. Strout kept his vessel merely under steerage way, and continued to see the steamer till dark. She was then about three miles to the eastward of us. When night set in we lost sight of her. The steamer was drifting much faster, and next morning she was not in sight.

I think that, so far as personal safety is concerned, I would rather have been on board the unmanageable steamer than in the disabled brig."

Quite a fleet of vessels, we believe ten in all, have gone in search of the steamer; this is as it should be.

THOMAS HANDASYD PERKINS.—This eminent merchant died in Boston on Tuesday evening, at the advanced age of 84. He was a native Bostonian, born in State street, Dec. 14, 1764, and was probably the last survivor that had any remembrance of the Boston massacre. He was a small lad when it occurred, and the sight of the dead bodies of the victims, and the frozen blood in the street, made so strong an impression on his mind that it was never effaced.

He was an ardent and decided Federalist in the days of that party, was a great public benefactor. He was the projector of the Quincy Railway, the first in the United States. He was a liberal contributor to the Bunker Hill Monument, gave his own house, worth $40,000, to the Asylum for the blind; and gave to the Mercantile Library Association the largest sum they ever received from one donor. He was truly one of the "Merchant Princes."

MUSICAL LETTERS FROM ABROAD.—These letters, by Lowell Mason, are published in a neat volume by Mason Brothers, New York, and are advertised in our columns.—They are interesting to the general reader, and doubly so to all concerned or interested in Music, Sacred or Secular, in this country, as they show the actual and comparative state of Music in two or three of the principal countries in Europe. No more instructive volume can be placed in the hands of such literary or musical men as design to promote substantial improvement in American Church Music.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.—The Portland Argus states, that on Monday, in the House,—the debate on the motion to lay on the table the message from the Senate for a Convention to fill the vacancies in Cumberland and Waldo, was continued by Messrs. Knowlton of Liberty, Hill of Baugor, and several others, when at one o'clock the question was taken by yeas and nays and carried—yeas 82; nays 67; the whigs and their allies voting together in a body. The House then adjourned.

FUGITIVE SLAVES.—We are informed that a person visited New Bedford from Boston, on Saturday, in pursuit of two fugitive slaves. After looking about and examining the premises, he returned to Boston in the evening train. On Monday morning he went again with two or three persons as assistants; but the fugitives had gone.—Standard.

The Freeman's Journal (N. Y.,) says that there are secret societies in the city of New York, which are plotting the destruction of Catholics and their property in that city.

LOCAL.

☞ The Temple on Wednesday evening, was completely filled with auditors, who listened to a Lecture delivered by Rev. H. D. Moore of the North Church in this city, on Odd Fellowship; in which he defended the institution against the common objections of secresy, combination, improper influence, &c.,—by showing that its purpose was open, benevolent and simple; quite consistent with christianity, and developing some of the best traits of human nature.

The address was unstudied, familiar, colloquial; and was well received by the fraternity and audience generally.

The other exercises were prayer by Rev. Mr. Willis, and the singing of appropriate odes by a select choir. The whole occasion passed of very pleasantly.

☞ Rev. Mr. Witham, of Biddeford, Me., has been engaged to fill the pulpit at the Hanover Street Chapel in this city. He will commence his ministrations here next Sabbath.

WHIG CONVENTIONS.—The Whig Delegates of Rockingham County, and of the old Rockingham District, held their conventions at Exeter, on Tuesday, and nominated the following candidates, viz:

For Councillor—William Kent of Concord.
For Register of Deeds—J. Hamilton Shapley.
For County Treasurer—Calvin Thayer.
For Road Commissioners—Ira Blake, Joseph Perkins, David Currier.

☞ The Democratic candidates for Road Commissioner are Benjamin Coe, Caleb R. Dow, and Josiah G. Hadley.

GRAND BALL.—The Granite Guards of Concord, are to give their first annual Ball, at the Depot Hall in that city, on Friday, the 20th inst. If we may judge from the list of managers, a good time may be expected.—Tickets $1.50. Passengers for the Ball over the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad and returning next day, will pay only one fare.

The managers will accept our thanks for a ticket.

☞ At the Democratic Convention in Concord on Tuesday, Edson Hill Esq. of that city was nominated as Councillor for the old Rockingham District.

MRS. PARTINGTON AGAIN.—A book bearing Mrs. Partington's name has made its appearance, and some of our booksellers have it for sale, but we hope none will buy it with the impression that Mrs. Partington herself has anything to do with it. The name of the old lady was taken by the New York publisher under the pretence that it was not original with the author of her sayings as they appeared in the Post, but the character which has made that name celebrated was his, as were the auxiliaries of the dame, introduced from time to time, which have been unscrupulously used. Again we would ask the press to speak a word for Mrs. Partington.—Boston Post.

Certainly. If any one wishes for feeble attempts at wit or humor in faint imitation of the venerable Mrs. P.——by all means let him buy the New York book.—But for quiet wit and genial humor, let us wait and get the genuine article, fresh from the author herself.

THE DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN NEW YORK.—It is asserted that the fire which destroyed the Lafarge Hotel and Metropolitan Hall was the work of an incendiary, as an individual was seen to run from the hall a short time before the fire broke out. Threats were freely made previous to Gavazzi's last lecture, that if he were permitted to speak again in that hall it would be burnt.

The probability is quite strong, that this fire is the work of incendiaries, ignorant and bigoted, like those which burnt the old Charlestown Nunnery—only on the other side.

WHEELING, Jan. 9.—M. Bedini, the Pope's Nuncio, has been burnt in effigy here, and has left the city.

He will not care a great deal for such a burning. If he was to burn a heretic, he would calculate to burn him actually and thoroughly.

FISHING BOUNTIES.—The collector of Barnstable district is paying the bounty to owners and agents of vessels employed in the codfishery during the past season. The whole amount paid and to be paid will exceed $80,000, being more than twice the sum paid for bounties in some previous years. The collector of Gloucester has paid $61,000 fishing bounties since the first of January. In the district of Salem $15,000 have been paid, and generally with less trouble than for years.

EXPLOSION.—The large gasometer built by the borough council of Frankford, near Philadelphia, exploded on the 5th inst., with a terrific report. The gasometer leaked, and a young man applied a lighted match to ascertain where the gas escaped. This caused the explosion.

Ben Ayer, the wealthy ex-minister of the Bey of Tunis, has been to Marseilles to fetch his three wives, and has brought them in triumph to Paris. These ladies have adopted French costume, and appear in public without veils.

A merchant of Cincinnati loaned a friend $100 to emigrate to California three years since. On Saturday he received a draft for $300 for the principal and interest. A pretty good spec.

An Israelite College was opened at Acqui, Piedmont, on the 25th ult., founded by a rich Israelite, who bequeathed his whole fortune for that purpose. Speeches were made by the Rabbi, the rector of the Christian College, and the Intendant of the province. Such religious toleration was once unknown in Piedmont.

A man named Brady, represented as a worthy and quiet citizen, was badly stabbed in New York, last Sunday morning, by an Italian, with whom he had been conversing on Catholicism and Protestantism. Brady was a Protestant, and his assailant a Roman Catholic.

M. Bedlut was escorted from church to church in Pittsburg, on the Sabbath, by the different societies in their badges, but without music or banners, as the Mayor had addressed a note in advance to Bishop O'Connor, stating that he would strictly enforce the law against Sabbath breaking.

The Methodists, south, are much pleased with the recent arbitration in New York city, of the Church suit. It is not known, however, whether they will take their $230,000 and establish a Southern book concern, or take it out from year to year in books.

A minister in a western city recently married a couple, and received therefor from the bridegroom $50 in gold, and from the bride, who was a member of the Episcopal Church, a deed to a city lot worth $2500.

Miss Carter, the young circus rider, who committed forgery to obtain a bonnet, at Louisville, has been pardoned by Governor Powell, who is a bachelor, and very tender towards the vanities of the sex.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, Jan. 10.

SENATE.—Mr. Mallory gave notice of a bill for repealing the tonnage duty on Spanish vessels.

Mr. Seward presented a petition from New York, praying for an investigation of the disposition of the tax imposed on coasting vessels under the act of 1793. Also a petition from Brooklyn, N. Y., in favor of a line of mail steamers between that place and Bremen.

The death of Mr. Muhlenberg was announced from the House.

Mr. Fish presented the petition of Henry K. Brown, asking for the gift of fourteen pieces of brass cannon wherewith to cast an equestrian statue of Washington.

Mr. Bright introduced a bill granting 400,000 acres of land each to various companies to construct a continuous railroad from Lake Erie to the mouth of the Ohio, and to New Orleans and Mobile, making a total of 2,000,000 acres. The company to carry the mails, and in time of war to transport munitions free of all cost.

HOUSE.—In the House Mr. Dunn announced the death of his colleague, Hon. Henry A. Muhlenberg, of Pennsylvania, when, after a few words of eulogy and the adoption of the usual resolutions, the House adjourned.

"WHIG SIDE OF THE HOUSE."—The papers have told us that Col. Benton has selected his seat in the House of Representatives, in Congress, on the "Whig side of the House," and several wise comments have been made in relation to the supposed fact. It should, however, be recollected that if the democrats are to occupy one side of the house and the whigs the other, the democrats must necessarily be very much crowded, and the whigs supplied with a superabundance of room.—The Hartford Times explains the matter as follows:

"The democrats have usually occupied one side of the Representatives' Hall in Congress, and the Whigs the other side. But the democratic majority is so large in this Congress, that about one third of them are compelled to go over to the whig side for seats. Hon. T. H. Benton selected the seat formerly occupied by ex-president Adams, on the left of the Speaker and conveniently near to the Speaker's desk—indicating this as his preference previous to the allotment of seats by the usual drawing. This seat was conceded to Mr. Adams in deference to his age and former position as President of the United States."

SWINDLING AT WASHINGTON.—Quite a swindle has been perpetrated on a number of members of Congress lately. A well dressed individual would call upon a gentleman, present him a personal letter of introduction from W. W. Corcoran, Esq., and ask him to subscribe to a fund for the relief of the poor of this city—Mr. Corcoran having, with his usual liberality, headed the list with a subscription of some hundreds of dollars. Hon. Gerrit Smith subscribed and paid $50, and quite a number of gentlemen paid sums varying from $5 to $25. One of them addressed Mr. Corcoran a note, thanking him for having called his attention to the subject, and having given him an opportunity to aid in the benevolent enterprise. Mr. Corcoran replied immediately that he knew nothing of the matter, and it was then ascertained that the letters of introduction were forged. The rogue has not been heard from since. He must have made some hundreds of dollars by his cool operation.—N. Y. Times.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Steamer San Francisco.—The steamer Union, of the Charleston line, will leave here to-day in charge of Captain Adams, to search for the San Francisco. She will cruise in a different direction from that taken by the Alabama. Captain Hudson of the navy, and several other naval officers, will go out in her.

Dr. W. R. T. Lutenar, a physician celebrated for his cures of diseases of the eye and ear, was found dead in his room this morning, with a paper in his hands and a pistol on the table. There is some suspicion that he was murdered. He was a native of England.

NEW YORK, 11th.—Arrest for Incendiarism.—A man who has been employed as a Day Watchman at the Metropolitan Hall, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of having fired that edifice on Saturday night. He was seen to run from the hall a short time before the fire was discovered.

A letter from Santa Fe says there is not a Protestant Mexican in all New Mexico. The new Catholic priest, L'Aary, has reformed many of the abuses which existed in the New Mexican church, greatly reducing the priests' fees, and not permitting them to refuse to marry, bury, or baptize the people when they have no money. He has deposed some of the clergy, taken American sisters of charity from the Atlantic states to Santa Fe, and established under their charge a free school. The bishop is described as an exceedingly energetic man, and his policy is accounted for by the fact that he was for nine years a priest in Ohio.

DEATH OF THE MARCHIONESS WELLESLEY.—The Marchioness Wellesley died on the 17th inst., at Hampton Court, after a short illness. She was daughter of the late Richard Caton, Esq., of Maryland, and granddaughter of the celebrated Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. One of Lady Wellesley's sisters is Mrs. MacSavish; another is Duchess of Leeds; and another, the Dowager Lady Stafford.

Lady Wellesley's first husband was Robert Pattison, Esq. In 1815 she married the late Lord Wellesley, eldest brother of the late Duke of Wellington. Her ladyship was for many years Lady of the bed-chamber to Queen Adelaide.

Mary Ellen Thomas, the negro girl convicted at the present term of the Circuit Court of Washington county, Md., of the murder of a child three months old, has been sentenced by Judge Perry to be hung at such time as the Governor of that state may fix for her execution.

Mrs. Bigelow, of East Hartford, Ct., who lately died, left all her property, with the exception of some slight legacies, to various religious societies and institutions.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.
I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.
There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other that can be combed and arranged with perfect ease, and without the trouble of moving out of place.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be beleived, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

A Colored Professor.—The Detroit Tribune states that the Rev. J. W. C. Pennington, D. D., of New York, has been elected President and Professor in the Woodstock Manual Labor Institute, Michigan. The reverend doctor is as black as ink. At the time of the passage of the fugitive slave law, he was travelling, a fugitive slave, in Europe, where he received his doctorate at the German university of Heidelberg. After the enactment of the law he was afraid to return home to his church and congregation in Hartford, Ct., until a friend of his purchased him of his master for a small sum, and gave him his liberty. Dr. Pennington has since been moderator of a Presbytery in New York.

Scarcity of Silver.—There is now no longer any necessity for a scarcity of silver coin. The Philadelphia Bulletin says, there is new, and has been for some time, lying in the Mint in that city, over one million of dollars in silver coin, ready to be furnished to any applicants in exchange for gold.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz.—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases in advance.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $8; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but twenty-four cents a year for "Blackwood," and but twelve cents a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,
Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, to persons to these offices, in business by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal of the application within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Patent Office,

"R. H. Eddy, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"Sir.—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles sold several years to order, in quantities of half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous, when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&swim jc22

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S REMEDY EXPECTORANT for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner.—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's office, 240 Green street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Trade Mark Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"(800 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.
WILLIAM DEVINES."

Certificates of cures to be relied on, found in the circulars left with the agents. Let all the afflicted try it faithfully. Sold by Druggists and Dealers generally.
